Since New Regulations:

1,662 Citations Cut QSD Accidents

By TOM HENSHAW

Quincy Shore Drive, once closely akin to the demolition derby, may soon be one of the safest streets in the city.

Since May 27, when the new traffic regulations went into effect, MDC police have issued 1,662 traffic citations and made 34 arrests with the result that there have been only six accidents.

Precise figures for similar periods in the past are not available but veteran officers say the decrease in accidents over a 5½ week periods, including two holiday weekends, is remarkable.

"We're very pleased with the way things are going on Wollaston Boulevard," said Frank Mueller, spokesman for the MDC Old Colony police division. "We're making good progress and we hope to keep it going."

"We had 53 new officers graduate from training school last Friday and 10 of them are going to be assigned to the Old Colony Division, bringing the total of officers to 55."

Reps. Michael W. Morrissey and Thomas F. Brownell said they too are pleased with the results of the new traffic rules. Morrissey noted that he has had $30,000 for MDC police overtime in a bill that has passed both the Senate and the House and is now in conference committee to iron out differences.

"The two branches of the Legislature agree on the $30,000 so the money should stay in the bill," said Morrissey. "That will enable the MDC to increase patrols on the beach."

It was on May 27 that MDC Commissioner William Geary, who lives in Quincy not far from Wollaston Beach, changed the timing on the traffic control lights on Quincy Shore Drive so that drivers would have to slow down.

"It has cut down on the speeders tremendously," said Mueller, "Most of the citations that are issued now are for red light violators."

He said one of the six accidents on the Drive since May 27 involved a pedestrian.

THE MERRYMOUNT PARADE Monday attracted old and young including Meghan Cahill, 3, who got a ride in an antique car.

Firecrackers Blamed For $500,000 Fire

Youngsters playing with illegal firecrackers are believed to have been responsible for a four-alarm fire that swept two buildings on Newport Ave., Wollaston, Sunday afternoon.

Deputy Fire Chief Carl Valenti said damage was estimated at $500,000.

Heavy damage was suffered by the Odd Fellows Building and an apartment house next door with retail stores on the ground floor, including a dry cleaning establishment and a driving school.

Valenti said the fire apparently started in the rear of the two buildings by youngsters playing with firecrackers. A group of kids had been cleared out of the area earlier, he said.

Firefighter Charles Walter suffered an eye injury fighting the blaze and he was relieved of duty. Firefighter Steve Badger suffered a burned arm. Several others were felled by smoke inhalation.

Occupants of the four apartments at 309 Newport Ave. were listed as Tom Fazio and his family, Leslie Furtado, Mary Quinley and Stacy Rivers. None of them were injured.

Bird Triggers Power Outage

A bird landing on a transformer in the Lakin Square section of West Quincy knocked out power to about 3,000 customers in West and North Quincy and Wollaston Sunday morning.

A spokesman for Massachusetts Electric said the power was out from about 8:50 to 10:10 a.m.

Reikard Warns:

Big Rent Hikes Could Bring Controls

Jane Reikard, executive secretary of the Rent Grievance Board, has warned landlords that big rent hikes in times of lessening taxes and expenses could lead to a revival of the rent control issue in the city.

"The landlords do not want rent control in this city," she said in a statement, "but their very actions of increasing rents in large amounts just fan the fires that have been smoldering on this issue."

"Any landlord who is giving more than a $10 or $15 increase both this year and last year is not playing a fair game. The taxes last year and this year are practically at rock bottom for the landlords."

"The only reason for more than a few dollars increase is in the case of a new owner, resale of a piece of property or where the landlord has done or is doing extensive repairs."

Mrs. Reikard noted that her office has adhered to the belief that "a tenant's obligation is to pay the rent; and the landlord's obligation is to provide the services."

"There are more complaints of code violations, leaking roofs, shoddy carpeting, dirty, ripped wall paper, peeling paint, leaking toilets, broken railings, no snow removal, and on and on, than ever before," she said.

"If the landlords expect their rent on time every month - and they have a right to this - why can't the tenants expect services?"

Mayor To Name Police Captains

Mayor Francis X. McCauley says he plans to name four new captains as soon as the suit that has frozen the Civil Service eligibility list for nearly a year is withdrawn.

"I hope that will happen this week," said the mayor.

He said he still plans to fund the last of the four new captains by decreasing the number of lieutenants in the Police Department from 16 to 15 in spite of City Council concerns.

"We feel we should move quickly on this," said McCauley Tuesday, "because as of tomorrow (Wednesday) there will be only one captain in the department."

Capt. Roy Cavicchi was scheduled to retire Wednesday, leaving Capt. Paul Nestor the only officer of that rank in the department.

The Civil Service list of those eligible for promotion to captain was held up when Lt. Walter Frazer, who was first on the written exam but subsequently dropped to fourth, filed suit in court.

McCauley asked the Council to increase the number of captains from four to five and reduce the number of lieutenants from 16 to 15 in an effort to break the Civil Service log jam.

When the Council, at the behest of President John J. Lydon, Jr., tabled the request McCauley went to Asst. City Solicitor Joseph A. MacRitchie, who decided that Council approval was not really necessary.

McCauley withdrew his request Thursday night and the Council couldn't really do anything about it except denounce the move and ask the mayor to request an appropriation for the fifth captain.

Consensus of the Council opposition, expressed by Lydon and Joanne Condon, was that the mayor was assuming the prerogative of transferring money from job to job within a department.

"I'm not prepared to review a budget with four captains and then have the mayor make appointments as he wishes," said Lydon.

The Council voted to ask the mayor to bring in an appropriation order for $38,302, the annual salary of a captain, instead of transferring the money within the department at the expense of a lieutenant.

$30,290 Contract For DPW Chemical Shed

Senator Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy) announces the award of a $30,290 contract to Gerald J. DelPrete Company of Rockland to construct a municipal chemical storage shed at the Quincy Public Works Department.

The contract award by the state Public Works Department is part of an ongoing state program to house chemicals used in winter road clearing, including salt, to avoid contamination of groundwater.

Harold said state funds have been provided in bond issues for the past several years to allow construction of the storage sheds, which keep road salt and other road chemicals from leeching into groundwater and runoff.

To qualify for the state funds, municipalities must apply for the storage sheds, must make municipal land available, and must provide the site work, including any utility installation.

Harold said the Quincy shed, which will be built at the city DPW yard on Sea St., is scheduled for completion Sept. 30. The shed will measure 40 by 90 feet.

Express Mail Service Now Available At All Quincy Post Offices

The United States Postal Service has expanded its Express Mail Next Day Service to the Wollaston and North Quincy Post Offices.

The addition of these offices means that now all Quincy Post Offices are Official Express Mail Acceptance Units. Now you can mail Express Mail shipments up until 5 p.m.

Monday through Friday at any area Post Office and the Post Office will guarantee next day delivery to any city or post office in the Express Mail network.

Express Mail shipments weighing two pounds or less can be sent anywhere in the country, and delivered right to the door, for only $9.35. Rates for heavier items will vary according to weight, destination and delivery option requested. Additional information on this FAST - OVERNIGHT DELIVERY SERVICE is available at the Post Office, or by calling the Postal Service's new toll-free Express Mail information line at 1-800-322-0707.

3 Teachers Retire

The retirements of three school teachers has been approved by the Quincy School Committee. They are:

Mary Capiferri of Daniel Webster school, who has been in the system since April 1947.

Frank D'Andrea, assistant principal Montclair school, who has been in the system since May 1953.

Eleanor Harding, North Quincy High School, a teacher the past 12 years.

Leaves of absences were granted Katherine Adams, Quincy High; Barbara Morrissey, Lincoln-Hancock, and Mary Jo Riley, coordinator of community schools.

Deep Sea Equipment Seeks Body In Quarry

The city is making one more attempt to locate the body of Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton in Swingle's Quarry using highly sophisticated deep sea equipment from the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute.

The equipment, known as an RPV (remotely piloted vehicle), was scheduled to be sent down yesterday (Wednesday) in an effort to locate the body of the youth who is believed to have drowned after jumping from a 50-foot ledge.

Meanwhile, police spent a busy weekend chasing young swimmers and divers out of the quarries as the temperatures soared into the high 90s.

About 3 p.m. Monday,

Officer Ronald Heggblod was sent to Swingle's Quarry to clear out a group of 10 to 15 youngsters, some of whom were jumping from the same ledge where Gooch lost his life.

And shortly after 7 p.m., Officers Kevin Williams and Gerald Queeney were sent back to see that a larger group of boys was escorted from the Swingle's Quarry area.

The Oceanographic is donating the use of the vehicle and its crew free of charge to the city.

"Everyone of us here has kids," said Dr. Robert Ballard, chief scientist of the Deep Submergence Group at the Oceanographic. "I have two boys. If one of them drowned in a quarry I'd want him to come home."

The RPV is operated by Martin Bowen of the Benthos Co., manufacturers of the vehicle, which heretofore has been used to replace divers working on oceanic oil rigs.

Operated by electric motors, the vehicle can descend up to 400 feet and range about an 800-foot circle with two color cameras, one for TV, the other for stills, covering the quarry's five to 10-foot visibility range.

Dr. Ballard said that the equipment will be on a platform in the quarry on Tuesday with plans to send the RPV, which is valued at between $500,000 and $1 million down on Wednesday.

FIREFIGHTERS begin putting together RPV (remotely piloted vehicle) donated by Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute to search for Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton, believed to have drowned in Swingle's Quarry. ## Hot July 4th Night Puts Strain On Police Gangs of Fourth of July celebrants strained the resources of the Quincy Police Department Monday night.

Lt. William Murphy, in charge of community affairs for the Police Department, said some complaints were received about police handling of the crowds in Squantum.

A crowd of several hundred youths, some of them drinking beer and throwing fire crackers, lined the seawall on Dorchester St. to watch the fireworks in Boston.

Murphy said no arrests were made in Squantum.

The police log noted that, between 8:51 p.m. and 11:58 p.m., roving gangs with fireworks were dispersed in several locations* on the peninsula and several fights were broken up.

Peace was restored, said the log, when the fireworks were over.

"That's been an ongoing problem every year at the seawall on Dorchester St.," said Murphy. "We try first to move people along. Arrest is a tool for the officers to use at their discretion."

At 11:35 p.m., police were unable to respond to two calls, one for a gang at the Wollaston Yacht Club, the other for a gang at Faxon Commons on Southern Artery, because there were no available units.

"We only took priority calls for a while," said Murphy. "We only had so many men and they were spread around. It was a hot night, too, and it seemed like everybody in the city was outside."

Manny Andrews Makes A Difference

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Manny with his bag of mail brings sunshine where there is rain. Laughter where there is sadness and a smile to everyone's face along his route.

He is liked by the young as well as the old and everyone in the Quincy Point community knows him by name.

He always has the time to stop and talk no matter how busy he is or however heavy his load may be.

Manny even stops in to see people on his route who are shut-ins or are sick.

He is liked by so many that we have had customers ask us if they too could sign their names to our sign.

We might be a little selfish but we hate it when he has a day off. We can sense something's missing when he doesn't drop in.

This community just wasn't the same while Manny was in the hospital and at home recovering from his operation.

Hard to believe a mailman could make such a difference. But if you know Manny, Manny does make a difference.

QNHS Grateful

To William Tuori

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

On Saturday, June 4, 1983, the Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services Program held an auction at the Lincoln Hancock School.

On behalf of our organization I would like to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to Mr. William Tuori, a professional auctioneer who donated his services to help our organization raise funds. Bill brought to this group his expertise that enabled the residents of Southwest Quincy NHS neighborhood to run a very successful auction.

I feel it very important that the City of Quincy should know that Mr. William Tuori is one of the residents that make Southwest Quincy "A Great Place to Live".

Wollaston School To Re-open?

School Committeeman John Sullivan wouldn't be surprised if the Wollaston School is re-opened in two years.

"In fact I'll bet money on it," he says.

Sullivan says the steady influx of new residents from the Boston area—especially Oriental and Grecian—families is going to increase the school-age population enough to force re-opening of the Wollaston school.

SULLIVAN

"These people believe in families and in education," says Sullivan.

Sullivan also detects a mini baby-boom in general which he says will also add to the school age population.

Twelve schools have been closed in the city because of economic reasons and a dipping school population.

Most of the schools have been turned over to the city by the School Department and are now out or going out for bid. Plans are to turn some into apartments or condos.

But, via a Sullivan motion, the Wollaston School is still under the jurisdiction of the School Department and could be reopened as a school.

"The enrollment at the Wollaston School wasn't low when it was closed," Sullivan says. "But Montclair and the Furnace Brook Schools had enough vacancies to take the Wollaston pupils."

He says Wollaston was the hardest hit of all areas—with three schools closed: Wollaston, Mass Fields and Beechwood Knoll.

The Beechwood Knoll is now the headquarters of the successful Beechwood Community Life Center and the Mass. Fields School is out for bids and may become an apartment building or condominiums.

The only hope for a school re-opening is the Wollaston School says Sullivan.

"You wait," he says. "It will re-open in two years. Mark my words."

INCIDENTALLY, Sullivan and his wife, Mary, recently celebrated their 44th wedding anniversary.

SENATOR Paul Harold was at the state house Sunday at 7 a.m. But it wasn't the state house in Boston—it was in Providence, R.I. Harold ran in the second annual Independence Relay as a member of the Senate sponsored team. Sen. Joseph Timilty of Canton was team captain. Harold ran 13 miles in the Providence to Boston relay race which was to raise funds for the Mass. Hospital School in Canton. Five other members of the Senate participated. There were 250 teams in all.

Harold, incidentally notes that a former Quincy resident, Helen Hartford Benth, was recently elected state commander of the American Legion in Wyoming.

State Department Commander of Wyoming, she is the first woman to be elected to that post in that state, and the third in the nation. The next day in Massachusetts, Dorothy Dixon of Norwell became the fourth woman in the nation to hold that post when she was elected state commander.

MAYOR Francis McCauley learned how to handle a fishing pole in Houghs Neck, the "Flounder Capital of the U.S.A." And, he apparently hasn't lost the touch.

His Honor recently participated in the "Burgin, Platter Fishing Derby" off Provincetown where the mackerel play.

The party included Francis McCormack, and Fred Sullivan, president and first vice president respectively of Bank of Boston-Norfolk; Arthur Foley, McCauley's administrative aide and Dave Leitch and Ned Platter of Burgin, Platter.

Well, McCauley showed them how they do it in Houghs Neck. He caught the first fish of the day. He caught the biggest fish, — a four-pounder. He caught the most fish at one time — two. And he caught the most fish for the day — seven.

SPEAKING OF McCAULEY, it's nice to hear that his private secretary, Eleanor Reidy, is out of the hospital after surgery and recuperating at home. The mayor's office hasn't been the same without that smile of her's. A speedy recovery, Eleanor.

Tips For Boat Protection

The boating season is now underway and it will be a more enjoyable summer for yachtsmen if they know how to protect their property from thieves.

Engrave all your equipment with your Social Security number. This will aid police in identifying your property if it is stolen.

Burn identifying marks that cannot be obliterated into the timber of the main hull of your boat.

Keep a record of descriptions and serial numbers of all portable gear.

Photograph your boat from every angle, including a shot from above, as a means of identification.

Retain registration and title on your person. Do not leave any official document on the boat when it is not in use.

Outboard motors should be secured to the boat. Special hardware is available at marine supply stores for locking an outboard motor to the boat.

Secure equipment to the deck to prevent easy removal. Avoid leaving loose gear visible in open boats or on the decks of enclosed boats.

Get to know the people at your marina. Let them know who they can expect to see on your boat if you're not there.

Encourage watchfulness for strangers. Challenge them if they don't look like they belong there.

Observe strangers carefully. Note the description and license numbers of their cars. Report all suspicious behavior to the police.

And one last tip — Remove the cap from the distributor of your boat engine when you are not on board.

$500 Raised To Fill Old Slate Quarry

Mayor Thomas J. McGrath requested and was granted by the City Council a supplementary budget of $500 to fill the old slate quarry hole on Apthorp St. near Wollaston Beach which was reported to be a nuisance to neighboring residents and a hazard to their children.

The Mayor told the Council it was his intention to use the quarry as a dump so that residents of Wollaston, Norfolk Downs and Atlantic could use it to dispose of their trash rather than carting it to the city dump on the marshes off Sea St.

However, the mayor's announcement stirred such a controversy among neighbors that he was forced to call a public hearing on the issue.

"This quarry has been here for 60 years and has never been stagnant," wrote Mr. H. K. Ellis of 36 Warwick St. "Only one child has been lost during that time and he did not belong here."

"The residents of this section of Wollaston would thank the Atlantic Improvement Association to look to their own dump holes and leave us alone."

Meanwhile, Rep. Alfred N. LaBrecque conferred with State Atty. Gen. Arthur K. Reading and Public Safety Commissioner Brig. Gen. Alfred W. Foote on the legal procedure necessary to construct fences or guard rails around the quarries in the city.

OIL PERMIT DENIED

The City Council voted 6-3 in favor of a resolution, proposed by Ward 2 Councillor John P. Flavin, that would prohibit issuance of a permit to the Standard Oil Co. for construction of tanks in which to store oil and other flammable fluids in Baker Yacht Basin Quincy Point.

Between 800 and 900 residents of Quincy Point had signed a petition against permitting such oil storage on grounds neighboring streets were too narrow for oil trucks and the tanks eventually would pollute two nearby bathing beaches.

Brad Tatreau, Julie McKenna Employees Of Month At Hospital

Quincy City Hospital Director Mark Mundy presented $50 savings bonds to Employees of the Month, Brad Tatreau of Central Supply and Nursing Assistant Julie McKenna of M-2, at a breakfast in their honor.

Tatreau began working at the hospital in the kitchen in 1973. He has worked in Central Supply since 1978.

His supervisors and co-workers praise his efficiency and helpfulness, and state that his devotion to quality care at the hospital is evident through his work.

A Hingham resident, he was educated in the Quincy Public Schools. He received an associates degree from Quincy Junior College and a certificate of completion from the New England Broadcasting School.

Tatreau is involved in QCH's Health Vision Series for Quincy Cable Television.

Mrs. McKenna has

Arienti Would Put School Sale Money Into Budget

William Arienti, a candidate for School Committee, plans to introduce legislation that would direct monies received for the sale of closed school buildings to the school budget instead of the general fund.

Arienti said the bill would have "a wide-ranging positive effect on worked at the hospital since 1971.

She has been commended for her patience and compassion when caring for her patients.

A lifelong Quincy resident, she has two children and one grandson, Mattiva, age 10.

the educational system throughout the Commonwealth" by helping all the cities and towns whose school budgets were hit hardest by Proposition 2½.

The bill contains a local option section that would permit those communities to take advantage of the legislation.

Anselmo First To File Nomination Papers

Frank Anselmo, who is seeking a fifth full four-year term on the School Committee, is the first candidate in the 1983 election to return his nomination papers with the appropriate number of signatures.

There are six other candidates who have taken out papers for the School Committee's three upcoming vacancies, which could turn into four if Mary Collins is successful in her City Council bid.

John J. Sullivan and Christopher Kennedy have taken papers to run for reelection. New candidates are William Arienti, Frank C. Santoro, Stephen Durkin and Ruth Levitsky.

The latest to take out nomination papers is Mary Collins, whose School Committee term expires in 1985, but who is challenging Joanne Condon for the Ward 6 seat on the Council. Mrs. Condon has not yet taken papers but she is expected to run. A third candidate in the race could be Jens Thornton, who has taken papers, which would mean a September primary in the race.

Incumbents who have taken papers include Francis X. McCauley for mayor, Theodore P. DeCristofaro for the Council in Ward 2, Leo J. Kelly in Ward 1, and Richard J. Koch and Patricia Toland, at large.

Donald S. Johnson has taken papers to run for mayor.

Women Voters Workshop Held At Woodward School

Six members of the Quincy League of Women Voters joined members from 21 leagues in Eastern Massachusetts for training workshops held at the Woodward School, Quincy Sq.

Local members were Ilga Wohlrab, Mary Quinn, Clara Yeomans, Jennie Perito, Mary Flavin and Pat

McCarthy.

Ten different workshops were held, including Voter Service, Membership, Public Relations, and a "rap" session for local league presidents. Workshops were run by state LWV board members.

In her opening remarks to the 45 members in attendance, president of the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts, Margaret Bliss, called on local leagues to prepare for the nationwide membership campaign planned for the fall.

She also stressed the need for each league to develop a clear, non-partisan policy during the upcoming election season.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

When a person is absorbed or obsessed with an idea, something often happens... Much of our progress, comforts, conveniences and possessions are traceable to someone's initial idea... Fulton's steamboat; Franklin's idea of electricity from the sky; our forefather's idea of separation from England to form a democracy are just a few examples. Yet, these and many other ideas were initially scorned by unimaginative people.

Oppositionists to ideas are always around, and often heard. This is hard to understand. Least understandable of all, are the scoffers who jibe and discourage others who toy with the idea of serving their fellow men. The scoffers cannot understand how or why others may want to seek a job or career in service to others, that offers little financial reward... Teachers, nurses, nuns, priests, ministers, and missionaries are only a few who could be mentioned. The world needs more of these people who are confronted with the presence of God in their being. Encourage them. Don't discourage them...

Week-End College Starts At QJC In September

Quincy Junior College announces "Week-End College" will start in September.

This program enables a student to earn an A.S. degree in business management or marketing in just two years of part-time study.

"Many people have inquired about earning a degree by going week-end," noted Richard Mula, Dean of Continuing Education. "We have responded to this need."

Students will attend classes on Friday evening and Saturday days from September through June and then two evenings a week for five weeks in July. Students will have the month of August off. The second year schedule will be similar. Thus, students will take nine courses in the academic year and one in the summer session for a total of 20 courses in a little less than two years.

Tom Mullen, coordinator of the week-end college says, "This is a terrific opportunity for working people who find it difficult to attend evening classes during the week or who want an accelerated program."

Courses will include accounting, management, marketing, business law, advertising, introduction to data processing, sales management and personnel management.

QHS Business Education Dept. Presents 2 Scholarships

The Business Education Department at Quincy High School recently presented its first scholarship to two outstanding business students.

The $300 scholarships were awarded to Ann McCarthy for a business administration program at Newbury Junior College and David Devine for a business administration program at Suffolk University.

Students selected for the scholarship award must have taken at least seven business subjects in three years, must be planning entrance into a business program and remain for one year, and have good attendance and punctuality in high school, high grade average, rank in class, references from teachers and employers and proof of attendance to the desired school.

The awards were made possible by sales made at the school store. All funds received from the sale of merchandise are put back into stock with any profits put aside for the business education scholarship program.

The store is operated under the direction of Miss Marie J. Lynch, Head of the Business Education Department at Quincy High School and assisted by Edward Fay, business education teacher, and several students from grades 9 to 12 at both Quincy High and Quincy Vocational-Technical Schools.

IF YOU DRINK, DON'T DROWN

Everyone knows that alcohol is an important factor in highway deaths, but the role of alcohol in drownings has been neglected. A study of drowning accidents in the Baltimore area showed that 47 percent of the victims had alcohol in their blood. Most of them had more than .10 per cent, making them legally impaired in driving ability in most states.

Some public health officials who are on the scene of drownings or near drownings not only confirm the results -- they make 47 percent sound like a modest figure.

The problem of drinking swimmers can be controlled to some extent through regulations that prohibit the use of alcohol on the beach.

Drinking boaters are not so easily policed, and beach officials agree that they are an ever-present problem. Driving a boat under the influence can be as risky as driving a car.

The easiest way to solve the drinking and drowning problem is to eliminate one of the dangerous elements. If you drink, don't go in the water. If you're going to go in the water, don't drink.

Dacey Bros. Opens New Concept Convenience Store

Dacey Bros. which began a dairy business in Quincy 50 years ago has now opened its sixth store in the city.

The new "Dacey's" at 295 Quincy Avenue is the first convenience store of its type in New England operated by a convenience store chain, according to Jeremiah Dacey, president.

Dacey, a life-long Quincy resident, said the Quincy Avenue store features a bakery, deli and hand-dipped ice cream bar.

"We think this is a prototype of the convenience store of the future," Dacey said.

A recent grand opening party was attended by 250 guests.

Open from 5 a.m. to 11 p.m. seven days a week, the store is managed by Sue Ferraro.

Dacey's recently opened its first seasonal store at the Boston Harbor Marina.

Cable helped Millie stop the ghosts.

Millie Napoleone, as you can see, is a no-nonsense take-charge lady who takes pride in her job as a safety patrol and works hard at it. So, when she began having trouble with "ghosts" in her television reception she decided to do something about it. She decided to try Cable and she chose Quincy Cablesystems.

Now, she's got the clearest TV picture she's ever had, and that's not all. She's also got television specials, first-run movies and Broadway hits, a variety of choices that you only get with Cable.

Millie loves that variety of programming. She also knows that if there's a program she's unable to see one night, she can catch it at a later date. With cable, if a sports event is blacked out in the Boston area, Millie and her sports-loving husband can see it at home.

As far as Millie is concerned, Cable is the only way to go. So, if you're looking for directions, look for Millie. She'll show you the way. She's already been there.

Rent Hikes Could Bring Controls

"These are times that call for more cooperation and understanding between the landlords and the tenants in order to survive the tough economy we are forced to live with today."

"The gas and electric rates have increased, but not enough to warrant a $25 to $100 increase, which is still being given today by some landlords."

"Tenants can help alleviate the landlords' operating costs by doing little things to help like changing a washer, loosening a window that's stuck or changing a battery in the smoke detector."

"This will allow the landlord to concentrate on the big repairs and help keep the costs at a minimum."

Mrs. Reikard said all she is asking is "fair play."

"I don't know of one landlord who reduced the rents last year when you got such a big break in your taxes. Why don't you make the first move to keep rent control out of your city by not increasing your rents or by keeping them at a bare minimum."

Students 'Cook Up' Surprise Farewell For Culinary Arts Teacher

Students from Mrs. Martha Robinson's culinary arts class at Quincy Vocational Technical School recently "cooked up" a surprise for their instructor in recognition of her retirement.

Junior class members set up a buffet luncheon complete with retirement cake and fruit basket in a classroom.

"They prepared the salads, meatballs, etc. at home," said Mrs. Robinson, "and didn't forget a thing."

"They sure can move when they have to," she said, "that's one of the characteristics of a good cook - being able to move fast."

Mrs. Robinson, of 90 Garfield St., West Quincy, has been a teacher at Vo-Tech since 1970.

From 1960 to 1970, she was cook-manager at Sterling Middle School, which she had attended when it was South Junior High School.

Prior to that, Mrs. Robinson worked with her six brothers and parents in a family-owned baking business.

For 40 years, Ted's Bakery catered to Finnish-Americans in the South West Quincy area before it was sold.

Two of the brothers who worked in the bakery are now in vocational education. Arthur Ahola teaches baking at Silver Lake Regional Vocational School, Pembroke. Jake Ahola teaches baking at South Eastern Regional Vocational Technical High School in South Boston.

Mrs. Robinson is an active member of Faith Lutheran Church and is president of Faith Lutheran Church Women.

She is a member of the Republican City Committee and Ward 4 Committee, and is a member of the board of directors of Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services.

Her husband, Donald, is a maintenance carpenter for the Quincy Public Schools.

The Robinsons have two daughters, Shirley MacDonald and Susan Robinson, and two grandsons, Kirk and Jeff, who attend Central Middle School.

20 Youths Visit 'Camp Friendship'

Twenty teen-aged girls and boys from throughout the South Shore and their four counselors spent last week at a camp in Ocean Park, Maine with The Way Up in a program called "Camp Friendship."

Each of the young people who participated was recommended to the director of The Way Up, the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, by a social worker or a professional youth worker as a youngster who was both needy and deserving of this kind of trip.

Dr. Langevin explained that the idea of the trip was "to give an exciting summer vacation to teenagers who would otherwise not have been able to afford one."

The young people, who ranged in age from 12 to 16 years came from the same social agencies that refer teenagers to The Way Up throughout the year. They are: the Quincy Juvenile Court Probation Office, the District Attorney's Juvenile Division Office, Mission Possible (a court-related youth counseling agency) the Department of Social Services, as well as local school counselors and police departments.

Dr. Langevin, who also served as camp director, said that the week was filled with activities, including horseback riding and bumper boats (each young person was able to go twice on each of these activities during the week), two giant water slides, a trip to New Hampshire to use the Alpine Ski Slide, guitar lessons, movies, a western jubilee night, cookouts and visits to several amusement parks, as well as all the usual camp activities, including swimming each day and campfires each night.

Camp Friendship was jointly sponsored by The Way Up, a Quincy-based specialized Christian youth ministry supported by South Shore Protestant churches, and the American Baptist Churches of Massachusetts.

Three other such camps will be held this summer in Maine sponsored by the American Baptist demonstration for young people from other parts of the state. These camps will also be held at the Baptist Camp at Ocean Park, Maine, called "Oceanwood."

"Our big problem right now is to pay for the trip," said Dr. Langevin.

The trip cost nearly $200 for each of the young people. Some of this money was paid by the American Baptist Churches of Massachusetts. The rest was loaned to the young people involved until they can earn the money to pay it back.

The Way Up will provide these young people with jobs this fall to earn the money. Their jobs will include serving dinners and breakfasts, doing puppet shows, running car washes and printing and selling T-shirts.

"By asking each of the young people to earn their own way and asking their parents to pay what they can," said Dr. Langevin, "we will have been able to send 40 local young people to camp by the end of the summer."

Boys and girls attended in equal numbers and there was no discrimination made between eligible campers on the basis of religion. Young people who attended were from Roman Catholic, Protestant and Jewish backgrounds.

"We just wanted to give the trip to those who could use it most," said Dr. Langevin. "And in that, thanks to the help of all the social agencies, I think we succeeded very well."

One of the girls who participated concurred. "It wasn't just great..." she said, "it was excellent! In fact, I think it was the best week of my whole life!"

Morrisette Defeats Wollaston, Holbrook

The Morrisette Legion baseball team bounced back from a tough 9-8 loss to Hingham to win two games last week, improve its record to 7-3 and stay in contention in Zone 6.

Morrisette edged Wollaston, 5-4, last Friday after scoring four runs in the last inning to trip up Holbrook, 4-3, earlier in the week.

In its previous game Wollaston had snapped a six-game losing streak with a 7-2 victory over Milton. Wollaston is 3-7 following its loss to Morrisette.

Tonight (Thursday) Morrisette hosts Carter Post of Dorchester at 8 p.m. at Adams Field. Friday night Quincy hosts Carter at 8 at Adams and Wollaston plays at Hingham at 6. Monday night it will be Wollaston vs. Holbrook at 8 at Adams, Morrisette at Canton and Quincy at Weymouth at 6. Next Tuesday Wollaston faces Weymouth at 8 at Adams, Morrisette plays at Mass. Truck in Weymouth and Quincy is at Milton at 6. Next Wednesday Quincy meets Canton at 8:30 at Adams and Morrisette is at Braintree at 6.

Wollaston started fast against Morrisette as Mike Notarangelo belted a Jack Outerbridge pitch for a 370-foot home run and Bob O'Brien followed with a double.

Outerbridge, however, settled down in his first start of the year and pitched one-run, four-hit ball for the next five innings, received seventh-inning relief from Mike Marshall and gained the victory.

Morrisette tied the score in the third when Outerbridge singled. Jack Bolster walked, both moved up on a balk by Andy Eames and Outerbridge scored on a poor throw to the plate after Chris Bunker's fly ball.

In the fourth Jim Bandera doubled and scored on Tom Ryan's triple. Ryan scored on an error to give Morrisette a 3-1 lead. Bunker homered in the fifth to make it 4-1 and he scored the eventual game-winner in the seventh after singling and coming around on a two-base throwing error.

Outerbridge gave up a home to Mark Rieghini in the sixth and gave way to Marshall after Ken Runge singled and a two-base error in the seventh.

Marshall, coming off two straight route-going wins, gave up a run on a wild pitch and a sacrifice fly by Rieghini, then got Steve Hogan on a pop-up to end the game and earn his first save.

Bunker and Sid Cedrone had two hits each for Morrisette and Notarangelo and Bob Campbell had two apiece for Wollaston.

Earlier in the week Morrisette trailed Holbrook, 3-0, after six innings but then exploded.

Holbrook had scored twice in the first on two walks and a triple and once in the third on two singles and an error.

Mike Marshall settled down after a slow start, gave up eight hits and struck out eight in gaining his second straight route-going win.

Marshall opened the seventh with a triple, Mike Gill and Scott Mele walked, Marshall scored when Mele was forced at second, Marty McLoughlin doubled home a run and Jim Austin drove in the tying and winning runs with a double.

Mele and McLoughlin had two hits each for Morrisette.

Wollaston, which had dropped six in a row following two impressive wins, returned to the win trail with an excellent two-way performance against Milton.

Vin Cristiani went the distance, shutting Milton out after the second inning when Milton took a 2-0 lead. Mark Hubbard hit a clutch two-out, two-run double to tie the score in the bottom of the second and catcher Bob Campbell threw out two runners stealing and picked a runner off first.

"This was a good all-around game and it's nice to come back and win," said Coach John Belcastro. "We were in a bad slump and it was nice to see it end."

Wollaston clinched the game with three runs in the fifth. Cristiani singled, Notarangelo reached on an error, Rieghini then lined a hard shot at third baseman Dan Duckett, who made a fine catch but his throw to try and double up Notarangelo went into the stands, allowing Cristiani to score and Notarangelo to move to third from where he scored on a sac fly. Campbell singled and Eames blasted a long triple. Wollaston added two runs in the sixth.

Quincy, under first year coach Vic DiGravio, continues to have its troubles, losing two more games last week.

Quincy dropped a particularly frustrating 14-13 decision to Holbrook after taking an 8-1 lead in the first inning. Quincy led, 13-12, after six, but Holbrook scored twice in the seventh to win it.

Jay Adams led Quincy with two triples and two singles.

Last Friday Quincy lost to Mass. Truck, 10-5, despite a four-for-four performance by Joe Conti.

Mass Bay's Legislative Chairman, Philip Goodwin of Quincy, received several awards at the recent 63rd annual Ladies Night Banquet of the Mass. Bay Yacht Clubs Association at Pleasant Park Yacht Club in Winthrop.

He received a citation from the House of Representatives sponsored by Rep. James J. Craven, Jr., and Rep. Alfred Saggasse;

Cunningham sparked Hancock with four hits each, Reardon having a towering three-run homer, Bob Foy pitched well for Co-Op but was a victim of shoddy support. Leo Sheehan had two singles for the losers.

Ed Kelly and Dave O'Connor paced Atlantic an award from the Marine Recreational Division from Director Alfred Natalone, and an award as man of the year from the Mass. Bay Yacht Clubs Association, on behalf of the thousands of pleasure boatspeople across the state.

Data Services at the plate and Pete Cahill and Bob Fave shared the pitching chores in a 19-7 shelling of Bay Bank Norfolk. Bob Reilly had a timely hit and stood out on defense for Atlantic.

South Shore Bank rallied for six runs in the last inning but it was too little and too late as Quincy Savings won, 12-9, to extend its Div. 2 lead to a game and a half. Player-coach Tom Quinn and Paul Cunniff again led Savings.

Arch rivals South Weymouth Savings and State Street Bank were rained out.

The standings: Div. 1 - Hancock Bank, 10-0; Bay Bank Norfolk, 5-6; Atlantic Data, 3-8; South Shore Bank, 1-10. Div. 2 - Quincy Savings, 8-3; South Weymouth Savings, 6-4; State Street Bank, 6-4; Quincy Co-Operative, 3-7.

Division Races Hot In Stretch

With seven games left in a 22-game schedule for each team, there is a battle royal going on for first place in each division of the Quincy Women's Softball League.

Trainer's Truckers have a 13-1 mark and Kane's Place a 13-2 record in Division A, while Washington Tap 2 is 12-2 and Leisure

Graphics 11-3 in Division B. Morrisette, which had been mired in last place in Div. A, handed Kane's a jolt last week as it won, 6-4. The standings: Div. A - Trainer's, 13-1; Kane's, 13-2; Luke's Lounge 1, 9-6; Dee Dee's, 7-5; Fowler House, 8-6; Washington Tap 1, 6-8; Beau's Place, 4-10; Morrisette, 4-10;

Photo Quick, 3-10; Darcy's Village Pub, 3-12. Div. B - Washington Tap 2, 12-2; Leisure, 11-3; Luke's Lounge 2, 8-3; Quincy Co-Op, 8-7; California, 7-7; Balducci's, 6-7; South Shore Bank, 5-8; Shawmut Market, 4-8; Cable Systems, 3-9; Pete's Angels, 2-11.

The league will hold its annual all-star day Sunday, July 17, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., at Pageant Field. There will be free hamburgers, hot dogs, tonic and chips for all players. The all-star game will be at 11:30 a.m. followed by volleyball, horse shoes, darts, dunk tank and other features. Families and friends are invited.

Sheriffs Bomb Bolts, 10-1

The Norfolk County Sheriffs, made up of 16-19 year old baseball players, mostly from Quincy, bombed the Boston Bolts for the second time, 10-1, last week at Eastern Nazarene College's Bradley Field to even their record at 3-3.

junior farm team of the New York Mets Saturday at 1 and 8 o'clock and Sunday at 1 at Adams Field and on July 16 and 17 will be playing in New York.

Pat Connelly pitched a two-hitter against the Bolts and struck out 16.

The Bolts scored their only run in the first but the Sheriffs tied it when Mike Venna doubled and scored on an error. In the third Venna singled, Denis Dolan doubled, Steve White singled and John Doherty tripled to give the Sheriffs a 4-0 lead.

They widened their lead to 7-0 in the fourth when Richard Brooks walked, Paul Mediche singled, Venna walked and Dolan singled. In the fifth John Bille doubled with two outs and scored on Scott Owens' single.

The Sheriffs finished their scoring in the sixth when White and Doherty walked, both moved up on a passed ball and both scored on a wild pitch.

Quincy Runners Help Win Relay Race

There was a definite Quincy tinge to the 44.5-mile Providence to Boston relay race Sunday, won by a team representing Peter Dick's Tavern, Dorchester.

Mike Burke, assistant girls' track coach at North Quincy and the winner of last year's Presidents Marathon, ran the first leg for the winning team, former Quincy High distance star John Furey ran the third leg and Bart Petracca, North Quincy's boys' coach and a former North and Cornell stand-out, ran a strong anchor leg to clinch the victory.

Also running for the team were George Hitt, Jay Legere and George Rose, all veteran distance runners.

The winning team covered the distance in 3:52.29. Mohegan Striders of Norwich, Conn., finished second and Johnson and Wales of Providence took third.

Fore River Scores

12 Runs In One Inning

The Fore River baseball team, with Jerry Shanahan belting a grand slam home run, scored 12 runs in the first inning to hang a 13-5 defeat on North Cambridge and keep alive its playoff hopes in the Greater Boston Twilight League.

With one out, Weafer, Cronin and Janvrin singled in succession to load the bases for Shanahan's slam; then Fore River got eight more runs on three doubles, two singles, three walks, three stolen bases, a wild pitch and a steal of home.

In addition to his homer, Shanahan also had a single and worked a double steal with Janvrin to set up the 11th and 12th runs of the inning.

The Fore River lineup included: Dee ss, Weafer rf, Cronin 2b, Janvrin 1b, Shanahan 3b, Cotter cf, Stokinger cf, McGaffey rf, McQuinn c, Sims p.

WOLLASTON, TIGERS TIE

Shepard beat out a lazy roller to score Mattingly from third with two out in the ninth inning and their Wollaston team went on to play a 3-3 tie with the Tigers at Merrymount Park to maintain its hold on first place in the City League.

The Wollaston lineup included: Rouillard ss, Cain 3b, E. Harrington rf, C. Harrington cf, Hultman c, Shepard lf, Mattingly 1b, Sawyer 1b, Lastra 2b, Maskilieson p.

The Tigers lineup included: Smith cf, Greer rf, Pitts lf, McDonald ss, Frazier 3b, Flavin p, Menhinick c, Schofield 2b, Behan 1b.

CROWD HALTS GAME

Clans MacGregor of Quincy and Robertson of Dorchester battled to a 1-1 tie in the Championship game of the Scottish Clans Soccer League that was halted by Referee Ritchie at the end of 30 minutes when the crowd became unruly and refused to leave the field at Pfaffman's Oval.

The MacGregor lineup included: Forsyth, goal; Lyons, Milne, backs; Rae, McChesnic, Russell, halfbacks; Christie, Neilson, McGonnigal, Greer, Doherty, forwards.

OGLE LEADS COPELANDS

Joe Ogle hit for the cycle, a single, a double, a triple and a home run, in five trips to the plate to lead the Copeland Club of West Quincy to a 15-5 victory over the Clinton Holy Name and Manager Frank Lemieux issued a challenge to Fore River for the city semi-pro title.

The Coeplands lineup included: Rouillard 2b, Herbert rf, Ogle cf, Capobianchi lf, Hughes 1b, Maloney c, Bellew ss, Carlson 1b, Ferrazzi p.

FAIELLA IN UPSETS

Guy S. Faiella of 44 German Ave., Quincy Point, the light-heavyweight who wrestles under the colors of the Quincy Pirates, stunned a large crowd at California Arena, Grossman Field, with upset decisions over Young Bull Montana and Battling Brooks.

SPORTS BITS '27

Birdie Brown pitched a two-hitter as the Quincy Athletics whipped the Braintree Tigers, 9-1, at Scammell's Field. . . E.W. Taylor won the last hole with an eight-foot putt to defeat K. Emerson 1-up in the final match in the Members Trophy Tournament at Stoney Brae golf Club. . . Barry and Sullivan formed the winning battery as Norfolk Varnish handed Pneumatic Scale a 5-3 defeat, its first of the Quincy Industrial Baseball League season. . . The Neponset AA touched up Tom Maskilieson for 12 hits and an 8-4 victory over the Quincy YMHA team on the Ward 3 playground. . . Sawyer limited Squantum to three hits, one of them a double by Sabean, as his Wollaston team won a 9-0 victory at Merrymount Park. . . Wallace S. Carson, former city engineer, was named manager of the newly formed Kiwanis Club baseball team which was to open the season July 15 against Taunton at Merrymount Park. . . Benny Ostnes agreed to referee amateur boxing matches on Promoter Pat Maley's card at the Fore River Field. . . Vincent McCabe and his crew, of two were rescued when their boat, Eleanor, capsized rounding the buoy on the last turn in a race of 15-footers at the Quincy Yacht Club. . . Kibbee of Malden bested Fore River's ace pitcher, Caldwell, 6-2 at Fore River Field to eliminate the Quincy team from contention for the Greater Boston Twilight League pennant chase. . . Capobianco pitched a seven hitter, struck out eight and belted a two-run home run as the South Quincy Columbias beat the Rocky Nine, 7-4, at the Ward 3 field

• Perkins Softball League

Martin's Widens Lead

Martin's Plumbing remained in first place in the Roy Perkins Softball League, defeating the Sedators, 4-0, to pick up another game on defending champion Woodward's Spring.

Bernie Santos pitched the shutout. Martin's, a strong team both offensively and defensively, has been in first place four of the six weeks since the season opened.

Trucks of Quincy picked up two wins, beating the Niners, 6-5, and VFW, 17-7. Trucks knocked out Niners pitcher Gary McPartin in the fourth inning. Dick Papile was the winning pitcher against VFW. Papile also had five RBI.

Woodward's and the Sedators were rained out and will make up the game later.

The standings: Martin's, 7-1; Woodward's, 8-3; Trucks, 8-5; Niners, 6-4; Bashers, 5-5; Sedators, 3-7; VFW, 3-8; South Shore Buick, 0-7.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous shipyard workers, masons, and pipefitters of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

To learn your rights free of charge, or to bring an asbestos claim, contact:

Loren Strout Elected Tourism Assn. President

Loren Strout was recently elected president of the Quincy Tourism Association.

Also elected at the annual meeting were Ardy Peterson, vice president; Doris Oberg, secretary; and Chandler K. Garland, treasurer.

Production of a "Welcome to Historic Quincy" brochure was cited by Strout as among the goals for the coming year.

Strout said "with an aggressive fund raising campaign the brochure will be completed before the upcoming tourist season begins".

"Especially important is the support of the retail business community. Retailers are the people we really need the support from and they will get the most direct benefit from increased tourism" he said.

Other goals for the association are:

Formulating plans for Quincy homecoming Days; Association Membership Drive; opening of Tourist Information Center at Quincy City Hall; fund raising for the completion of the Ruth Gordon Amphitheater; sponsoring a second summer concert at the Amphitheater; creating and placing Quincy information boards; and opening Quincy information racks at the Tourist Information Center on I-95 in Mansfield.

Standing committee's include: Historic Sites, Recreation, Education, Retail Trades, Promotion/Public Relations, Finance, Travel Programs, Tourist Facilities and Transportation.

People interested in joining the Quincy Tourism Association are urged to write to Suite Sixteen, 711 Southern Artery, Quincy, MA 02169.

Rehearsals will be held

Wednesdays and Thursdays, July 20 through Aug. 18.

Show dates are Aug. 19 at 7 p.m. and Aug. 20 at 1 p.m. For more information, call Diane Purdy, 331-4941 or 331-5645.

2 Quincy Students Science Fair Winners

David Kroll and Philip Seifert of Quincy were awarded citations by Secretary of State Michael Joseph Connolly at the State House for winning first prize in the 1983

Massachusetts Science Fair.

High School students from across the state participated in the Science Fair which took place at M.I.T. at the end of April.

Awards Presented At Historical Society Meeting

The 91st annual meeting of the Quincy Historical Society was held recently at the society's Adams Academy Building.

Prior to the meeting the president, Doris S. Oberg was hostess for dessert and coffee.

Two awards of special interest were presented.

The Richard T. LaBrecque Memorial Award was given to Michael Gray, a ninth grade advance placement student at Quincy High School, for his essay based on interviews with some long-time Quincy residents.

The award is made annually from the fund established under the will of Mr. LaBrecque, a well-known Quincy newspaper man, whose greatest enjoyment was the researching and writing of articles on historical subjects.

Purpose of his bequest is to introduce students to the form of writing that had meant so much to him.

The William A. O'Connell Award was established by the society last year to recognize persons who have made an outstanding contribution to the society and to the community.

This year, it was given to honor the late Gordon F. Nelson. Mrs. Nelson accepted the award.

Mr. Nelson was active in the society for many years having served as vice president among other offices. He was an authority on Quantum and its history on which he was

Theatre Historical Society At Wollaston July 18

The Theatre Historical Society of America is planning a historical tour of local theatres and halls, including the Wollaston Theatre in Wollaston on Monday, July 18.

The Society is an international organization and an offshoot of the American Organ Historical Society.

More than 100 members of all ages from around the world, including London, Canada, and the United States will view and hear a short history of each of the centers. Topics of interest include the architects, builders, decorations, including furnishings, organs and present equipment, and facilities.

Other points of historical note will include the opening dates, opening movies, who the stars were, as well as, performing live artists and the ownerships through the years.

A luncheon will be served at the Wollaston Theatre before the Society proceeds to New Bedford. For more information contact the Wollaston Theatre, 14 Beale St., Wollaston.

Will Beef Up Street Patrols

McCauley Names 9 New Patrolmen

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has appointed nine new patrolmen to the Quincy Police Department, bringing the total complement of sworn officers to 199, only six short of the budgeted 205.

The mayor also announced the promotion of two sergeants to lieutenant and he said he expects that four new captains will be named by the end of this week or the beginning of next week.

The new patrolmen, who were scheduled to be sworn in yesterday (Wednesday) are:

William J. Brabazon of Holliston; Charles E. Middendorf of Hingham; Peter F. Turowski of 48 Hayden St.; Gerald D. Gardiner of 127 Reservoir Rd.; Paul Keenan of 83 Lincoln Ave.; John C. Ryan of 6 Miller Stile Rd.; John T. Sullivan of 60 Alrick Rd.; Charles E. Santoro of 32 Viden Rd.; and Paul A. Turowski, 125 Edgewater Drive, all Quincy.

"We have wanted to get more patrolmen on the streets," said McCauley, "and this will do it."

Six of the nine new officers will not be on the street until September, however, since they will have to attend the police academy before they are fully qualified.

Brabazon, Middendorf and Sullivan will be able to go on duty right away since Brabazon is already a police officer in Holliston, Middendorf in Hingham and Sullivan at the University of Massachusetts in Boston.

Brabazon is the son of Louise Brabazon, secretary to the Quincy City Council.

McCauley appointed Sgts. William T. Curran and John G. Doyle to fill lieutenant vacancies caused by the retirements of Lts. Edward Immar and Arthur Shea. The appointments were made Friday.

The mayor said he was given permission by Civil Service to make the appointments from a recently expired list. He said four more lieutenants will be named in the fall when a new list is released.

The four captains, who probably will be named next week, will be Lts. David F. Rowell, Fred Laracy, William Murphy and Walter Frazer.

The list for appointment to captain was opened up this week when Atty. Joseph Killion, counsel for Frazer, passed the word along to the city that his client was withdrawing his suit.

Frazer had topped the list for promotion to captain in the written exams but was dropped to fourth following an oral test. He obtained an injunction that froze the appointment list for two years.

The appointment of patrolmen likewise was held up by legal action.

When the original list came out, Brabazon's name was not on it because, Civil Service said, he had failed to take a blood test over as directed.

Brabazon got an injunction against appointments from the list and Civil Service acknowledged that it was in error and restored his name to the list.

When the captains are appointed next week, McCauley said, the full complement of the Police Department will be one chief, five captains, 10 lieutenants, 23 sergeants and 199 patrolmen.

A 10th new patrolman, Richard F. Potter of 151 Bellevue Rd., turned down the proffered appointment, McCauley said, because he didn't want to work nights.

City Considering Draining Quarry For Drowning Victim

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday the city is considering draining Swingle's Quarry in the West Quincy to recover the body of Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton, who drowned there June 20.

Divers, underwater television cameras, even deep sea equipment from the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution have failed to discover Gooch's body in the water-filled quarry that reaches 300 feet in depth.

"We reviewed the situation this morning," said McCauley, "and we came to the conclusion that the only alternative is to pump the water out of the quarry."

Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson was directed to look into the necessary environmental approvals, cost estimates and the possibility of federal financial help for the project.

draining the spring-fed quarry hole is where to put the water. Quincy's storm drains and sewers are normally filled to capacity.

Meanwhile, police cracked down on swimming in the West Quincy quarries over the weekend with the arrest of four juveniles in Swingle's Quarry, not far from the spot where Gooch lost his life.

The four were charged with trespassing.

Police Officer Ronald Hagblod said three of the four youngsters told him they had been swimming in the quarries for years without regard to the dangers.

"We are trying to get word to the young people that swimming in the quarries is dangerous," said McCauley. "We don't want any more tragedies up there."

The mayor said the city does not want to risk sending divers down into the quarry anymore either since there is a danger to them from the underwater ledges and debris that has been dumped in.

"It's very dangerous," said Bob Michelson, one of the members of the Quincy Underwater Recovery Team who went down in the quarry. "It's deep and dangerous."

"It's filled with debris, tree trunks, planks, logs, even a part of an old bridge. There are a lot of ledges and cliffs you can get hung up on."

"The deepest a diver can go and conduct a worthwhile search is about 60 feet. If you go to 100 feet you have only 22 minutes from the time your descent starts and that's not a lot of time."

Michelson said a couple of the team's divers went to 190 feet searching for the Gooch boy's body but they did not stay long and they had to come up by degrees to avoid the bends.

The group from Woods Hole spent three days with a deep sea RPV (remotely piloted vehicle) at the quarry but failed to turn up any sign of the body.

Good Fun, Good Buys

'Best Ever' Sidewalk Bazaar Takes Over Downtown Quincy

Three days of fun and frolic, bargains and beauty, begin today (Thursday) as the 13th annual Sidewalk Bazaar takes over downtown Quincy.

More than 60 gaily colored booths will dot Hancock St. as nearly 90 participating stores and civic and charitable organizations display their wares and messages.

"We have more merchants and groups taking part than ever before," said Kenneth Fallon, executive secretary of the sponsoring Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

"And we hope to attract more people than ever before. I am looking forward to this bazaar with enthusiasm. It promises to be the best ever."

The festivities will reach a peak Friday at 9 p.m. when Miss Quincy Bay is chosen from a field of 46 girls at the annual pageant in Quincy Center Plaza, Hancock and Granite Sts.

Throughout the three days of the Sidewalk Bazaar, Hancock St. will be closed to traffic from Granite to School Sts. to give shoppers free access to downtown on foot.

Radio WJDA will broadcast the Bazaar activities from a remote booth in front of the Hancock Bank and Quincy Cablesystems will televise the beauty pageant and parts of the Bazaar on tape delay.

The Quincy Sun's Cable Channel 8 will videotape the Beauty Pageant for re-showing next week.

A preview of the pageant was scheduled to be shown last night (Wednesday) on The Sun's Ch. 8 at 5 p.m. and will be repeated Thursday at 5 p.m. and Friday at 4 p.m.

Steve Gillig of McDonald's, the bazaar entertainment Chairman, has put together a fine array of open air shows, including, for the first time, the South Shore Men of Harmony, who will perform tonight (Thursday) from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. near the Hancock Bank.

A concert by Baron Hugo's famed orchestra will precede the Beauty Pageant from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. Friday at Quincy Center Plaza and the Milton Legion Band will perform from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. the same night near the Hancock Bank.

The Gingham Swingers will be back for more square dancing Thursday at 8 p.m. in front of City Hall and a new group, the Quincy Squares, will perform tomorrow from 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. near Heavenly Rounds.

The Ronald McDonald Show will present five performances today and tomorrow and such McDonald's characters as The Hamburglar, The Grimace and Birdie the Early Bird will appear from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily roving the area.

Also wandering among the booths will be a professional organ grinder and trained monkey, the Coca Cola Robot, Ken Sherburne, the juggling unicyclist, Cheezi the Clown, the Pepsi-Cola Challenge, and Rick Cobban, the one man band.

The Somersault Gymnastic Center will give an exhibition Saturday at 11 a.m. near the QCBPA office and Walt Disney characters will pass out refreshments Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Crimston Travel in Quincy Center Plaza.

The Norfolk County Extension Service will hold its weekly Farmers' Market from 12 noon to 5 p.m. Friday in the John Hancock Parking Area with produce direct from the farm to the shopper.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley will preside at the opening ceremonies of the Bazaar today at 10 a.m. outside the QCBPA office along with Sandy Rounseville, president of the QCBPA, and Bernie Reisberg, past president. Bert Cook of Tag's is the general chairman.

McGrath, Condon Take Out Nomination Papers

Two familiar names have been added to the list of candidates in the Quincy City fall election.

City Councillors Stephen J. McGrath and Joanne Condon have taken out papers to run for re-election in Wards 5 and 6 respectively.

The official entry of Condon into the race means that, there will be three candidates and a preliminary election in Ward 6 in September.

School Committee Vice

Lawsuit Filed Against Marina Condo Project

Jens E. Thornton, a candidate for Ward 6 city council, has filed a lawsuit against the city council's renewal of a permit for the proposed $200 million, 900-unit Harbourside condominiums at the Boston Harbor Marina.

But the suit may not have been filed within the required 20 days after the council decision.

Thornton, who filed the suit without a lawyer, charges the proposed project would destroy wetlands and contaminate clam flats, and that there were not adequate studies done on the environmental effects.

The council voted for the renewal June 6. It was not known when the renewal order was typed and filed in the city clerk's office.

O'Neill Chides Reagan

'Bay State Shows Way With Coal-Ship'

House Speaker Thomas P. (Tip) O'Neill Jr. took the occasion to boast that Massachusetts "once again has the lead in an important market of the future, the market for modern coal carriers."

O'Neill was the speaker Saturday as the first coal powered coal carrier built in the United States in more than a half century was christened at the General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard.

He hailed the 36,000-ton "Energy Independence" as a significant breakthrough in coal-fired shipbuilding and he chided the Reagan Administration for "its failure to realize that "coal provides us the surest and quickest way to energy independence."

"The Reagan Administration," he said, "has reduced funding for fossil fuel research and development by 94 per cent since 1981. This administration needs to look to what is happening here today and take note."

"We in New England have seen the handwriting on the wall. We want to rely more on American sources of energy and rely less on foreign sources. New Englanders are working to ensure a better future for their economy and for themselves by switching to coal."

The $73 million "Energy Independence" eventually will carry 2.4 million tons of coal a year from Middle Atlantic ports to the New England Electric System's generating plants at Brayton Point in Somerset and Salem, the equivalent of 300 railroad cars each trip.

Guy W. Nichols, chairman of New England Electric said the ship will supply about two-thirds of the system's yearly needs and will save its customers about $44 million a year.

Both O'Neill and Nichols had high praise for Cong. Brian J. Donnelly, who spurred the building of the "Energy Independence" with his "Front of the Line" bill that ensured precedence for American carriers in shipping American coal.

"It was his brainchild," said O'Neill.

"He made it possible for us to commit this ship," said Nichols. "He spearheaded the effort in Congress."

While the christening ceremonies were going on inside the yard, members of Local 5 of the Shipbuilding Workers Union staged a demonstration outside the gate protesting the General Dynamics policy of subcontracting work to outside companies.

The company issued a statement calling Local 5 statements "false and misleading. Such statements are irresponsible and do a significant disservice to all Quincy employees and the community."

It was noted that the Quincy shipyard lacks the equipment, experience and expertise to do much of the subcontracted work "on an economically viable basis."

"With shrinking employment opportunities for U.S. shipyard workers everywhere," said the company,

"members of Local 5 should recognize that the only way to protect jobs at Quincy is to build the best ships at the lowest cost."

General Dynamics has no current orders for similar coal fired coal carriers but company officials said demand for them is expected to increase when the economy improves.

$10,000 Needed

Funds Sought To Leaf First Church Dome

United First Parish Church, the historic Church of the Presidents, is seeking to raise $10,000 to replace the gold leafing on the dome.

Workers this summer will restore the faces of the clocks on the tower and repair and paint the exposed wood so it was decided to leaf the dome while the scaffolding is up.

Forrest I. Neal Jr., chairman of the Gold Leafing of the Dome Committee, said it has been 72 years since the last gold leaf was applied to the dome.

"If we wait until later to do the gold leafing the cost will be thousands of dollars more," he said.

Letters have gone out to friends of the church seeking contributions.

Donors of $100 or more will have their names listed on a permanent plaque in the church and those giving $250 or more will receive a color photo of the church after the work has been completed.

Neal said the gold leaf must be ordered by July 20.

Readers Forum Responds To Rent Grievance Board Stories

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
Because of continued stories published in the newspaper detrimental to landlord-tenant relations, I felt compelled to refute the various issues originating at the Rent Grievance Board Office.

I wrote Mayor McCauley on March 25, 1983 requesting the statements of the boards' office published March 15, 1983, be documented. The response received on May 31, was a masterpiece in being evasive.

I wrote the Mayor on June 8, reminding him that it was the apartment house owners that sued the city for their blatantly illegal action and the tenants would have had to pay over one half million dollars a year in increased rents over the last three years, and continuing until reevaluation is completed.

Immediately after winning the lawsuit, I was falsely accused in the press for not doing her bidding.

Recently this same official requested an appointment with the Mayor to discuss the future of a member of the Rent Grievance board who as a landlord, had the courage to increase the rent of a tenant who wasted heat continually by leaving a window open, it was alleged.

The newspaper story continued, the Executive Secretary said "the board was embarrassed about it and asked me to go to the Mayors' office and talk to him (about removing the member)." Weren't they concerned with saving energy?

Now the Executive Secretary is still talking Rent Control and using the shot gun approach criticizing all landlords.

If and when there are problems concerning defects in a building it is in the realm of the code enforcement division of the Health Department to investigate and correct same.

We respectfully request that before any more public statements be made by the Rent Grievance Board's office, the issues be documented, and that either the Quincy Apartment House Owners Association or the Mayor's Office be consulted so that harmony, not friction may be maintained. It's very important to maintain a good office. Faith and confidence is needed if the housing industry is to maintain and or supply new housing stock.

Surely, the investor is entitled to a fair return on his investment.

Baron Saddened By James' Death

The death of Harry James saddened anyone old enough to have lived — and listened through — the big band era of the 1930's and 1940's.

One especially saddened is Baron Hugo, who had the biggest band of them all and once filled in for James at the Totem Pole.

Baron, who will be 80 in September and is still going strong though with a smaller band met James in 1944 or 1945 when the latter was one of the biggest names in the business.

Baron had a 35-piece house band at the Totem Pole and James was booked in for an appearance. During his theater and ballroom tours, James played at military installations and hospitals.

While at the Totem Pole, James took his band over to the Murphy General Hospital in Waltham to entertain patients there and Baron's band filled in for him one night until they got back.

Baron later got to meet him.

Now, Baron isn't a shrinking violet as anyone who has seen him down through the years knows. He loves to ham it up and meet people.

"But do you know," he recalls, "I had so much respect for Harry James that when we met I was dumbfounded awed. I couldn't think of anything to say that would come out right."

James was the quiet type. So they shook hands and hardly said anything to one another.

But what Baron wanted to say back then, would have gone like what he said the other day when James died: "He really had it. He was a great musician. And, a gentleman."

HUGO

BARON, by the way, will again provide the music at this year's Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant Friday night.

And, he has already volunteered again to entertain at The Sun during the annual Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy telethon on Labor Day.

He may be veering in on 80 but he sure doesn't act it. He's one in a million.

CHRISTINE McGRATH will surrender her crown as Miss Quincy Bay to the winner of this year's pageant Friday night. But the 19-year-old Chris is hardly a has-been. The other night she was the first runner-up in the New England Camera Club contest.

CHRISTINE

YOU MIGHT SAY the Morrisette Legion baseball team has the law on its side whenever it plays.

Mike and Paul Marshall, sons of Norfolk County Sheriff Clifford Marshall, are two of the team's standouts and the sheriff is at just about every game.

Mike is a top pitcher and Paul a good versatile player — pitches, plays second and recently caught his first game. And, Mike was the pitcher.

Another of Morrisette's top players is Scott Mele, son of Quincy's Sam Mele, former major leaguer and manager and now a special assignment scout for the Red Sox. Scott is a third baseman.

MARSHALL

OOPS DEPT: In last week's column we led off with an item about School Committee member John Sullivan predicting the Wollaston School will re-open in two years.

We left space for his photo and put his name under it. And then somehow forgot to put the photo in, leaving an empty space.

For those of you who might not know what Sullivan looks like, (though we doubt that) we're using the photo this week. Take a bow, John.

Security Tips For Shopping Trips

During the everyday activity of shopping you are an especially attractive target because you are likely to be carrying more money than usual.

Obviously, when you shop you have to pay for your purchases but there are ways to do it without using cash. The most secure method is to charge them, not necessarily through the use of a credit card but by the old fashioned way of a charge account.

The next most secure method of payment is by check. Payment by cash, except for very small purchases, should be avoided whenever possible.

Don't wear your best jewelry when shopping and don't wear extravagant clothing.

If, for some unavoidable reason, you have to carry a large amount of cash, take care to dress in a modest, inexpensive outfit that will call minimum attention to you.

If possible arrange to have your parcels delivered. If you shop at more than one store and it is necessary for you to carry your parcels home yourself, store them in the trunk of your car, not on the back seat.

It is best to arrange your shopping schedule so that the most expensive items are purchased last so you won't have to leave them unattended.

Priest Trio, 'Quincy' Song To Aid Library, Historical Society

The official city song is coming to the financial aid of the Thomas Crane Public Library and the Quincy Historical Society.

A recording of "Quincy", written and sung by the Rev. David D'Olimpio, has gone on sale with the profits going to the hard-pressed library and the historical society.

Fr. D'Olimpio is joined on wax by the newly ordained Rev. Robert Deehan and the soon-to-be Rev. Joseph O'Brien, all from St. John's Parish in Quincy.

The 45 rpm recording was cut by Morning Star Productions at the home studio of Andy Murray of Houghs Neck, who also backs the group on bass.

"Jason's Music Store has agreed to sell the record at $2 with all the profits going to the library and the historical society," says Fr. D'Olimpio.

"We're trying to get the banks to sell it, too, and maybe we'll sell it at the Sidewalk Bazaar this summer."

The record cost 50 cents to produce and the $1.50 in profits will go 75 cents to the library and 75 cents to the historical society.

"Quincy" was written several years ago by Fr. D'Olimpio, now a member of the team ministry at St. Paul Church, Lynn. It was adopted as the official city song in November, 1981.

'General Face Lift' For Historic Central Building

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The Central Building in Quincy Sq., reportedly the oldest office building in the city, is undergoing a "general facelift" expected to be completed by early September.

According to David Leitch, vice president of Burgin Platner & Co. Inc. which occupies a portion of and owns the building at 1355-1365 Hancock St., "major renovations" are planned.

Leitch said renovations will primarily be made to the front exterior of the building. Granite will be put on the bottom half of the building, new entryways installed, and other renovations made.

New signs will also be put on the building, illuminated by lights such as those on the nearby Adams Building.

When renovations are completed, the Central Building's appearance will suggest a similar time period as that of the Adams Building, Leitch said.

"We're improving the general appearance in downtown Quincy which we feel is a dynamic place in which to do business," said Leitch.

Though he declined to give a cost estimate for the renovations, Leitch said his company was able to obtain low interest loans from the South Shore Economic Development Corporation of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, and from the Storefront Rehabilitation Program of the Community Development Block Grant Program.

Business tenants in the building will remain open during the renovations, Leitch said.

The two-story, frame and stucco building was constructed in 1817, according to a 1980 appraisal by Samuel F. McCormack Co., Inc.

The property was originally occupied by two school rooms on the first floor and a Town Hall on the second floor. In 1842, it was moved to Coddington St. where it was known as the Coddington School.

In 1866, it was moved back to its present and original location next to Hancock Cemetery.

About 1920, the building was cut down to its present level and in conjunction with an adjoining wood frame building was joined into the existing one building.

The building is included in the historic district of the city.

McDuff also said a campaign will be started to get dogs and cats in the city neutered, and legislation may be filed increasing penalties for violation of Quincy's lease law.

Pound Seizure Repeal Signed By Dukakis

A bill which prevents stray dogs picked up in Quincy from being used for scientific experiments has been signed into law by Gov. Michael S. Dukakis.

Sen. Paul Harold, (D-Quincy) is among sponsors of the bill which repeals a law that allows animal dealers and medical research facilities to seize dogs held at city pounds.

Similar legislation has been signed into law in 22 other communities. A statewide bill is stalled in a legislative committee.

Bus Service Resumes After 127-Day Strike

Passenger service resumed on the Quincy Division of the Eastern Mass Street Railway Co. following a 127-day strike after the drivers agreed to accept a company offer of a 15-cent an hour raise retroactive to Jan. 1.

At the same time, David Brackman of the State Department of Public Utilities announced approval of a fare increase for Eastern Mass averaging 50 per cent.

Company officials said the approval probably would mean raising the general fare from 10 cents to 15 cents, 20-cent fares to 25 cents and increasing the cost of tokens from 8 2/3 cents to 12 1/2 cents.

It was estimated that the strike, which started March 10 on all 11 divisions in the system, had cost the company $20.8 million in lost sales and $4.5 million in lost passengers revenues and the strikers $2.4 million in lost wages.

NEW TANKER CONTRACT

The Bethlehem Steel Co. announced the award of a $7 million contract to the Fore River Shipyard for the construction of another 29,000-ton supertanker, bringing to $200 million the total value of vessels under contract to the yard.

The Quincy Shipbuilding Committee launched a drive to have one of the Navy's proposed 60,000-ton Forrestal-class aircraft carriers constructed at the Quincy shipyard. The first of the big flattops was being built at Newport News, Va.

RECORD HEAT

The temperature hit 98 degrees in Quincy, breaking the record of 95 for the date set on July 14, 1873 and the three-day heat wave brought water pressure in the city to a record low level.

Water pressure at Quincy City Hospital was the lowest in 29 years and Dr. Joseph P. Leone, the director, said he was preparing to ask the Fire Department to permit the hospital to hook into a nearby hydrant.

Quincy Choral Society At Curry College July 20

The Curry College Performing Arts 1983 Summer Series will close Wednesday, July 20, with the 100-voice Quincy Choral Society, directed by Robert Brown of the Quincy Symphony Orchestra, presenting a program of 19th Century choral music.

Sponsored by the College's Center for Lifelong Learning, the concert will be held at the Little Theater in the John Stuart Hafer Academic Center, beginning at 7 p.m.

The Society was founded in 1981, evolving from a discussion at the home of Quincy residents Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nelson who launched a campaign to recruit members for a choral group. Eighty-five people were present at the first meeting of what was to become the now famous Quincy Choral Society. Among the 85 was Baron Hugo Lira, himself a famous and beloved figure in the world of music who will be honored by his many friends and admirers this fall on the occasion of his 80th birthday.

The Quincy Choral Society consistently draws a large attendance at its concerts which vary in music styles from Brahms-REQUIEM to Broadway favorites such as Sound of Music, Oklahoma, and West Side Story.

The July 20th concert is open to the public without charge.

Mary Quinn Installed LWV President

Mary Quinn was recently installed as president of the League of Women Voters in Quincy at the annual meeting held at the home of Rona Goodman in Squantum.

Also installed were Jane Sullivan, vice president; Clara Yeomans, recording secretary; Diane O'Malley, corresponding secretary; and Pat McCarthy, treasurer.

A local program was adopted by the members for the coming year. A committee of members will work on the publication of a Know Your City booklet, as a service to voters and new residents of Quincy.

Another committee will work in cooperation with other South Shore leagues to study and take action on the pollution of Quincy Bay by the Nut Island Treatment Plant. A third group will study county government.

The League of Women Voters, founded in 1920, promotes political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government.

It neither supports or opposes any political party or candidate. However, the League lobbies on behalf of legislation which supports its positions, which are arrived at through a consensus of its members.

Any citizen interested in joining the league or inquiring about the league's position on an issue is asked to call Mary Quinn at 471-6974.

Bruce Hiltunen In Students 'Who's Who'

Can't sleep? Call (212) 772-7800 any time. Taped voice of a Lenox Hill Hospital (New York) psychologist-neurologist will help you relax and sleep.

New stroke therapy calls for thinning the patient's blood at the onset of stroke so it can flow to reach the brain through narrow channels and keep neurons from dying. Experimental procedure to avoid paralysis has been done at the Emory University School of Medicine in Atlanta.

The Food and Drug Administration has approved a non-prescription sponge contraceptive for women that is said to be about 85 percent effective. The soft disposable sponge will sell for about $1.

Surgical "zipper" to close wounds is said to leave a finer, less noticeable scar line than sutures or staples. Developed by a Chicago surgeon, it is already in use in Europe. FDA approval is expected soon.

Hearing aid to help people hear soft voices and conversation without amplification of background sounds has been developed at Stanford Medical Center in Palo Alto. Called an earcorder, the device is a low-cost plastic "bubble" fitted into the ear.

John Baldassini Honored At Retirement Party

John Baldassini of 398 Quarry St., West Quincy, an employee of the North Quincy post office for 42 years, was guest of honor recently at a retirement party held at the Weymouth Flks Hall.

The surprise party was given by Baldassini's wife, Lucy, daughter, Susan, and sons Paul and David.

Some 175 family members, friends and people on Baldassini's mail route attended the dinner dance. Baldassini's route for the past 28 years has been in Montclair.

Among the guests was Mike Cirillo who came dressed as Uncle Sam since Baldassini had been employed by the government.

An avid golfer, Baldassini plans to join a golf club and to continue coaching the Niners men's softball team.

By John Valante

TIPS FOR THE ELDERLY

The old, like the young, have their special problems with criminals. For them the American Association of Retired Persons has compiled some self-protection tips.

Beware of aid offers from strangers, either in crossing a street or carrying packages or getting in buses. They may be stealing from your purse or picking your pockets. Also be wary of strangers who start odd conversations.

Watch out for "con artists" who try to swindle you through "bunco" schemes or offers of quick, easy profits or medical "cures". Check out every such proposal carefully, and report to law-enforcement authorities anything that proves "phony".

Travel well-lit and busy streets, even if that means taking a little longer to get where you're going.

Encourage neighbors to keep a lookout for you and your home. Let them know your whereabouts and your plans. Alert them to any unusual circumstances. Your neighbors are often your single best security system.

Buyable alternatives

Fine quality. Affordable prices. That's what customers clearly find in the French Collection of elegant 24% lead crystal you can still buy with each qualifying deposit at Quincy Savings.

For the next several weeks, you can buy a pair of Cristal D'Arques stemware or tumblers with each $100 you deposit in a new or existing savings or Individual Retirement Account.

If you want an alternative, you have one. Because we're adding four matching accessory items to our French Collection, which you can now add to yours.

We have a familiar vase

If you've admired and wanted to buy the crystal bud vase (and candleholders) on our lobby displays, now you can.

The 6½" vase has the now familiar name of Cristal D'Arques, with elegance to match the finest blown, cut and polished crystal.

The candleholders will add more brilliance to your French Collection and new beauty to your table.

You can buy the bud vase for just $5.50 including sales tax or a pair of candleholders for only $8.50 (including tax) simply by depositing $100 into a new or existing savings or Individual Retirement Account.*

| Price per unit (including sales tax) with each deposit of $100* |         |
|------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|
| Stemware                                                         | $8.50  |
| Tumblers                                                         | $7.25  |
| Vase                                                             | $5.50  |
| Candleholders                                                    | $8.50  |
| Bowl                                                             | $12.50 |

Herbert J. Mainwaring, 93, Retired Editor, Letters Writer

A funeral for Herbert J. Mainwaring, 93, retired editor of the Plymouth-based "Cape Cod Guide" tourist's magazine, was held Tuesday at St. John the Evangelist Church in South Duxbury.

Mr. Mainwaring died Saturday of respiratory failure in the Newton and Wellesley Nursing Home in Wellesley.

He had lived in Wollaston for 50 years before moving to Natick in 1968. Born in Boston in 1889, he attended Norwood Schools.

Mr. Mainwaring was well-known for writing provocative letters to the editors of Quincy and Boston newspapers.

Mr. Mainwaring was a copywriter for various advertising firms in Boston before going to the "Cape Cod Guide."

Mainwaring was active in many High Church Episcopal organizations and was a layman with the Cowley Fathers in Cambridge, an order of Episcopal Monks. He was known internationally for his church scholarship and several of his articles had appeared in church magazines, including the "London Church Times."

Husband of the late Marion (Imrie) Mainwaring, he is survived by two daughters, Marion Mainwaring of Boston and Elsie (Pepper) Healey of Framingham Center; two sons, Herbert J. Mainwaring, Jr. of Grosse Pointe Shores, Mich., and David L. Mainwaring of Needham; and four grandchildren.

Burial was in Mayflower Cemetery, South Duxbury.

Joseph Choinard, 79,

A funeral Mass for Joseph Choinard, 79, of Quincy, a retired fireman for General Dynamics, was held Tuesday at St. Mary's Church.

Mr. Choinard died at Quincy City Hospital on Friday after a long illness.

He was a lifelong resident of Quincy.

Mr. Choinard was a member of the Fore River Long Service Club.

He is survived by his wife, Emma F. (Jennings) Choinard; a son, Richard J. Choinard of New York; two grandchildren and two nieces.

Funeral arrangements were by Grimwood and Coletta Funeral Home, 603 Adams St., Quincy. Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery, Braintree.

Planning ahead can offer peace of mind . . .

It is only human to put things off. But proper planning for the event of one's death can spare a family many traumatic decisions and financial burdens. By pre-arranging the desires and wishes of one's funeral, burial and expenses can be specified to eliminate confusion, differences of opinion and difficult decisions on the part of family members. To ease this burden, we are making available to you FREE a booklet with all necessary information and forms to assist and guide you. Why not visit us or write for your FREE Pre-arrangement Booklet.

Booklet covers the following subjects:

- Funeral and Interment Preferences
- Vital Statistics and Data
- Survivors Information, Social Security, Insurance, Bank Accounts, Real Estate, Automobile, Safety Deposit Box, Savings Bonds, Stocks and Bonds, Retirement Accounts and Veterans Benefits.
- Pre-Arrangement Information
- Three duplicate copies of a Funeral and Interment Pre-Arrangement Agreement.

Anna I. Driscoll, 84, Retired QCH Housekeeper

A funeral service for Anna I. Driscoll, 84, a former housekeeper for student nurses at Quincy City Hospital, was held Tuesday in the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

The Rev. Theodore Romberg, pastor of Wollaston United Methodist Church, officiated.

Mrs. Driscoll died

Sunday in Brockton Hospital after a long illness.

Born in Quincy, she was a lifelong resident of the city. She attended the Woodward School for Girls in Quincy and for 22 years she was the housekeeper at Gordon House at Quincy City Hospital. She retired 15 years ago.

Mrs. Driscoll was a member of the Past

Presidents Club of the Ladies Auxiliary at the Bryant Veterans of Foreign Wars Post, Quincy, and the 39 Club of Quincy United Methodist Church.

Wife of the late Clarence Driscoll, she is survived by a daughter, Thelma Duncan of Plymouth; six grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Burial will be in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Nibley R. DiMattio, 81, Retired Steamfitter

A funeral Mass for Nibley Ross DiMattio, 81, a retired steamfitter for the Bethlehem Steel Co., was held Wednesday at St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

Mr. DiMattio died Sunday at Quincy City Hospital after a long illness.

He was born and educated in Quincy and had been retired from Bethlehem Steel for the past 20 years.

He is survived by his wife, Eleanor (Manzello) DiMattio; four sons, Michael DiMattio of Braintree, Stephen E. DiMattio of the Quincy Police Department, Harold A. DiMattio of St. Francisville, La., and Vincent DiMattio of Long Branch, N.J.; two daughters, Mary Ann Veno and Phyllis J. Clark, both of Quincy; two sisters, Mildred Libertine and Eleanor Ival, both of Quincy; 12 grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy. Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

John J. Sheehy, 92, Retired Salesman

A funeral Mass for John J. Sheehy, 92, of North Quincy, retired salesman for Perry Fish Company, South Boston, was held today (Thursday) at the Sacred Heart Church, Quincy.

Mr. Sheehy died Monday at Quincy City Hospital after a long illness. He was a resident of Quincy for 47 years.

Born in Brooklyn, he lived in South Boston before moving to North Quincy. He graduated from Boston public schools.

Mr. Sheehy was a World War I Navy veteran. He was a past commander of the Michael J. Perkins American Legion Post and a charter member of the South Boston Knights of Columbus chapter.

He is survived by his wife, Lillian M. (St. Germain) Sheehy; a son, Charles Sheehy of Quincy; three sisters, Mary Regan, Margaret Sheehy and Anna Sheehy, all of South Boston; and three grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Foxboro.

Hepatitis Program At Quincy City Hospital

"Hepatitis" will be the subject presented at Quincy City Hospital as part of the Lunch and Learn Program, Friday, July 22, at 12 noon in the hospital conference room.

Participants may bring their own lunch or purchase a sandwich at the hospital.

The program will be presented by Betty Beniers

R.N., Administrative Co-ordinator of the hospital's Infection Control Dept. Mrs. Beniers will discuss this acute viral illness which affects mainly children and young adults. Hepatitis has a worldwide distribution and is usually transmitted by oral ingestion of infected material but may also be transmitted by blood transfusion.

The public is invited to attend the free educational program sponsored by Quincy City Hospital.

For more information about the Lunch and Learn Program, contact Jane Mudge R.N., Health Promotion Dept., Quincy City Hospital, 773-6100, ext. 328.

Mental Health Center Moves

South Shore Mental Health Center, serving residents of Quincy, Milton and Randolph, recently moved into the new Quincy Mental Health Center building, 460 Quincy Ave., Quincy.

Administrative and business offices of the center will be at the new location, along with the agency's medical records, training, employee assistance, adult outpatient clinic, mental retardation unit, continuing treatment, crisis intervention, community support, residential service and Project Optimus programs.

Executive director Harry Shulman said the child and family outreach clinic, developmental services, child outreach program and Mission Possible program will all be located at 67-77 Parkway, Quincy.

The center also has a new telephone number, 770-4000.

Other programs of the center have not moved, according to Shulman.

William Trifone Attends Hospital Conference

William J. Trifone, of 24 Mortimer Terr., Quincy, attended the recent annual convocation and conference of the American College of Osteopathic Hospital Administrators (ACOHA) in Orlando, Florida.

Trifone is the newly appointed Administrator of the Huntington General Hospital in Jamaica Plain

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK
Our eyes and ears relay messages to our brain when decisions are needed. The type of requests for help from others therefore have a lot to do with the type of help given - or not given.

There are people at work all over our country helping other people every day. These givers of help are especially adept in generally helping people to help themselves. They firmly believe there are always people within their reach who need the sort of help they are able to give. These people at times come close to exhaustion in helping others but when they help someone bear a burden or help someone solve a problem, their own energy is restored as if by miracle.

Those who need and seek help should remember that requests in the form of a demand, and especially a selfish demand, relay a message to the brain that usually results in rejection. Just as the unfortunate need milk more than preaching, the spiritually minded givers of help likewise need consideration, and a display of decent manners. Their brain reacts in normal manner too, because they too are human...

Civil Defense To Again Assist At Beauty Pageant

The Quincy Civil Defense Agency will provide lighting and medical coverage for the "Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant" Friday night.

This is the ninth consecutive year the Civil Defense Agency will assist at the pageant, providing lighting for the runways and power for the public address system. Rescue and lighting will be under the direction of Jordan Cohen, director of operations.

Because of the expected large crowd, the Civil Defense ambulance will also be on the scene to provide medical services if needed. Charles Roffo is director of emergency services.

'Discovering God's Will' Squantum Church Sermon

"Discovering God's Will" was the topic of the sermon preached by Rev. Gene Langevin, pastor, at both services at the First Church of Squantum Sunday.

At the first service, music was provided by guitarists Steve Williams, Andrew Ogilvie and Mary Ruth Scott. Ushers were David Williams and Albert Pedriali.

During the second service, the offertory "My Jesus, I Love Thee" was sung by a small choral group including Genevieve Todd, Doris Sinckler, Diana Lindblad, Tom Williamson, Bud Sumner and Fred MacMillan. Mary Ruth Scott directed.

Greeters were Mae Lewis and Kathryn Kelly. Ushers were Tore Wallin and Harry Holmes.

This Sunday, there will again be two services, the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 9:30 a.m.

The pastor's sermon will be entitled, "Prayer - the First Spiritual Discipline."

Saturday Services At United Methodist Church

Quincy Community United Methodist Church, 175 Albatross Rd., off Sea St., Adams Shore, held a "first" 5 p.m. Saturday worship service recently.

This was the beginning of a summer-long series open to all persons. It will supplement the 10 a.m. service at 40 Beale St.

Special music was provided by soloist Ellen Yoerger accompanied by Marjorie McAllister, organist-director.

Pastor Walter Wnek shared his experiences of a first trip to the Holyland. He sang an original folk composition entitled, "Galilee" as he developed the idea that with the presence of the living God everyland is a holyland.

Jay Whyte, who served as usher, was surprised as the congregation joined in celebrating his "39th" birthday.

This Sunday, the 5 p.m. service will be conducted by Dr. Theodore E. Romberg. For more information, call 328-1264.

Cancer Society Honors 2 From Quincy

Two Quincy residents, Henry Mountford and Helene Cronin, were among volunteer drivers honored by the American Cancer Society Service Line during a tea at Hersey House, Hingham.

Awards were presented to those who have driven 25 or more trips in the past year. The service line arranges transportation for patients when families are unable to provide rides for radiation or chemotherapy.

Rough Going For Wollaston, Quincy

Morrisette Still Contender

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Morrisette Legion baseball team is still in contention for its Zone 6 division title but Monday night Canton scored a run in the bottom of the seventh to tie Morrisette, 7-7.

The game will be replayed.

Morrisette is 8-4 with two tie games to be replayed.

Meanwhile, Wollaston and Quincy are finding the going rough and following last week's games Wollaston stood at 3-10 and Quincy at 2-10.

Tonight (Thursday) Morrisette hosts Milton at 8 at Adams Field. Friday night it will be Morrisette vs. Quincy at 8:30 at Adams and Canton vs. Wollaston at 6 at Adams; Monday Morrisette is home to Randolph at 8 at Adams and Quincy is at Braintree and Wollaston at Carter Post, Dorchester, at 6, and next Wednesday Wollaston will host Braintree at 8 at Adams and Morrisette will be at Hingham at 6.

Canton took a 6-2 lead over Morrisette after four innings Monday night but Morrisette tied it with four runs in the fifth with Mike Gill having a key hit. Morrisette took a 7-6 lead in the top of the seventh only to have Canton tie in the bottom half and darkness halted the game.

Jim Bandera was the starting pitcher for Morrisette and gave way to Mike Marshall, who pitched fine ball. He gave up the tying run in the seventh but stranded the winning run at third base.

Chris Bunker had two doubles for Morrisette and Tom Ryan and Sid Cedrone also had hits.

Last week Morrisette took advantage of errors to top Carter Post, 4-3. Three errors enabled Morrisette to score the winning run in the seventh as Bunker reached on an error, stole second and scored on errors by the catcher and center fielder.

Carter took a 2-0 lead in the first but Morrisette scored a run in the third on Jack Bolster's single and Scott Mele's triple. Morrisette took a 3-2 lead in the fourth on a single by Jim Austin, a triple by Bandera and a single by Cedrone.

Carter tied it in the fifth and Morrisette then won it in the seventh. Jack Outerbridge was the winning pitcher in relief of Dennis Cronin.

In its previous game Morrisette lost to Weymouth, 7-4, as Mike Marshall pitched well but his mates committed six errors, giving Weymouth several unearned runs.

Morrisette took a 2-0 lead in the first on a single by Bolster, a double by Mele, an error and Marty McLoughlin's sacrifice fly. Weymouth tied it in the second, added three runs in the third and clinched the win with two in the fourth on errors.

Morrisette scored its last two runs in the sixth when Bandera reached on an error and Dan Kelly ran for him. Cedrone singled, Ryan hit a sacrifice fly and Bolster singled.

Bolster and Cedrone had two hits each for Morrisette.

Quincy finally gained its second win as it came from behind with two runs in the sixth to top Wollaston, 4-3.

Quincy trailed, 2-0, going into the third but scored a run off Vin Cristiani when Gary Brown and Joe Ciardi singled. Vic DiGravio walked and Greg Knight walked to force in the run.

Wollaston went ahead, 3-1, in the fourth when Mike Notarangelo led off with a bunt single, was moved up by Steve Higgins, Mark Righini singled Notarangelo to third from where he scored on a squeeze bunt by Bob Campbell.

Quincy moved to within 3-2 when Jerry Arroyo doubled down the left field line, Pat Calabro reached on an error and Arroyo singled in Arroyo. Quincy won it in the sixth when Jim McNamara walked and went to second on a throwing error on DiGravio's grounder. McNamara was picked off second by Campbell but DiGravio took second on the play, moved to third on Knight's bunt. Chris Dracchio walked, DiGravio came home on a passed ball and Dracchio scored the winner on an error.

"Joey (Conti) pitched one good game," said Coach Vic DiGravio. It was Conti's first win.

Quincy also made an excellent showing against powerful Hingham before losing, 4-3.

Hingham also topped Quincy, 8-3, with Brown having three hits and an RBI for Quincy.

Wollaston's troubles continued. In addition to the Quincy loss, it also lost to Randolph, 8-1, and bowed to Hingham, 13-5. Keith Smith had two hits and Campbell a hit and an RBI for Wollaston against Hingham.

Sun Sports

THE Quincy Recreation Dept. has added windsurfing lessons to its boating and sailing program this summer. Robbie Murray, right, is the instructor and Steve Morrissey, left, is supervisor of the boathouse.

Windsurfing Added To City's Summer Recreation Program

The award-winning Boating and Sailing Program sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department has a new look for this summer.

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch announces that Colman's Sporting Goods has donated a windsurfer-sailboard to the William F. Ryan Boating and Sailing Facility and, beginning this week, windsurfing instruction is being offered at the facility.

"For many years we have provided sailing, rowing and canoeing instruction to Quincy residents from age 8 through adults," Welch said.

"Windsurfing is one of the fastest growing sports in the nation and seemed a logical addition to our program. We are grateful to Bob Colman for providing us with the board and making this program possible."

Lessons are open to Quincy residents 13 and up who pass a qualifying swim test and can demonstrate a basic knowledge of sailing. Instruction is being offered at various times and persons can register at the Ryan Boating and Sailing Facility from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

Additional information can be obtained by calling the Recreation Dept. at 773-1380, Ext. 204.

Castaways, Bunnies Win

The Castaways scored in every inning and walloped the Sea Gals, 17-3, in Houghs Neck Women's Softball League action.

Marion Knudson was the winning pitcher and the game marked the return of Berty Batson, who had missed most of the season due to an injury. She had two hits. Jeanne Preble, Ellen Rhode and Laurie Miller had three hits each and Miller played well in the field. For the Sea Gals Marisa D'Angelo played well as did Janet Kirby and Priscilla Little.

The Bunnies topped the Hustlers, 6-3, with Ann Marie Lyons the winning pitcher and Mal Morrell the loser. Maureen Maher had a double and single and also played outstanding shortstop. Debbie Chimi and Katie Dunn made fine catches in the outfield. For the Hustlers Helen Kelly played superbly at second base and Marie Fraser also played well.

Somersault Gym Teams Shine At National Championships

The Class I and II boys' gymnastics team from the Somersault Gymnastics Center in North Quincy made a fine showing recently in the USGF National Championships in Eugene, Ore.

Representing the center against 250 boys from all sections of the country were Gerry Haran, Dave Johnson, Roberto Weil, Mark Arnold, Carlton Noble and John Hill.

The team spent five days in Eugene. The top six boys in each event received medals.

In Class II all the boys had their best meet of the year. Johnson started slowly but turned in his highest ever optional score of 44.35 to total 90.95. Weil scored 92.85. Haran had a tough time with his compulsory vault but came back the next day with an all-time high optional score of 51.9. He finished 18th overall at 104.85. He placed third in the nation on high bar.

In Class I Hill scored 98.45 and did an excellent high bar routine for a 9.0. Arnold had the best meet of his career, placing 23rd overall at 105.15.

Both Arnold and Hill will go on to college on scholarships. Arnold to Stanford and Hill to Wisconsin.

Noble, only a sophomore in high school, looked good in his first time in Class I. He placed 25th at 104.85 and was sixth in the nation on pommel horse.

The competitive season is over for the summer and the boys and girls are training for next year. The center runs a day camp at the gym each day from 9 a.m. to noon and there are several openings. Further information can be had by calling 328-9405 and asking for Coach Tom Fontecchio.

4 From Quincy On Senior Babe Ruth Stars

Four players from the Data Service team, Quincy's entry in the Senior Babe Ruth League, have been selected for the 1983 all star team.

They are Mark Chambers, second base; Bill O'Brien, catcher; Duane Wilcoxon, pitcher-shortstop; and Bob Jafferian, pitcher.

Chambers, a senior at Quincy High School, batted .412 while playing sensational defense.

O'Brien, a varsity player at Xaverian High School in Westwood, batted .358 and drove in 10 runs. He plans to attend Norwich University in the fall.

Wilcoxon, who attends

North Quincy High School, led the team in hitting with a .440 average and had two wins to his credit as a pitcher.

Jafferian, also a senior at Xaverian, had a 2.00 earned run average.

Other members of the Data Service team receiving all star votes were Billy DiMattio, pitcher and Paul Cahill, who played four different positions.

Data Service is coached by the O'Brien brothers, Neil and Bill. The manager is George Derane, who is also president of the Quincy Youth Baseball League.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous shipyard workers, masons, and pipefitters of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

SUMMERFEST '83 got underway with a performance by the Quincy High School Alumni Band, led by George Vallanti, at City Hall Plaza. The concert, sponsored by the Quincy South Shore Cultural Commission, will continue Wednesdays at 7 p.m. throughout the summer.

'Peter Rabbit' Film At Main Library

"Peter Rabbit and Tales of Beatrix Potter", will be shown at the Thomas Crane Public Library, Quincy Sq. today (Thursday) at 10:30 a.m.

The film brings the field and farmyard creatures of Potter's tales to life in a ballet danced by members of the Royal Ballet. The music by composer-conductor, John Lanchbery, links five of the best-known tales together including Jemima Puddle-Duck, Squirrel Nutkin and Mr. Jeremy Fisher. Visitors from other stories also appear. Scenery, costumes and masks are imaginative and effective, just as Potter's tales are.

Children and adults alike will be entertained by a carefree frog who polkas, mice who waltz and pigs that march. Books by and about Beatrix Potter as well as recordings of her tales will be available for borrowing at the film program.

Red Cross Chapter Sponsoring Night At Music Theater

The Red Cross, South Shore Chapter, will sponsor a night at the South Shore Music Circus Monday, Aug. 8, at 8 p.m.

Miss Quincy Bay Pageant Preview On Ch. 8

A preview of the Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant will be shown on The Quincy Sun Ch. 8 on Quincy Cablesystems Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The news feature was videotaped Sunday at the seawall where the contestants pose for the traditional photo and receive their final briefing.

On Ch. 3

New Images, a cable program showcasing local documentary works, will air Tuesday, July 19, from 8:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Quincy Community Television, Ch. 3.

Lanie Zera, an actress and founding member of the Next Move Theater, will host the show. She hosted Channel 2's Club 44 from 1976 to 1978.

Video Interconnect, a Boston based non-profit organization, created this program to make use of the distribution potential offered by the growing network of cable television systems across Massachusetts.

Viewers will get to see 28 of this year's contestants as they prepare for Friday night's pageant.

are also interviewed.

The feature, videotaped by The Sun, was scheduled for viewing last night (Wednesday) at 5 p.m. today (Thursday) at 5 p.m. and Friday at 4 p.m.

The Sun will also videotape the pageant itself for showing next week.

Don Kent On 'Cable Talk'

Don Kent, well known South Shore meteorologist, solar energy specialist, and radio and television personality, was the scheduled featured guest on Quincy Community Television Cable Talk last night (Wednesday) at 9:10 p.m. on Ch. 3.

Kent reminisces about his career as a weather forecaster. A native of Quincy he began forecasting as a regular feature on Quincy's WJDA. He later became nationally known as the weatherman for the entire New England area for his broadcasts on WBZ radio and television.

He also specializes in solar energy and describes in detail the types of equipment available to homeowners.

During the one-hour special, Kent is interviewed by John Noonan, Cable Talk host. Bob Gohl is the producer of the program assisted by Edna Solander and Hugh McLeod. Cable Talk is a public affairs program of Ch. 3 filmed and produced by a volunteer workshop production group of Quincy residents.

STARSCOPE

by Clare Annsweil

WEEK OF: JULY 14, 1983

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19

Tendency to be critical about injustices wins you a loud round of applause. Logical friend becomes emotional. Fellow Aquarius or a Virgo may step into the romance picture.

PISCES — February 20-March 20

Week favors creative expression, and you may wish to choose an all-new medium. In romance, a week of introspection. Relatives make surprise visits — and unexpected requests.

ARIES — March 21-April 20

Loved one is inconsistent, and some relatives are surprisingly dramatic. You find that every rule has an exception. Favorable financial news comes when least expected.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22

Resolutions made now have a better than-average chance of success. Economic picture is brightening, but don't jump to premature conclusions and don't postpone fiscal reviews.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21

Watch tendency to volunteer services too often — you can find yourself exhausted. Political and legal moves are favored now, provided you do all your homework.

CANCER — June 22-July 22

Originality is not all-important; a tried and true approach can bring the rewards you seek. Elegant happenings are sprinkled through the week. Romantic hunches are strong.

LEO — July 23-August 22

Romantic setback is brief and should not discourage you unduly. Children offer good ideas for travel and recreation. Use spare time for catching up on correspondence.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22

Use the week to catch up on sundry chores, you're soon to face a new round of delightfully distracting activities. Important message has double meaning. Romantic course is steady.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22

Balancing budgets and sorting bills take up a large part of the week. Spontaneous travel may be a weekend highlight. Conservative friend shows offbeat side of his/her personality.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21

Thursday's ideas may backfire by Monday, but increased prestige is accented by Wednesday. Romantic complication becomes untangled, you feel more relaxed, more robust.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22

Play up creativity in all activities. If you've been dreaming of writing a book, this is the week to begin. Youngsters look to you for inspiration, understanding, encouragement.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20

Opinions on a pressing domestic matter are changing all about you, but it's important that you make up your own mind. Travel's highlight — for business, education, and sheer fun.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

A born collector, a born friend, you have an instinct to protect the world. You're moody too, with a leaning to self-pity. Next four months see you rearranging priorities, with a series of quick decisions made late fall. Self education is accented all year.

BORN THIS WEEK

July 14th, actress Polly Bergen; 15th, singer Linda Ronstadt; 16th, actress Barbara Stanwyck; 17th, actress Diahann Carroll; 18th, singer Paul McCartney; 19th, singer Vikki Carr; 20th, actress Diana Rigg

Preleasing Now At Atrium Building

Joseph McLaughlin, vice president of Universal Realty Corporation of Newton, announces the renovation of the former Manganaro building at 1511 Hancock St. in Quincy Center.

The building is to be renamed The Atrium Building. Grand opening is planned for late fall. Preleasing is now underway.

According to McLaughlin, The Atrium Building offers 25,000 square feet of retail and office space that will be subdivided according to each tenant's requirements. Complete new electrical, heating, and air-conditioning systems will be installed along with a new elevator.

The first floor is reserved for retailers; floors two and three for offices; and the fourth floor, consisting of 5,500 square feet, features

Celebrities Scooping Sundaes At Dacey's

Local celebrities are scooping ice cream at Dacey's, the new convenience store at 295 Quincy Ave.

"We've even named a special sundae for each of them," said Jeremiah Dacey, president of Dacey Bros. Dairy Stores.

Dacey's is celebrating "Celebrity Sundae Week" through Friday. Celebrities are on hand from 12 noon to 1 p.m. to make the $1.25 sundaes each day.

On Monday, Mayor Francis McCauley made

"McCauley Marshmallow" sundaes. On Tuesday, Ward 2 Councilor Ted DeCristofaro served up "Ted's Treat" sundaes.

School Committee Vice Chairwoman Mary Collins created "Carmel Collins" sundaes for customers Wednesday.

Today (Thursday), "Peppermint Pettus" sundaes are being offered with D. Currey Pettus, president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce, doing the honors.

On Friday, Sandy Rounseville of Beacon Fabrics and president of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association will be the guest sundae maker with "Strawberry Sandy" sundaes his specialty.

This is the first Dacey store to have hand-dipped ice cream.

"We thought it would be a wonderful way to introduce our ice cream to our friends in Quincy," Dacey said.

Dacey's is open from 5 a.m. until 11 p.m. daily.

ABCC Upholds Reggie's 30-Day Suspension

The Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission has upheld the Quincy License Board's decision to suspend the license of Reggie's Inc., 7-9 Copeland St., West Quincy, for 30 days.

The suspension, which began yesterday (Wednesday), was voted by the board after an incident allegedly involving a gun shot at the establishment.

Det. Lt. David Rowell of the Quincy Police represented the License Board at the appeal hearing in Boston.

"I'm very happy we were upheld," said City Clerk John Gillis, License Board chairman. "It shows that the ABCC recognizes that this board does a good job."

'Step In Right Direction' Special MDC Master On Pollution Problems Hailed By City Officials

The appointment of a special master to come up with a solution to pollution problems in Quincy Bay in 30 days was hailed this week by city officials.

"It's a step in the right direction," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley. "What we want to do is find a solution and fund it. It will be expensive but we've got to take that step."

"It's good to see so many people now involved in the problem," said City Councillor Leo J. Kelly, who has been a critic of the MDC's Nut Island Sewage Treatment Facility for years.

Superior Court Judge Paul G. Garrity last Friday named Prof. Charles M. Haar, 62, of Cambridge, a Harvard Law School professor, to the post of special master.

He is to hear evidence on dispute issues in Quincy's suit to force the MDC to stop polluting the bay and recommend a solution within 30 days.

Judge Garrity noted that the bay has been the subject to "commission after commission and study after study, which always fade from sight when the appropriation crunch is reached."

"There is an urgency about this that the political branches of government just do not seem to be responding to appropriately, considering that what is occurring is in violation of the law."

Councillor Kelly took the opportunity, in a letter to Haar, to impress upon the newly appointed special master the hazards of filling in portions of the bay to improve the treatment facility.

"As you know," he said, "the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency recently turned down a request by the MDC for a waiver of secondary treatment.

"If this decision stands, the MDC will be required to initiate secondary treatment which, according to the MDC, will necessitate massive bayfill."

"The past practice of bayfill has caused, in combination with the pollution, the virtual destruction of the bay."

"The natural water currents have been destroyed by the alterations in the bay topography, the cleaning or flushing out of the inner bay cannot take place as nature would normally dictate and all benthic life has been destroyed."

Kelly sent a similar letter to former Gov. Francis Sargent, who has been named to chair a Boston Harbor Commission which has been designated by Gov. Michael Dukakis to study harbor pollution problems.

Sears Store Contender

Decision Soon On State Lottery Locating Here

City officials may know by the end of the week whether or not their pitch has been successful in luring the headquarters of the State Lottery from Braintree to the old Sears building in downtown Quincy.

"We have to know quickly so that the developers can arrange for a federal loan to remodel the building," said Planning Director James Lydon.

It was disclosed last week that the Lottery, with its 300 employees, is contemplating moving its operations into the Sears building, which has been vacant since 1979.

"We made a strong presentation to the lottery people," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley. "They need more space and the Sears building has all the space they need."

"We understand that their lease in Braintree has two more years to run but if they are going to make a change they would have to do it well up front."

Lydon said it would take 12 to 18 months to do the construction work necessary to alter the building for the lottery.

The developers who have taken an option on the building are Eugene Kelly and Michael Solimando of Solimando Construction, working in conjunction with George Montilio of Quincy.

In order to finance construction, Lydon said, the city would take $450,000 under the federal jobs bill and loan it to the developers at a low interest rate.

It would be paid back in the same manner of an Urban Development Action Grant (UDAG).

Beaches Safe For Swimming

Quincy's beaches are safe for swimming, according to Health Commissioner Dr. M. Grace Hussey.

"The (coliform) results are very good," said Dr. Hussey. "They've been good straight through."

Dr. Hussey said that the total coliform amounts in a test taken last Wednesday ranged from 10 to 240.

"Last year they were in the 1000s," said Dr. Hussey, who explained that a warning is issued if the counts go above 700.

Dr. Hussey said that fecal samples taken were also within a safe range. They ranged from 10 to 140, according to Dr. Hussey who said that a warning is issued if the counts go above 500.

The results of tests taken yesterday (Wednesday) at area beaches will be available Friday, she said.

maxell® PORTABLE TAPE DECKS REQUIRE A MORE DURABLE TAPE.

Maxell cassettes are built to standards up to 60% higher than the industry calls for. So they can take the rough-and-tumble of the slopes. And subfreezing temperatures that can cause ordinary cassettes to jam. Maxell. It isn't just for apres-ski.

IT'S WORTH IT.

'One Way Or Another'

Comer Promises Security At Tobin Towers

BY TOM HENSHAW

"One way or another," said John Comer, director of the Quincy Housing Authority, "there will be security here."

Comer has $50,000 in federal funds budgeted for security in the city's four federally subsidized housing projects.

But that does not include Tobin Towers, 80 Clay St., Wollaston, which has been called the worst in the city in vandalism and break-ins.

The fact that the state-subsidized Tobin Towers may be left unsecured has disturbed City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath.

"I am hopeful that something can be done to reconsider including 80 Clay St. in any security patrol plan," he said.

"This building has had its share of vandalism and residents have been harassed by persons trespassing on this property. These elderly residents have a right to live in peace."

Comer said he is trying to have federal funds for security assigned to Tobin Towers because the headquarters of the Housing Authority and all its records are located there.

If that fails, he said, it may be possible to use part of the city's federal block grant funds to provide security at Clay St. and a second state project on Martensen St. in Quincy Point.

"One way or the other, there will be security here," he promised.

Comer said he figures it will cost $16,500 for one man to work seven days a week, 365 days a year providing security in the projects so the $50,000 in the budget doesn't go far.

"I figure we need five or six men," he said. "The city's share of that would be $30,000 to $32,000."

Low bidders on the security contract for the projects are Excelon Security of Boston, $5.63 an hour; and Wackenhut of Quincy, $5.74 an hour.

The Housing Authority will meet Wednesday, July 27, on the bids and it is hoped that the new security measures can go into effect in August.

Sheets To Poll Residents On T Station Opening

City Councillor James A. Sheets is going to poll his South Quincy constituents to see what they want to do about the Quincy Adams MBTA station now that the Burgin Parkway Extension has finally gotten the go ahead.

The State Legislature cleared the way for construction of the Extension from the Southeast Expressway to downtown Quincy last week by appropriating the $2 million the MDC needs to finance storm drain work on the project.

Sen. Paul D. Harold said it is expected that bids on all parts of the work will go out by Oct. 1.

Sheets, who had threatened to get an injunction and demonstrate to prevent the Sept. 10 opening of the MBTA station if work on the Extension was not begun, said he is still concerned that there will be a 2½-year difference in the openings.

"We don't know what is going to happen when 2,000 cars leave the Quincy Adams garage between 4:30 p.m. and 6 p.m., many of them seeking shortcuts through the streets of South Quincy," he said.

Sheets said he is sending circulars to all residents of South Quincy asking them if the Quincy Adams station should be permitted to open Sept. 10 in light of the fact

100-Year-Old Man 'Stable' After Pacemaker Implant

BY NANCY McLAUGHLIN

George Belezos, the 100-year-old Quincy man who is believed to be the oldest person ever to receive a permanent cardiac pacemaker, remained in stable condition Tuesday at Quincy City Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said Belezos, who had suffered a massive heart attack, was in the progressive Care Unit and his name was on the danger list but only as a precaution.

"His clinical condition is satisfactory," said Dr. Seraphim P. Papagiannis. "His prognosis is very good."

The surgery which took approximately two hours was performed Friday by a team consisting of Dr. Papagiannis, Dr. Gilbert Connelly, cardiologist, and Dr. Augustin Florian, thoracic surgeon.

Round-the-clock care by nurses added to the procedures success, said Dr. Papagiannis.

Dr. Papagiannis said it marked the first time a pacemaker had been implanted in a 100-year-old patient. He said that the surgery was also extraordinary because it was performed a week after the heart attack.

He said normally, a pacemaker is not implanted until at least two weeks after a heart attack because of the

Hunting School To Be Demolished

The Boston firm of Parson, Brinckerhoff, Quade and Douglas has been hired as the city's engineering consultant for the demolition of the Hunting School.

Planning Director James E. Lydon said the firm will be responsible for preparing the demolition and earthwork specifications as well as on-site supervision of the work.

Lydon said it is estimated the work will take eight to 11 weeks to complete.

It is planned to build single family homes on the site which is located in the Adams Shore section.

Delahunt Drops Police Missing Drug Case

Dist. Atty. William D. Delahunt says he does not have enough evidence to prosecute anyone in the case of the white powder that may be cocaine that disappeared from the Quincy Police Station.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said he plans to meet with Police Chief Francis X. Finn to see if any administrative action will be taken against the Quincy police officer who failed a lie detector test and refused to take it a second time.

"I want to get a better idea of what happened from the chief and his recommendations before we take any action," said the mayor. "I want to look at the chief's report to the district attorney, too."

The white powder, which Finn describes as "consistent with the color and texture of cocaine," has been missing from the Quincy Police Station since December, 1981.

It was confiscated during a raid on an Abington apartment and brought as evidence to the Quincy station, which was the command point for the raid.

Delahunt, who released a copy of Finn's report on the incident last week, said it is not correct to say, as one Boston newspaper did, that a police officer is suspected of having stolen it.

"There is no one suspect," he said. "In fact, we don't even know if the substance is cocaine."

Finn said all the Quincy police officers involved in the raid asked to take lie detector tests to clear themselves. One failed to pass. He refused to take it again.

The chief said he didn't find out about the missing cocaine until about six months afterward because Lt. David Rowell, who was in charge of the raid, felt that it was only misplaced. "He didn't think it was stolen because he had so much faith in his own men," said Finn.

By the time the district attorney directed Finn to investigate, said the chief, "it was a cold investigation. The evidence had been mishandled. The envelope was never tested for residue or fingerprints."

The substance, he said, was stolen before police had a chance to send it to the state police laboratory for testing.

"Technically speaking," he said, "you can't call it cocaine."

He said there was about eight to 12 ounces of the powder, with a street value of some $17,000 to $25,000.

Laundromat Robbed

Two teen-aged youths, one wearing a white T-shirt and cutoff jeans, stole the cash box from the Copeland Laundrette, 273 Copeland St., West Quincy Sunday.

Mrs. Anna Crowell of Water St. said the two youths entered the laundromat about 5:30 p.m. and asked for change of a $10 bill.

When she took out the cash box, she said, one of the young men told her, "I'll take that box." He did and the two left in the direction of Crescent St.

It was not determined how much money was in the box.

Sidewalk Bazaar Seen As 'Best Ever'

In spite of 90-degree temperatures, reports from downtown Quincy merchants indicate that the 13th annual Sidewalk Bazaar may have been the most successful of all.

"It was super," said Burt Cook of Tag's. "It's the best yet as far as I'm concerned. It was like walk-to-work people on Thursday."

Kenneth Fallon, executive director of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, estimated that twice as many people were on Hancock St. on Thursday as last year.

"It has been almost traditional that Saturday, the final day of the bazaar, slows down considerably," said Fallon. "However, this year many merchants did extremely well on Saturday."

The Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant on Friday night attracted more than 5,000 people to its new location in Quincy Center Plaza, a little bit out of the main business area.

Merchants were divided on the effect of the new pageant location on sales. It used to be held in the heart of the downtown, in front of the Hancock Bank.

"Moving the pageant helped sales," said Cook. "It still brought people downtown but moving it gave them more room to move around to the stores."

"The bazaar was very successful," said Sandy

Rounseville of Beacon Fabrics, president of the QCBPA. "I think one of the reasons was the good merchandise that was out."

"We had a very good response, better than last year," said Marion Feldman of Jason's Luggage and Record Store.

"There were a lot of young people out and we seemed to have what they wanted. Friday was the best day. There was a better traffic flow on Friday because the pageant moved."

"It was better than last year," said Amy Mahr, manager of Ryder's Curtain Shop. "There were a lot of good buys out there and shoppers recognized it."

Gary Liebert of Hart's Jewelry Store said he did about as well as last year.

"I think the heat put a damper on things," he said. "Thursday was the best, as always. But Friday was good, too. I don't think moving the pageant had any effect on business."

Of those contacted by The Quincy Sun, only Ronnie Bender of Casual Concepts questioned the value of the Sidewalk Bazaar.

"We had more movement inside than outside," he said.

"We got a few new customers and we did our amount of business but I don't know if it was worth the effort. It was so hot."

"But it was a lot of fun, anyway."

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous shipyard workers, masons, and pipefitters of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Comer Seeks Top Legion Post

The local political scene is so quiet for an election year, you might be surprised to hear that a national campaign is in the process of being launched from here.

The candidate is John P. (Jake) Comer, executive director of the Quincy Housing Authority who has his sights trained on the office of national commander of the American Legion.

"I feel it is a tremendous honor just to be nominated," says Comer who was state commander in 1975-1976.

At the Worcester convention, in addition to receiving the nomination for national commander, he was also re-elected to his second two-year term as a National Executive Committeeman.

The nomination is an open one. Comer can pick the year he wants to have it placed before the national convention.

"It won't be this year," he says.

This year's national convention will be in Seattle, Wash. the last week of August.

Comer, who is a member of the Thomas Roberts Legion Post, West Roxbury, will be there to officially launch his campaign by lining up early support.

"It may be four years before I'm ready," he says.

The last time a Massachusetts man was elected national commander was 1933—a half century ago. That honor went to the late Daniel Doherty of Worcester.

Comer was only a year old then. An Air Force veteran (Airman First Class) of the Korean War, Comer would be the first Quincy man ever elected national commander if he wins.

Right now he's planning his campaign.

"It would be a great honor for Quincy and for me," he says.

DAVID

David F. Rowell Sr., had a date to have his tonsils removed at South Shore Hospital Monday and he wanted very badly to see his father sworn in as a captain.

Mrs. Jean Rowell got in touch with Peter Kenney, the mayor's executive secretary, who checked with the other captains, found no objections, and prevailed upon McCauley to move the ceremony up a few days.

McCAULEY

Mayor Francis McCauley wanted to hold the swearing-in ceremony for four new police captains this week instead of last Friday but he was overruled by the plight of 5-year-old David F. Rowell, Jr.

Seems young David, son of Capt.

"It's nice to know that some people understand the things that are important to a little boy," said Mrs. Rowell.

After the ceremonies Friday, Mayor McCauley looked up at young David and peered down his throat "to see if it was bad enough for me to have a party."

Among the cards received by Rowell congratulating him on his promotion were two that wished him to "get well soon," obviously intended for David, Jr.

"The captain still has his tonsils," reported Mrs. Rowell.

THE FIRST Miss Quincy Bay, who was chosen in 1966, was given a front row seat at the 1983 Pageant Friday night and introduced to the crowd.

She is Beverly (Horwitz), Kapolis, who now lives in Carver. Her husband, James, owns the Northeast Water Well Supply Co. They have two children.

THE SHOW WENT on, but it had to go on without pretty Lisa Hagerty. The 17-year-old Quincy resident was to have competed in the Miss Quincy Bay Pageant but a couple of days before the event, she was struck by a truck while on her bike. She injured her arm and had it in a sling, hoping that she would be ready by the night of the pageant. But her doctor ruled against her taking part. She was introduced, got a big hand, was presented a pewter pendant like the other contestants received and vowed to make next year's pageant.

Readers Forum Chief Barry Thanks All Who Helped In Quarry Search

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

As chief of the Quincy Fire Department and coordinator of the Swingle's Quarry search for the body of Paul Gooch, I would like to express my appreciation to all of those who, in any way, lent their assistance.

I thank all who gave materials, equipment, their time and efforts to assist in the search for the young man.

Particularly the efforts of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute under Dr. Robert Ballard and the Bethos Corporation, were outstanding.

To all of you for your tremendous outpouring of assistance we are, indeed, grateful.

Quincy Quiz

One winner in the Quincy Quiz this week. Jimmy Cosseboom of 48 Greene St., Wollaston, wins a T-shirt.

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Doris Oberg is the president of the Quincy Historical Society.
2. The Josiah Quincy Homestead is located on Muirhead St.
3. The North Quincy branch of the Granite Cooperative Bank is located at 440 Hancock St.
4. True. The Massachusetts State Constitution was drafted in a room in the John Quincy Adams Birthplace.
5. Purgatory Rd. is located in the West Quincy section of the city.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. What is the name of the chairman of the annual Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant?
2. In 1850, the leading industry in Quincy was: granite manufacturing? shipbuilding? boots and shoes?
3. What well-known Quincy business establishment is located at 1608 Hancock St?
4. True or false? Quincy is farther north than Moscow in the Soviet Union.
5. Ratchford Circle is located in what section of the city?

that bid will go out on the Extension by Oct. 1.

The circular also asks if Sheets and Councilor Theodore DeCristoforo should continue to push a proposal now before the Planning Board to dead end Centre and Penn Sts. to prevent traffic access to the MBTA garage.

Otherwise, Sheets called the $2 million appropriation "a big step forward."

"I think our tough line had an effect," he said. "If we hadn't threatened to get an injunction to prevent the station opening I don't think we would have gotten action so quickly. It took pressure to get the money there."

The money was contained in the supplementary state budget that was passed by the Legislature last Thursday night.

"The governor hasn't signed it yet," said Harold, "but he is virtually certain to do so."

Harold met with representatives of the agencies concerned with the projects -- Monday to plan technical details of the work.

"There are four different jobs that are tied together, including the highway, sewer and flood control," he said. "We have been meeting once a week to coordinate them all. We plan to meet with the MBTA before the station opening."

Harold said that, in view of the fact that bids will be out Oct. 1, only 20 days after the station opening, "it would be unreasonable to demand that the station open and the Extension go to bid at the same time."

"Pushing the opening back two weeks would be like pushing it back six months as far as the MBTA is concerned. It has a schedule to maintain and contracts to live up to including those with the unions."

damage suffered by the heart.

Dr. Papajiannis said Belezos suffered the heart attack July 9. Five attempts were made to implant a temporary pacemaker but because of problems with the wires, the decision was made for permanent pacemaker.

"We had to put in the permanent pacemaker or he would have died" said Dr. Papajiannis.

Dr. Papajiannis described

Belezos as having the appearance of a 65-year-old man.

He said the Greek native was able to listen to the radio from his hospital bed the day after surgery.

Dr. Papajiannis said that as recently as three months ago, Belezos would walk more than two miles to St. Catherine's Greek Orthodox Church in Wollaston.

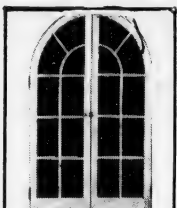

"I told him to take a taxi," said Dr. Papajiannis, "but he wanted to walk."

DANIEL SHAFFER, son of Dr. Bertrand Shaffer of Wollaston, will enter the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., in July. He will graduate with the class of 1987.

Industrial Union Organized By Fore River Workers

Some 300 workers from the Fore River Shipyard, meeting in the Elks Hall, organized the first industrial-type union in the history of the shipyard and received a charter from John Green, president of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America.

Local officers elected to serve until the national convention in September were Jeremiah Mitchell, president; Lionel Whitten, vice president; James Hardie, recording secretary; William Westland, financial secretary; James A. Sinclair, treasurer.

Meanwhile, John P. Frey, head of the rival American Federal of Labor's Metal Trades Department, charged that the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corp. was violating the law by interfering with the workers' right to organize through the maintenance of a company union.

Frey labelled "ridiculous" a charge by the company union, the Employees' Representative Body, that the AFL is trying to lure government ship contracts away from private shipyards and give them to Navy yards. Frey spoke to about 100 workers in Bradford Hall.

Henry I. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the Navy and a cousin of the President, visited the Quincy yard to inspect six naval vessels now under construction and said Fore River will be given favorable consideration when bids on new Navy contracts are opened Aug. 15.

DRIVE VS. DIRTY MOVIES

Roman Catholic churches in Quincy launched a drive against immorality in motion pictures and Mayor Charles A. Ross lauded the move as one that will "undoubtedly result in the elimination of much that has been objectionable in the past."

The Rev. Victor V. Sawyer of the Wollaston Methodist Church, speaking for the Quincy Ministers Association, said he doubted if the Protestant churches will join the movement as a body but that several ministers probably will ask their parishioners not to attend the movies.

CARPENTERS STRIKE

Carpenters working on the new Fore River bridge were on strike claiming that some of them were receiving only 60 cents an hour instead of the promised $1.20 from the contractor, V. Barletta.

Barletta was reported to have told a delegation of workers that, when a carpenter goes to work for him, he is required to do the same amount of work as any other carpenter, no matter what he is paid.

Guitar, Regular Service At First Church of Squantum

The sermon at the First Church of Squantum last Sunday at both morning services was entitled, "Prayer -- the First Spiritual Discipline", given this month by the pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin on the subject of the basic spiritual disciplines of the Christian Faith.

The music at the first service was provided by guitarists Andrew Ogilvie, Steven Williams and Mary Ruth Scott. Ushers were David Williams and Lori Beth Ogilvie. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Dianne Ahearn and Bonnie Adams.

Special music at the second service was provided by Diane Lindblad and Tom Williamson who sang "Just As I Am" accompanied by pianist Mary Ruth Scott. Tore Wallin and Harry Holmes were the ushers. Greeters at the second service were Bud and Janet Sumner.

Immediately after the first service there was a slide show of the recent trip of 20 young people and four counselors from The Way Up to Camp Friendship which was held at Oceanwood, a Christian camp at Ocean Park, Maine. Dr. Langevin, who is also the director of The Way Up, was the camp director.

Young people attending that camp came from various places in the South Shore including Germantown, Adams Shore, Quincy Center, South West Quincy, Quincy Point, Wollaston, North Quincy, Squantum, Braintree and Weymouth.

This Sunday there will be two services again. The guitar service will be at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 9:30 a.m. The sermon at both will be entitled, "Devotional Bible Reading -- the Second Spiritual Discipline."

Tricia Markakos New Queen

Miss Quincy Bay Wants To Be A Model

By TOM HENSHAW

Ever since she was five years old, Tricia Markakos has attended the downtown Quincy Sidewalk Bazaar and stayed to watch the Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant.

"I used to look forward to it," she said. "I'd watch the pageant with my mother and I'd say, 'Oh, I want to be in it! I want to be in it!'"

Last Friday night, Tricia Markakos, 16, of Braintree, not only was in it, she won it. She is Miss Quincy Bay of 1983.

"I was shocked when I won," she said modestly. "I couldn't believe they picked me out of 36 girls. There were so, so many pretty girls there."

It's been the week of all weeks in the young life of Tricia Markakos, who still has another year to go at Braintree High School.

Today, her 17th birthday, she'll leave for New York City to represent Massachusetts in the national Talent America contest Sunday, July 24, in the Roosevelt Hotel.

And, not incidentally, she will be interviewed by Eileen Ford, head of one of the nation's top modelling agencies who has been interested in her for the past three years. She may even sign a contract to model professionally.

"I've wanted to be a model ever since I saw my first magazine," she said. "Everything is going so good. I hope it will get better in New York. I'm sure the Miss Quincy Bay title will be a help."

The new Miss Quincy Bay is blonde, 5-foot-9, 125 pounds and the daughter of George and Zanetta Markakos of George's Expert Tailoring and Cleaning, 138 Washington St. She has a younger brother, Peter, 14.

She works parttime on computers with the Wollaston Credit Union and she is studying computer programming at Braintree High School.

"My father says you

can't depend on beauty alone," she said. "You have to have something to fall back on."

The Markakos family came to the states from Greece 17 years ago and Tricia speaks fluent Greek. She is active in affairs at the Greek Orthodox Church of St. Catherine in Wollaston. Last March, she and her mother arranged a fashion show at the church.

She attended the Cameo School, a modeling school in Boston, and she'd like to model for a couple of years and then go into television acting.

"I'd like to be in the movies someday, too," she said.

The Miss Quincy Bay Pageant was the fourth beauty contest in which she has competed.

She won a Miss Teen Massachusetts contest three years ago and was runnerup in another Miss Teen Massachusetts in 1981. Last March, she won the state title for the Talent America competition in Whitman. She goes for the big one Sunday.

"I've always wanted to be in the Miss Quincy Bay Pageant," she said. "I could hardly wait until I was 16 so that I could enter."

Tricia edged out a number of her elders to win the 1983 crown.

First runnerup was Mariela Zambrano, 21, of Quincy; second runnerup, Cheryl Tyner, 25, of Plymouth; third runnerup, Susan Lynch, 18, of Braintree; fourth runnerup, Sharon Bironi, 16, of Braintree.

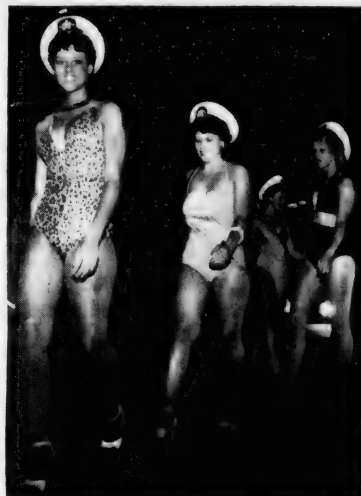

The judge's scoring of the contestants was complicated by the absence of the celebrity judge, Pat Whitley, co-owner of Radio WTTP in Natick. He had to stay at the station after lightning struck the antenna, putting it off the air.

The result was that nine girls tied for the final five places and the first two runnerups also finished in a dead heat. The final places were decided on the basis of their scores in the poise category.

Forty-six young women were entered in the competition but only 36 went to the post. Other contestants, in

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

"No one is looking. No one will know about it." Everyone has heard these or similar tempting words at one time or another. The temptation can be persuasive at times. After all, if no one sees or knows about it, it is a secret, isn't it? Secret? Actually, there is no such thing as a secret. This story illustrates why.

A burglar broke into a home. As he was ransacking a room, he saw a small statue, a head of Christ on a mantel. Every time he turned around, the eyes of the statue seemed to be looking right at him. It bothered him. No matter where he turned, the eyes seemed to speak to him. Finally, he could stand it no longer. He walked to the mantel, turned the head and eyes to the wall. At last, the eyes were not on him. Ridiculous reasoning! Of course. And he knew it. From his childhood religious training, he knew he was being seen. The eyes of the statue reminded him God's eyes were watching him, taking note.

It may be a story worth remembering...

● Legion Baseball

Morrisette Rebounds, 4-0 Wollaston, Quincy Bow

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Morrisette Legion baseball team, after hitting a temporary snag Sunday, bounced back to blank Randolph, 4-0, Monday night and stay in a first-place battle with Hingham in its Zone 6 Division.

Morrisette (13-5) played at Hingham last night (Wednesday).

Wollaston and Quincy are still having their troubles and after last week's games Wollaston stood at 3-12 and Quincy at 3-14.

Mike Marshall pitched a four-hitter and struck out seven as Morrisette topped strong Randolph (13-5 in the other division) for the second time.

Morrisette scored twice in the first on a walk to Jack Bolster, an error on Chris Bunker's grounder and singles by Marty McLoughlin and Scott Mele. In the third Bolster doubled to left, went to third on an infield out and scored on McLoughlin's sacrifice fly. In the fifth Bunker doubled and McLoughlin singled him home with the final run.

Marshall, in besting Randolph for the second time, was tough with men on base.

McLoughlin drove in three runs for Morrisette.

Morrisette's title hopes hit a snag Sunday when Canton twice came from behind to win, 9-8, in the makeup of a tie game.

Morrisette fell apart in the field and handed Canton several unearned runs.

Morrisette had a 5-0 lead but Canton tied it with five runs in the bottom of the third. Morrisette then went ahead, 8-5, with two runs in the fourth and one in the top of the sixth but Canton again bounced back with four in the bottom of the sixth to win it.

Jack Outerbridge started on the mound for Morrisette and pitched well but his defense killed him. Jim Austin and Mike Marshall relieved and Marshall was the loser. Bunker had three hits and two RBI, Bolster two hits and three RBI and Dan Kelly two hits.

Last Friday night Morrisette bombed Quincy, 12-2, behind the five-hit pitching of Jim Bandera, who went the route. He struck out six. Joe Conti was the losing pitcher.

Morrisette scored six runs in the second on six hits and two errors, added two in the third, two in the fifth and four in the sixth. Quincy scored both runs in the seventh on singles by Jim McNamara, Vic Di-Gravio, Knight and Chris Dracchio.

For Morrisette Kelly, Bunker and Bandera had three hits each and McLoughlin and Tommy Ryan two each. McLoughlin and Kelly each drove in three runs and Bolster and Dennis Cronin two each.

Morrisette walloped

Milton, 11-4, with Austin pitching five-hit ball, striking out five and walking six.

Morrisette scored four in the first on doubles by Kelly, Bolster and Bunker and singles by McLoughlin and Mele. Milton scored twice in the second and Morrisette added four in the bottom half on a walk, Bolster's double, Bunker's triple, McLoughlin's triple and John Balzano's sacrifice fly.

Milton scored its final two runs in the third and Morrisette scored a run in the fourth on Kelly's single, a stolen base and a single by Bunker. Morrisette finished with two in the sixth on Kelly's double and Bolster's two-run homer.

Morrisette's outfield trio of Kelly, Bunker and Bolster had nine hits, drove in seven runs and scored nine as Bolster drove in four with his homer, two doubles and a single. Bunker drove in three with a double and two singles and Kelly drove in two with two doubles and a single. McLoughlin also drove in two with a triple and two singles.

In its previous game Morrisette scored its biggest win of the season with a 5-4 come-from-behind win over Braintree, which leads its division with a 16-2 record. The Marshall brothers, Paul and Mike, pitched with Mike getting the win in relief of Paul, who was starting his first game.

Mele, who went three-for-four, drove in Balzano in the top of the seventh inning with the winning run. Ryan saved the game in the bottom half with a spectacular catch of John Devin's blast with the tying run on base.

Braintree had a 3-1 lead but Morrisette scored three in the fifth with Mele and Sid Cedrone driving in runs and McLoughlin (three-for-four) scoring on a wild pitch.

Braintree had taken a 1-0 lead in the first but Morrisette tied in the second on a single by McLoughlin, an error, Mele's single and Cedrone's sacrifice fly.

Wollaston lost a tough one to Holbrook which, trailing, 2-0, after six innings, scored five runs in the seventh for a 5-2 victory.

Tom Corliss drove in both Wollaston runs with a second-inning triple and a sixth-inning double.

Wollaston also lost to Canton, 8-2. Andy Eames had a long triple for Wollaston.

Canton exploded for nine runs in the fourth inning and rolled over Quincy, 13-5.

Jim McNamara was Quincy's starting pitcher and gave way to Joe Ciardi in the big fourth. Gary Brown, hitting over .500 this year, went two-for-three and Jerry Arroyo, Joe Conti and Ciardi also had two hits each.

Quincy also lost to Randolph, 12-4.

Montclair's Crowley Bows Out In National PGA Tournament

Bob Crowley of Montclair, the pro at Norfolk Golf Club in Dedham, was eliminated in the quarterfinal round of the National PGA tournament in Buffalo by Gene Kunes of Norristown, Pa., but only after he came from five-down on the 11th hole to lose 1-up.

The 24-year-old Crowley, son of Dennis Crowley, the head greenskeeper at Wollaston Golf Club, went one round farther in the tournament than veteran stars Tommy Armour and Gene Sarazen. Olin Dutra, the U.S. Open champ failed to make the cut.

Crowley, who lives on Evans St., Montclair, led the nation's greatest pros in the qualifying test with rounds of 67 and 71 for 138 for 36 holes, equaling the all-time qualifying record held by Craig Wood and Jimmy Hines, the New York golfers.

He disposed of Eddie Loos, the U.S. Public Links champion, 3 and 2 in the first round, and Ted Turner of New Jersey, 1-up, in the second before falling before Kunes.

WOLLASTON LEGION WINS

Mike Franchuk singled home 1 lemon and Smith with the tying and winning runs in the seventh inning as the Wollaston Junior Legion baseball team scored a 6-5 victory over the New Bedford Legion to win the intercounty (Norfolk and Bristol) playoff title.

Coach Bootius Chapman unexpectedly started Douglas, the Hayer Academy ace, on the mound for Wollaston and he allowed three hits and four runs in the first inning before settling down to set the New Bedford hitters back with only four hits the rest of the way.

The Wollaston lineup included: Corrella 3b, Fwing ss, Lemon cf, Smith c, Spillane 1b, McCollum 2b, Franchuk rf, O'Leary lf, Douglas p.

THIRD NO-HITTER

Don Frazer, the ace pitcher from Squantum, hurled his third no-hit, no-run game in four years as the Racketeers blanked the North Quincy Catholic Boys' Club, 5-0, in a seven inning game at Squantum. He allowed four walks, struck out seven.

The Squantum lineup included: Workman 3b, W. Broderick 2b, Nickerson cf, R. Broderick 1b, Hallsworth ss, Stearns lf, Dinsmore rf, Johnson c, Frazer p.

The North Quincy lineup included: F. Doherty p-rf, Dunn 2b, Bagges cf, Cavanaugh ss-p, J. Doherty rf, Gilmartin 3b, Smeaton 1b, Rooney lf, McNeice c.

CIVICS, SQUANTUM TIE

Art (Lefty) Corrigan of the Quincy Civics and Bunny O'Leary of Squantum hooked up in one of the better City League games of the season, emerging with a 1-1 tie before 1,500 fans at Merrymount Park.

The Civics lineup included: MacLeod rf, V. Clancy lf, D. Clancy 2b, Stonberg cf, McCarthy 3b, McCormick c, Lubarsky ss, Dugan 1b, Corrigan p, Maskilsson ph, Higgins ph.

The Squantum lineup included: Alden ss, Forbush 2b, Fisher lf, Courtney rf, O'Connell 3b, Koerber 3b, Martin cf, O'Brien c, O'Leary p.

SKATEBOARD MENACE

Business is booming for orthopedists all over the country this year. Broken wrists, splintered elbows and smashed ankles are just three common hazards of the skateboard craze.

Two years ago, a California enthusiast tried something new: He screwed a set of new polyurethane wheels to an old board, achieving a faster, smoother, quieter ride. Almost instantly, a whole new generation of skateboarders emerged, and this time close to 150 manufacturers undertook to meet their needs. Today, skateboarding is a multi-million dollar business - and a risky one for users.

According to The Physician and Sports Medicine Magazine, at least two fatalities have been recorded in California, and on a national level, skate-boards caused a spectacular 27,522 injuries requiring hospital treatment in 1975 - a record that promoted them from eighth to third place in accident frequency for all children's toys (except for bicycles, which are in an accident class by themselves).

Bankers Softball League

Hancock Bounces Back After First Loss

Hancock Bank, which suffered its first loss of the season to Quincy Savings Bank earlier, bounced back and edged South Weymouth Savings, 7-6, last week to improve its record to 12-1.

Hancock holds a six-game lead over Bay Bank Norfolk in Div. 1 of the South Shore Bankers Softball League.

Trailing, 3-1, Hancock exploded for six runs in the sixth and hung on for the victory. Two veterans, Frank Fiske and Charlie Cahill, had key hits to ignite the rally. The win was Hancock's 100th league win and marked the first time a team has reached 100 wins in league history.

Quincy Savings continued its hot pace and topped Bay Bank, 8-5, to maintain its two-game lead in Div. 2. Bob Pacino and Phil Jones were outstanding for Savings.

State Street Bank won two games, topping Atlantic Data Services, 5-1, and outslugging never-say-die South Shore Bank, 20-19. At one time South Shore had nine straight hits.

Bob Foy's improving Quincy Co-Op team defeated South Shore, 11-7, and crept to within a half game of South Weymouth in Div. 2.

Earlier Quincy Savings parlayed the steady pitching of Pacino and the brilliant defensive plays of Steve Paster and Bob Flaherty into a 7-5 decision over Hancock Bank, the first loss for Hancock after 10 straight wins.

Hancock bounced back to edge stubborn South Weymouth Savings, 13-12, with two outs and two on base in the bottom of the seventh. Tom Rizzo drilled a shot to left field scoring two runs for the victory. Steve Belcastro was outstanding in the field for Hancock. Ron Baker pitched well for South Weymouth and Bill Gilardi had three hits.

Bob Foy once again was outstanding as he pitched Quincy Co-Op to a 7-4 win over South Weymouth. The win put "the Coop" back in the thick of the playoff picture in Div. 2.

Atlantic Data Services rolled over South Shore Bank, 13-1, to keep its playoff hopes alive. ADS remains two games behind Bay Bank Norfolk in Div. 1 as the season reached the halfway mark. Bob Gallagher pitched 6½ shutout innings before being denied a shutout while Bob Howe sparked in the field. Tom Town, sporting a .600 batting average, again paced ADS at the plate.

Bay Bank snapped a six-game losing streak by edging State Street, 10-8.

The standings: Div. 1 - Hancock Bank, 12-1; Bay Bank Norfolk, 6-7; Atlantic Data Services, 4-9; South Shore Bank, 1-13; Div. 2 - Quincy Savings, 10-3; State Street, 8-5; South Weymouth Savings, 6-7; Quincy Co-Operative, 5-7.

Perkins League

Martin's, Sedators, Woodward Rack Up 2

Martin's Plumbing, Sedators and Woodward Spring picked up a pair of wins each in the Roy Perkins Softball League last week as Martin's continues to lead the league with a 10-1 record.

The standings: Martin's, 10-1; Woodward's, 11-4; Niners, 8-3; Trucks of Quincy, 9-7; Bashers, 6-8; Sedators, 5-7; VFW, 4-11; South Shore Buick, 0-10.

Martin's defeated VFW, 7-4 and 4-2. Martin's got all its runs in the early innings of both games.

The Sedators took two from winless South Shore

Buick, the first game a 34-2 walkaway and the second game, 17-8.

Woodward's edged the Niners, 6-5, and topped the Bashers, 18-11.

VFW topped Trucks of Quincy, 7-5, and Trucks came back to beat the Bashers, 11-10.

HN Men's Softball

Manet Wins 7th Straight

Manet Shell won its seventh straight game in the Houghs Neck Men's Softball League, walloping Chenette Plumbing, 13-4.

John Picarski was the winning pitcher. Joe Brill, Dana Kirby and Paul Picarski had three hits each and everyone played strong defense.

Quincy Yacht Club defeated Houghs Neck Package, 8-4, with Jim Goldie the winning pitcher. Jimmy McNally went four-for-four and scored two runs, while Dave Grogan and Jeff Little had two hits each for Package. Both teams came up with sparkling defensive plays. Kevin Davis played outstanding ball at second base for QYC and Package center fielder George McCarron made a diving catch to take an extra base hit away from Glen Reynolds.

After being able to field a team for the first time in three weeks, Finlay Variety upset Louis' Cafe, 14-10, for its second win. Mike McNally, Steve Stone and Ed Kelly supplied the power for Finlay's and Tom Grady and Glenn Smith played strong defense.

BEECHWOOD HELPERS — These young women from Quincy donated their favorite T-shirts recently and helped to assist with the Beechwood Community Life Center auction. From left are Kara Sullivan, Lori Santoro, Clare Murphy, Heather Harford, Stacey MacLean and Dawn Sullivan. The auction raised $4,000 in funds which will be used to repair the former school's roof and to pay off last winter's heating bills.

6 Receive HN Legion Essay Contest Awards

Six girls have received awards in the annual Flag Essay contest conducted at area schools by the Houghs Neck Legion Post.

At Atherton Hough School, Karen Dwyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dwyer of 109 Lenox St., was top winner with Jennifer Richmond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Richmond of 20 Stoughton St. as runner-up. Johanna Madden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Warren Madden of 43 Riverbank Rd. took first prize at Snug Harbor School with Kathleen Boyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Boyle of 105 Doane St., the runner-up.

Merrymount School will have the traveling trophy for 1983-1984 with its winners Kathy Kane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Kane of 63 Norton Rd., first; and Jennifer Rydwansky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rydwansky of 53 Russell Park, runner-up.

First prizes were $25.00 checks, with all winners receiving flag coloring books. Alice Scribner was contest chairman.

Commander John Christensen presented American Legion School awards and medallions at Broad Meadows Middle School to Bryan Galligan and Jane Hurley in recognition of their scholarship and community service.

VIN SULLIVAN auctions off a basketball autographed by the Boston Celtics at the recent Beechwood Community Life Center auction. Sullivan is the owner of "Sullivan's Corner" on Hancock St. and a member of the Beechwood Center Board.

Conway's subdivision, the Conway/Neelan Public Relations Company of Quincy, assisted the center in the auction held to raise funds to repair the former school's roof and window's.

NQHS Music Awards Presented

The North Quincy High School Music Awards Banquet was held recently at the Morrisette Legion Post, West Quincy.

Students in the choir, band, orchestra, majorettes and color guard were honored.

Scholarship recipients were: The Maude M. Howe Memorial Scholarship, Patricia Govoni, Shaun Kelly and David Rooney.

The Quincy Savings Bank and Quincy Symphony Orchestra Scholarships, David Ferreira.

The Q.E.A.-Alice Killelea Memorial Scholarship, Garth Petracca.

The North Quincy High School Special Music Scholarships, Tim Grant, Charles McEvoy and Janet Zdanowski.

North Quincy High School Special Music Scholarships, Andrea Gelsomini and Kelli Penman.

The Quincy City Club Scholarship, Nancy Wildes. Special Award recipients, Ralph Gioncardi for the National Choral Award.

David Ferreira, the John Philip Sousa Band Award.

Patricia Govoni, the U.S. Marine Corps Semper Fidelis Award.

Nancy Wildes, the National School Orchestra Award.

The following two awards were given for the first time this year. The Louis Armstrong Jazz Award was presented to Shaun Kelly, and the All American Jazz Award was presented to Shaun Kelly. And, the All American Hall of Fame Band Honors Awards were presented to Andrea Gelsomini, Patricia Govoni, Shaun Kelly, Charles McEvoy, Janet Zdanowski and David Ferreira.

David Ferreira also received the award as the over-all outstanding musician as band member and drum major.

The outstanding senior choir members were: soprano, Brenda Bryant; alto, Jane Cordaro; tenor, Garth Petracca; baritone, Tim Grant; bass, Brian Carey; and Ralph Gioncardi as the over-all outstanding choir member.

The outstanding senior members of the orchestra were Joanne and Pauline Pappas and David Ferreira.

The majorettes and colorguard were also honored and awarded school letters, trophies and certificates.

Presentations were made by the students to their directors: choir, Maurice Carboneau; orchestra, Irvin Pinkofsky; and band, Anthony Ferrante.

Ferrante is retiring after 30 years of musical service and a special presentation was given in his honor.

School Supt., Dr. Lawrence Creedon, also spoke to those in attendance on over-all effect the music students add to their school spirit.

The Awards banquet was made possible by the efforts of the North Quincy High School Music Parents Group.

Quincy Cablesystems Wins 3 Awards

Quincy Community Television and its community producers have received three awards in the National Federation of Local Cable Programmers 1983 Hometown Video Contest.

The only city receiving more awards was Portland, Ore.

Cleveland, Ohio won as many awards as QCTV, but Program Director Steve Marx noted:

"When you consider the size of Quincy and the newness of community access, Quincy's achievement is really remarkable."

John M. Lyons and Michael Zieper, community programmer, won first prize in the category special uses of the cable medium for "Rhymes-of-the-Times", a program of poetry about current national and local events.

Lyons writes and recites humorous poems on newsworthy topics. Michael Zieper assists by adding the production details that make the program a community favorite.

Also receiving awards were "Striving Toward Independence" and "Understanding Handicaps". Both programs received honorable mentions in the contest.

Jane Granstrom of the Thomas Crane Public Library and Christine Sullivan of Quincy Community Television produced "Striving Towards Independence" as a part of special needs awareness week in Quincy.

Hosted by David Donovan, a special needs teacher at North Quincy High School, the program featured community residents with special needs answering phone questions about their needs for housing, employment and recreation in the community.

"Understanding Handicaps" won an honorable mention for Michael Glynn and Ladd Sullivan, community access users, who produced the video-tape for the Volunteers In Action agency of Quincy. The program documented how a group of young children became more aware of and sensitive to the problems of mentally and physically handicapped people. Marx commented that "the number of prizes reflects really well on the staff, interns, and community producers at Quincy Community Television."

Winners will receive their awards at the National Federation of Local Cable Programmer's annual convention in Portland, Oregon during July.

Miss Quincy Bay Highlights On Ch. 8

Highlights of the Miss Quincy Bay Beauty Pageant will be shown on The Quincy Sun's Ch. 8 on Quincy Cablesystems this week.

The special news feature was videotaped by a Quincy

The feature was scheduled to be shown last night (Wednesday) at 7 p.m. It will be repeated Thursday at 7 p.m. and Friday at 5 p.m.

Lena Park Official On Cable Talk

Othello Mahone, deputy director of Lena Park Community Development Corporation, will be the featured guest on Cable Talk, the Quincy Community Television public affairs program to be aired tonight, (Thursday) at 9 p.m. and Sunday, July 24 at 10 p.m.

Lena Park is a private sector and government grant funded community service oriented organization in the Dorchester-Roxbury areas. The annual budget is two and a quarter million dollars of which $606,700 is funded through the Massachusetts Bay United Fund. The city of Quincy is a member of the South Region of the United Way Fund.

In an interview with John Noonan, Cable Talk host, Mahone describes the many services Lena Park provides to 45,000 residents, mostly black, of the Dorchester-Roxbury areas. Services provided include education, employment, counseling, crime prevention, youth and adult social group development, mental retardation, individual and family advocacy and counseling, elderly services, nutrition education, feeding and community economic approaches.

WEEK OF: JULY 21

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
You can breathe new life into projects that have been in limbo. A Libra or Scorpio enters the friendship picture. Workload increases, but you can rely on others.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Getting away from it all poses some difficulties and may require last-minute alterations. Higherup may challenge your sources. Spectator and participant events spotlighted for sportspeople.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Delayed news arrives at last and you breathe a big sigh of relief. Overseas communication - incoming and outgoing - is spotlighted. Settlements may be finalized by Monday.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Home improvement tasks take more work than anticipated but prove worth the trouble. In romance, avoid making hasty decisions and consider asking for more time before making commitments.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
Emphasis is on the new, with trips to intriguing spots highlighted along with introductions to colorful personalities. Communication problems are finally solved by Monday Tuesday.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
You're highly logical, but loved one is not - and tempers may fly toward the weekend. Extravagant streak surfaces now. News about an old friend perks up the week.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Companions are stubborn, and it's your turn to bend. You have a breather from family obligations and can enjoy time alone. Health wise, avoid excessive sunshine, exercise, late nights.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Several postponed events are rescheduled, and there may be a conflict involved. Loved one is in a mood to indulge you. Political opponent is soon to join your side.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Social calendar combines dreary obligations and exciting engagements. Variety, in fact, is the week's theme. Experimenting with new foods, seeing new places, are among current prospects.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
You're intensely ambitious, and a goal comes into view by Wednesday. Rewarding discussions take place with older relatives. Attention is a home repair projects.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Thursday, Friday accent sharing and trust, you may be given a responsible post during these days. Weekend social event may be unexpectedly glamorous, with you in the limelight.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Until Sunday you're involved in the relationships of others - playing mediator or confidant. As of Monday, your own friendships are on your mind, you may be making some changes.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You may be a little touchy, but you're always generous, creative and enthusiastic. Watch tendency to be fixed in opinions. You succeed in a big way by the end of 1983, but only if you're willing to change your mind and promote some highly original ideas.

BORN THIS WEEK
July 21st, violinist Isaac Stern, 22nd, actor Jason Robards, Jr., 23rd, pianist Michael Burns, 24th, actress Ruth Buzzi, 25th, actor Walter Brennan, 26th, singer Mick Jagger, 27th, producer Norman Lear.

Crossword

Cable helped Millie stop the ghosts.

Millie Napoleone, as you can see, is a no-nonsense take-charge lady who takes pride in her job as a safety patrol and works hard at it. So, when she began having trouble with "ghosts" in her television reception she decided to do something about it. She decided to try Cable and she chose Quincy Cablesystems.

Now, she's got the clearest TV picture she's ever had, and that's not all. She's also got television specials, first-run movies and Broadway hits, a variety of choices that you only get with Cable.

Millie loves that variety of programming. She also knows that if there's a program she's unable to see one night, she can catch it at a later date. With cable, if a sports event is blacked out in the Boston area, Millie and her sports-loving husband can see it at home.

As far as Millie is concerned, Cable is the only way to go. So, if you're looking for directions, look for Millie. She'll show you the way. She's already been there.

Hotshot Competition Starts Friday

The Quincy Recreation Department will again sponsor the National Pepsi Hotshot Basketball competition as part of its summer playground program.

Recreation Director Barry Welch said the Pepsi Hotshot competition will involve shooting baskets from five "Hotspots" marked on a basketball court. There is a one minute time period and the competition tests a youngsters speed, shooting, dribbling and rebounding ability.

The competition is open to boys and girls in three age categories, 9-12, 13-15 and 16-18. All supervised playgrounds with basketball courts will conduct playground competition in all six categories Friday at 11 a.m. The playground competition is the first step in the national tournaments. Participants do not have to be regular playground participants and may register at any playground for this event. There is no charge for this activity.

The Quincy Competition is co-sponsored by the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company of Milton. In past years winners of the city of Quincy have advanced as far as the Eastern Seaboard Competition in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Visits 100-Year-Old Heart Patient

Dukakis Brings Baklava To 'Uncle George'

By TOM HENSHAW

The Governor called him "Uncle George" and brought him some baklava and invited him to visit the corner office in the State House when he is up and around.

"It is a Greek tradition," explained Dr. Seraphim Papajianis. "You never address an older man by his first name. It is either Mister or Uncle."

Gov. Michael Dukakis, a mere 49, chose the latter form of address for 100-year-old George Belezos, who is recovering in Quincy City Hospital after having a cardiac pacemaker implanted in his chest.

Dr. Papajianis, his personal physician, believes that Belezos is the oldest man ever to receive a permanent pacemaker to control his heartbeat. It was implanted July 15.

"I can't believe he's 100 years old," said Dukakis after visiting Belezos for about 15 minutes Monday afternoon. "I guess it's that good Greek stock that does it."

"If I didn't know better," said Dr. Papajianis, "I would put his apparent age at 75."

Indeed, Belezos, a retired hat cleaner who lives on Bigelow St., Quincy Center, didn't even look 75 as he sat up in bed with a big grin to greet the Governor.

As it turned out, Dukakis and Belezos had more in common than Greek ancestry.

The Governor's father, the late Dr. Panos Dukakis, was Belezos physician until his retirement 10 years ago.

"We all know each other," said Dukakis, "or else we know people that do. Did you know that just before his heart attack, he attended his granddaughter's wedding and danced those Greek dances?"

Dr. Papajianis said Belezos will be in the hospital about another week.

"He's more anxious than ever to go home," he said. "He wants very much to visit the Governor in the State House."

Dr. Papajianis said he has known and treated Belezos for about 10 years.

"He is amazing," he said. "His wife died here at City Hospital and while she was here he used to come to visit her. He would walk up from his home."

Dr. Papajianis said he is certain that Belezos is 100 years old in spite of the fact that his official papers list him as being born in Greece in 1886.

"That is incorrect," he said. "When he went back to Greece in 1912 to fight the Turks he was between 28 and 30 years old. The documents say so."

Before he leaves the hospital, Belezos is due for a visit from another important Greek-American, Sen. Paul Tsongas, and the other day he got a card from 9-year-old John Daley of 19 Gardiner Rd., West Quincy.

"I hope you feel better," wrote John. "I've had a pacemaker since I was 2 years and 11 months old. I think they work great."

Rent Rehab Expanded To Point, Atlantic

The city's rental rehabilitation and energy conservation loan program, which has been successful in the Southwest Quincy target area, is being expanded into the Quincy Point and Atlantic areas.

The announcement was made jointly by Mayor Francis X. McCauley, Planning Director James E. Lydon, Housing Authority Director John P. Comer, and Robert Lee, president of the First American Bank for Savings.

Using a $90,000 allocation from the Community Development Block Grant Program, the city will provide flexible interest rate rehab loans to investor owners to bring their buildings up to code.

The city will provide a maximum of 50 per cent of the funding and the First American Bank for Savings will assist in financing the remaining 50 per cent.

The Housing Authority's involvement in the program will include the allocation of Section 8 rent subsidy certificates to low income tenants of apartments that have been rehabilitated.

Tenants with subsidy certificates will pay 30 per cent of their incomes as rent for the newly rehabilitated apartments.

Landlords interested in participating in the program should contact the Planning Department for further information at 773-1380, extension 444.

Seek Drowning Victim

Quarry Draining To Start Aug. 1

The city will start draining Swingle's Quarry, possibly as early as Monday, Aug. 1, in search of the body of Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton, who drowned there June 20.

"We can't start until we have the written environmental clearances," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley, "but we have set a tentative starting date of the first or second of the month."

Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson said two pumps will be used, each capable of draining 600 gallons a minute, and they will be operated and manned 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The water from the quarry will be discharged into Furnace Brook, which, said Anderson, "is running basically dry now. It can take a lot of water right now."

"We will have to be very careful that we don't overload the drains in wet weather," said McCauley. "We will monitor the flow of water very carefully on rainy days."

He said Sens. Paul Tsongas and Edward M. Kennedy, Cong. Brian J. Donnelly and Gov. Michael S. Dukakis are helping to expedite the environmental approvals for the draining.

Neither McCauley nor

Anderson would speculate on the cost of draining the quarry, which is one of the largest in area in the city and said to be between 300 and 400 feet deep.

Anderson said he will assign two Public Works Department workers to the draining job on each shift as part of their regular work so no overtime will have to be paid.

The extra cost, he said, will come from the expense of utilities and overtime for police security. Sodium vapor lights will be installed at the quarry to permit pumping work at night.

"This means that we will have to cut corners on a certain amount of repairs and routine maintenance," said Anderson. "When I assign two men to a job that's 4 per cent of my work force now."

"It's not going to be a one or two week operation," said McCauley. "With two pumps going around the clock we can expect to lower the level of water in the quarry only about a foot a day."

"Jim Walker of the Quincy Police Underwater Recovery Team says that when we get down 100 feet we can send divers down to look for the body, so we're not sure how long the search will take."

The Mayor also noted that Swingle's Quarry, which was active in stone-cutting until the mid-1960s, is believed to be fed by underground springs or connected by cracks to other water-filled quarries.

Not too far away from Swingle's are Granite Rail and several other smaller quarries.

Anderson said that if the 600-gallon a minute pumps are found to be inadequate, his department can move in pumps that will drain at a rate of 2,000 gallons a minute.

"We want to reassure the people of West Quincy that we are going to monitor the operation very carefully," said McCauley. "We will be watching the rain and the capacity of the pumps closely."

The limiting figure, he said, is the capacity of Furnace Brook to receive the water.

City To Be Homeport For 900 Sailors

The U.S. Navy, 900 strong, will arrive in Quincy next week for a stay of eight or nine months.

The USS Fulton, a 531-foot, 16,500-ton submarine tender, is due to dock at the General Dynamics shipyard the first part of the week and remain for a $12.5 million overhaul.

It's complement of 900 men will be housed on three Navy barges that are also docked at the shipyard.

The 42-year-old Fulton, which is based at the New London Submarine Base, is the oldest active duty vessel in the Navy, except for the USS Constitution at Boston.

But its 900 men are young and Mayor Francis X. McCauley said the city has already been queried about the recreation possibilities of Quincy and the surrounding communities.

A spokesman for General Dynamics said the repair and alteration work on the Fulton will create 360 additional jobs at the shipyard and will mean "130-man-years of work."

The Fulton is equipped to load nuclear weapons on submarines, the spokesman said, giving assurances that no nuclear devices will be brought to Quincy.

Friday Deadline To Take Out Nomination Papers

The deadline for obtaining nomination papers to run in the city election this fall is tomorrow (Friday) at 5 p.m. at the election office in City Hall.

The latest to take out papers is Joseph P. Kennedy, 48, of 180 Monroe Rd., Quincy Center, who indicated he plans to run for the city council from Ward 3. His occupation is listed as grocery manager.

The deadline for filing papers with at least 50 valid signatures is Tuesday, Aug. 2, also at 5 p.m.

John J. Lydon Jr., the incumbent councillor from Ward 3, has already filed his papers.

As of Tuesday afternoon, the fall election contests lined up like this:

For mayor - Mayor Francis X. McCauley and Donald Stevenson Johnson.

For City Council at large - Councillors Patricia Toland, Joseph J. LaRaia, and Richard J. Koch, Jr.

For City Ward 1 - Councillor Leo J. Kelly.

For City Council Ward 2 - Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro.

For City Council Ward 3 - Councillor Lydon and Kennedy.

For City Council Ward 4 - James A. Sheets.

For City Council Ward 5 -

Councillor Stephen J. McGrath.

For City Council Ward 6 - Councillor Joanne Condon, Mary Collins, Jens Thornton.

For School Committee - Committeemen Frank Anselmo, Christopher Kennedy and John J. Sullivan; William Arienti, Frank C. Santoro, Stephen Durkin, and Ruth Levitsky.

If all those candidates who have taken papers return them with the required number of signatures, there will be a preliminary election Sept. 13 in the School Committee and Ward 6 Council races.

news conference tomorrow (Friday) at 11:30 a.m. to announce major safety changes in the Merrymount section of Quincy Shore Drive.

A spokesman for the MDC said the news conference will be held outdoors on the drive itself or in the Merrymount School should the weather turn inclement.

The spokesman called the announcement Phase Two in the series of changes that Geary, who lives in Wollaston, has been making for safety purposes on the drive.

The first phase included beefing up police details on Wollaston Beach and timing the traffic control lights to slow down traffic.

"This should be the final stage in making a safer Quincy Shore Drive," said the spokesman.

Validated Parking For Christmas

Validated parking in downtown Quincy could go into effect by Thanksgiving, traditionally the start of the Christmas shopping season.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday that the lease with Kinney Systems is almost ready to be signed and bids for equipment may be sought as early as next week.

"We are very near an agreement with Kinney on the lease," said the Mayor. "There are only a few items left to settle on."

"The specifications for the equipment are ready and could be advertised next week when Purchasing Agent Robert Denvir is back from vacation."

"If all goes well, we can award the equipment contracts in mid-September and everything will be in place by Thanksgiving for the start of the Christmas season."

Under the validation system, the downtown municipal parking lots would be operated by Kinney with merchants paying for validating chits permitting shoppers to park free.

For those parkers without validating chits, the cost would be 25 cents an hour or $2 a week or $25 a month.

McCauley, Finn Meet On Drug Case

Mayor Francis X. McCauley and Police Chief Francis X. Finn met last week but reached no decision on how to proceed with the case of the missing drugs.

"We are still pursuing the matter," said McCauley. "We will meet again on it."

The case involves a quantity of white powder that may be cocaine which disappeared from the Quincy Police station shortly after it was confiscated in a drug raid in December, 1981.

Several Quincy police officers took lie detector tests in the case. One of them failed the test and refused to take it over again on advice of his attorney.

Dist. Atty. William D. Delahunt reviewed the case and found insufficient evidence to prosecute in court. McCauley and Finn are meeting to decide if any administrative action should be taken.

Telephone For Deaf Installed At Hospital

Quincy City Hospital has installed a TDD (telecommunications device for the deaf) to facilitate communication between the hospital and those with hearing impairments.

A portable TDD has also been purchased for deaf patients which will enable them to contact their family members and friends from the hospital.

The TDD allows the deaf individual to make a call directly with the use of another person to interpret.

With the TDD, the hospital's emergency department can assist a caller by either dispatching the appropriate resources to the caller's home or by giving the caller instructions for immediate care.

In order to make a call, both parties must have the TDD.

The TDD is hooked up to a standard telephone and when a call is made, the receiver is placed on top of the TDD and the number is dialed.

The conversation is typed rather than spoken and appears on the screen.

License Board Meeting Aug. 9

The Quincy License Board will hold a special summer meeting Tuesday, Aug. 9, at 10 a.m. at City Hall and the agenda already has some 13 items for consideration.

Among the items are requests from:

Thank You, QCH

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I wish to convey my thanks to all the workers at Quincy City Hospital who faithfully, daily, try to make all the patients under their care as pleasant as possible.

My thanks and appreciation particularly to the nurses and others on S4.

Some of my lingering thoughts I have tried to express in the enclosed poem:

The Patient's Lament

This is the day that the Lord hath made & I would like His co-operation.

This is the day that the Lord hath made; it's the day of my operation.

They'll make all things new, they promise you; your heart or kidney, or liver.

Like the cars of today in a miraculous way, was transformed from Henry's old flivver.

They have gadgets galore & pills by the score, & all sorts of paraphernalia.

Like cardiograms, electronic brain-scans, & Specialists all guaranteed to heal ya.

They no longer sew you up with thread, modern doctors re-package you instead.

Dr. Tony from Naples; they're all using staples.

Now my tummy looks like a 'snow-tread'.

But the Nurses, they're sweet, they're gentle, they're neat.

And oh! so utterly Professional They'll change your mood and you'll feel so good.

Like coming out of the 'Confessional'.

They'll kill any pain, or so they boast; without a cough or hiccup.

Fill their morphine glasses, & toast the masses, & then it's 'Bottoms Up'.

In light or dark, they hit the mark, but don't even leave a scar;

That little needle seems ten inches long, & travels twice as far.

It's the pills that kills, & sticks to your gills & tastes so awfully rotten

They're blue, they're green, mine happened to be white, but surely meant for a glutton.

After a while, when I got it over, & the ordeal was almost forgotten.

The Nurse in white, gave me a fright, said her uniform had lost a button.

'Terminal' now no longer means all hope is down the drain;

It only means your bill's so big it's plugged into a Computer Main.

And they don't forget a blessed thing, they charge 'til you must complain!

Plush room & board you can't afford. But then there's no charge for the Pain.

But the days go fast, & soon it's all past, so I'll have to end my poem now.

My stay was the best, thanks for the rest, but I'm glad I'm going home now.

Glenn Campaign In Orbit

Senator John Glenn is getting a jump locally in the Democratic Presidential sweepstakes.

An 11th Congressional District steering committee is now being formed for the former astronaut who would like to make the White House his orbit.

Quincy members of the committee are Governor's Councillor Peter Fleece, Rep. Michael Morrissey, City Councillors James Sheets, Patricia Toland and Stephen McGrath, and Ron Iacobucci.

Norfolk County Sheriff Clifford Marshall, former city councillor, reportedly is "leaning" toward joining the group but has not as yet made a firm commitment. Iacobucci, long politically active, will serve as coordinator for the Glenn campaign in the Norfolk Senate District which comprises Quincy, Braintree, Holbrook and Avon.

Iacobucci was an organizer for Senator Edward Kennedy's Presidential campaign in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

The Massachusetts Presidential primary is next March according to the calendar.

But it's really just around the corner for a Presidential candidate.

"We're going to be out there lining up delegate support early," says Iacobucci.

Iacobucci invites anyone wanting to join the Glenn cause to contact him. You can reach him at 479-2718.

IACOBUCCI

YOU MIGHT SAY the first shot has been fired in the Battle of Ward 6. School Committee Vice Chairwoman Mary Collins, challenging incumbent Joanne Condon for the Ward 6 City Council seat did the firing.

She chided Mrs. Condon for not being present at a City License Board meeting to oppose a video game license in Squantum.

It's not a cannon shot. But it may liven things up. It's been so quiet that if someone dropped a campaign button in Squantum it could be heard in Atlantic.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Condon in an apparent move to show her strength, collected some 1800 signatures on her nomination papers. Only 50 valid names are needed.

Jens Thornton hopes to have the two women split enough votes for him to land one of the nominations in the Sept. 13 preliminary election.

But political observers consider it a showdown between Collins and Condon.

bring new life to commercial areas.

Toland To Seek Re-election To Council

Patricia M. Toland announces her candidacy for reelection to a second two-year term as an at-large member of the City Council.

"I want to insure that the citizens of Quincy have a safe and clean environment," said Mrs. Toland, who is chairman of the Council's Beautification Committee.

"It is in this area that Quincy faces serious problems in the coming years. New construction in West Quincy strains a sewer system already inadequate to meet the needs of Quincy residents. Plans for sanitary landfill must be made before we run out of space.

"A safe and clean environment means a revitalization of downtown Quincy as well as a revitalization and cleanup of Quincy Bay.

"I hope the city can work with the MDC to solve the waste problem and the City Council and the Planning Department can work with the Quincy Square and neighborhood merchants to

BATHROOM ELECTROCUTION

An estimated 120,000 injuries and more than 200 deaths occur every year in the bathroom area. Many of these deaths are caused by electric shock. Water and electricity can be a fatal combination and if there is any room where that combination will be found, it is in the family bathroom. Here's some tips:

Never plug a radio in where it could fall into a tub or sink (battery models are safe). The same goes for a record player, hair dryer or any other appliance.

Even if you're not taking a bath or shower, be cautious with electricity. Don't touch any electrical fixture or appliance with wet hands or while you're standing on a damp floor. Get into the habit of being one-handed. Avoid touching an appliance with one hand while you turn on a faucet with the other.

Another safety tip: When you disconnect an electric shaver or other appliance, remove the cord from the wall outlet, not from the appliance. If it is left dangling, it can become lethal if dropped or knocked into a sink filled with water.

Marks 10th Anniversary

State Street South: A Decade Of Prosperity

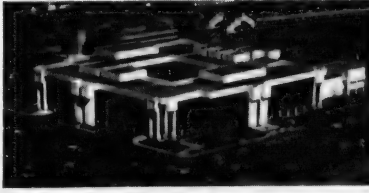

The State Street South complex in North Quincy was hailed last week on its 10th birthday as a major contributor to high employment in Quincy and the South Shore.

"After completion of the next building on the site, Monarch III, there will be employment for nearly 8,000 people," said William Edgerly, president of the State Street Bank and Trust Co.

"Quincy boasts a 6.6 per cent unemployment rate, one of the lowest in the state. We are proud to contribute to that record."

Edgerly was one of the speakers at a brief 10th anniversary celebration in the courtyard of the State Street South building.

"I remember 13 years ago when we were asked to endorse an unknown entity known as Project Atlas, which turned out to be State Street South," said James R. McIntyre, who was mayor at the time.

"It was going to be located on this spot with no public transportation, no MBTA station, no water and sewer lines, no real road from East Squantum St. and no access from the Neponset Bridge.

"Now we are celebrating 10 years of mutual success, a joint effort of Quincy, the MDC, the DPW and State Street Bank working co-operatively to bring new jobs to North Quincy.

the state in per capital income."

Edgerly said that when Monarch III is completed, State Street South will be one of the largest suburban commercial office centers in Massachusetts.

"We're planning to continue to grow in our operation," he said. "Much of those space requirements will be filled here. In due course, we will probably need to build another building."

Edgerly noted that the one acre courtyard in the State Street South building will be recognized in the fall by Fortune Magazine as one of eight exemplary corporate environments in the country.

"We have seen here what government and business can do working together to bring jobs, and tax revenue and provide for the economic well-being."

Mayor Francis X. McCauley noted that 15 years ago the State Street South area was a marsh.

"I don't think many of us who served in the first administration of Jim McIntyre ever believed the potential for the development in this area would ever come to pass," he said.

"It is the partnership of industry and business such as State Street and the city administrations over the years that has made Quincy seventh among 39 cities in

Boston Edison Buys Squantum Naval Station

The General Services Administration in Washington announced that it had accepted a bid of $851,000 from the Boston Edison Co. for the 631 acres of land that constituted the deactivated Squantum Naval Air Station property.

William A. O'Connell, executive vice president of the Quincy Chamber of Commerce, hailed the acceptance of Boston Edison's bid as "a great event for the city of Quincy."

"It is a great event to have a company of this stature here and the Chamber of Commerce extends a cordial welcome and offers its services in any future plans they may have for the development of the area," he said.

But J. V. MacDonald, promotion manager for Boston Edison, said the company is not ready to announce its plans and Planning Director Regis Harrington and Building Inspector Alrick A. Weidman said they have not been approached about development.

QUARRY FIRE

Debris dumped in Hitchcock's Quarry on Quarry St. caught fire, sending thick clouds of acrid grey smoke over the Hospital Hill area. The three-alarm fire was punctuated by small explosions as bottles and other rubbish burst in the heat.

Mrs. Dora Donovan of 36 Filbert St. said the quarry "looked like a picture of hell," and another neighbor, Mrs. Dennis Behan, described it as "a blazing inferno."

At one time the entire surface of the quarter-mile square quarry was aflame and firefighters had difficulty getting down from the 100-foot ledges to the debris floating on the water. Deputy Fire Chief James J. Daley said it might be days before the fire was out.

TOWN BROOK STUDY

Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa made a second request for a state drainage study of the Town Brook area in South Quincy to accompany the construction of the proposed Southeast Expressway on the Quincy-Braintree line.

Della Chiesa noted that the area was so badly flooded in August, 1954, that boats were used in South Quincy to evacuate residents of Brook Rd., Extension, Roberts St., Water St. and Grossman St.

Collins Chides Opponent On Video License

Mary Collins, a candidate for the City Council from Ward 6, has chided the current councillor for not being present at a License Board meeting to oppose a video game license in Squantum.

"My first problem is with the fact that the law doesn't require abutters to be notified in such cases," said Collins in a statement. "Several area residents informed me of this situation."

"The second concern I have is that the ward councillor wasn't present at the License Board meeting when this was scheduled to be considered and, as a result, it was tabled.

"It now appears that the application will be withdrawn but only because of the efforts of the area residents."

The video game license was sought by the Curtis Compact store at 751 East Squamut St.

Collins said that, as a ward councillor, she would keep residents notified of "such potentially negative situations."

She said she has asked Sen. Paul D. Harold and Rep. Michael W. Morrissey to file legislation that would require abutters to be notified when a business establishment requests a video game license.

Santoro Assails School Board

Frank Santoro, a candidate for the School Committee, says he is concerned that the current members of the Committee do not follow up on existing policies and objectives.

It is the job of the committee, he told a recent coffee hour, to gather input from the community, establish policies and then see that they are carried out.

"Very rarely, if ever, does the general community participate in establishing policy," he said. "Too often committee members are concerned about establishing policies for their own personal benefit."

"Some members are oblivious of the day to day deficiencies of administrators and teachers with nepotism prevailing as a major concern."

"The position of School Committee members much too often means special privileges for friends, relatives and political advancement."

The time has come,

Santoro said, "for the committee to concentrate on efficiently carrying out policies."

Adrienne James-Rapp Receives Law Degree

Adrienne E. James-Rapp of Adams St., Quincy.

recently received a Juris Doctor degree from New England School of Law during the 1983 commencement exercises.

Miss James-Rapp received her bachelor's degree from Wheaton College in 1978 after earning an associate's degree from Massasoit Community College in 1974. She is a 1971 graduate of Braintree High School.

As a law student, Miss James-Rapp attended part-time, evening program at New England School of Law. She worked during her schooling as an assistant and investigator for Quincy Atty. Jeffrey Isaacson. A Dean's List student in law school, Miss James-Rapp served an internship with the Norfolk County District Attorney's office in the Quincy District Court.

Louise Forsyth Selected For 'Who's Who In East'

Louise B. Forsyth, immediate past president of the American Personnel and Guidance Association and retired coordinator of testing for the Quincy Public Schools, has been notified her biography will appear in the 19th edition of "Who's Who in the East."

She has been listed in every edition of "Who's Who of American Women" since 1970. The Massachusetts School Counselors Association voted to match her gift to the American Personnel and Guidance Foundation and to give the funds in her honor to make her the first member of the Frank Parsons Founders Society of the APGF. Frank Parsons of Boston was one of the founders of the governing board.

During the recent Washington D.C. National Convention, the Senate of the American Personnel and Guidance Association voted a resolution commending her for her service as APGA President.

Miss Forsyth will continue actively at the national level as a member of the Editorial Board of the School Counselor journal and as a member of the APGA Committee on Adult Development and Aging. Locally, she serves as a member of the Board of Directors of the Protestant Social Service Bureau, as chair of the PSSB Project Visibility Committee and as a member of the Board of Directors of St. Coletta Day School.

Another Honor For Miss Quincy Bay

Tricia Markakos Wins Miss American Model Title

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

"I never thought all this would happen to me," said Tricia Markakos who followed up her recent Miss Quincy Bay Pageant victory by capturing the Miss American Model title in New York City last weekend.

And as if that wasn't enough, Tricia was also accepted by three top modeling agencies during her stay in that city.

The just turned 17-year-old Baintree resident competed against 165 teenage girls from across the country to win the modeling portion of the three-day, Talent America competition held at the Roosevelt Hotel.

Tricia modeled different outfits each day. The first day, she wore a deep plum, short taffeta dress; the second, a polka dot jump suit; and the third, the royal blue gown she wore in the Miss Quincy Bay Pageant.

"I was more excited than nervous," said Tricia. "I'm getting more confident on the runway."

Her prizes include a three-foot high trophy, interviews with casting directors for such jobs as commercials, soap operas and movies, and a scholarship to the New York Academy of Theatrical Arts.

The scholarship will have to wait until Tricia graduates from Baintree High School next year.

Also postponed until next year is modeling with the Ford, Wilhemina or Elite agencies, all of which accepted Tricia.

"I was just a little nervous at the modeling agencies," said Tricia, "all the top models are there."

"They said I'm really good in front of the camera, and they plan on helping me a lot."

Among their suggestions,

is schooling to eliminate a Boston accent, according to Tricia who has modeled since age 12 and counts Kim Alexis and Christie Brinkley as her favorites in that field.

The 5-ft.-9, 125 pound blonde was also introduced to fellow Baintree resident Eileen Ford, head of the Ford agency, during her interview.

Tricia was accompanied on the trip by her mom, Zanetta, while her dad, George, took care of the family business, George's Expert Tailoring and Cleaning in Quincy.

Their trip also included contact with an Avon representative interested in using Tricia in a commercial, and a bit of relaxation, a Rockettes show.

"I love walking down Fifth Avenue every day," enthused Tricia.

The good news hasn't been restricted to Tricia's trip to New York.

She also recently learned that she has been selected for Face of the '80's international model search, and she is scheduled to have lunch with Gov. Michael Dukakis today (Thursday) at the State House.

And to put the icing on the cake, Tricia celebrated her 17th birthday last week.

"All of this has taught me to be more confident," said Tricia. "I never expected to win. I just went to have fun."

"You have to have the courage to try."

"Even if you lose, you'll be happier because you have gained something."

"You will have made friends and had fun."

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

"You have heard the saying, 'Today is the first day of the rest of your life'. As long as we have life, each and every one of us must live within the confines of time - day by day. It is a precious possession. We can use it or we can waste it. At this very minute a life is being changed somewhere by someone, for better or worse. A hope is being born, a dream is being started. Pleas are being heard, accepted and rejected. Things happen every day.

This very minute, a part of today, will soon be gone. It can never be replaced. It can be used to advantage to bring happiness or it can be shunned aside to cause regret and faded hopes in tomorrows to come. Yesterday is gone. There may or may not be a tomorrow. But we do have TODAY. A decision right now to write a letter, make a phone call, pay a visit, or whatever - can mean a lot to you and others on this - 'The first day of the rest of your life'...

• Legion Baseball Tie Games, Rainouts Snafu Playoffs

By TOM SULLIVAN

All Legion baseball zone titles were due to be decided last weekend with the playoffs starting this week.

However, due to rainouts and tie games, Morrisette and Hingham still hadn't decided the Zone 6 championship Monday night and at press time it wasn't known just what the playoffs situation is.

The final games were rained out Sunday and Monday night Morrisette tied Mass. Trucks of Weymouth, 4-4, the game being called after nine innings by darkness.

Meanwhile, Hingham lost its finale to Braintree's Zone 6A champs, 3-0, to finish at 17-5. Morrisette was 16-5 with the game with Mass. Trucks due to be replayed Tuesday night. However, it wasn't known if Weymouth could get its team together and there was a possibility that Morrisette and Hingham would play Tuesday for the zone title. The winner was to play Braintree in a three-game series and the winner of that series will play the Bristol County champions.

"This has been frustrating for us," said Morrisette Coach Ray Cattaneo. "We should have easily won our division title but we threw away several games we should have won. Our game with Canton two weeks ago comes back to haunt us. We led, 5-0, and 8-5, but handed Canton the game with errors. Our season's opener with Carter Post was a nightmare and we lost several games in which we had big leads.

"Our hitting has been excellent all season but our defense has been spotty and cost us several games and our pitching also was shaky in spots."

Monday night Morrisette took a 2-0 lead in the first inning and led, 3-1, in the fifth. However, Morrisette's defense again opened the games for Weymouth with successive errors on the first two batters in the fifth. Mike Marshall relieved Jim Bandera, who had pitched well, and gave up the tying and go-ahead runs. Morrisette tied it in the seventh and Marshall was brilliant after the fifth.

Last Saturday Morrisette edged Holbrook, 6-5, to stay even with Hingham.

Morrisette scored a run in the second on a double by Marty McLoughlin, a wild pitch and Bandera's sacrifice fly. In the third Dan Kelly reached on a fielder's choice, stole second, went to third on an error and scored on a wild pitch. In the fifth, McLoughlin doubled and scored on John Balzano's single.

Holbrook scored three runs in the fifth but Morrisette came back with three in the sixth as Jack Bolster walked, Chris Bunker singled, McLoughlin singled, Bandera walked forcing in a run and Balzano doubled home Bunker and McLoughlin.

Holbrook just missed tying it in the seventh as it scored twice.

Paul Marshall, Dennis Cronin and Jack Outerbridge pitched for Morrisette with Cronin the winner. Balzano had three hits and three RBI and McLoughlin had two doubles.

Last Friday night Morrisette defeated Wollaston, 6-3, with Mike Marshall the winner, settling down after a bad start as he walked 10 and struck out seven, giving up four hits. He proved especially tough in the clutch.

Wollaston scored a run in the first, one in the third and one in the fifth. Morrisette scored once in the sixth and then exploded for five runs in the seventh.

With Morrisette trailing, 3-1, after six, Sid Cedrone opened the seventh with a single, Bandera walked and Dave Zurums ran for him (Bandera has been hampered by a bad leg).

Mike Marshall had an infield hit, scoring Cedrone, Kelly reached on a fielder's choice, Bolster walked and Bunker won it with a grand slam home run.

Andy Eames and Vin Cristiani pitched well for Wollaston, giving up six hits. Eames was the loser.

In its previous game Morrisette had come through under pressure and defeated Hingham, 11-6, with Bandera having a home run, double and single and driving in three runs.

Morrisette scored four runs in the second on Bandera's homer, Balzano's single, a walk to Scott Mele, an error and Dan Kelly's two-run single.

Morrisette added two in the third on Bunker's single, an error, Bandera's double and Balzano's sacrifice fly.

In the fourth Balzano reached on an error, Mele bunted him along, Mele reached on an error and Cedrone drove in the seventh run.

Hingham scored twice in the fifth and added four in the sixth.

Morrisette added three runs in the sixth on Bolster's single, an error, Bunker's double, Bandera's single and Cedrone's single.

Paul Marshall relieved Bandera in the sixth and gave up one hit and struck out three. Bandera was the winner. Bunker had three hits and Kelly and Tom Ryan two each.

Quincy, which had a rough season, finished on a bright note as it defeated Holbrook, 4-3, to finish at 4-17.

Joe Conti got out of a two-on, no-outs jam in the seventh to preserve the win. Mike Dracchio and Gerry Arroyo had RBI singles for Quincy.

Wollaston also had a frustrating season and lost its last two games to Morrisette and Braintree to finish with a 3-16 record.

● Perkins League

Martin's, Woodward's Niners Still Bunched Up

With the Roy Perkins Softball League only two weeks from ending the regular season, it looks like there will be three teams battling for divisional byes in the playoffs. Martin's Plumbing, Woodward's Spring and the Niners.

Martin's leading the league, remains two games up on Woodward's and three games ahead of the Niners in the lost column. Martin's still have two games with the Niners and one with Woodward's. The top two teams will have the byes.

In games last week Woodward's pitcher Kevin Rooney picked up two wins and contributed some clutch hitting in defeating the Sedators, 10-8, and VFW, 15-8.

The Niners won their game with Trucks of Quincy, 18-8, with Lenny Kyle the winning pitcher and Dick Papile the loser.

The Niners' Steve Young, Billy Cannon and Dick White had home runs.

Martin's continued its winning ways with an 11-6 win over the Bashers. Martin's jumped out to an early lead and never trailed. The Bashers had men in scoring position in the seventh with no outs but Martin's defense stopped the threat.

South Shore Bank is still looking for its first win after losing to VFW, 16-10, and to the Sedators, 17-10. The Sedators have won five of their last six games, moving up from seventh place to fifth.

The Sedators and Trucks were rained out and will make up the game at a later date.

The standings: Martin's Plumbing, 11-2; Woodward's Spring, 13-4; Niners, 10-5; Trucks, 9-8; Sedators, 7-8; Bashers, 6-9; VFW, 5-12; South Shore Buick, 0-13.

County Sheriffs Ride, 10-6

The Norfolk County Sheriffs, a baseball team made up of 16-19 year old players, mostly from Quincy, staged their best offensive of the season to defeat Hanover, 10-6, and improve their record to 5-3.

They had 15 hits including nine for extra bases.

In the second, designated hitter Steve White singled, Dan Ceurels walked and Rich Brooks singled to load the bases. Ken Yanofsky singled in one run and Jerry Martin singled in two more. Mike Venna singled and John Doherty hit a two-run double to left. Matt Kerin drove in the sixth run with a single.

In the fifth Venna singled, Scott Owens walked and John Doherty hit a two-run single.

Hanover took advantage of several errors by the Sheriffs to score its runs.

Mike Hansbury was the Sheriffs' starting pitcher and was relieved by Tim Moran after pitching 4½ innings, giving up six walks, three hits and striking out seven. Moran gave up three singles and a costly error led two runs score. Moran was pulled and Ceurels came on and struck out the side on consecutive pitches. He returned to action after fracturing a bone in the thumb of his pitching hand.

Earlier the Sheriffs edged the Boston Tigers, 2-1, as Kerin pitched a three-hitter, struck out eight and walked three.

The Sheriffs scored a run in the first when John Bille tripled home John Doherty, who walked. Bille was out trying for an inside-the-park home run.

They scored the winning run in the seventh. Paul Medicke doubled and Adam McGhee ran for him. McGhee scored on Dennis Dolan's infield hit with the hit-and-run on.

The defensive play of the game came in the fifth.

With runners on first and second, second baseman Dennis Dolan made a diving stop of a grounder, threw to shortstop Ceurels, who threw to first for a double play to end the threat.

The Tigers are a Hispanic team well-coached and displaying fine sportsmanship. They will be coming back to Quincy for future games.

● Quincy Women's Softball Playoffs Aug. 1

The Quincy Women's Softball League playoffs will get under way Monday night, Aug. 1, with the top four teams in each division taking part.

Games will be played Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights.

The annual banquet will be held August 26 at 7:30 at Floridan Hall in Dorchester. Tickets are now available and can be picked up at Washington Tap, Beacon Sporting Goods or at the softball field from Nancy, Ginny or Chuckie.

The standings: Div. A -

Trainer's Truckers, 19-1; Kane's Place, 17-3; Luke's Lounge, 12-8; Fowler House, 11-8; Dee Dee's,

10-10; Washington Tap 1, 9-10; Beau's Place, 8-11; Morrisette Post, 5-14; Darcy's, 5-15; Photo Quick, 2-20. Div. B - Washington

Tap 2, 19-2; Leisure Graphics, 14-5; Luke's 2, 14-5; Balducci's, 12-8; Quincy Co-op, 10-9; California, 10-9; Shawmut Market, 7-13; South Shore Bank, 6-13; Cable Systems, 4-16; Pete's Angels, 2-18.

Gillespie Slam Sparks Win By Shore Stars

Bruce Gillespie's grand slam home run climaxed a five-run seventh inning and propelled the South Shore League all stars to a 14-4 victory over a team of old time all stars from the same league in a Jimmy Fund benefit game at Kincaide Park.

Pitching for the All Stars were Artie Schepis, Ernie Goguen, Vin Moscardelli, Jim Collins and Don McAleer. Jim Pena started on the mound for the Old Timers and blanked the all stars for three frames. He was followed by Ed Daley, Connie Carozzi, Joe Singler and Cookie Marini.

The old timers led by scores of 2-0 and 4-2 and trailed by only 5-4 going into the sixth inning when Bobby King tripled in two runs and Frank Barone and Vin Frattasio drove in two more. Then Gillespie's grand slam came in the next inning.

The umpires, Ray Gavoni, Bob Dwyer, Jimmy Duca, and Russ Pettigill, donated their services and the game raised $85 for the Jimmy Fund.

HARRIS TENNIS CHAMP

Brooks Harris, 21, of Quincy, the Harvard tennis captain last spring, established himself as the area's No. 1 player when he upset defending champion Tom Raleigh of Weymouth, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4, to win the South Shore Tournament at the Quincy Tennis Club.

Harris, who lives on Adams St., was scheduled to leave later in the week for Sea Bright, N.J., as a member of a Harvard-Yale tennis team to play English students from Oxford and Cambridge in an international match.

PLAYOFF HOPES JOILED

Hull's Ernie Goguen all but eliminated Quincy from a spot in the South Shore League playoffs when he pitched a four-hitter and struck out five in chalking up a 4-0 victory at Adams Field.

Player-Manager Jim Fleming, Jim Hebert, Jim Tantillo and Cliff Cox had the hits for Quincy, which needed wins in all three remaining games to tie for the fourth and final playoff position.

JOHNSTON HUSTLER CHAMP

Robert Johnson, 16, a Thayer Academy junior from the Squantum Yacht Club, won the Youngquist Junior Hustler Trophy at the Quincy YC by three-quarters of a point without winning one of the three races. He and his crew finished sixth, second and fourth.

RAIDERETTES WIN

Doris Leitch pitched a two-hitter and struck out eight of the first nine batters she faced to lead the North Quincy Raiderettes to a 19-0 victory over Derry, N.H., at Rotary Field. Helen LaCamera, Ann Reardon, Virginia Murphy, Barbara Tappen and Marjorie Kyle were the hitters.

SPORTS BITS '56

Quincy's Sam McLe, who was twice traded by the Red Sox, was waived by the Cleveland Indians and immediately received three offers of jobs, including one from Boston to play for the San Francisco farm team ... The Quincy Tennis Club girls lost to Roslindale, 4-3, on the Glendale Rd. courts with the Quincy wins scored by Jeanne Rull and Marilyn Dixon and the doubles team of Barbara Keefe and Dixon ... St. Mary's of West Quincy, coached by Jim McDonald, built up a 7-0 lead at the end of two innings and then fell apart and were eliminated 14-10 by St. Edward's of Brockton from the diocesan CYO intermediate tournament ... Angie LoCicero singled home the winning run in the last innings as Quincy came from behind a 5-2 deficit to beat Braintree, 6-5 in a South Shore League game ... Charley Casagrande hit a pair of home runs as the North Quincy Koch Club used a 16-run second inning to wallop Bob's Spa of West Quincy, 17-6 ... Don Pizzi stroked a three-run double to pace the attack as the Fore River Apprentices downed Raytheon, 8-6, for their 15th straight win in the Industrial Softball League ... Pat Drohan pitched a five-hitter and Mary Ellsworth had three hits as the Raiderettes blanked the Hartford Laurelettes, 3-0 ... The Quincy Manets football team held their first drills of the season under Coach Dave Burke at Faxon Field ... Outfielder Thomas McDonald of Quincy had eight hits in 28 times at bat for the Quincy, Ill., team in the Three-I League ... Manager Guy Tenore came out of a one-year retirement to lead Hanrahan's to the Quincy Park Softball League title for the fourth time in five years ... George Pearson pitched a seven-hitter and Gerry Panarelli hit a three-run homer as the Fore River Apprentices downed abrades, 6-4, for their 14th straight Industrial Softball League win at Rotary Field.

• Babe Ruth League

Elks Win 3 But Lose Playoffs Berth

The Quincy Elks won three games during the past week in the Babe Ruth League, but missed making the playoffs.

The Elks, playing in the strong American League, would have made the playoffs, according to their record, if they had been in the National League.

The Elks defeated the Sons of Italy, 6-2, behind the five-hit pitching of Al Martell, who struck out three and walked two. Martell had a double and single. Matt Ostiguy had a double. George Hartford drove in two runs with a two-out single in the third, and Tom Logan, Billy Connelly and Mark Simonelli had singles. The big blow was a two-run triple by 13-year-old Peter Tufts over the center fielder's head in the sixth. Sean Gately, 13, played a fine game filling in at second base and started two double plays. For Sons of Italy Mike Billie had two singles, Pennellatore a double and Swanson and Riccuietti singles.

The Elks also topped Local 1139, 10-6, with Bob Laracy pitching a seven-hitter and not walking a batter. Ostiguy had three singles and scored twice and also caught a fine game in place of Simonelli, who was unable to play. Tom Logan had a three-run homer and walked twice, Hartford walked twice and scored twice and made a fine pickoff play at second base. Gately walked and scored a run. Laracy singled and scored and Martell hit the ball hard but was unable to buy a hit. Billy Murphy, 13, reached twice on a single and an error and Tufts singled and scored.

For Local 1139 Dave Britt had a triple and single and Mark Bilton a double and single.

The Elks edged the Police, 8-7, with Ostiguy going the route, striking out three and walking three. Simonelli doubled in three runs in the sixth after Martell doubled. Connelly singled and Ostiguy walked. Ostiguy set the Police down in order in the seventh. Connelly had two hits and Bob Bubencick and Hartford one each.

• Bankers Softball League

Hancock Clinches 6th Division Title In Row

Hancock Bank continued its torrid pace in Div. 1 of the South Shore Bankers Softball League by defeating Bay Bank/Norfolk, 8-4, and Quincy Co-Operative Bank, 16-11, and clinching the division title, its sixth in a row.

Hoss Thayer pitched brilliantly against Bay Bank, while Tom Rizzo had two hits and Gerry Reardon and Brian Griffiths had tremendous home runs. For Bay Bank Jim Tracey had a double and single and three RBI.

In the second game Quincy Co-Op jumped out to a 10-1 lead in the second inning on the strength of some timely hitting by Dennis Driscoll, Leo Sheehan and Bob Foy. However, Hancock got hot and "the Coop" cooled off and Hancock soon took the lead. Reardon and Joe Silva had four hits each for Hancock, Reardon having two long home runs and Silva one, while red-hot Rizzo chipped in with three hits.

Quincy Savings took another step toward the Div. 2 title, edging South Weymouth Savings, 16-14, for its eighth straight win. Once again Tom Quinn, Bob Pacino and Phil Jones led the attack, while Ron Baker and Len Smith stood out for South Weymouth.

Kevin Schwede pitched and fielded brilliantly and Warren Troupe hit a monumental home run but it wasn't enough as South Shore Bank fell to State Street Bank, 8-7. South Shore led, 7-3, going into the last inning when the heat began to take its toll and a dogged State Street club, refusing to die, rallied for the win.

Atlantic Data Services moved to within a game of runner-up Bay Bank in Div. 1, topping Quincy Co-Op, 13-7. Coach Ed Kelly had two home runs, Kevin Gates had three RBI and new dad Pete Cahill celebrated with two singles. Dave O'Connor sparked in the field.

The standings: Div. 1 - Hancock Bank, 14-1; Bay Bank, 6-8; Atlantic Data Services, 5-9; South Shore Bank, 1-14. Div. 2 - Quincy Savings, 11-3; State Street, 9-5; South Weymouth Savings, 6-8; Quincy Co-Operative, 5-9.

Legion All Star Game For MDA Friday Night

The third annual American Legion all-star baseball game to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association, will be held Friday night at 8 p.m. at Adams Field.

The game pits the best players from Zone 6 (Morrisette, Quincy, Wollaston, Hingham, Weymouth and Carter Post of Dorchester) against the stars from Zone 6A (Braintree, Randolph, Holbrook, Milton, Canton and Mass Truck of Weymouth).

In 1978 Morrisette started playing teams from throughout the state to benefit MDA but in 1981 the league decided to play the all-star game within its own zone. The games have been successful in every way and have proved exciting. Many top college coaches and major league scouts attend the game.

Zone 6 won the first two games but, with Braintree again outstanding and winning the Zone 6A title with a 20-2 record, things could change Friday night.

Most of the players will be seeing their last Legion action and will be leaving for college in a few weeks.

In the five years Morrisette Post has hosted the games, $2,500 has been raised for MDA.

Tickets are $1. and can be obtained at The Quincy Sun, Morrisette Post or at Adams Field the night of the game.

There will be a collation following the game at the Morrisette Post home for everyone involved in the night's activities.

The game is sponsored by the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee and hosted by the Morrisette Legion team.

The Eyes have it.

"It's just like going to the movies. There's always something great to look at."

"Do we like cable? We have three sets so that everyone can see what they want."

"M.T.V. gives you a better understanding of the music. You get to know all the songs."

"The sports are a real plus. I see games and teams I never saw before."

"Cable stopped the ghosts. The reception is terrific."

"I love the country and western music on the Nashville channel."

"You can't begin to compare cable to T.V. With cable you can watch what you want when you want it."

"It's hard to find movies suitable for kids these days. The Disney Channel is a natural for a family like ours."

"We thought we'd become T.V. addicts; but we didn't. We only watch what we want. Cable gives us a wonderful choice."

Hustlers Breeze By Sea Gals, Castaways

The Hustlers rolled over the Sea Gals, 13-3, in the Houghs Neck Women's Softball League.

Ann Sullivan was the winning pitcher and Janet Kirby the loser. Paula Mc-Manus went 4-for-4. Susan Pacetti was 3-for-3 and Kathy Brooks and Ann Sullivan had home runs. For the Sea Gals Mary Kamb had a three-run homer and Debbie Delaney and Priscilla Little had two hits each. The Hustlers defeated the Castaways, 9-6, although outlit, 15-9. Mal Morill was the winner and Marion Knudsen the loser. Jean Schuerch drove in five runs with a two-run homer and base-clearing double. Ann Sullivan made several good plays at third base. For the Castaways Nancy McQuinn had three hits and Cathy Pettrilli, Michelle Hebb and Ellen Rhode two each.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous shipyard workers, masons, and pipefitters of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

To learn your rights free of charge, or to bring an asbestos claim, contact:

BM Koch Club Awards Night Aug. 2

The Broad Meadows District of the Koch Club Boys' Baseball and Girls' Softball Leagues will hold the 22nd annual Parents and Awards Night Tuesday, Aug. 2, at 6:30 p.m. at the Broad Meadows Middle School Field, 50 Calvin Rd.

Rain date is Wednesday, Aug. 3.

The boys and girls will be recognized for their attendance and dependability to the league and their teammates and will receive a special award.

Ice cream will be distributed to the members of the league and their younger brothers and sisters attending.

The Koch Club Boys' Baseball and Girls' Softball Leagues are commemorating the 33rd anniversary of this popular spring and summer recreation program conducted at four neighborhoods in the city each year.

The Koch Club of Quincy is celebrating its 35th anniversary as an organization and the Broad Meadows District was founded 22 years ago by Anthony T. Delmonico.

Broad Meadows District Director, Delmonico has been associated with the Koch Club for 24 years, spending two years with the North Quincy District before returning to his own area to form the Broad Meadows District in 1962. Tony and Gerry Delmonico have been instrumental in providing wholesome recreational enjoyment for thousands of boys and girls and men and women in baseball, softball, basketball and bowling activities.

Fenno Playground Work To Start Aug. 1

City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath has announced that refurbishing work on the basketball and tennis courts in the Fenno St. playground will start Aug. 1 and be completed in a week. McGrath said the two basketball courts and the two tennis courts will be resurfaced and the basketball standards and tennis posts and nets repaired. New basketball hoops will be installed.

The surface of the four courts will be seal coated and the marker lines repainted. Also a general cleanup will be done of the playground area and the benches repainted.

McGrath said the project cost of $18,120 is contained in the Community Development Block Grant budget.

Buyable alternatives

Fine quality.
Affordable prices.

That's what customers clearly find in the French Collection of elegant 24% lead crystal you can still buy with each qualifying deposit at Quincy Savings.

For the next several weeks, you can buy a pair of Cristal D'Arques stemware or tumblers with each $100 you deposit in a new or existing savings or Individual Retirement Account.*

If you want an alternative, you have one. Because we're adding four matching accessory items to our French Collection, which you can now add to yours.

We have a familiar vase

If you've admired and wanted to buy the crystal bud vase (and candleholders) on our lobby display, now you can.

The 6½" vase has the now familiar name of Cristal D'Arques, with elegance to match the finest blown, cut and polished crystal.

The candleholders will add more brilliance to your French Collection and new beauty to your table.

You can buy the bud vase for just $5.50 including sales tax or a pair of candleholders for only $8.50 (including tax) simply by depositing $100 into a new or existing savings or Individual Retirement Account.*

For richer, for pourer

Another buyable alternative is a beautiful 32 ounce 24% French lead crystal decanter. Add this rich touch to your collection of Verité wine glasses for just $18, including sales tax, with a qualifying deposit as described above.

If you prefer, look into our crystal bowl. You'll see more good taste and value. Buy this 8½" crystal accessory for $12.50 with a qualifying deposit.

So here you have it. Value crystallized. Six buyable alternatives in Verité crystal stemware and tumblers plus four new accessory items. Get complete information and select from the display at our nearest office while this offer lasts.

The stage has been set for what veteran City Clerk John Gillis calls "the quietest election in 27 years — and probably longer."

The deadline for candidates to file nomination papers passed Tuesday at 5 p.m. and it left Mayor Francis X. McCauley totally without opposition for re-election to a second term.

Only once before in the city's 95-year election history has a mayor been unopposed for re-election. That was in 1940 when no one chose to run against Mayor Thomas S. Burgin.

And there will be only one preliminary skirmish for the Sept. 13 primary. That will be in Ward 6 where three candidates are seeking one seat on the City Council.

Incumbent Councillor Joanne Condon is facing a challenge from School Committee Member Mary Collins and environmental activist Jens Thornton.

"In the 27 years that I've been city clerk, this is the quietest election," said Gillis. "Everyone seems to be satisfied. If not there would be more candidates."

"Things have gone reasonably well," said Mayor McCauley, accepting congratulations on his re-election 14 weeks before the Nov. 8 general election.

A man named Donald Stevenson Johnson, who lives in the Quincy South Shore YMCA on Coddington St., had taken out papers to run for mayor but he failed to return them by the deadline.

"The politicians, especially the city councillors, seem to be at a point in their careers where they want to stay put," said McCauley. "They're not ready to make a move."

Being able to pass up a re-election campaign, said the mayor, "will be a big help to me. I can concentrate on running the city."

Gillis said the single ward primary in September will cost the city about $5,000, a savings of from $25,000 to $30,000 that would have been spent on a city-wide primary.

The 1983 city election ballot lines up like this:

City Seeking State O.K. For Estimated Tax Bills

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has asked the state for permission to send out estimated tax bills for the first half of fiscal 1984 in order to save money on short term borrowing.

It would be the fourth year in the row that the city has dispatched estimated bills in lieu of a tax rate and, with reveal just around the corner, it will be the last time, said the mayor.

Final revaluation figures on which to base the 1984 tax rate will not be ready until sometime in January, McCauley said, with most of the time devoted to impact hearings and classification.

"We want to send the tax bills out by Oct. 1 in order to have tax money coming in by Nov. 1," he said. "We did it last year for the first time in eight years and I'd like to keep the momentum going."

McCauley said the state Department of Revenue is currently in the final stages of certifying the full fair cash values of property in the city determined by Municipal Appraisal Co. of Fall River.

"We could be certified by the end of the week," he said, giving this schedule to follow certification:

Sept. 1 - Impact notices mailed to all property owners notifying them of their new property values.

Sept. 15 - Hearings begin for those property owners who wish to appeal their new valuations.

Nov. 15 - Hearings are completed.

Dec. 1 - Adjustments are certified by the Department of Revenue and the state sets a minimum residential factor on which the city can base classification.

McCauley said the 1984 tax rate could be set by the end of January, allowing the mayor, the City Council and the assessors two months to deal with classifications.

Classification permits the city property to be divided into three classes — residential, open space and commercial or business —

EPA Conditions Set For Quarry Draining

The city began draining Swingle's Quarry Tuesday afternoon in an effort to recover the body of Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton, believed drowned in a diving mishap June 20.

Two pumps, capable of pumping at the rate of 600 gallons a minute, were installed to move the water from the quarry through the city's storm drains into Furnace Brook.

Final clearance to start draining was received from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Monday in the form of a letter setting down conditions for the operation.

The city must monitor the water being pumped weekly for temperature, dissolved oxygen, turbidity and chemicals, matching previous samples for changes in concentration.

A water sample is to be collected at the 75 foot level to determine if toxic chemicals are present.

"You should be aware," wrote Edward K. McSweeney, chief of the EPA's Water Quality Branch, "that EPA is concerned with the water quality of Furnace Brook."

"If any pollutants are found or if the discharge is found to be toxic, the EPA may be required to take further action."

Acting Public Works Commissioner David Colton said it is planned to lower the water level in Swingle's Quarry at a rate of one foot per day.

The quarry is estimated to be more than 300 feet deep in some places.

Once the level has been lowered by about 100 feet, probably around Nov. 1, members of the Underwater Recovery Team will be sent down to search for the body.

The team dove for several days following the disappearance of young Gooch but the depth of the water and the presence of dangerous snags frustrated the search.

Meanwhile, even as the city workers were preparing to drain the quarry, a number of youths, as they have done for years, were still swimming in the murky waters.

A group of youngsters set up a makeshift diving board on the raft designed to hold the pumps and, were jumping into the water until police drove them off.

City Building Reported At $19 Million For Year

Building Inspector Allan F. MacDonald reports that his department issued 1,166 permits for building estimated to cost $19,292,493 during the fiscal year 1984.

Building receipts for the fiscal year were $91,403 and receipts for public safety inspections totalled $6,140.

The permits included 10 mercantile buildings at $12,642,000, one seven-unit condominium at $165,000, 11 one-family dwellings at $505,000, four garages at $15,000 and one storage facility at $5,000.

There were 761 residential alterations at $2,667,331, 126 other alterations at $2,722,312, 38 removals at $176,121, 84 signs at $101,811, and 130 miscellaneous permits at $290,018.

A total of 18 dwelling units were added through new construction and 11 dwelling units added through alteration.

Friends Start Fund For Family Of Stabbing Victim

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Five weeks ago, Steven Mullen, 22, a 1979 graduate of North Quincy High School, was stabbed just underneath the heart during an incident outside of his Navy barracks in San Diego.

Since then, he has gone through three operations and faces more surgery, as well as a long, hard battle back.

Steve's friends back in Quincy know they can't erase the effects of the attack, but they have decided to raise funds so that his parents can be with him.

The Steven Mullen

Family Relief Fund was opened Tuesday at Quincy Savings Bank with a $100 donation from Hair Place One and Two, Quincy Sq.

"Steve can't be moved at all," said Russell Affsa, owner of Hair Place One and father of Steve's best friend, Scott.

"His parents have stayed with him the whole time, and his brothers and sister have also been out to see him."

Steve is the son of Frank Mullen, a guidance counselor at Sterling Middle School, and Mary Mullen, a teacher at Sterling. They live on Forbes Hill Rd.

His friends such as Scott Affsa, Steve Randall, Pat Clifford, Michael Leaman, Marybeth Langill and Sue Koury have been meeting to discuss ways to raise funds for the family's growing travel and lodging expenses.

"We hope to raise about $10,000," said Russell Affsa, "we're selling chance books, soliciting from merchants in Quincy, and accepting donations from the public."

A prize of $500 is being offered in the drawing.

Chances are 50 cents each, and a book of 10 is $4.

A winner will be drawn Aug. 29 at The Quincy Sun Office, 1372 Hancock St.

Seaman Mullen had recently begun studying culinary arts in the Navy when he was reportedly stabbed by three men during an argument with a fourth man. The three men are now in Leavenworth Prison.

Steve is in the intensive care unit at San Diego Balboa Naval Hospital. He called Quincy last week-end to speak with friends.

His spirits were up, said his friends, but the outlook is not good, though his family is hopeful.

"He's funny and very outgoing," said Ramona Kleins, one of his friends.

"He has a super personality," agreed Affsa. "It's sad this had to happen."

Donations may be made at any branch of Quincy Savings Bank. Chance books will be circulated throughout the city, and will be available at Hair Place One & Two, 1 Maple St., Quincy Sq.

$25,000 Damage In Houghs Neck Fire

Apparent mishandling of lighted smoking material is being blamed for an early morning blaze Saturday in Houghs Neck which resulted in $25,000 damage to a single family, wood frame house.

The fire, at the home of Howard Lord of 2 Winthrop Place, was in a second floor bedroom and extended into the attic.

Lord had already exited the house by the time the three engine, one ladder and one rescue companies arrived on the scene, fire officials said.

Dep. Chief Herbert Rourke cited "commendable work by the operating force due to the extent of the fire and difficult approach to the street."

By TOM HENSHAW
MDC Commissioner William J. Geary announced a new traffic and road improvement plan Friday designed to increase safety and esthetics along the Merrymount section of Quincy Shore Drive.

One part of the plan will be to clearly designate the traffic flow on the quarter mile section of road as one lane only each way, which it has been all along although few knew it.

Traffic signals at Quincy Shore Drive and Furnace Brook Parkway and Squanto St. will be recycled to slow traffic in the same manner it has between East Squantum St. and Furnace Brook Parkway.

Some of the yellow crash barrels that have been placed on the side of the road will be removed and others that have been deemed necessary will be redesigned as planters for esthetic purposes.

Signs indicating a curve ahead will be placed in the northbound side, dead trees will be replaced with new live ones, and deteriorated sidewalks will be replaced.

Geary said there will also be an increased police presence on that stretch of the drive to enforce the new rules.

"With the structural changes and increased police presence," he said, "pedestrians no longer have to tremble at crossing the drive nor do residents have to tolerate disorderly conduct along Wollaston Beach."

Geary said redesign of traffic on the Merrymount section was enhanced by the success of the new patterns on the drive between East Squantum St. and Fenno St., which he called "the most treacherous roadway in our system."

Phase I of Geary's plan to make Quincy Shore Drive safe for motorists and pedestrians was begun just before Memorial Day on the East Squantum to Fenno St. sections.

Since that time, there have been 18 arrests and 2,137 citations issued for various offenses committed there. That compares to 10 arrests and 1,110 citations for a similar period in 1982.

"We conducted an eight-week survey of the results of Phase I," said Geary. "It was so successful that we began working on Phase II from Furnace Brook to Sea St."

"There is a very great difference between the two sections of the drive, Merrymount is totally residential. The road is narrow. We have to try to balance esthetics with our safety concerns."

Geary called the installation of the yellow crash barriers "a somewhat precipitous action. They may not have done the job and they certainly devalued the esthetic quality of the neighborhood."

He said he consulted with residents along the drive on the barriers and the MDC has decided to remove them from in front of the houses where they are not wanted.

Others, he said, will remain but will be designed as planters with greenery to improve the esthetics while retaining the safety value as barriers.

Several times at his outdoor news conference by the barriers at 1351 Quincy Shore Drive, Geary's pronouncements were greeted by applause from some 20 residents who gathered to listen.

The promise of increased police presence was particularly welcome.

Geary said the augmented patrols in Phase I on the drive have had an impact on the youths who used to congregate along the beach to drink beer and partake of other intoxicants.

"One man told me," he said, "that a year ago he couldn't bring his family to the beach to walk in the evening. Now he can and they can use the sidewalk, too."

"Now we want to return this (Merrymount) section to the pedestrians and the motorists will have to get used to it."

Also attending the news conference were Sen. Paul D. Harold, Rep. Thomas F. Brownell and City Councilor Richard J. Koch Jr.

"I think I can speak for most of the residents when I say I am very pleased that something is being done," said Brownell.

"I run along the boulevard every day," said Harold. "I welcome the increased livability of the area."

Robbed At T Station

A Quincy Point man was robbed of $128 in cash at robby point early Sunday morning by two men who accosted him on the mall after he left the Quincy Center MBTA station.

Police said Antonio Gentile of Summer St. identified a man at the station as one of his assailants but no charges were placed against the man.

Little Girl Found

A 4-year-old South Quincy girl named Jennifer was the object of a 25-minute search by police Friday night, but turned up safe and sound right under her mom's nose.

A next-door neighbor called police to report that Jennifer, wearing her bathing suit, had wandered away from home.

Three police cruisers, a sergeant and an auxiliary cruiser responded to the call.

The search ended when Jennifer's mom, who had been driving around looking for her, glanced in the back seat of her car to find her daughter curled up and sound asleep.

Squantum Residents Fight Back Again Over Condos

By THOMAS HENSHAW

"I can't see why we have to spend so much time fighting these groups," said Thomas J. Manning of 148 Standish Rd., Squantum. "I'm getting sick of it. It never ends."

But, sick of it or not, Manning and at least 100 other residents of Squantum were back in the sweltering City Council chambers Monday night to tilt once again with Marina Industries, Inc.

Marina Industries wants to build 101 condominium units on a portion of the old Squantum Naval Air Station property, now known as the Boston Harbor Marina.

Squantum residents have no real quarrel with the condos but for the past three years they have been keeping a wary eye on a planned second access road to relieve East Squantum St. traffic.

They thought the issue had been pretty well wrapped up in September, 1980, when the Council issued a planned unit development (PUD) permit conditioned on a second access road.

Thus it was that a large and vociferous portion of Squantum turned out Monday night when Marina Industries sought to delete or alter four of the conditions involving the access road.

Dennis Harrington, attorney for Marina Industries, told the hearing that two of the conditions had been satisfied by agreements with landowners for use of Commander Shea Boulevard.

Two others, he said, are not now needed.

Harrington said Marina Industries is arranging a land swap which would result in construction of a new road parallel to Shea Boulevard by way of an old Navy railroad bridge and roadbed.

"Reasonable people," he said, "recognize that the old roadway is inadequate and that a new roadway is the solution."

City Councillor Joanne Condon suggested that instead of being deleted, the PUD conditions should be strengthened to guarantee that the second access road is provided "before any construction over and above the initial 101 units takes place."

"The major concern" she said, "is not the number of condominiums to be built in the first phase but the number to be constructed over the next five to 10 years."

She also proposed that "if the road is not constructed as required, all further construction, development and occupancy be halted with the city having the authority to mandate the construction of the road with the developer incurring the costs."

Maureen Mazzimas, president of Save Our Shores, told the hearing that her group wants to see a guarantee of a second access road "in black and white" before any development begins.

She noted what she said were violations already by the developers of rules laid down by the city that only solid fill be used on the sites and dump trucks not use Quincy Shore Drive.

"We have seen many different proposals for this site," she said. "We have not seen a long-range plan. The community has learned not to believe this developer's promises."

Opposition to the changes in conditions also were registered by Walter Hickey, Jens Thornton, Eleanor Johnson (who hired her own lawyer to research the case), James Roy and Arthur Sorenson.

Letters of opposition were read from Arthur Chandler of the Quincy Citizens Association; Msgr. Mark H. Keohane of Star of the Sea Church; and Rep. Michael W. Morrissey.

Mary Collins of the School Committee, a resident of Squantum, also challenged "the lack of a master plan or any plan for future development of the site."

Doors Are Key To Home Security

The solid exterior door to your home should be equipped with a peephole to allow you to see who is outside before you open your door. Ideally the peephole should have a wide-angle lens.

Of all the doors that give access to your house, probably the most hazardous are those that lead from the patio. Typically, they are the sliding glass type.

Generally such doors have locks which are none too effective. Even if they hold against an intruder, it is a simple matter to cut a piece of the glass and disengage the locks.

An effective means of securing these doors is to cut a broom handle to fit the track in which the doors slide. Thus, even if the lock were forced, the door would not slide open.

If not installed properly, sliding glass doors can be lifted out of the track and removed. To prevent this, it is recommended that 1½ inch pan head steel screws be inserted into the top of the door frame at both ends and in the middle.

These screws should be adjusted so that the door barely clears them when it is opened.

One last word on doors: Don't admit anyone into your home until you know who it is. And determine who it is before you open the door.

Iacobucci Serious Contender

Ronald Iacobucci didn't get into the City Council at-large race just for something to do.

He really thinks he can win one of the three seats now occupied by former mayor Joseph LaRaia, Richard Koch, Jr. and Patricia Toland.

He doesn't say so, but you get the impression he thinks one of the three might be politically vulnerable this year.

"I'm not running against any one in particular," he insists, "I'm running for the City Council.

And, he adds: "I really think it is a good year to run." Ordinarily a good year to run for a council at-large seat is when there is a vacancy.

But Iacobucci apparently believes it is even better to run as the only challenger and underdog in a four-man race for three seats.

There's no doubt there are some voters out there who like to see new faces at City Hall. He's the only new face in the at-large race.

He says he isn't running against any one of the three incumbents in particular but he's going to have an effect on at least one of them.

IACOBUCCI

Immediate reaction to his 11th hour candidacy was that he might be more apt to hurt LaRaia who usually banks on the big Italian vote bloc in the city.

They quickly recall the Norfolk County Clerk of Courts race last year won by Nicholas Barbadoro of Quincy in an eight-man field in which LaRaia finished fourth.

In Quincy, LaRaia polled 8,308 votes to Barbadoro's 7,431 topping Barbadoro by only 877 votes in Quincy.

Which isn't exactly a powerhouse performance considering Barbadoro was running for office for the first time since he lost a bid for Quincy school committee 30 years before.

But, the City Council race, of course, is a different ball game. It is not a one vote for one candidate situation. The voter gets to vote for three candidates not just one.

There are observers who believe LaRaia hit his political peak the day he won the mayor's job on a controversial recount and is now in the slipping stage.

He barely survived his comeback bid in the City Council in 1979 when he edged young Koch, a political newcomer by a scant 197 votes.

But he came bounding back in 1981 to top the at-large field by 2,000 votes and his political career appeared to be on the upswing again.

But then last year, he failed to win the Clerk of Courts job and almost lost Quincy to a man who hadn't run for office in three decades.

Barbadoro split the Italian vote in Quincy. This year,

IACOBUCCI

Iacobucci could take some of it away from LaRaia. It will be interesting to see if he does.

Or, will he effect Koch or Toland more? Can he unseat one of the three incumbents?

Iacobucci who is 27 has been politically active in politics but never before as a candidate.

He was an organizer for Senator Edward Kennedy's Presidential campaign in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. He will serve as coordinator for Senator John Glenn's Presidential nomination campaign in the Norfolk Senate District comprising Quincy, Braintree, Holbrook and Avon.

Iacobucci promises an aggressive campaign for City Council.

Regardless of what happens, he at least has taken the City Council at-large race out of the ho-hum department.

INCIDENTALLY, after taking out his nomination papers at last Friday's deadline, Iacobucci, Ward 1 Councillor Leo Kelly and City Clerk John Gillis happened to walk out of City Hall together.

On the steps of City Hall was a tall step ladder being used by a maintenance worker.

Political superstition set in.

"I think I'll walk around it," said Iacobucci. And he did.

"I don't have any opposition but you never know," observed Kelly, walking around the ladder, too.

Gillis looked at the two of them, marched under the ladder and said: "Well, I'm not running for anything."

AN HONOR FOR Rep. Michael Morrissey. He's been selected for inclusion in the 1983 edition of "Outstanding Young Men of America." Also selected was Frederick W. Canniff of 71 Quarterdeck Rd.

THE QUINCY FLYERS running club is sponsoring a Moonlight Cruise of Boston Harbor Aug. 18 to raise funds to help defray the cost of the City of Presidents Half Marathon road race to be held Sept. 11.

The three-hour cruise will leave Long Wharf, Boston at 8 p.m. Tickets are available from Senator Paul Harold, event chairman (722-1494) or from committee members Herb Greene (770-4458), Ron Mahoney (696-0546), Reese Irvine (773-1805) or Trish Gately (472-7327).

A CAMPAIGN KICKOFF Dance for Frank Santoro, candidate for School Committee, will be held Friday from 8 p.m. to midnight at the Quincy Sons of Italy Social Center, Quarry St. Tickets are $10 each and can be obtained by calling 472-5285. They're also available at the door.

Only Primary In Ward 6

Toland and Richard J. Koch Jr. are opposed by Ronald Iacobucci, 27, of 33 South St., a television executive.

Ward 1 Councillor Leo J. Kelly is unopposed.

Ward 2 Councillor Theodore P. DeCristofaro is unopposed.

Ward 3 Councillor John J. Lydon Jr. is unopposed. Joseph P. Kennedy of Monroe Rd., who took out papers, failed to return

Ward 4 Councillor James A. Sheets is unopposed.

Ward 5 Councillor Stephen J. McGrath is opposed by John M. Dunlea, 19, of 62 Prospect Ave.

Ward 6 Councillor Joanne Condon is opposed by Mary Collins, School Committee member, of 116 Lansdowne St., and Jens Thornton, 59, of 14 Orchard St.

School Committee members Frank Anselmo, John J. Sullivan and Christopher Kennedy are opposed by William Arienti, 21, of 76 Bennington St.; Frank C. Santoro, 34, of 80 Haviland St., a teacher; and Stephen Durkin, 27, of 61 Exeter St., a law clerk.

Preliminary elections are held only when the number of candidates exceed twice the number of seats available.

Only once since 1926, when the preliminary election was introduced into Quincy, has there not been a primary.

That was in 1940 when Mayor Burgin was unopposed and there were only six candidates for three at large seats on the City Council and three candidates for two seats on the School Committee.

In those days, at large councillors ran in even years, ward councillors in odd years.

Tourist Information Booth At City Hall

"We're off to a good start," said Loren Strout, president of the Quincy Tourism Association which recently opened a Tourist Information Center at the City Hall Annex.

The all-volunteer center is open Monday to Friday, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. until Sept. 1. The center was officially opened during a ribbon-cutting ceremony attended by Mayor Francis McCauley representatives of the Tourism Association, and volunteers.

The operation is targeted at two different groups of people: tourists from outside Quincy and Quincy residents seeking information on 1 or 2 day travel.

"There are over 30 different brochures available, and the number is growing daily from areas such as Norfolk, Plymouth and Bristol Counties, as well as the Massachusetts State Division of Tourism," said Strout.

The 15th century Inca system of relay runners moved messages across their South American empire at a rate of 150 miles a day.

Ch.7's Yanoff:

Businessmen Shouldn't Leave News To PR Spokesmen

By JOHN NOONAN
Businessmen with a news message can no longer sit back and leave the dissemination of that news to a public relations spokesman.

That was the admonition given Quincy and South Shore Chamber of Commerce members by Sy Yanoff, a featured speaker, at the monthly breakfast meeting held at Lantana's, Randolph last Tuesday morning.

In answer to a question as to how businesses can present news of interest to commercial television viewers Yanoff, longtime Ch. 4 general manager who shifted two months ago to Ch. 7, said that the chairman of the board or the president of the company must now be willing to meet media reporters face-to-face and be prepared to answer some headline questions.

The day of allowing a spokesman or some public relations employee meet the media to serve as the company voice is gone, Yanoff said.

Tell us what you have to offer in a manner that is interesting and be prepared to respond to questions from the media, Yanoff said.

Jeff Rosser, news director for Ch. 7 after serving several years in that same capacity at Ch. 4, explained that coverage of the news by television has changed considerably over the past 15 years.

Rosser said that being accurate in news presentations was most essential and that being ahead of your competition was also of importance in television news programming.

He said that the consciousness of news programming was a result of time limitation placed on news presentations.

Tom Ellis, Ch. 7 anchorman, told the large turnout of local businessmen and women, that television news provides the viewer with basic information and that no person should rely solely on television for all the news necessary in order to be totally informed.

He paid tribute to the 135 people who staff the Ch. 7 newsroom because each person plays a vital link in putting the 6 p.m. or 11 p.m. news on the air.

The three featured speakers agreed that WNEV-TV (Ch. 7) has a long way to go in changing the station's number three status and ratings in the Boston market, the sixth most lucrative market in the country.

They said the station is locally owned, the only one of the three Boston channels, and that commitments can be made almost immediately without checking with sources in New York or elsewhere.

Local owners have a feel for the area and can allow more latitude in news and community programming, they said during the question and answer period.

Yanoff and Rosser said Ch. 7 must go back to basics and that the ultimate judges of the success of a television station are the viewers who watch a particular channel.

He said that television critics, for whatever reason, have been rather harsh in their treatment of the new WNEV-TV during its first year of operation.

"We made mistakes in our rush to get things done quickly and for that we may accept some blame but don't forget WNEV-TV is only one year old and locally owned," said Yanoff.

Pollution Bill Sabotaged, Says Health Commissioner

Dr. Richard M. Ash, the city health commissioner, charged that the Metropolitan Sewer Construction Commission and certain members of the Legislature were deliberately sabotaging legislation designed to eliminate pollution from Quincy Bay and Boston Harbor.

"It's the old story," said Dr. Ash. "They have stalled every year since the question of pollution came before them and they are stalling now. Action will be delayed until the next session of the Legislature in 1943 and then we'll go through the same thing again."

Dr. Ash's comment came in the wake of the failure of the State Senate to act on a bill that would permit the Commission to apply for federal aid in the construction of a $3 million sewage treatment plant on Nut Island.

The Senate then turned its attentions to impeachment proceedings against Governor's Councilor Daniel H. Coakley, who was charged with misconduct in office in connection with a pardon granted to Raymond L. S. Patriarca, Rhode Island's Public Enemy No. 1.

"After the senators finish the Coakley trial they will be so worn out that all they will want to do is go home," said Dr. Ash.

GAS CURTAILMENT URGED

Mayor Thomas S. Burgin directed city department heads to curtail use of gasoline in city-owned vehicles as an example to Quincy residents to cooperate with Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes' voluntary reduction of gasoline consumption campaign.

"We must reduce our gasoline consumption by a third," Burgin told city workers.

He urged them to plan truck routes to avoid unnecessary driving, shut off the motor when the car or truck is standing still, have carburetor and spark controls checked frequently and have all city-owned vehicles off the streets by 5 p.m. daily.

FORCED LANDING

A light seaplane from Rye, N.Y., piloted by Al Travis of New York City, was forced to land in Quincy Bay near Norton Rd., Merrymount, when the landing area at the East Boston Airport was fogged in. Travis spent the night moored at Squantum Yacht Club.

STRANDED IN FOG

Edward Swindler, 19, of East Squantum St., North Quincy, an athlete of note, rescued by the Coast Guard after his 16-foot sloop became lost in fog returning from the races at Marblehead. The fog was so thick the Nantasket boat had to anchor overnight.

Post Office Asks Dog Owners' Help During Summer

Manager Melvin Kachinsky of the North Quincy Post Office requests area dog owner's cooperation again this summer in minimizing the threat of dog bites to the 20 letter carriers in his office.

With the arrival of warm weather the incidence of dog bites increases dramatically, according to Kachinsky. Approximately half of the dog bites to letter carriers each year occur during the summer months," he said.

According to Postal Service statistics, an average of 6,000 letter carriers are bitten each year. Last year, 6,879 mailmen were bitten nationwide while delivering the mail. In the Boston area, 145 letter carriers were bitten by dogs in 1982, and 78 bites have been reported to date in 1983.

"Dog bites are painful and costly," Kachinsky said, "and they don't have to happen." Some simple precautions would alleviate the situation tremendously, he said.

"On numerous occasions mail delivery has been stopped to homes having unrestrained dogs on the premises," Kachinsky said. "On rare occasions a whole block or street has had mail curtailed due to roving dogs."

The Postal Service suggests that dog owners keep their pets in an area away from the mailbox and the areas used by the letter carrier for access to the property. "If the pet is not kept behind a secure fence, then we suggest the owner restrain the dog on a leash to keep it inside the house during the carrier's regular delivery hours."

The Postal Service has the right to protect its letter carriers by refusing to deliver mail to a household with an unrestrained dog. In some areas where dogs roam loose, delivery to an entire neighborhood could be affected.

Postal customers should also be made aware that the Postal Service now seeks legal action against dog owners to recover costs incurred by dog bites. "We hope a cooperative effort by dog owners to protect both their pet and their letter carrier will preclude this need," Kachinsky said.

North Quincy High Calculus Team 1st In Region, 7th In Nation

The North Quincy High School Calculus Team recently completed its third year of participation in the Continental Mathematics League, Calculus Division.

The competition at this advanced level in 1983 involved almost 200 teams from 30 states throughout the United States. The country is divided into six regions with North Quincy High in Region One, which includes New England and New Jersey.

In the last meet of the year the North Quincy High Calculus Team placed 7th in the country, the first in Region One, scoring 58 of a possible 60 points. This outstanding performance enabled North Quincy to overtake rival Greenwich, Conn., last year's regional winner, for the Region's first place honors. North ended the year first in Massachusetts, ahead of such competition as Boston Latin, Weston, Randolph, and Marblehead, first in Region One and tenth in the United States. In addition, North Quincy was one of only six schools (one in each region) in the country to receive an award.

The team's high scorers were Joanne and Pauline Pappas, Ann Marie Keenan, and Cynthia Olsen. Joanne and Pauline received medals for this team-high performances, while Ann Marie and Cynthia were awarded certificates. Joanne was also the high scorer for Region One with 38 of a possible 40 points for the year, and received a special medal for that achievement. All four girls will be attending college in the fall on scholarships. Joanne and Pauline Pappas will be at Boston University, Ann Marie Keenan at Bowdoin, and Cynthia Olsen at University of Massachusetts in Amherst.

The Calculus Team Coach and Advisor is Miss Cheryl E. Manoli, a mathematics teacher at North Quincy High School.

Stay Alive!

By John Valante

TERROR IN THE TUB

John Glenn, our first man in space, orbited the earth unharmed, but was seriously injured slipping in his own bathtub. Tubs can be deadlier than outer space. Here's some helpful hints:

Smooth, non-porous surfaces and soapy water are a slippery combination. To make your footing more secure, use a suction-cup rubber mat or rough-surfaced adhesive strips. (If you're planning to install a new bathtub, some are now manufactured with slip-resistant surfaces.)

There should be at least two grab-bars securely mounted on the wall next to a tub, at different heights, and one in every shower stall to prevent falls.

Accessories—towel rings, towel racks, shower curtain rods, should also be mounted securely, for a falling person will grab the first support within reach. All bathtub and shower accessories should be free of sharp edges and constructed with sturdy materials. Incidentally, make sure that shower doors are glazed with safety glass.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Bishop Sheen expressed an obvious truth, "Parents hold authority from God over their children and are responsible for them". He is really saying rules and restraints must be imposed on children because they have an untrained mind. Parents who feel their children will not love them and seem fearful of being labeled old-fashioned or straight-laced if discipline is enforced are mistaken. Children not only need but actually want to respect their parents - and - they know when they behave badly.

Many of the faults of the "drop outs" of society are directly traceable to undeveloped discipline at an earlier age. Love, discipline and security are the foundation of a child's life. Without these a child's life is stunted from the very beginning. In fact, it can be said, to love is to discipline. These truths are beautifully stated in Proverbs 29:17 - "Correct thy son, and he shall give you rest; yea, he shall give delight unto thy soul" . . .

McGrath Announces For 4th Council Term

City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath has announced his candidacy for reelection to a fourth term on the City Council from Ward 5.

The 29-year-old attorney noted that a ward councillor is the closest link that people have to City Hall and it is most important to be responsive to the needs of constituents.

McGrath listed among his accomplishments as a councillor:

The designation by the Department of Housing and Urban Development of Wollaston as a target area for federal Community Development funds.

More than $250,000 has been spent in Wollaston on low interest housing rehabilitation loans, street resurfacing, tree plantings and smoke detection installations.

Many businesses in the Wollaston area have taken advantage of storefront rehabilitation loans.

McGrath also noted the rehabilitation of two playgrounds in Wollaston, those at the Massachusetts Field School and on Fenno St.

The councillor also noted that he instituted a resident parking program to permit residents in the vicinity of the MBTA station to park in "no parking" zones in front of their homes.

Also, McGrath instituted citizen committees to deal with the Massachusetts Fields and Beechwood Knoll Schools which had been closed by the School Committee. The Beechwood Knoll School has been converted to a private community center and development bids are being solicited for the Massachusetts Fields School.

During his tenure on the Council, McGrath has served as chairman of the Ordinance Committee, Environmental Control Committee, Tourism Committee, Public Safety Committee and Land Conveyance Committee.

During the past two years, McGrath has served as chairman of the Council Finance Committee which has been responsible for review and passage of the city budget, all bonding authorizations and financial orders.

McGrath also served as chairman of the Special Committee on Condominium Conversion and authored the Quincy Condo Control Ordinance which is awaiting passage by the state legislature.

In addition, McGrath has represented Ward 5 before the Board of License Commissioners, Zoning Board of Appeals and Planning Board on various neighborhood issues.

Mary Kennedy Named To B.U. Admissions Committee

Mary F. Kennedy, of Quincy, admissions officer and assistant to the dean at Boston University School of Medicine, was recently appointed a member of the Admissions Committee for the 1982-83 cycle by Dean John I. Sandson.

The 15-member committee is comprised of representatives of each discipline of medicine and works with the Office of Admissions in all facets of the admissions process. The committee screens applications for admission to the School and makes the final judgement on each candidate. John F. O'Connor, M.D., associate dean for admissions, is chairman of the Admissions Committee. Kennedy graduated from Boston Clerical School in 1943 and attended Emerson College for several years. She has been employed by BUSM for 20 years and has worked in the Admissions Office for the past 11 years, first as secretary to then-associate dean for admissions, the late Dr. Jacob Swartz.

Mrs. Kennedy lives on East Squantum St., with her husband Frank Iantosca.

with a residential factor of now less than 65 per cent.

Commercial values can be adjusted up to 150 per cent.

"I feel that there should be some form of classification," said McCauley, "but I'm not prepared to say what. The commercial rate need not necessarily be 150 per cent."

In his letter to Edward J. Collins, Jr., deputy commissioner of revenue, McCauley noted that real is "proceeding well" but at a rate that makes the mailing of tax bills by Oct. 1 impossible.

"Last year permission to send estimated bills was granted and as a result the city was able to send out bills on time to meet Nov. 1 due date for the first time in eight years," he said.

"As a result, the city of Quincy's short term borrowing as a percentage of the total tax levy was the lowest in years. The city had no temporary loan interest deficit and no outstanding RANs.

(RANs are revenue anticipation notes, short term borrowings to keep the city government running while taxes are being collected. The last time the city had no outstanding RANs was fiscal 1979.)

"You will notice that there was no revenue deficit for fiscal 1982 and the overlay deficit for 1982 was the lowest in several years.

"I believe it is important for Quincy to continue the trend to financial health that started under my administration.

'Christian Meditation' Sermon At Squantum Church

"Christian Meditation--the Third Spiritual Discipline" was the subject of the sermon at the First Church of Squantum Sunday by church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin.

It was the third in a series of three sermons on Christian spirituality. Dr. Langevin spoke on the subject at both services.

Music at the first service was provided by guitarists Andrew Ogilvie and Mary Ruth Scott. Ushers were David Williams and Chris Dixey.

Special music at the second service was provided by Robert Frazer singing "Draw Near, All Ye People" from the oratorio "Elijah" by Mendelssohn. Mary Ruth Scott accompanied on the piano.

Greeters at the second service were May Lewis and Katie Crossman. Ushers were Tore Wallin and Harry Holmes.

Throughout August, there will be only one service at the church each Sunday at 9:30 a.m. This Sunday the worship will be led by some of the young people of the church.

St. Chrysostom's Concludes Vacation Bible Time

A Friday Awards Morning marked the end of Vacation Bible Time at St. Chrysostom's Episcopal Church, Wollaston.

Twenty-five children, ages 3 to 6 received awards with their parents in attendance.

Appreciation was expressed to musical coordinator Karen Quigley of Weymouth and to other staff and guests for the week, including:

Barbara Wismar of Wollaston Lutheran Church; President of Allied Health-Development and R.N. Alvin Chansky of Temple Beth Israel; Jane Gaughan, Educational Curator from the China Trade Museum in Milton; Master Instructor of T'ai Chi Eugene Liu from MIT, member of the Roman Catholic Community; President of the North Quincy-Wollaston Inter-Church Council The Rev. William D. Underhill; pet owner Dorothy Weikel of Quincy; and William Glover, Teleflora Award Artist from O'Connell Gardens in Wollaston.

Program Coordinator Barbara Manning commented that the week was "one of the most educationally and spiritually enriching ecumenical experiences offered to the children of this age group anywhere in the area this summer."

VNA Names Director Of Clinical Services

Gloria Powaza, Executive Director of the Visiting Nurse Association of the South Shore has named Christine Janis, RN, Director of Clinical Services.

Miss Janis assumes responsibility for services provided by the 75 nurses and therapists and 125 homemakers and home health aides who staff the agency's Braintree and Scituate offices.

Referring to the rapid growth of the VNA of the South Shore she remarked that it is now the state's third largest. (Only Boston and Worcester VNA's have heavier case loads.) She adds "it's exciting to join an organization that has expanded so successfully. Now the challenge is to offer a variety of services utilizing hospital-type technology heretofore unavailable in the home."

Miss Janis received her master's degree from Boston University. She was formerly Director of the Wachusett Home Health Agency and served as Supervisor at the Worcester VNA before teaching community health nursing at Fitchburg State College.

The Visiting Nurse Association of the South Shore, Inc. and its affiliate the Hospice of the South Shore provide home health care to the people of Braintree, Cohasset, Holbrook, Hull, Milton, Hingham, Norwell, Randolph, Quincy, Scituate and Weymouth.

Foster Homes Needed In Quincy Area

There is a severe shortage of foster homes in Quincy, Milton and Randolph according to the Quincy area office of the Department of Social Services.

Over the past year, the department has received an average of 30 requests a month to place children in foster care.

The children needing foster homes come from homes where they have been abused or neglected, or where family problems have become so severe that a parent is unable to cope with the responsibilities of caring for their child.

The shortage of foster homes in this community is so severe that over half the children needing foster care are placed in group care facilities, temporary shelters, or homes outside the area.

To remedy this situation, the Department of Social Services is kicking off a major recruitment campaign which will include speaking engagements to local civic organizations, distributing recruitment material to churches, participating in community events, and forming a group of concerned citizens interested in helping to recruit foster parents.

For more information about foster parenting, call Jennifer Holme, foster home recruiter, at 773-8920.

The Department of Social Services holds monthly meetings for community residents interested in foster parenting.

The department invites local residents to "invest your love: be a foster parent."

Council On Alcoholism Awarded Grant For Counseling

The South Shore Council on Alcoholism has been awarded a grant to increase counseling services to all young adults, under age 19, who are affected by alcohol problems in their homes.

Through its Alcoholism Counseling & Diagnostic Center, young people will now receive comprehensive diagnostic and treatment services for alcohol related problems.

Dr. Jon E. Perlman, the Center's Director said

"the high incidence of young people who are being abused and neglected due to parental alcoholism, or who themselves are wrestling with their own drinking problem, will now be served by this grant."

The grant from the Dept. of Social Services allows the Center's professional staff to provide individual and group counseling services free to residents under age 19, from Quincy, Milton and Randolph. However, other persons not now served by the grant may be billed through insurance.

The Council's Alcoholism Counseling and Diagnostic Center which provides outreach, education and treatment services for South Shore residents and works closely with schools, churches and local courts is located at 148 Old Colony Ave., Quincy. For further information or an appointment, call 472-6027.

Debra Harding Representative At Massachusetts Girls State

Debra Harding of 1390 Quincy Shore Dr., was selected by the Houghs Neck Legion Post Auxiliary as its representative to the 39th Annual Massachusetts Girls State held recently at Bridgewater State College.

More than 250 other representatives came from all parts of the State to participate in a week's study of local and state government. These girls were selected on the basis of potential leadership qualities.

2 Residents Advisors At Labour

Two residents of Quincy are among 10 health care professionals named to the Continuing Professional Education Advisory Committee at Labour Junior College in Boston.

They are Pramodhini Ellis, a licensed practical nurse at Neponset Hall Nursing Home, and Rita Zipf, coordinator of staff development and education at Milton Hospital.

The newly established advisory committee will serve as a resource group regarding educational needs in health care and programming at Labour's office of Continuing Professional Education.

Condon Requests MBTA Increase Squantum Service

City Councillor Joanne Condon has asked the MBTA to restore Sunday bus service to Squantum and extend daily service from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

"The city of Quincy pays a substantial assessment for the operation of the MBTA and all Quincy neighborhoods should be provided with adequate service," she said.

"At the present time Squantum is being ill-served."

Mrs. Condon said the current MBTA service policy presents several problems for Squantum residents.

"First of all," she said, "they are unable to use public transportation to travel home from work after 6 p.m. This often results in expensive cab rides.

"In addition, public transportation to and from downtown Quincy and other shopping areas during the nighttime hours for shopping purposes is no longer possible.

"With the elimination of all service on Sunday, many residents are unable to travel to these same shopping areas despite the fact that stores may now be open on Sunday.

"During the peak shopping months, particularly the Christmas season, these service changes cause severe problems for Squantum shoppers, and concurrently hurt Quincy merchants which would receive their business."

Arienti Finds Unused Teacher Education Plan

William Arienti, a candidate for School Committee, says he has discovered a state and federally funded program to better educate Quincy teachers to the benefit of the student, the school system and the city.

"The Commonwealth In Service Institute, a program designed to better educate teachers at the system where they teach, would educate teachers in fields from basic skills to occupational education," he said.

"The course is free to all teachers who would like to accept and is at no expense to the city of Quincy. Enough teachers would have to agree to take part in the variety of courses and the program could shortly begin."

Arienti said he feels the program would benefit students, who would be better educated due to better educated teachers, and the school system in general because as the quality of teaching rises so does the quality of the system.

"It is unfortunate today's

School Committee hasn't discovered this before," said Arienti. "Maybe this would have helped keep better relations between the faculty and the administration instead of the tension we now have between the two parties.

"The Quincy school system has more to offer than it knows, and would be better off doing a little homework to find out about these ideas to help the system once again emerge as one of the best in the state."

Plans Scrapped For Low Income Buildings

Plans to build two apartment buildings to house 24 low income families have been scrapped by the Housing Authority because of a problem with zoning.

John Comer, Housing Authority director, said that a 20-unit building planned for Winter St., Quincy Point, would not have the required 100 feet of frontage.

The authority also abandoned plans for a four-family building on Water St. which was part of the $1.4 million project begun three years ago.

The authority could request a variance at a zoning board of appeals hearing, said Comer, but that might stir up opposition to the project which would be funded by HUD.

McCauley Appointed To Legislation Committee

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has been named to the legislative committee for the Massachusetts Municipal Association, which meets annually to review legislative proposals affecting cities and towns.

The 14-member committee is made up of mayors, councillors, selectmen, city and town managers and financial committee members.

The next meeting of the committee will be Sept. 29 in Boston.

McCauley was appointed to membership by Mayor Peter Torigian of Peabody, president of the Massachusetts Mayor's Association.

TV Sets Stolen

Robert Terone of Spear St., Quincy Center, reported to police that two television sets were stolen from his apartment while he was away on his wedding trip.

Charles Sullivan To Head United Way South Region Campaign

Charles E. Sullivan, senior vice president of Hancock Bank and Trust Company and a resident of Scituate, has accepted the voluntary position of South Region Campaign Chairman for the 1983 fund-raising drive of the United Way of Mass. Bay.

As chairman, he will manage and direct the fund-raising efforts in the 19 communities south of Boston comprising the United Way's South Region.

This is the second year in a row Sullivan has accepted this voluntary position. A longtime United Way volunteer, he has held the voluntary positions of section chairman and account executive in prior United Way campaigns.

In addition to his United Way activity, Sullivan is a member of the Advisory Board, Salvation Army; board member of South Shore Day Care Services, Quincy Community Action Organization, and Neighborhood Housing Services, Quincy.

The United Way of Mass. Bay's annual campaign helps to support 176 agencies serving residents in 86 cities and town in eastern Mass. Among the local agencies benefiting from United Way's campaign are South Shore Council on Alcoholism; South Shore Association for Retarded Citizens; Salvation Army; South Shore Day Care Services; Visiting Nurse Association of the South Shore; South Shore YMCA; South Shore Red Cross; and Cerebral Palsy of the South Shore.

The 1983 United Way campaign officially begins September 6 and continues through November 22.

Hospital Therapy Dept. Members Recognized

The services performed by the Quincy City Hospital Physical Therapy Department were recognized recently during National Physical Therapy Week.

Marie York, Director of Ambulatory Services, presented to each therapist a long stem rose and thanked them on behalf of the hospital. The therapists were also honored at a coffee and Danish breakfast held in celebration of Physical Therapy Week.

The Quincy City Hospital Therapy Department assists in the rehabilitation of acutely ill patients. It is involved in cardiac and respiratory rehabilitation, total joint replacements, and specific therapeutic programs for strokes, Temporal Mandibular Joint Dysfunction (TMJ) and general orthopedic conditions. The Physical Therapy Department is currently expanding its out-patient services and is participating in the development of multi-disciplinary ambulatory programs for the community.

Morrisette Wins Zone 6 Title

By TOM SULLIVAN

It was a long time coming, but the Morrisette Legion baseball team finally won its Zone 6 division title last week with a 9-6 win over Mass. Trucks of Weymouth in the replay of a tie game.

But Morrisette lost two straight to Braintree, the Zone 6A winner, 9-3 and 15-3, in the series for the overall Zone 6 championship.

Braintree, defending state champion, opened its quest for a second straight state crown last weekend against Bristol County champion New Bedford. Braintree won in two straight games and went on to meet Duxbury, which ousted Norwood in two straight.

Morrisette had one of the best hitting teams in Zone 6 but its defense collapsed on several occasions and numerous errors made things easy for Braintree in their series.

Morrisette finished with a 17-5 record and Hingham finished second at 16-6 in their division.

"Our defense killed us," Morrisette Coach Ray Cattaneo said. "Four of our five losses during the regular season were the result of our errors and we were outclassed in only our first game with Braintree (a 9-2 loss)."

"Our hitting was solid all season long but our pitching was a bit spotty and, as I said, our defense let us down many times. I hate to bow out like this, handing Braintree so many unearned runs. But they have a fine team and, although I don't think their pitching is as strong as last year, they should make a good showing in the state tournament."

"All in all, I can't feel bad about finishing with a 17-5 record, and despite our defensive weaknesses, it was a good season and I enjoyed coaching these boys."

Morrisette handed Braintree one of its two defeats as Braintree finished 19-2 in regular season play and took a 21-2 record into the state playoffs.

In addition to its defensive lapses, Morrisette's usually potent bats were silenced by the Braintree pitchers, who improved greatly during the season.

In the first game Braintree's Mike Walsh and Bill Cummings pitched five-hit ball and Morrisette didn't score until the sixth inning when it already trailed, 8-0.

Jim Bandera started for Morrisette and his mates committed seven errors behind him. Scott Mele pitched well in relief after Braintree had scored six times in the third inning.

Jack Bolster, who had two hits, scored the first Morrisette run in the sixth on an error and he and Chip Bunker had key hits as Morrisette added two in the seventh.

Morrisette jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the first inning in the second game at Braintree on a single by Sid Cedrone, an error, Bunker's double and a single by Marty McLoughlin.

But John Rivard settled down and blanked Morrisette the rest of the way.

Mike Marshall started and pitched well for Morrisette. But Morrisette handed Braintree two unearned runs in the second and two more in the third as Braintree scored four times.

Marshall, who had pitched five innings of relief three nights earlier in a 4-4 tie with Mass. Trucks, began to tire and Braintree scored five runs in the fifth and four in the sixth as Morrisette for the second night in a row had seven errors. Dennis Cronin and Bolster finished up.

In the replay of the 4-4 tie with Mass. Trucks, a 9-6 win which gave Morrisette its division title, Morrisette was sparked by the hitting of Bunker and the relief pitching of Jim Austin.

Morrisette took a 1-0 lead in the first on a triple by McLaughlin and a double by John Balzano. Trucks scored once in its half on two errors and a double.

Morrisette made it 5-1 in the third when starting pitcher Jack Outerbridge singled and was forced by Tommy Ryan, Bolster reached on an error by the left fielder as Ryan reached third and Bolster second, and Bunker hit a three-run homer down the right field line.

Trucks added two runs in the fifth on three singles but Morrisette rebounded with five in the sixth on two walks, two errors and five hits. Bunker and Cedrone having the key hits. Trucks added two in the sixth on an error, a wild pitch and singles by Joe Doyle and Greg Collins.

Paul Marshall relieved Outerbridge and he, in turn, was relieved by Austin, who pitched 1 1/3 innings of hitless ball. Marshall was the winner.

Bunker drove in four runs, Ryan had three hits and drove in a run and Cedrone and Balzano also drove in runs.

Back, Kristen Lucas, Melinda Barbour, Christine Salton, Arita Canellos and North Quincy coach Paul Bregoli, league director.

Squantum Wins Girls Basketball Title

The North Quincy girls' elementary basketball league recently completed its second season with the Squantum School winning the championship with a 5-1 record.

Squantum breezed through its first five games, defeating Parker three times and Montclair twice.

Leading scorers in those games for Squantum were Christine Salton and Stacie Denley. Donna DeFreitas, Lisa Drennan and Erin Nickerson controlled the boards while Kristen Lucas, Arita Canellos and Jennifer Jordan excelled on defense. Melinda Barbour handled the ball well and had many steals.

Montclair, which finished second at 4-2, spoiled Squantum's perfect record with a 14-6 win on the last day of the season.

Joanne Moriarty and Debbie Hourin scored four points each for Montclair, while Karen Miller, Ann Fitzgerald and Kristen Luosey also played well.

Parker, which finished last, played its finest game of the year before bowing to Montclair in overtime in the season's finals. Playing well for Parker were Kerry DesRoche, Dena Blathers and Audrey McLeod.

No Changes

In North Football Staff

There will be a few changes in the Quincy High football coaching staff this fall, but the North Quincy staff will remain intact.

Former North all-scholastic Ken McPhee returns for his second season as head coach and Ted Sadowski, the dean of South Shore coaches starting his 26th year; Jack Raymer, Mark Mulvaney and Pete Zoia all will return as assistants.

At Quincy Bill Maver has moved up to head coach replacing Tom Fitzgerald. John Sullivan is back, Bud

Mosher returns after an absence of several years, and former Quincy and University of New Haven star Mark Giordani has been added to round out the staff.

Both squads will report for their first official workouts on Monday, Aug. 29.

• Junior League Baseball

Rotary Rolls To 3 Playoff Wins

Rotary is rolling along in the Junior Baseball League playoffs with three wins in a row and a 4-1 record.

In its last three games Rotary scored 54 runs on 52 hits.

Rotary pounded out 17 hits and topped Houghs Neck, 16-11, with five runs in the seventh inning. Billy MacDougall pitched six innings and Dave Murphy pitched the seventh and was the winning pitcher.

Danny MacDonald and Murphy had three hits a piece. Pat O'Donoghue, Billy MacDougall and Tony Anderlonis took each and Tim Collins, Matt Collins, John Kelly, Kevin Kelly and Kevin MacDougall one each. Anderlonis made a spectacular play, throwing out the potential winning run at the plate in the sixth inning. For Houghs Neck Brian Howlett, Mike Connor and Dave Gamsby had three hits each.

In another slugfest Rotary, with 19 hits, defeated Boston Gear, 19-14, coming from behind with eight runs in the last inning. Anderlonis allowed only one run in the last three innings to earn the win in relief.

Rotary was down, 13-8, after four innings but battled back for the victory.

Billy MacDougall had a home run, triple and single. Murphy, MacDonald, Matt Collins, Kevin MacDougall, Mark Dwyer and Brian Kelly two hits each and O'Donoghue, Anderlonis and John Kelly one each. For Gear Mike Kiley, Dan Paccini, Chris Higgins, Mike Cronin and Monroe and two hits a piece.

Zone 6 All Stars

Win MDA Benefit Game

The Zone 6 all-stars continued their mastery over the Zone 6A stars last Friday night at Adams Field, winning, 9-6, in the third annual American Legion all-star game for the benefit of the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Zone 6 has won all three games in the series.

The Zone 6 stars scored three runs in the first, two in the third, one in the fifth, two in the seventh and one in the eighth, while the Zone 6A stars had three in the sixth, one in the eighth and two in the ninth.

Joe Conti of Quincy Legion was the winning pitcher and Steve McCarthy of Milton the loser.

Chris Bunker of Morrisette had three hits for the winners, while Ed Stathiewicz and Rick Shannon of Canton had two hits each for the losers.

Morrisette's Ray Cattaneo coached the Zone 6 stars with Al Campbell of Quincy and Ralph Morrison of Hingham as assistants. Paul Morrissey of Holbrook and John Mariani of Randolph coached the Zone 6A team.

Playing for the Zone 6 stars were Mike Marshall, Jim Bandera, Chris Bunker and Marty McLoughlin of Morrisette; Tom Corliss, Bob O'Brien and Andy Eames of Wollaston; Bob Campbell, Joe Conti, Gary Brown and Pat Calabro of Quincy; Tony Felder, Wayne Seldon and Gus Iarrobino of Carter Post; Joe Abraham, Bob Meers, Dave Rohrer and John Pignataro of Hingham, and Steve Toussaint, Ricky Doyle and John Barrett of Weymouth.

Hotshot Finals Set For Aug. 11

The ninth annual Pepsi Hotshot finals competition sponsored by the Quincy Park and Recreation Board will be held at the Fenno St. basketball courts in Merrymount Park Thursday, Aug. 11, at 10 a.m.

Recreation Director, Barry J. Welch, explains the competition: "The contestants attempt to shoot baskets from 'hotspots' marked on the basketball court. Points are given when a basket is scored with lay ups receiving one point and more difficult shots higher points. There is a time limit of 60 seconds with the contestants scoring the highest number of points winning."

District competition was held after individual playgrounds conducted the first round elimination. Free Pepsi Cola was donated by Pepsi Cola to all contestants.

The finalists from the various districts:

DISTRICT 1 - Boys 9-12, Dan Hobin of Atlantic and Chris Zilla, Wollaston; girls 9-12, Kelly LaBlanc of Welcome Young and Joanna Rapalje of Mass. Fields; boys 13-15, Joe Barressi and Rich Golden of Welcome Young; girls 13-15, Stacey Welch of Bishop; girls 16-18, Yoshie Anderlonis of Bishop.

DISTRICT 2 - Boys 9-12, Shawn Donovan, Heron road, and Terry Hack, Perkins; girls 9-12, Kim Robertson, LaBrique, and Melissa Burkhead, Palmer; boys 13-15, Maureen Tolson, Perkins, and Donna Dondoro, LaBrique; boys 16-18, Jamie Paz, Beechwood Knoll, and Paul Hutchinson, Heron Road; girls 16-18, Bernie DePietro and Mary Kussman.

Fallon Hurls Fore River To 9-2 Win

Johnny Fallon, the former New York Yankee farm hand, returned to his native Quincy and hurled the Fore River Shipbuilders to a 9-2 victory over Worcester in his first New England League start.

Fallon allowed only seven hits in chalking up the win which gave the Shipbuilders a split in their doubleheader after Worcester had fallen on Bill Mainhall for 17 hits and eight runs en route to an 11-5 win.

In the second game, Fore River came up with five runs in the first two innings on singles by Joe Lehan, John O'Malley, Will Small and Fallon and doubles by George Harrington and Lehan to sew up the victory.

The Fore River lineup included: McCarthy cf-p, Lehan 2b, Marcia lf, O'Malley ss, Collins 3b, Small 1b, Harrington rf, Quinlan c, Workman 3b, Segadelli c-ph, Cormier cf, Mainhall p, Fallon p.

PLYNN-LOFTUS WIN DOUBLES

The first-seeded team of Edith Plynn and Dr. Edward R. Loftus swept by third-ranked Elsie Young and Mike Taliaferro, 6-1, 6-3, to capture the mixed doubles championship of the sixth annual Faxon Tennis Tournament.

The victory represented a measure of revenge for Loftus, who had lost to the veteran Taliaferro in the semi-finals of the men's singles. Loftus and Dick Maloney joined forces to win the men's doubles.

MCCALL BANISHED

Manager George McCall was thrown out of the game for arguing a call by Umpire Wally Doucette and his Sagamore Plebes went on to lose to Milton, 4-3, in a South Shore League game. The Plebes wasted 15 hits off Milton's Bill Chamberlain.

The Sagamore lineup included: League rf, Guarcello 2b, Ferris 1b, Donovan 3b, Kilrain cf, Franciano lf, Erickson c, Giachetti ss, DeCoste p, Saunders ph, Pettinelli p.

WILD PITCHES COSTLY

Bob Mathieson uncorked two wild pitches in the fifth and final inning and the tying and winning runs scored to give the Wollaston Eagles a 5-4 victory over St. Ann's and a tie with the Italian Mutual Society for first place in the Park League.

The Wollaston lineup included: Robbins rf, Anderson ss, Wainwright 2b, Rossi cf, Hanigan c, Hoyt 1b, Kelly 3b, Boudreau lf, Forbush p.

SPORTS BITS '41

Dick Maloney of Quincy was eliminated, 6-2, 6-4, by Don Sparkle in the quarterfinals of the North Shore Junior Tennis championships at Tedesco Country Club, Swampscott. . . . Jim Leonard racked up his 13th victory of the season as Tubular River came from behind to whip the Atlantic Redskins, 2-1, at O'Neil Field. . . . The girls from Adams Playground scored 44 times in the first two frames and went on to an 81-51 slugball victory over the Andrews Playground girls from Milton. . . . Walter Troup did the ironman stunt in pitching a doubleheader for Westland's softball team, losing the first game to the Springfield Wicos, 13-5, then coming back to pitch a three-hitter for an 11-1 win. . . . Dino Bini hurled Donaher's to a 3-0 lead at the end of four innings but the Quincy Park Softball League leaders wound up losing to Bonnie Brook of Mansfield, 5-3, ending their hopes of making the state championship softball tournament. . . . Boxing promoter Mike Jacobs refused a bid by Boston sportsmen to hold a championship fight between Joe Louis and Lou Nova at Fenway Park in September. . . . The future of night baseball in Quincy was in serious jeopardy when the government confiscated for use in the defense program the floodlights that had been leased by the Fore River team for New England League games at Fore River Field. . . . City Councillor Joseph J. Kendrick, summering in Rockport, caught a 249-pound tuna on 39-thread line after a three hour tussle. . . . Jimmy Foxx hit his 16th home run of the season to give the Boston Red Sox a 7-6 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics. . . . Jeppy Saunders, manager of the Fore River team, announced that he had signed Jiggs Donahue, the former St. Johns Prep star, to pitch for the New England League club. . . . Three Quantum sailors, Jerry Boston, Elliot Patten and Ken Glazebrook, finished one-two-three in the Indian class race in Junior Day activities at the Pleon Yacht Club in Marblehead.

Babe Ruth League Playoffs Underway

The Babe Ruth League playoffs got under way this week with first place Golden Print, VFW and Barry's Delving for the American Legion title and Morrisette, Sons of Italy and Hancock Bank playing for the National League crown.

Golden Print won the American League title with an 8-7 victory over Hancock Bank, its 14th straight win.

Golden finished with a 17-4-1 record, the best in the league, while VFW finished at 15-6-1 for second place in the American League.

Golden, coached by Tom Foley, has five 15-year-olds, Steve Conatas, Bobby Kane, Charlie McIntire, Kevin Nichols and Chris Rossi; four 14-year-olds, Jay DeBartolo, Jimmy Kyler, Steve Minichiello and Tim Rioridan, and five 13-year-olds, David Adams, Tom McDonald, Jackie Mullin, Joe Taylor and Bobby Thomas.

The pitching staff is made up of Conatas (5-1), Minichiello (5-1), Kane (3-1), Rioridan (2-0) and DeBartolo.

The team hit well with McIntire batting .429, Rossi

.410, Kane .367, Minichiello .360 and DeBartolo .324.

Chris Cody of VFW pitched a no-hitter to defeat the Police 2-0 in the final game of the season. Only two balls were hit to the outfield and Cody was given super defense by his mates.

The deciding runs came in the sixth on hits by Eric Roukey, Jay Osgood and Jay Rodriguez, with Roukey and Rodriguez displaying some alert and daring baserunning.

T. J. Steen struck out seven in a fine effort for the Police.

Roukey and Michael Malone won six games each for VFW. Steve Austin had an outstanding season catching, aided by Rodriguez and Billy Mulken. Strong infield play was provided by Roukey, Osgood, Ron Reichert, Chris Aimola, Gary Silverman and Ron Fletcher. Long-nail hitting Bob Kozlowski anchored an excellent outfield which also included Cody, Malone, Rick Armstrong, Mark Molloy and the injured Jamie McArdle.

Meanwhile, the Elks rolled over Hancock Bank,

13-2, to avenge an earlier defeat. The Elks had a fine season but lost out on the Playoffs. Playing in the strong American League, the Elks would have made the playoffs, according to their record, if they had played in the National League.

Al Martell pitched for the Elks, striking out four and walking three and he also had a triple and double and scored a run. Matt Ostiguy had two singles and scored twice. Tom Logan had a long triple and scored a run. George Hartford walked four times and scored twice. Billy Connolly walked three times and scored twice. Bob Laracy had two walks and a single and scored three runs. Brian Roche had a single and scored twice. Mark Simonelli, who caught a fine game and didn't allow a stolen base, walked three times and singled and Bob Bubencik walked three times. Altogether the Elks were handed 18 walks by three Hancock pitchers. The Elks' infield of Logan, Roche, Connolly and Laracy played errorless ball and turned over two double plays.

• Senior Babe Ruth League Data Wins Playoff Berth

Quincy's entry in the South Shore Senior Babe Ruth League, Data Services, defeated Hyde Park, 4-3, in 10 innings in its final game to earn a playoff berth. The playoffs started this week.

Quincy and four all-star selections, Dwayne Wilcoxen, Bill O'Brien, Mark Chambers and Bob Jafferian.

Wilcoxen led the hitting with a .413 average. O'Brien led in runs-batted-in with 25 and also batted .393 and Chambers scored 27 runs and batted .370. Paul Cahill batted .373.

Other RBI leaders were Brian Donovan, Jim Jaehning and Jim Mignosa.

The top pitchers were Wilcoxen, Bill DiMaggio and Jafferian, centerfielder.

Dan Baker and first baseman Jack Burke were outstanding defensively and Matt Mecilli had a fine year batting. Rounding out the squad are Dan Batts, Paul Ceurvels, Bryan Ellis, and Brendon Cox.

The team is coached by brothers Neil and Bill O'Brien, assisted by Charlie Chambers. George Derrane is manager and Mark O'Brien the bat boy.

Martin's Bombs Niners For Bye, 17-1

When league-leading Martin's Plumbing and the Niners met last Friday night in a game that would decide which teams would get opening round byes in the Perkins Softball League playoffs, a close game was expected.

However, Martin's had things all its own way as it took full advantage of a porous Niners' defense and received some outstanding pitching from Brian Cochran, who pitched four-hit ball, and Martin's cruised to a 17-1 win.

Martin's went on to defeat Trucks of Quincy, 12-6, and the Sedators, 9-8, to remain two games ahead of two-time defending champion Woodward's Spring.

Martin's trailed the Sedators, 8-7, in the final inning with two outs and no one on base. But Peter Martin doubled to right center, Pat Ennis singled him home with the tying run and the Martin brothers took over as Jerry singled to put men on first and third and Jimmy doubled home the winning run.

Woodward's stayed alive as it topped winning South Shore Buick, 8-4.

The Niners won two games to stay within reach of second place Woodward's, edging the Sedators, 10-9, and outlasting the Bashers, 15-13.

The Niners trailed, 13-12, going into the top of the seventh. Niners catcher Troy Howard walked and Gary McPartlin tripled to tie the score. Steve Koslowski walked, Billy Cannon singled in the winning run and the insurance run came home on a fielders choice. The Bashers opened the bottom half with a double but the Niners retired the next three batters to get the win.

VFW topped the Bashers, 14-9, but the Sedators clinched a playoff spot and knocked the VFW out with a 13-3 victory.

• HN Men's Softball

Manet Shell Holds Lead

Manet Shell leads the Houghs Neck Men's Softball League with an 8-3-1 record, followed by Quincy Yacht Club, 7-4-1; Louis Cafe, 6-5-1; Houghs Neck Package, 6-5-1; Chenette Plumbing, 3-8-1, and Finlay's Variety, 2-9-1.

Last Sunday Louis scored a run in the eighth inning to edge Chenette, 14-13, in a wild game which saw Chenette take a 12-0 lead, only to have Louis score eight runs in the bottom of the fourth and add three in the fifth to make the score 12-11.

Chenette scored a run in the sixth but Louis tied it with two in the seventh on Bob McQuinn's two-run homer and won it in the eighth on Jim Healy's homer.

Joe Chase went four-for-four, Jerry DeAngelis two-for-three, Healy two-for-three and McQuinn two-for-four. For Chenette right-fielder Dave Shaw and third baseman Mike Chenette played outstanding games.

A NEW NEWS program, first of its kind in Quincy, made its debut on The Quincy Sun's Ch. 8 Friday. Shown here are co-anchors Diane Solander and John Noonan at news desk and Robert Gohl, director, at TV camera. The pilot program will be repeated Thursday and Friday at 7 p.m. and Saturday at 2 p.m. (Quincy Photo Lab)

New Videotape News Format Debuts On Ch. 8

The Quincy Sun has scored another first in its newspaper — television coverage of Quincy news.

A Sun TV team was at a number of news events in the city last week, putting together a special pilot program in a news-magazine format.

The 50-minute special -- first of its kind in Quincy -- was shown Friday night on The Sun's Ch. 8 on Quincy Cablesystems.

It will be repeated this week on Thursday and Friday at 7 p.m. and Saturday at 2 p.m.

John Noonan and Diane Solander were the on-the-spot reporters and co-anchor the telecast from The Quincy Sun newsroom. Robert Gohl was director and cameraman for the program.

Program highlights include:

- Gov. Michael Dukakis at Quincy City Hospital visiting 100-year-old George Belezos, believed to be the oldest person ever to receive a pacemaker implant.

During his visit, Gov. Dukakis also indicates he will support the proposed $45 million rebuilding program at the hospital.

- Councillors James Sheets and Theodore DeCristofaro inspecting the South Quincy MBTA station, express their concerns over area traffic problems they see when the station opens in September.

- Tricia Markakos, Miss Quincy Bay of 1983, talking about her plans and hopes for the future.

for the future.

- Dr. M. Grace Hussey, city health commissioner, reporting on swimming conditions at Wollaston and other Quincy beaches and offering a few tips on how to safely beat the summer heat.

- George LaHagge, manager of the Joseph Brett MDC sub-station at Wollaston Beach noting improvements in the area but seeing a few problems, too.

- Boy Scouts from County Kildare, Ireland, guests of Troop 5, St. Boniface Church, Germantown, visiting with Mayor Francis McCauley at City Hall.

- The Quincy Police Betterment Association hosting 400 special needs children at the annual outing at Pageant Field.

- Scenes from "Godspell", presented by the Riverside Theatre Works in Quincy's Summerfest program on McIntyre Mall.

"This is the first time this type of a news program has been put together in Quincy," noted Quincy Sun publisher Henry Bosworth. "It gives viewers the opportunity to see the news as it actually happened with the programs balanced by a number of features of interest to the community."

"We did this program as a pilot for viewer reaction. We would like to present this type of news format on a regular basis, hopefully starting in the fall. We would like to hear from Sun readers and Ch. 8 viewers on their reaction to the pilot."

The Sun began transmitting news on Ch. 8 in February, 1982 -- the first newspaper in the South Shore and one of the first in the nation to use cable television.

Ch. 8 transmits out of The Sun office in Quincy Sq. 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Local news is covered by Sun staffers and regional, national and world news by Associated Press.

The format has mainly been that of an electronic newspaper but lately videotaped features and commercials are being interlaced.

"We will be doing more videotape programs and live coverage in the future," Bosworth said.

Cable delivers. Just ask the Rabbit.

In high school, John Baldassini was so quick on the athletic field that he was labeled the Rabbit. That was 42 years ago. Today the Rabbit still gets around. Delivering mail on the same 3½ mile route in North Quincy to over 375 homes. The name has stuck and so has his love of sports.

So it was only natural that when cable came to Quincy that the Rabbit ran to cable. "It brings me all the sports I could possibly want. Twenty-four hours a day. Celtic games and title fights that aren't on regular TV. Games from as far away as Atlanta and as close as Quincy. There are even two channels with nothing but sports.

In fact, I became so involved with the programs that we had cable installed for my wife. Then my son and daughter. Everyone found something that they liked. It seemed a shame not to be able to see them all."

So, the Baldassini's became a three-cable family. The Eyes of Quincy show them their neighborhood, show them the world. Sports, health, music, films, you name it. The Rabbit and his family have it. It's just a hop, skip and a jump away.

Condon Turns In Papers

City Councillor Joanne Condon announces she turned in nomination papers to give as many Ward 6 residents as possible a chance to show their support.

Only 50 valid signatures are needed to get a candidate's name on the ballot.

Condon, who is seeking re-election to a fourth two-year term on the Council, said she and several campaign workers spent three evenings early in July canvassing the ward for signatures.

S. Quincy Woman Hurt

A 54-year-old South Quincy woman was injured Saturday night in a two-car accident at Copeland and Miller Sts., West Quincy.

Irma V. Richards of 38 North Payne St., was treated at Quincy City Hospital.

Police said Mrs. Richard was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Arthur, 56, which was in

3 Bicycles Stolen

Three 10-speed bicycles were reported stolen over the weekend.

Lisa and Michael Moran of 14 Charlesmount Ave., Quincy Point, reported to police their 10-speed bicycles were stolen from the collision with a car driven by Abdullatif S. Mohammed, 21, of Braintree.

China Star Restaurant on Sea St.

Joan Welby of 238 Marlboro St., Wollaston, told police that her 10-speed bicycle was taken from her garage.

Historic Commission

To Hear Renovation Plans

Renovations to the building at the corner of Temple and Washington Sts. will be discussed Monday, Aug. 15, at 7 p.m. at a public hearing before the Historic District Commission.

The building, known as the Sher Drug building, recently was purchased by Arnold Feinerman. Bruce Roberts and others and will be upgraded with new store fronts and signs.

Also on the agenda for the meeting in the Planning Department conference room in City Hall is renovations to the Dimmock building at Dimmock and Hancock Sts.

Both projects were considered at the Commission's monthly meeting in July which is held to prevent incongruous developments in the Quincy Center and Adams Birthplaces Historic Districts.

Other projects that came up at the July meeting included:

The Crane House at 124-126 Franklin St., which will become the home of John Reggiano, who expects to move his "Hair After Salon" from 105 Franklin St. to the rear of the building.

The frontage on the Quincy Market on Hancock St., which is owned by Peter Boris.

The recently renovated Adams Building at Hancock and Temple Sts. and the Quincy School on Newbury Ave., North Quincy, have been added to the National Registry of Historic Places.

Police Exam

Set For Oct. 1

Applications are being accepted by the State Department of Personnel Administration to take a competitive examination Oct. 1 to fill various police positions in city, town and state departments.

Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli said the results of the exam will be used to establish and maintain a list of eligible candidates for employment as police officers.

Persons taking the exam must prove to be between the ages of 19 and 32. Other requirements include a medical exam, high school education and a valid driver's license.

The last day for filing applications is Sept. 9, Cerasoli said.

State Approves

Estimated Tax Bills Out Oct. 1

By TOM HENSHAW

The city has received permission to send out estimated tax bills for the first half of fiscal 1984, a move that will save considerable money in short term borrowing.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said he received word from Deputy Revenue Commissioner Edward Collins Tuesday saying, "I can assure you that the city will be authorized to issue estimated bills."

"It appears now that the estimated tax bills will be out about Oct. 1 in time to meet the Nov. 1 payment deadline," said McCauley.

Once the tax money starts coming in, the city will be able to repay the money that has been borrowed since July 1 to keep the city operating on a daily basis.

Treasurer - Collector Franklin Jay said the city has borrowed about $12 million so far in anticipation of taxes and there probably will be another $6 million borrowing in September.

The interest on the $12 million will be $200,000, he said, but the interest on the September borrowing is not known.

Last year, according to Auditor Robert E. Foy III, the city appropriated $1.5 million in the budget to covering interest on temporary loans and wound up with $432,000 left over.

That surplus was used to pay Blue Cross-Blue Shield premiums, workman's compensation and court judgements.

This year, with $1.2 million in the budget, it is expected that there will be another surplus, said McCauley, thanks to the estimated bills.

Parking In Wollaston License Board Concern

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The question of adequate parking was raised during requests concerning two neighboring Wollaston establishments at a special summer meeting of the Quincy License Board Tuesday.

Both requests were continued to Sept. 6 when the board will resume its regular weekly meetings.

The first request was from Duck's Soup, Inc., 698 Hancock St., for change of common victualer - take out only license to common victualer, and the installation of seats for 12 patrons.

Ward Councillor Stephen McGrath said he opposed the request because the area is already congested with traffic.

"A sit-down establishment would make it worse," said McGrath.

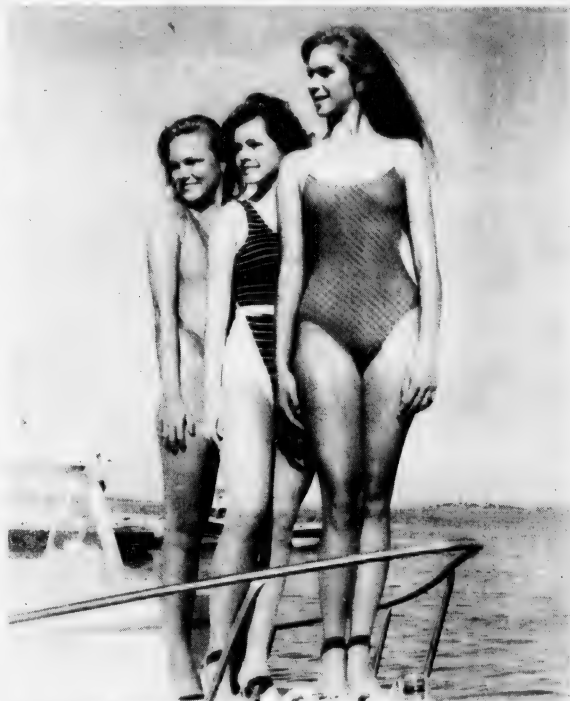

Atty. Michael R. Lindburg, representing Duck's Soup owner Anne Lindburg, who is also his mother, said the addition of a sitdown area was necessary economically and to "satisfy the demands of clientele."

Atty. Lindburg also said the addition of seats at the "very small business" would have a "limited impact."

Police Chief Francis Finn suggested a three month trial period with seating for eight patrons. Health Commissioner Dr. M.

After Multibank Decision:

Office Building, Mall For Chestnut St.?

Multi-Bank Financial Corp. has announced plans to consolidate its computer operations in the old Rust Craft building near the intersection of Routes 128 and 1 in Dedham.

But Quincy, which was also under consideration as the site, may win an office building and a small shopping mall on Chestnut St. in its place.

Multi-Bank Vice President Paul M. Diesel said that is one of the developments under consideration to replace the old Scott Gordon Furniture building on Chestnut St.

"We are considering several options," said Diesel. "But it will be sometime in 1984 before we reach a decision. We'll be spending a long time on this Dedham thing."

Multi-Bank, parent firm of the South Shore Bank, purchased the Scott Gordon building and the old Strand Theater recently. The Strand was torn down to make way for a parking lot.

"We found that the Scott Gordon site was not suitable for the operation we plan for Dedham," said Diesel. That operation is known in banking circles as a "support system," or the computerized processing of loans, savings accounts and other banking transactions.

The move will mean the loss of some 200 jobs in the Quincy office, although Dedham is within commuting distance for those who live in the city.

"A core of people will be working in the Dedham facility in 30 days," said Diesel. "We expect heavier occupation when the renovations are completed in about six months."

In announcing the move

Gold Rings Stolen

Maureen Doherty of Manet Ave., Houghs Neck, reported to police Sunday that two gold rings, one with 23 diamonds valued at $2,000 and the other with three diamonds at $500, were stolen from her home while the family was at Quincy City Hospital.

last Thursday, Multi-Bank Chairman David B. Lynch said "we feel fortunate in having located a facility which so exactly suits our needs."

The selection, he said, "is the culmination of four months of study during which we evaluated 14 possible sites in Quincy, Braintree, Brockton and Dedham, rating them on 22 criteria."

"Among these were ability to expand within the facility, proximity to our current employee base, ample parking and accessibility."

Company officials stressed that "only a small part of Multibank" is moving from Quincy.

Multibank's headquarters and South Shore Bank, one of its six members will remain in Quincy and there are no plans to close any of its branches, officials said.

South Shore Bank employs 454 people in Quincy with an annual payroll of $6 million. Of those 186 are Quincy residents earning $1.8 million.

58 From Quincy On Unclaimed Cash List

Fifty-eight persons and organizations from Quincy are listed among 30,000 Massachusetts residents who are due money under the state's unclaimed money law.

State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane said the money had been reported to the treasury as unclaimed by insurance companies doing business in the state.

"Many of these accounts represent the cash value of term life insurance policies which the owners do not realize they are entitled to claim," said Crane.

The unclaimed money totals more than $4 million and range in size from $25 to one account worth more than $10,000.

Persons who believe they have a valid claim should call the treasurer's office at 523-1042.

POT SHIP 'Snow White' lies careened in Town River shallows with some $9 million worth of marijuana below decks.

The $9 Million Question:

Was Marijuana Loaded Yacht A Decoy?

By TOM HENSHAW
Quincy police have an armed guard on two rented trucks containing about four and a half tons of marijuana with a street value of nearly $9 million.

The armed guard on the pot trucks is costing Quincy police about $1,000 a day, according to Chief Francis X. Finn, who has nine men on the job at $110 a day.

Police will ask Norfolk Superior Court today (Thursday) as to when they can destroy the marijuana after first taking one pound samples from each bale as evidence.

The pot was confiscated Friday from a 51-foot charter yacht that ran aground and was abandoned by its crew in the shallows of the Town River. It was one of the biggest hauls ever in the New England area.

The ketch-rigged yacht, called the "Snow White" whose worth is estimated between $400,000 and $1 million, was registered out of Wilmington, Del.

But a brochure offering the craft for charter indicates that it is owned by a Rhode Island man and sails out of Newport, R.I. He wants it back.

The ketch was discovered about 6:45 a.m. Friday by Patrolman Leo Luchini in the police boat Alert, who spotted it in the shallows off the Clipper Apartments.

Luchini knocked on the side of the boat to rouse those aboard and alert them to their peril in shallow water. There was no response.

Luchini knocked on the side of the boat and saw that it was loaded with bales of marijuana.

Police staked out the Snow White to await the return of the crew. When no one showed up by noon and the boat began to list with the receding tide, police boarded it.

Capt. David F. Rowell, head of the detective bureau, estimated at the time that there were about 100 bales aboard with a value of $3 million.

When the Snow White was offloaded Friday night at the Boston Harbor Marina, however, it was discovered that there were 185 bales of about 50 pounds each on board.

That adds up to more than 9,000 pounds at $60 an ounce on the street.

Rowell said the Rhode Island man has filed for the return of the boat, claiming that it was chartered and he knew nothing of what the charterer was doing with it.

If the Snow White is not legally claimed, it becomes the property of the Quincy Police Department, and can be auctioned off for whatever price it will bring. Quincy police were joined in staking out and confiscating the ketch by the Coast Guard, and agents from customs and the federal drug enforcement agency.

Rowell said it was not determined why the vessel was abandoned in the shallows of the Town River when it could have sailed out at high water.

He said charts aboard indicated that the boat may have been headed for the North River in Marshfield and sailed into the Town River by mistake.

There were reports, however, that the Snow White had been observed two days previously off Hull with a man and a woman aboard.

It was speculated that the boat had picked up the marijuana from a "mother ship" laying to off the Cape Cod shore.

There was also speculation that the Snow White and its $9 million cargo had been deliberately abandoned to create a diversion while a bigger load of pot was landed elsewhere.

"If these are big time drug runners," said one Quincy detective, "a $10 million loss means nothing to them."

New Honors For Ruth Gordon

More honors for Quincy's Ruth Gordon.

The noted actress has been selected by the Boston Theatre District Association as the recipient of its Annual Theatre Award.

It will be presented at the Footlight
Parade Ball at the Boston Park Plaza
Hotel Friday, Oct. 21.

The date, incidentally, is just nine days before Miss Gordon's 87th birthday.

This is the fifth Footlight Parade Ball. The black tie event which brings out some 1000 persons is a major fundraiser to support the revitalization and beautification of Boston's cultural area.

Each year, the Boston Theatre District Association honors a noted personality born or raised in Massachusetts for their contributions to theater arts.
Last year's award went to Ray Bolger.

It's quite an honor, even for a woman who has received so many awards and accolades as one of the top all-time actresses.

BUT, RUTH GORDON, the person, may be even more proud over a little thing she is doing for the children at the Massachusetts Hospital School.

She will be the spokeswoman in a video tape public announcement for the school which will be shot next week at her home in Edgartown on Martha's Vineyard.

Some of the youngsters from the school will appear with her.

Susan Peabody, associate producer for Rampion Visual Productions in Cambridge says the school appreciates Miss Gordon's "time and generosity of spirit" and "wonderful gesture".

"The kids from the school are so excited," she says and adds there will be "no trouble at all getting a few volunteers for this trip."

MISS GORDON, who recently attended the 69th anniversary reunion of her famed 1914 Quincy High School class at the Neighborhood Club muses: "We were 12 good people glad to see each other. How often does that happen?"

THE YANKEES' Dave Winfield got a lot of press (he really didn't want it) for throwing a baseball that killed a dozing seagull in Toronto during a game with the Blue Jays. He was taken into custody because in Canada seagulls are protected birds, then released and apparently cleared because the incident was ruled accidental.

Years ago, Ted Williams used to pop pigeons with a rifle at Fenway Park.

LUBARSKY

But, neither of them can compare with Quincy's own Dave Lubarsky when it comes to bringing down a bird.

Lubarsky who played the outfield for Southwest Quincy baseball teams in his youth was hitting fungos (fly balls) at Kincaide Park in June, 1930 when he was only 19.

He hit one up and it clipped a swallow on the wing, plummeting the bird to earth. It made all the Quincy and Boston newspapers.

A seagull or a pigeon is a pretty good sized bird.
But how many people have ever hit a tiny swallow with a baseball?

Stay Alive!

By John Valante

WHY CONGRATULATIONS??

According to the latest estimates, "only" about 45,000 of us will die in traffic accidents this year and "only" about two million will suffer disabling injuries. "Congratulations," say the safety experts. Why congratulations?

One half of this year's 45,000 dead will be needless! To the puzzlement of safety experts, most American drivers simply will not use their lap and shoulder belts. Not that there ever has been any serious question that belts can save lives in moderate and slow-speed accidents, which means most accidents. Moreover, belted occupants have escaped with only slight injuries in many high-speed crashes that left vehicles totally demolished.

although safety authorities admit there's a lot of luck in such incidents.

In spite of all this, more than 70% of vehicle occupants either refuse or neglect to wear belts.
Mandatory belt use would cut the traffic toll by a half, which would mean saving upward of 20,000 lives a year.

State Awards $478,000 For Job-Creating Projects

The State Lottery's decision not to relocate in Quincy has freed up $478,000 in federal funds for allocation to other job-creating projects in the city.

Included among the half dozen projects are repairs to the leaky roof at the Thomas Crane Public Library and resurfacing of the John Hancock Parking area in preparation for validated parking.

The money, designed to supplement Community Development Block Grant funds, originally was to be loaned to George Montilio and Eugene Kelly to help rehabilitate the Sears building.

Then the Lottery decided to pass up the move to the Sears building and remain in Braintree.

Now the funds will be allocated like this:

- $90,000 for rehabilitation of the library.
- $80,000 to pave the Hancock parking lot.

- $40,000 for the rehabilitation of the homes of handicapped people to make them more acces- sible.

- $66,000 to the capitalization loan program for the start-up of new businesses.

- $15,000 to fill a staff position for the Emergency Food Center in Southwest Quincy.

- $140,000 for various public works improvements that have not been undertaken previously because of budgeting constraints.

- $47,000 for contingencies.

Planning Director James Lydon said he hopes that the City Council will call a special meeting to approve the allocations.

"One of the contingencies of the funding is that it be used quickly," said Lydon. "We waited six weeks for the Lottery to make up its mind. Now we have to suggest some activities."

The object of the funding is to stimulate the creation of new jobs.

Mayor Ross Ready To Name New Police Chief

Mayor Charles A. Ross received a favorable report from Atty. Gen. Francis E. Kelly and said he plans to ask for a Civil Service list from which to appoint a Successor to Police Chief John J. Avery, who was due to retire Aug. 27.

Kelly had been investigating the circumstances surrounding the chief's exam and the marking and regrading of the papers.

"I am pleased to note that there apparently were no irregularities in connection with the examination and that no official of the city of Quincy is in any way involved in either the conduct of the exam or appeals or otherwise," said Ross.

Ross was to select Chief Avery's successor from the first three officers on the list — Lt. Joseph F. Hughes, Capt. Joseph P. Flaherty and Lt. John E. Weurth.

The investigation began when the name of Capt. James W. H. Kemp was regraded so that he dropped from first place on the list to sixth place, which made him ineligible for consideration as chief.

POLIO SPREADING

An 8-year-old North Quincy girl came down with what was diagnosed as infantile paralysis, the 14th victim of the dread disease polio during the current outbreak in Quincy.

Health Commissioner Dr. Richard M. Ash urged parents to keep their children away from crowds, avoid chilling and over fatigue and stay away from streams, lakes and ditches into which sewage drains.

The Norfolk County Infantile Paralysis Chapter presented a hot pack machine, purchased with $350 of March of Dimes funds, to City Hospital for the treatment of polio victims.

A new $10 family polio insurance policy, with coverage up to $5,000, was being offered by Riggs and Son, 23 Beale St., Wollaston.

SCHOOL ADDITION

The City Council approved a $100,000 loan order to build a four-room addition to the Atherton Hough School in Houghs Neck and sent to its Finance Committee an order to take marsh land on Fenno St. for a new elementary school.

"It's unfortunate," said Councillor Frank N. Orcutt, "we always have to get a swamp on which to put a new school."

are seen in the Bible.

It is a mental agitation, however, that should be controlled because it is harmful. Any doctor will tell you anger causes blood pressures to go up. Release of uncontrolled anger can only give temporary satisfaction and that is certainly a high price to pay for probable shame and regret.

No one can completely extinguish anger. It is as natural as tenderness, sorrow, fear or joy. Because anger takes a heavy toll in mind and body, moderation is needed as a matter of self concern. Jefferson once said: "When angry, count ten before you speak; if very angry, count a hundred." It was a good rule to live by in his time. It still is!

Catharene M. Arapoff, 75, Author, Teacher

A funeral Mass for Catharene M. (Green) Arapoff, 75, a former teacher, writer and social worker, was held Tuesday at St. Ann's Church, Wollaston.

Born in Everett, she lived in Wollaston 34 years.

She graduated from Radcliffe College, magna cum laude, in 1928.

The author of two books, "From Ipswich, From The Volga, To The Seine" and "The Diaries Of An Artist's Wife," she frequently contributed light verse to the Boston Herald's "Top of the Morning" section.

After teaching French at Chamberlayne Junior College in Boston and Derby Academy in Hingham, Mrs. Arapoff earned her master's degree in social work from Boston College in 1962 and worked in that field for the next 20 years.

While studying in the Sorbonne in Paris, she met and married the late Alexis Arapoff, a Russian-born painter. They returned to Boston where he painted until he died in a car accident in 1948.

Mrs. Arapoff was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, past president of the Emma Forbes Cary Guild and an active member of the board of Birthright of the South Shore Association, a right-to-life-group. She was listed in "Who's Who of American Women" in 1972.

She is survived by three sons, Peter A. Arapoff of Honolulu, John R. Arapoff of Marshfield and Paul A. Arapoff of Wollaston; three daughters, Ann M. Bird of Fairport, N.Y., Catherine T. Struve of New York and Mary E. McEwen of Arlington; 20 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston. Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Roy E. Smith, 75, Formerly Of Quincy

A graveside service for Roy E. Smith, 75, formerly of Quincy, a retired laborer for the Hallen Construction Co. of Springfield, was held Aug. 3 in Pine Hill Cemetery, Westfield.

Mr. Smith died Aug. 1 at Noble Hospital after a long illness.

Born in Quincy, he moved to Westfield 33 years ago. He was a former member of Christ Church in Quincy.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy A. (Kain) Smith; four sons, Paul S. Smith of Brazil, R. Clifford Smith of Duarado, Cal., Roy E. Smith of Boston and Edward Smith of Sundown, N.H.; two daughters, Betty Shaw of Quincy and Sandra Geaudrea of Salem; three brothers, Frank Smith of Weymouth, Willis Smith and Stanley Smith, both of Quincy; two sisters, Hilda Goodman of Weymouth and Ethel Jordan of Quincy; 16 grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by Firtion-Hollister Funeral Home, Westfield.

Donations may be made to the American Cancer Society.

Justin F. Killoran, 59, Self-Employed Contractor

Funeral services for Justin F. Killoran, 59, of Squantum, a self-employed remodeling contractor will be held today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. at his home, 44 Winslow Rd., Squantum.

Mr. Killoran died Saturday of cancer at his home after a long illness.

Born in New Brunswick, Canada, he lived in Squantum since 1945. He graduated from North Quincy High School in 1942.

A World War II Coast Guard veteran, he was a life member of the Disabled American Veterans, Braintree, and a charter member of the Nickerson Legion Post. He was also a member of the Stenkil Lodge and the South Shore Viking Club.

He is survived by his wife, Carol (Dickinson-Ladd) Killoran; a son, Jaime E. Killoran of Quincy; two daughters, Justine F. Shorey and Carol (Dede) Viglica, both of Quincy; his mother, Beatrice (McGovern) Killoran of Duxbury; a brother, Bernard Killoran of New Mexico; three sisters, Frances Phelps of Santa Anna, Cal., Margaret Cislighi of Duxbury and Ursula McCosker of Braintree; and three grand children. He was also the father of the late Gregory A. Killoran.

Funeral arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, Hancock St., Quincy. Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be sent in his memory to the family.

George M. Maddalena, 66, Retired School Employee

A funeral Mass for George M. Maddalena, 66, of Quincy, a retired employee of the Boston School Department, was held Tuesday in St. John's Church.

Mr. Maddalena died Friday at Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness.

Born in East Boston, he lived in Quincy 28 years.

Mr. Maddalena retired as superintendent of custodians for the Boston School Department after 40 years of service. He was an army veteran of World War II and served as a staff sergeant.

He is survived by his wife, Reva (Newman) Maddalena; two daughters, Sandra Navin of Weymouth and Patricia Milani of Quincy; three brothers, Theodore Maddalena of Revere, Joseph Maddalena of New Hampshire and Lawrence Maddalena of Somerville; a sister, Lucy Maddalena of Revere; and two grandchildren. He was also the brother of the late Gloria DiGiulio.

Funeral arrangements were by Buonfiglio Funeral Home, 116 Franklin St. Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Louis DeAngelis, 67, Retired Maintenance Man

A funeral Mass for Louis

DeAngelis, 67, of Quincy, a retired maintenance man for the John Hancock Insurance Co. in Boston, was held Wednesday in St. Mary's Church in Randolph.

Mr. DeAngelis died unexpectedly Sunday in Boston City Hospital.

Born in Randolph, he lived in South Boston before moving to Quincy three years ago.

He is survived by his wife, Madlyn (Sullivan) DeAngelis; a son, Lawrence DeAngelis of Quincy; a daughter, Madlyn DeAngelis of South Boston; two brothers, Guy DeAngelis of Randolph and Ennet DeAngelis of Braintree; four grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Funeral arrangements were by Hurley Funeral Home, South Main St., Randolph. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, Randolph.

Planning ahead can offer peace of mind . . .

It is only human to put things off. But proper planning for the event of one's death can spare a family many traumatic decisions and financial burdens. By pre-arranging the desires and wishes of one's funeral, burial and expenses can be specified to eliminate confusion, differences of opinion and difficult decisions on the part of family members. To ease this burden, we are making available to you FREE a booklet with all necessary information and forms to assist and guide you. Why not visit us or write for your FREE Pre-arrangement Booklet.

- Booklet covers the following subjects:
- Funeral and Interment Preferences
  - Vital Statistics and Data
  - Survivors Information, Social Security, Insurance, Bank Accounts, Real Estate, Automobile, Safety Deposit Box, Savings Bonds, Stocks and Bonds, Retirement Accounts and Veterans Benefits.
  - Pre-Arrangement Information
  - Three duplicate copies of a Funeral and Interment Pre-Arrangement Agreement.

License Board Continues Health Club Request

By LORRAINE MASON

The City License Board voted at a special summer meeting Tuesday to continue until Sept. 6, a request from Nu Wave Aerobics & Fitness, 1569 Hancock St., Quincy Sq., for a common victualer license.

General manager Kevin Florio applied for license to have a fruit and vegetable juice bar and distribute protein drinks at the center, to be located at the former Touraine building.

Before a license could be granted, Health Commissioner Dr. M. Grace Hussey said the Health Department would have to approve a sauna and Police Chief Francis X. Finn said the manager's name should be on the application.

Finn also said a routine police check must be made on applicants and that the other two members of the board, Building Inspector Allan MacDonald and Fire Chief Edward Barry, who were on vacation this week, be present to vote for a license.

Atty. Dean C. Brunel from Boston said Florio has dedicated himself to the field of health and nutrition. Brunel also said the applicants plan to invest over a half million dollars in the facility.

According to Brunel, Nu Wave Aerobics & Fitness, a specialty club featuring weight lifting, aerobic dancing and nutrition education, will offer members an alternative to going to bars and drinking alcohol. The club will be opened, to ages 18-45, Brunel said, and massages will not be given.

The manager of the proposed center will be Thomas Parker from Winchester, according to the application.

Parking In Wollaston License Board Concern

Grace Hussey, noting that Fire Chief Edward Barry and Building Inspector Allen MacDonald were not at the meeting, asked that a full board be present before a vote is taken.

The second request, from Dandy Donuts & Deli, 687 Hancock St., was for a common victualer-Lord's Day license at a building to be constructed at the site of a former Quincy Oil station.

Applicant Joseph Powers said that some $300,000 would be invested in the shop which would have seating for 40 patrons and eight parking spaces. Proposed hours would be 4 a.m. to midnight, he said.

Arthur Chandler, owner of the Wollaston Theatre and other property from 10 to 18 Beale St., said he was concerned that the Wollaston business area was becoming an "area of restaurants and banks". He also cited lack of parking.

McGrath said that any new construction at the site would generate traffic and pointed out there would be parking on the premises.

Powers was instructed to bring information to the next meeting on an odor filtering system, egress, traffic flow, signs, and facilities for the handicapped.

Registration Being Conducted For Learning Center

Registration is being conducted for a Christian Child Learning Center sponsored by Quincy Community United Methodist Church and set to open Sept. 12.

The day care and preschool unit will be held at Pelican and Albatross Rd., Adams Shore.

Director is Mary Ann Villard, B. Ed., M.S., who has worked with children for 30 years either as an elementary school teacher, child care specialist or supervisor in treatment centers for children.

For the last eight years, she has been a special education teacher at Judge Baker Guidance Center, Boston.

In addition to the regular early childhood curriculum, the center offers a guidance section and Bible-centered program.

"My Family and Me", developed by the American Guidance Service, has children participate in discussions, activities, singing, pantomiming and drawing.

Children are encouraged to make discoveries about themselves and their friends.

The Bible-in-Life program is to guide each child to a personal relationship with Jesus Christ. There are songs, stories, sharing, pantomiming and drawings.

To register, call Miss Villard at 471-9127 or 986-5455.

Young People Lead Service At Squantum

Young people of the First Church of Squantum led the congregation in worship Sunday in a service on the theme "The Way, the Truth and the Life."

Sarah Mildram gave the call to worship; Deborah Stohberg, the opening prayer; Steven Williams, the pastoral prayer and the prayer of dedication. Bonnie Adams read the scripture. The sermon was preached by Tom McKim, Susan Scott, Dianne Ahearn and David Williams.

Greeters for the morning were Andrew and Lori Ogilvie.

Ushers were David Scott, Robert Dixey, Chris Dixey and David Ahearn.

Special music for the service was by Wendy Krauss and Mary Ruth Scott.

Throughout the month of August, there will be only one service at the church Sundays at 9 a.m. This Sunday the preacher will be Thomas Williamson.

Do-it-yourself eye test spots symptoms of senile macular degeneration, a serious but treatable eye condition. Using one eye at a time, stare at a long straight line, such as a door frame, if the line seems bent or twisted, or if black spot appears, see your ophthalmologist.

Chewing hard foods helps jaws develop, and teeth grow in straight, say dental researchers. Soft diets are more likely to promote malocclusion.

In a limited experiment, Toronto researchers found that zimeidine, an anti-depressant, will reduce the alcohol consumption of heavy drinkers.

"Auto-transplantation," an innovative treatment for pancreatitis, a painful inflammation of the organ, was developed at the Lakes Clinic, Burlington, Massachusetts. Portions of the pancreas, all nerve endings cut, is inserted in the upper leg and attached to veins there. Result: continued insulin production, with no pain.

Why do smokers gain weight when they quit? It's not just the nibbling habit. Metabolism does drop about five percent. Solution: cut calories or increase exercise to compensate.

Craftsmen are busy high above Quincy Square gilding The Dome of the Historic Church of the Presidents. Over many years, the once bright Dome has faded. But in a few weeks, the brightness will be restored.

As one of Quincy's proudest landmarks, the Church of the Presidents has provided most of the funds for the restoration of The Dome.

Now, there's a golden opportunity for others to help. If you would like to make a contribution, your gift — whatever the amount — would be welcome.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous shipyard workers, masons, and pipefitters of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

QBRW Expected To Set New Records

By TOM SULLIVAN
Quincy Bay Race Week, now in its 46th year, has been getting bigger and bigger and Quincy Bay Race Week Association President Jack White feels this week's races will set a new record for participants. Last year's turnout was the biggest in three years (about 1000 boats) with more in every class and the result was tremendous competition. The Marine Parade had well over 100 boats, the most in the last 18 years. "I feel sure we will have more boats than ever this year," said White, past commodore of Squantum Yacht Club and past commodore of the Mass. Bay Yacht Clubs Association. "Interest in the race week continues to grow and more and more people are getting interested in sailing.

"Last year we had perfect weather with only the ocean racing on the final day being cancelled. We didn't lose a race on the outside line and inside line. I just hope we have the same kind of weather this year. You are going to see some real competition in all classes."

The ocean racing will again be held Saturday and Sunday off Hangman's Island.

Race Week hit its peak in 1970 when a total of 1800 boats went to the starting lines.

Interest had begun to decline but has taken a decided turn for the better the last few years.

There is also renewed interest in junior activities among yacht clubs and sailing programs.

Three years ago the Marine Parade had to be cancelled for the first time in 20 years but the weather was perfect for the colorful event the last two years.

Rendezvous Night will be held Saturday at 8 p.m. at Town River Yacht Club with White and Town River

The Marine Parade, which is expected to attract still another record number of decorated boats, will be Sunday with boats rendezvousing between Town

River and Wessagussett Yacht Clubs at noon.

Trophy Night will be held

Oct. 2 at 3 p.m. at Squantum Yacht Club when the Race Week prizes will be handed out.

Race Week Schedule

The Quincy Bay Race Week Schedule:

Colorful Marine Parade Sunday

The colorful Marine Parade, one of the highlights of Quincy Bay Race Week, will be held Sunday starting at 11:30 from Town River Yacht Club.

This event has grown year after year with well over 100 gaily-decorated boats taking part last year when Al Jago of Squantum Yacht Club was the winner for the fourth year in a row with his cruiser, Sekoma.

Second prize for the cruiser class went to Bob Mortall of Wessagussett with Title M and top prize among the Auxiliaries went to Ed Synan with Cloud Burst.

The parade will start at Town River, continue into Fore River and proceed to the Wessagussett Y.C., cross over to the Quincy Y.C., around Nut Island, along Manet Beach, along Adams Shore and Merry-mount, past the Wollaston Y.C. and on to the Squantum Y.C. There the parade judges will make their final decisions.

A $100 cash prize will be awarded to the best-decorated boat, a plaque will go to the boat judged the most original, and prizes will be awarded to the best decorated in each of three classes. In addition, the club with the most boats in line of parade will receive an award.

Tom Bosse is chairman of the parade and Al Shaughnessy is the chief marshal.

Race Week Started In 1938

Quincy Bay Race Week is marked by 46 years of tradition and yachtsmen again have much to live up to in this week's racing.

QBRW has been an outstanding success since it was established in 1938 by Quincy, Wollaston and Squantum Yacht Clubs, which formed the association.

In the years following, Town River and Wessagussett joined up to make the event an area success.

Nine years ago Braintree and Metropolitan clubs were added, completing the present seven-club association.

Off Hangman's Island

Ocean Racing Saturday, Sunday

Ocean racing, which stimulates continued interest in the cruising type of sailboat and is one of the most popular features of Race Week each year, will be held Saturday and Sunday at 10 a.m. off Hangman's Island.

Interest has so increased in this type of racing that, for the first time three years ago, it was spread over two days. Last year one day of ocean racing was cancelled due to the weather, the only cancellation during Race Week.

More and more boats have entered each year with record turnouts the past three years. Another record is anticipated for this weekend's racing.

The City of Boston Bermuda Cup, a beautiful and historic punch bowl, has been in the custody of the Quincy Y.C. for more than 50 years. It was presented by the City of Boston around 1905 for a yacht race from Boston to Bermuda. This race was never held and in 1911 the city again put the cup up for an ocean race to be held on Labor Day 1911 to become the permanent possession of the winner. That race was won by Hollis Burgess, a AYC member, in his sloop Marie L.

Burgess generously made the Quincy Y.C. trustee of the cup which was placed in annual competition as a perpetual trophy. In 1968 the Quincy Y.C. presented the trophy to the OBRWA for Race Week competition.

This beautiful and valuable trophy is presented to the annual winner to be held by him until the succeeding Race Week. The winner is to be presented a suitably engraved keeper trophy for his permanent possession.

The 1982 winners were Peter Galvin, A; Chuck Moore, B, and Allen Trebbien, C.

The Harry Warner Memorial Trophy was presented to the OBRWA in 1968 by the Warner family and the Town River Yacht Club as a perpetual trophy to be raced for by cruising type trimarans. It is annually engraved and held by the winner until Race Week of the following year when it is to be returned to the association. A suitably engraved keeper trophy is to be awarded the winner for his permanent possession.

Handsome Trophies Bring Out Sailors Of All Ages

A number of handsome and coveted trophies will be competed for by hundreds of sailors - men, women, boys and girls during the 46th edition of Quincy Bay Race Week.

Among them:
The Capt. James Berwick Finlay Memorial Trophy was presented to the Quincy Yacht Club in 1948 by Albert W. Finlay, his father, for competition during Quincy Bay Race

Week. This beautiful trophy presented in loving memory of a son who during his lifetime did much to advance the sport of yachting on Massachusetts Bay is awarded annually to the yacht or yachtsman considered to have made the most outstanding record or to have performed some signal act of sportsmanship during Race Week. It is annually to be suitably engraved and will remain in the custody of the Quincy Yacht Club. A suitably engraved keeper trophy will be awarded the winner for his permanent possession.

Last year's winner was Joseph Carven Jr.

The Fred Hunt Memorial Trophy is a perpetual trophy presented annually since 1966 by the patriot Ledger in memory of a man who served the newspaper for more than three decades as a yachting writer and its yachting editor. A deep water sailor and a racing enthusiast, Hunt played a major role in the success and growth of Quincy Bay Race Week and the sport itself.

This trophy is to be awarded annually to a person who has demonstrated a high degree of sportsmanship and a willingness to help others in the advancement of the yacht racing sport and who has contributed to the success of Quincy Bay Race Week. The trophy is to be held until the succeeding Race Week by the home club of its winner who is to be awarded a suitable keeper trophy for his permanent possession.

Last year's winner was Ray Reagan.

The Reynolds Memorial Trophy is a perpetual trophy presented to the Quincy Bay Race Week Association in 1966 by the family of John Reynolds, an ardent supporter of and skipper in the Day Sailer Class until his untimely death in 1965.

This beautiful trophy is to be awarded annually to the Race Week winner in the Hustler Class and is to be held by him until the race week of the following year when it is to be returned to the Association. A suitably engraved keeper trophy is to be awarded to the winner for his permanent possession.

Joseph Carven Jr. was last year's winner.

The Coke Trophy was presented for the first time last year by the Coca-Cola Company to stimulate interest in overall competition.

Last year's winner was Jeffery Knight.

The 1300 Trophy has been presented each year since 1960 to the QBRWA by Radio Station WJDA to demonstrate its great and cooperative interest in Race Week and to aid in the stimulation of racing interest among the junior class.

This beautiful trophy is awarded annually to the winning skipper in the Turnabout Class and becomes his permanent possession.

The winner last year was Dan Callahan.

The Commodore Isadore Bromfield Trophy was presented seven years ago to the QBRWA by the Metropolitan Yacht Club.

This trophy is awarded annually to the Race Week winner according to the deed of gift. The winner is to be presented a suitably engraved keeper trophy for his permanent possession.

Last year's winner was Bill Hicks.

The Commodore Charles R. Wing Memorial Trophy was presented to the QBRWA last year by his friends and family as a perpetual trophy to be awarded annually to the winner in the Red Fleet on Town River Yacht Club's Day of Race Week.

The winner a year ago was Jonathan Barrett.

Martin's Defeats Woodward's To Clinch First Place

Martin's Plumbing clinched first place in the Roy Perkins Softball League with a 2-1 victory over two-time defending champion Woodward's Spring in a game that took only 56 minutes to complete.

The game featured excellent pitching and outstanding defense by both teams. Each team scored a run in the first inning and Martin's scored the winning run in the fifth on John Badger's home run. Winning pitcher Brian Cochran allowed eight hits while Martin's collected only five off Kevin Rooney.

Woodward's was hoping for a win after jumping on Trucks of Quincy, 15-1. Woodward's pounded out 21 hits, 15 of them in the first two innings. Rooney again was outstanding on the mound, giving up only four hits and no earned runs. Mark Prescott had a two-run homer in the second for Woodward's.

The Niners are still looking for second place and a playoff bye as they defeated VFW, 17-6, and South Shore Buick, 10-5. The Niners are one game away from second place.

The Baskers defeated the Sedators, 9-5.

South Shore Buick picked up its first two wins of the season, edging Trucks, 8-7, and upsetting Martin's, 7-4. Buick controlled Martin's with outstanding offense and defense for the season's biggest upset.

The standings: Martin's, 16-3; Woodward's, 15-5; Niners, 14-6; Trucks of Quincy, 9-11; Baskers, 8-11; Sedators, 8-11; VFW, 6-14; South Shore Buick, 2-17.

White Sox Defeat Dodgers For Triple A Title

The American League champion White Sox defeated the National League Dodgers in four games to win the Quincy Triple A Baseball League title.

The White Sox, after finishing 13-3 in their division, defeated the second place Indians in the best two out of three series to qualify for the finals.

The Dodgers won the first game, 8-5, with Ken Cawleski the winning pitcher and Eddie Welby the loser. White Sox catcher Chris Standing hit two home runs to deep center field to account for all five runs. Jeff McClory also had three hits. For the Dodger Cawleski had two hits.

The White Sox won the next three games to win the league crown. They won the second game, 25-3, with Sean Munroe pitching two-hit ball. McClory, Munroe and Chris DiNatale had two hits each and Stephen Nabstedt, Joey DiChristafaro, Bobby Herman and Jeff Pugliese one each. Chris Roach and Gerry Dunning each reached base three times.

The White Sox won the next game, 3-2, with super performances by the rival pitchers, Angelo Kryanis of the White Sox, who gave up just two hits and struck out 11, and Cawleski Pugliese, Steve Kohler, Phil Cosgrove and Standing turned in fine defensive plays with Standing putting the tag on the prospective tying run to end the game. DiNatale and Jason Vega sparked in the outfield.

The White Sox won the clincher, 9-5, with Munroe the winning pitcher. It was the best defensive game of the year for the champions with Pugliese making two super catches at second base, Kohler making four fine plays at third base and Kryanis three fine plays at shortstop. Munroe also fielded well. The catch of the game was turned in by Dodger second baseman Billy Curry, who caught a hard line drive to save two runs. Standing had two doubles and Cosgrove, DiChristafaro, DiNatale, Nabstedt and Munroe a hit apiece. For the Dodgers Karen Mosher had two hits.

South Shore Camera Club Launches Membership Drive

The South Shore Camera Club has launched a membership drive for the new season which will begin Tuesday, Sept. 13.

The club meets the needs of the beginner as well as the advanced photographer. The club will meet on the second and fourth Tuesday of the month.

On the second Tuesday of the month, there will be a regular monthly competition among members in both black and white print and color slides.

The fourth Tuesday of the month will be informative. The program will include lectures and various demonstrations on photographic topics.

All meetings start promptly at 7:45 p.m. at Memorial Congregational Church Hall, 65 Newbury Ave., North Quincy.

The South Shore Camera Club extends a friendly invitation to those interested in photography to attend a meeting, meet the members and learn more about photography. For more information write to: Box 32, North Quincy, MA 02171, or call Ken Taft at 328-3866.

The Company Theatre To Present 'Grease'

Quincy students will be among the cast of the Company Theatre which will present the '50's Rock 'n' Roll musical "Grease" Friday to Sunday, Aug. 12-13-14, at 8 p.m. at South Junior High School, Weymouth.

"Grease" is the story of students at Rydell High - where the gangs - the T-Birds and the Pink Ladies "rule the school".

Among the T-Birds from Quincy are Mark Carey (North Quincy High '81) as Doody, and Mike Costa (North Quincy High '83) as Mongo.

The boys from Quincy will be performing the musical number "Greased Lightning" with Jeff Cohen (Putzie), Tim Kilburn (Sonny), Derek Stearns (Kinicke), and David Connolly (Danny) on top of the classic red MG convertible loaned by Goldies' Inc. of Quincy.

The challenge of getting the car into the school was one of the most difficult. The Company has ever had to face.

Due to the car's width and limited doorway space, the MG had to be rolled on its side, placed on a dolly, and pushed down specially constructed ramps.

Also appearing from Quincy as students at Rydell are Sheila Egan, Beth Pacino, Lisa Rodriguez, Anisse Rodriguez, Bryan Galligan, Linda Welby as "Patti Simcox", and Marco Zanelli as "Eugene".

Ann Carroll (North Quincy High '84) is portraying the T-Birds shop teacher, Miss Murdock, and Amy Colby (Quincy High '85) is portraying Jan, a member of the Pink Ladies. This is Amy's first major supporting role in a musical. Dave Cuervals, (North Quincy High '83) is appearing as Spike, leader of another gang - The Scorpions.

Tickets are available at reduced rates in advance. For further information, call 335-5480 or 749-3258.

Craft Fair Flea Market At Central Middle School

The Quincy Parent Advisory Council to Special Education is sponsoring a Craft Fair and Flea Market Saturday at Central Middle School, Hancock St., from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

It Will Cost Up To $2,000 To 'Steal' Cable TV

People who "steal" cable television service or attach unauthorized devices to their CATV equipment will face fines of up to $2,000 and a jail term of up to a year, State Senator Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy) warns.
The new law, effective Aug. 15, makes tampering with cable equipment a violation of the same law as tampering with telephone equipment.

Harold said, "Anyone considering the purchase of any of the CATV devices advertised in magazines should check this law carefully before doing so."
Harold noted that the law also prohibits the possession of such devices with intent to fraudulently use them, so that it would serve no purpose to obtain such devices before the new law is effective.

The statute makes it illegal to fraudulently obtain service, or use any apparatus to obtain service fraudulently.
Another section of the law provides for a $100 fine and 30-day jail sentence for making false statements to obtain service or charging service to the account of another person.

"The application of this law to cable service will have considerable impact on homemade devices."

STARSCOPE

by Clare Annswell

WEEK OF: AUGUST 11

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Small windfall may arrive after the weekend; think carefully before making any investment. You have unexpected success at demanding respect and/or seeking a raise.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Week sees you involved with intellectual individuals; don't be inhibited about articulating your own ideas. Back could give you a pain - avoid excessive lifting, bending, dancing.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Enjoy an inexpensive new hobby, with the prospect of its leading to friendship. Secretive relative may decide to spill the beans. Announcement of celebration arrives by Wednesday.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

It's tempting to offer more advice than anyone wants - try to hold back. Shy admirer may decide to speak out now. Shaky relationship stabilizes and remains on a steady course.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Accent is on recreation and exercise, especially partnership activities. Fashion and design are spotlighted too. Standard of living shows signs of gradual improvement.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

A learning week, in which you actually benefit from recent disappointments. Chance to make extra cash opens up; you may be able to sell art objects for considerable profit.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Coworkers and younger family members prove your greatest supporters, but a newfound friend shows a rebellious side. Adaptability is a handy trait during an unpredictable week.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Travel has better results than initially thought, especially if you're off to an all-new destination. News you've been waiting for arrives by weekend; allow time to absorb it.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Bring along an imaginative friend if shopping for art objects or antiques. His flair combined with your instincts can lead to some wise buys. In romance, expect the unexpected.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Intellectual challenges make for a stimulating week. There's friendship too, but only if you're prepared to listen more than you talk. Allies prove loyalty in subtle ways.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Plans are being laid for upcoming promotion or award, so keep a high profile. Tensions ease following a family powwow, though the onus of responsibility rests on your shoulders.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Escapist activities and lighthearted friendship are themes of this week. Still, it's not a worry-free time; family situation requires a decision by Tuesday-Wednesday.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You're a born optimist, a born organizer, a born leader. And you can be bossy, and easily hurt. Educational growth is accentuated through autumn, to be followed by a period of personal advances. Important professional decision benefits from end-of-year dialogue.

BORN THIS WEEK

August 11th, host Mike Douglas; 12th, actress Jane Wyatt; 13th, actor Neville Brand; 14th, actress Susan St. James; 15th, actress Janice Rule; 16th, actor Robert Culp; 17th, actress Maureen O'Hara.

Pearce Named To Head Job Training Council

Charles A. Pearce, president of the Quincy Savings Bank, has been elected chairman of the South Coastal Private Industry Council, the local policy-making arm of the Federal Job Training Partnership Act.

The Job Training Partnership Act replaces CETA (Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) and provides the business community an opportunity to improve public employment and training programs.

The South Coastal Council covers 23 communities from Quincy to Plymouth.

"This new effort," said Pearce, "will show the business community's commitment to helping shape those policies and programs that are so vital to assuring the economic vitality of our communities."

"I am confident that the business will distinguish itself and help establish a truly effective public-private partnership to serve the staffing needs of business and the economic opportunity needs of the South Shore."

The Job Training Partnership Act attempts to establish a workable public-private partnership to help economically disadvantaged and displaced workers obtain training, retraining and jobs.

It is intended to allow communities to establish the kind of job training structure most suitable to their needs. It concentrates funds on actual job training and limits income support payments to trainees.

Federal funds will be invested in the development of productive, independent potential employees in the business community and provide opportunity for people who need a second chance at the job market.

A slate of nominees approved for the South Coastal Private Industry Council includes:

Charles Pearce, Quincy Savings Bank; John Yunits, Yunits Engineering Co.; Eugene Roundtree, All-Stainless, Inc.; Frank Bronstein, Building 19, Inc.; Rita Welch, Colonial Nursing Home; Jack Hill, Meriman, Inc.; Joan Hart, Lantana, Inc.

John Doody, Mattakee Insurance Agency; Paul Delorey, Patriot Ledger; Jack Myatt, Myatt and Co.; Jack Fogarty, General Dynamics; John Nigro, Presidential Sheet Metal; Paul Cayer, The Foxboro Co.; Curtis Collision, Ocean Spray Cranberries.

John Spence, Rockland

Trust Co.; David Mayer, Mayer Real Estate; Linda Dixon, Linda Dixon Marketing and Consulting Service; Karen Howland, Mayflower Sea Foods; Edward Nicoles, Plymouth Public Schools; Dr. Lawrence Creedon, Quincy Public Schools.

Stephen W. Nease, Eastern Nazarene College; Dr. Clifford W. Easton, South Shore Vocational Technical High School; Carmine D'Olimpio-Giro Cardinal, State Labor Council; Richard Hinkley and Rosemary Wahlberg, Community Action Program.

Susan K. March, Massachusetts Rehabilitation Commission; David Knight, South Shore Economic Development Corp.; William Lupica, Division of Employment Security; William McKinnon, State Department of Public Works.

The South Shore Chamber of commerce has been designated the "general purpose business organization" to organize the business community and staff and support the Private Industry Council.

The city of Quincy is the grant recipient and administrative entity, working in cooperation with the Plymouth Board of Selectmen.

QUINCY RESIDENTS show their numbers as they wait outside the Quincy Savings Bank's main office Saturday night, for low interest mortgages. Carol D'Olimpio (left) and Mr. and Mrs. David Donahue took their positions at 5 p.m. Friday and were ready to stay until 9 a.m. Tuesday morning to apply for the low interest MHFA loans.

Home Buyers Camp Out For 11% Mortgages

The vicinities of some Quincy banks took on the appearance of campgrounds over the weekend as people lined up for a shot at 11 per cent mortgages promised to first time home buyers.

"I've been here since Friday night," said Stacy Kapsaskis of Jamaica Plain, who was the first in line outside Multi Bank Mortgage Co., 1354 Hancock St. "I figure I'm saving 21 cents a second."

The 11 per cent mortgages are being offered by the Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency (MHFA) to first time home buyers at 3 per cent below the prevailing mortgage interest rate.

That figures to save home buyers $90,000 over the 30-year life of the mortgage.

The first three in line in front of Multi Bank Mortgage were Kapsaskis, David Doenges and Robert Malvesti, both of Quincy. They were there, sleeping in cars and beach chairs, since Friday.

Kapsaskis said that C. Alan Chambers, president of Multi Bank Mortgage, had obtained permission for them to stay on the street.

Vouchers for the 11 per cent mortgage were given out at Multi Bank Mortgage at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Squantum Burn Victim Stable

Michael Kiley, 16, of 119 Crabtree Rd., Squantum, is in stable condition at Carney Hospital, Dorchester with burns suffered Saturday night when he touched a wire on a pole near his home.

A spokesman for the hospital said Tuesday young Kiley has been removed from the intensive care unit and is "doing well" in the progressive care unit.

A spokesman for Mass Electric said the youngster climbed the pole at 18 Bellevue Rd. and came in contact with the live wire. He fell some 20 feet down the pole.

As a result of the mishap,

Hannon Undergoes Heart Surgery

Former Mayor Walter J. Hannon, 51, was scheduled to undergo triple bypass heart surgery yesterday (Wednesday) at University Hospital in Boston.

Hannon, who is now director of development at Boston Harbor Marina, power was out to some 15 or 20 homes in Squantum for about a half hour shortly before midnight.

suffered a heart attack at his home last week and was rushed to City Hospital. Later he was transferred to Boston.

The Hannon family has requested that no information be given out about his ailment or his condition.

Quincy Court May Lose Two Towns

By TOM HENSHAW

A bill currently in the House Ways and Means may take some of the heavy workload off the Quincy District Court by shifting two of its towns into the Stoughton district.

The bill has been filed annually for several years but this time State House insiders say that it has a good chance of passing.

Presiding Justice Albert Kramer says he is not that sure but he is all for the bill that would take the towns of Randolph and Holbrook out of Quincy's jurisdiction and give them to Stoughton.

"There is tremendous crowding in this court," said Judge Kramer. "The period between arraignment and conference used to be two weeks. Now it is extended to six weeks."

"If we could move a couple of the smaller towns out of the district we could see some daylight. I don't think the bill will go through but I hope it does."

The Quincy court — technically the District Court of East Norfolk — has jurisdiction over the city of Quincy and the towns of Braintree, Weymouth, Cohasset, Randolph, Holbrook and Milton.

The Stoughton court has the towns of Stoughton, Canton, Avon and Sharon.

Kramer said he would like to see the town of Cohasset removed from the Quincy District Court and given to Hingham, although the two are in different counties.

"It seems ridiculous for Cohasset police to bring prisoners past the Hingham District Court and take them all the way to Quincy," he said.

The Quincy District Court is one of the three busiest in the state, topped or challenged only by Boston Municipal Court and the Central District Court of Worcester.

The communities in the Quincy district have a combined population of about 300,000 people while the Stoughton district has only some 70,000.

Removal of Randolph and Holbrook would shift from 40,000 to Stoughton and, according to court officials, would lift about 20 percent of the workload from Quincy.

Relocating Corporate Headquarters

Howard Johnson Co. Coming Home

Howard Johnson Company and Three Heritage Drive Associates announced Tuesday that Howard Johnson's had signed a lease to relocate its corporate headquarters to the new building at One Monarch Drive, State Street South, North Quincy.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said he "welcomes Howard Johnson's back to the city of its birth. This move is a very positive step in the continuing development effort by the city of Quincy."

The new Ho Jo headquarters is about a mile from Beale St. in Wollaston where Howard Johnson, the founder of the company, first opened a variety store and started making ice cream near Wollaston railroad station in the mid-1920s. Johnson died in 1972 at the age of 74.

Under the 10-year lease agreement, Howard Johnson's will occupy three floors of this seven-story, 332,000 square-foot building, making it the largest single tenant in the building. It will also operate the 525-seat cafeteria on the building's first floor.

The building has a high-quality restaurant on the top floor, a health club and retail space on the first floor. The remaining space is currently under lease negotiations.

"We are very excited and happy that Howard Johnson's is coming home to Quincy," said Peter O'Connell, president of O'Connell Brothers.

"Our decision to move

Condon, Collins Tilt Over Political Signs

Mary Collins, a candidate for the City Council from Ward 6 has complained to the building inspector about illegal political signs in residential areas on East Squantum St. in North Quincy.

Her opponent, Councilor Joanne Condon, said the signs had been erected by error and had been taken down and, she added, "I wish we could get into more substantive issues in this campaign."

"The city ordinance reads that political signs may be erected on business and commercially zoned property 30 days prior to the election and on residential property only 10 days before," said Mrs. Collins.

"The incumbent ward councilor, Mrs. Condon, who is also chairman of the Ordinance Committee, has violated this ordinance by placing her political signs in residential areas prematurely.

"It's all a misunderstanding," said Mrs. Condon. "The person who is handling campaign signs misread the ordinance. I had the first indication of the violation this (Tuesday) morning and the signs came down."

"I'm not sure that is enough reason to elect Mrs. Collins instead of Joanne Condon."

Squantum Included In Home Rehab Program

Squantum is to be included in the city's low interest home rehabilitation loan program, according to an announcement by City Councillor Joanne Condon.

The program is funded through the federal Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) and is administered by the Planning Department in designated neighborhoods.

In the past, due to federal regulations, no substantial rehabilitation has been available in Squantum although continuous efforts have been made to do so.

In the city's 1983-84 CDBG program, however, the policy has been altered to make the loans available in Squantum.

Such loans will be provided at 5 percent interest with a $5,000 maximum and five year terms for repayment.

The loans can be used for energy conservation improvements, elimination of code violations and other health and safety hazards, and the painting of housing exteriors.

Income limits range between $17,250 for a household of one to $30,800 for a household of eight or more persons.

For additional information, visit the Quincy Housing Rehabilitation Office at City Hall or call the office at 773-1380, extension 398.

Dukakis Keynote At NFPA Conference

Gov. Michael S. Dukakis was one of the keynote speakers Monday at the opening day of the second annual "Learn Not To Burn" Conference at the National Fire Protection Association headquarters in West Quincy.

The three-day conference brought together fire safety educators, government officials and communications experts from 40 states plus Japan, New Zealand and Kuwait to attend workshops on fire education.

A special emphasis this year was placed on new and innovative techniques to carry out local and regional firesafety programs.

Other keynote speakers included NDPA President Robert W. Grant and Fred J. Villella, associate director of training and education for the Emergency Management Agency. Actor Dick Van Dyke, firesafety spokesman on TV, delivered a videotaped greeting.

Security Protection Promised At Tobin Towers

Ward 5 Councillor Stephen McGrath announces that Tobin Towers, at 80 Clay St., Wollaston, will soon be provided with security protection during the nighttime hours.

McGrath said he has received commitments for the security from both Mayor Francis McCauley and Planning Director James Lydon. Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds will be used to finance the hiring of at least one full-time security guard, to be on duty during the crucial hours of the night when problems have existed in the past.

There has been a potential problem for security funding at the Clay St. Senior Citizen facility due to the reluctance of HUD to approve funds for security to the Housing Authority for the state funded Tobin Towers.

McGrath indicated that with the city's commitment to provide CDBG funds, the problem is resolved.

The positions funded will be filled by the Housing Authority on a contractual basis.

McGrath explained, "It is vitally important that we protect the senior citizens of our community. They have contributed immensely, and continue to contribute to the quality of our city, and we must make certain that they are able to live in their homes without the threat of harassment, vandalism, or theft.

"The city must do whatever is possible to provide necessary and valuable services, such as security protection, to the elderly population of Quincy."

Haar Harbor Report 'Giant Step' Against Pollution

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has called the Haar report on pollution in Boston harbor "a giant step towards restoring one of Quincy's most important natural resources, its beaches, shore line and bay."

The report, issued by Dr. Charles M. Haar, the special court-appointed master, pinpointed the major cause of harbor pollution at the MDC's sewage treatment plants at Nut Island and Deer Island.

William Golden, attorney for the city in its suit against the MDC, said the recommendations in the report set up for the first time "a blue print for effective short term and mid term cleanup measures" for Quincy Bay.

Dr. Haar said he is "shocked by the condition of the harbor" and he offered six suggestions for cleaning it up.

One of them calls for the MDC to submit to the Legislature as soon as possible a financial plan for providing whatever is needed to upgrade the entire sewage system.

Other suggestions included:

Longer pipes to carry sewage farther out to sea from Nut Island.

A reduction in volume of raw sewage from Moon Island, the backup plant to Deer Island for Boston sewage.

Repairing leaks and halting illegal connections to reduce the amount of ground water that enters the system.

Submission of a plan to resolve understaffing and maintenance problems at the Nut Island and Deer Island facilities.

Haar was named by Judge Paul G. Garrity to investigate the pollution problem after Quincy filed suit against the MDC and the city of Boston to halt harbor pollution.

City Hospital Lab Wins Accreditation

The laboratory at City Hospital has been awarded a two-year accreditation by the College of American Pathologists based on the results of a recent on-site inspection.

Mini-Bike Rider Hurt

Daniel Stone, 15, of 64 Captains Walk, Germantown, was injured Sunday when his mini-bike struck a parked car on Figurehead Lane.

He was treated and released from Quincy City Hospital.

Police said Stone told them the accelerator on his bike struck open and he lost control and hit the car, owned by Kenneth C. Martin of 4 Figurehead Lane.

The accreditation recognizes the quality of service provided to patients and physicians by Laboratory Director Dr. Felix Rodriguez, Manager Anthony Richard and their staff.

The CAP inspection is recognized by the federal government as requiring adherence to standards equal to or more stringent than the government's own.

It evaluates the laboratory's hematology, chemistry, blood bank and microbiology department as well as overall administration.

Also studied were the records and quality control of the laboratory, the education and qualifications of the staff, adequacy of facilities, equipment, laboratory safety and management.

Energy Independence Delivers First Coal

The coal-fired, coal-carrying Energy Independence, launched only last month at the General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard, has delivered its first cargo of coal to the New England Electric System's Brayton Point Station in Somerset.

The 665-foot collier docked with 36,000 tons of coal Thursday, Aug. 11, and discharged its cargo automatically in 10 hours at a rate of 3,600 tons per hour. A ship using conventional dockside equipment takes 40 hours to unload that much coal.

Energy Independence, the first such vessel to be built in the United States in a half century, will make about 60 round trips a year carrying a total of 2.4 million tons of coal.

'ENERGY INDEPENDENCE,' launched only last month at the Fore River shipyard, has delivered its first cargo of coal to New England Electric's Brayton Point station in Somerset.

Explosives Bandit Robs Quincy Bay Inn

A man who told the desk clerk that he had explosives in his bag held up the Quincy Bay Inn early Saturday morning and escaped with about $200 in cash.

A similar holdup method was used to rob the Swiss Chalet motel in Dorchester a few hours earlier.

The man was described as about 30, 5-foot-7 with a mustache and wearing a brown leather jacket.

A second man waited outside for him in an orange or brown Toyota and they fled south on Hancock St.

My Dad

(Editor's Note: It is the Quincy Sun's policy not to publish letters that are not signed first and last name. In this particular case we are making an exception to this policy.)

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

If ever I were to nominate someone's dad for father of the year I would not hesitate to nominate my dad.

In these days when young kids pop pills, drink, and commit crimes, they don't seem to care about their parents I do.

Without putting him on a pedestal I think he is terrific. I'm not saying he is perfect, no one is, but my dad is pretty darn close.

There isn't a thing, no matter how small or large, that he wouldn't do for his family or the guy next door. Even in the worst of times he never put himself first. He always worried about my mom, my brother and I. If he was worried about himself he never showed it.

For example, for the past 16 months my dad has been very ill. In fact, last year we feebly thought we were going to lose him.

To make a long story short, he had to go to surgery about six times. The first time he had his whole left lung removed. Later he developed a severe staph infection for which he was in complete isolation for one month.

To complicate matters he also had to have a rib removed. Thanks to some wonderful doctors and nurses he came home 59 days later and was able to see his 25th anniversary.

Everything was going fine until two months ago when he developed respiratory difficulties and ended up with another hospital stay of seven and a half weeks. This time with a permanent tracheotomy.

Of course, for every silver lining a black cloud must fall. Five times the trache tube slipped and he had a new one put in each time. Thank the Lord above, he is now home and recovering quickly.

During this whole time many families would have fallen apart in one way or another but ours never did. We had a lot of support from our many, many friends, neighbors, relatives and parish priests.

May I take this time on behalf of my dad to thank all those involved including the nurses at the hospital. If it weren't for all of you I wouldn't be writing this letter.

Of course, special thanks to my dad for all the little things you do (too many to mention) even though we may not show it.

We love you, dad
Your little girl,
Daisy

NEUTRAL TAXI in Ward 6.

Neutrality In Ward 6

How dull is this year's municipal election? It's so dull that a North Quincy taxi company has caused the most excitement so far.

The company's cabs are travelling through Ward 6 streets with two political bumper stickers on them: one for Ward 6 Councillor Joanne Condon and the other for challenger, School Committee Vice Chairwoman Mary Collins.

The bumper stickers on the front of the cabs (see photo) are separated only by the number plate.

The taxi company, obviously, is staying neutral in this one.

So far, the bumper stickers are the most noticeable thing in this year's election, producing mostly smiles — sometimes a quizzical look — from pedestrians and other motorists.

As of this writing, Jens Thornton the third candidate in that race, hasn't gotten equal billing.

THORNTON, however, will get top billing on the Sept. 13 primary election ballot.

He won the top spot at the traditional drawing for position on the ballot.

Collins won the No. 2 spot and Condon will be No. 3. Their names will be the only ones on the Sept. 13 ballot.

NORMALLY, a primary election with contests for mayor, City Council and School Committee, would run in the neighborhood of $32,000.

This three-candidate election which will be held only in Ward 6 will only cost about $6,000 estimates City Clerk John Gillis.

It means it will cost $6,000 just to eliminate one name for the final election in November.

IF COLLINS OR Thornton had not gotten into the Ward 6 race, there would not have been a preliminary election this year.

IT WOULD HAVE been the first time in 43 years the city had gone without a preliminary election.

Last time was 1940 when there was only one candidate for mayor (incumbent Thomas Burgin) six candidates for City Council at-large and three for School Committee.

BURGIN

There were no ward council races that year.

FOR A PRELIMINARY election, of course, it takes a required minimum number of candidates: three for mayor, seven for City Council at-large, seven for School Committee and three for each ward council seat.

BURGIN who ran unopposed in 1940 was the only Quincy mayor accorded that honor until this year. Now Francis McCauley shares with him that footnote in Quincy history. McCauley has no opposition for re-election.

QUINCY became a city in 1888 but did not hold preliminary elections until 1926. And that one brought out quite a field for mayor:

Charles A. Ross, Thomas J. McGrath, Forrest I. Neal, John D. Mackay and Joseph L. Whiton who finished in that order.

McGrath topped Ross in the final election 9,448 to 8,982. But Ross went on to become mayor in 1933 and served nine years — longest of any mayor under Plan A. Whiton was the City's first Plan A Mayor in 1917. Mackay was never mayor but became State Senator.

SPEAKING (above) of Mary Collins, you might say she is carrying her campaign to sea. A boat cruising near the Quincy Bay Race Week Marine Parade Sunday, sported a 2½ by 12 foot canvas sign: "Collins, Ward 6."

She will also continue the campaign on land. A fundraiser reception is scheduled for Tuesday, Aug. 23 from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Squantum Yacht Club. Tickets may be obtained by calling Janet Coughlin, 328-5124.

recognizes the importance of having all corporate office staff in a single building to strengthen employee communication and bring efficiency to our operations," said G. Michael Hostage, chairman of the board and president of the Howard Johnson Company.

"This particular building and site, located near other prestigious tenants, is well suited to our search for a quality location near Boston and the airport, and with easy access to our current employees."

Howard Johnson's employees will begin occupying the building by the end of 1983. All 540 employees will be relocated from space currently occupied on Forbes Road and at South Shore Plaza in Braintree, and Boston Street in Dorchester by early 1984.

General partners in Three Heritage Drive Associates include: O'Connell Associates of Quincy and Forge Development Corporation of Springfield, an affiliate of Monarch Life Insurance Company.

The building will be named the Howard Johnson Company building.

$200 Minimum Fine For Putting Household Rubbish In Highway Containers

People who dispose of household rubbish in highway refuse containers will soon face a minimum fine of $200, State Senator Paul D. Harold (D-Quincy) warns.

The new law quadruples the old $50 minimum fine, set in 1962.

Harold said the law also applies to businesses which dispose of commercial trash in the receptacles, which are intended for use by the traveling public.

"It should be stressed that the $200 is a minimum fine," Harold said. "The court could certainly assess a higher penalty."

The new law, effective Aug. 29, also provides that half the money collected from such fines shall be turned over to the city or town where the offense occurred.

There are 132 rooms in the White House.

Farmer's Market Brings Country To City Shoppers

By LORRAINE MASON

Where can you find raspberries that were picked fresh out of the berry patch only six hours ago without driving 50 miles into the country.

Why, in the Farmer's Market in the John Hancock Parking Lot in Quincy, of course.

A cool breeze blows through the tall, sweet gum trees that shade the market area in the middle of the lot, making shopping more pleasant in the warm weather.

The Farmer's Market, sponsored by the Expanded Food and Nutrition Program at Norfolk County (EFNEP) and the Quincy Planning Department, opened June 24 and will continue every Friday, 12 noon to 5 p.m., until October.

Farmers and gardeners come from Scituate, Hopkington, Dorchester, Duxbury, Hingham, Weymouth, Holbrook and as far away as Medway and Westboro to set up stands and sell their goods.

The Farmer's Market was started last year through the joint efforts of Nancy Dowling and the nutrition assistants at the EFNEP in Quincy.

"Eighty to 85 percent of the food we eat is imported from out of state," said Dowling. "This is more costly and it is possible to rely more on Massachusetts-grown produce."

Dowling said prices at the Farmer's Market are comparable to those in a supermarket but, as the season progresses and there is more competition among farmers, prices will come down.

"The Farmer's Market is something that is mutually beneficial for the public and our office," Dowling said.

It's also a good time for homemakers and senior citizens to be outside in the warm weather and meet new people.

Nutrition Assistant Anneli Johnson, who has been responsible for involving the community, City Hall and downtown businessmen in the program, said she has asked City Councillor Leo Kelly to see about putting in more benches near the market for the elderly to rest.

Quincy Banks Bloodmobile

Aug. 31

Quincy banks will sponsor a Red Cross bloodmobile Quincy Banks Day, Wednesday, Aug. 31 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the South Shore Bank Annex, Chestnut St., Quincy Sq.

Employees of all Quincy banks and the general public between the ages of 17 and 65, in general good health, have never had hepatitis, weigh at least 110 pounds, and have not given blood in the past eight weeks may donate.

Appointments may be made by calling 471-5440.

While relaxing, shoppers can ask questions about nutrition and the Farmer's Market and enjoy a 35-cent drink made with 100 per cent fruit juice.

Along with customers, the market has also attracted Quincy residents who have offered their services to help run the program.

Volunteer Bertha Hanscom works at the drink stand and distributes chances for the farmer's basket raffle held every week.

Hanscom, who lives at Tobin Towers in Wollaston, has been confined to a wheelchair since 1980. She volunteered "to help somebody else and that helps me too. I love it."

Pauline McDonald is an area resident and a shopper who has enjoyed coming to the Farmer's Market, too.

It's good to see Massachusetts-grown foods here," said McDonald. "It's ideal for me. I work just down the street. I can stop on my way home."

There are many kinds of vegetables to choose from such as tomatoes, summer squash, cucumbers, string and wax beans and carrots.

Herbs are also sold. Dowling said she is trying to encourage clients to cut down on sodium and fats in their diets and use more herbs in cooking.

Jeanette MacKenzie, a gardener from Duxbury, grows herbs that can be used as fragrances and medicines as well as cooking ingredients. She sells a wide variety including lemon rose, comfrey and chocolate mint.

Not only are fresh foods sold at the Farmer's Market, but cut flowers and plants are available there too.

Albert Burnett from Burnett Greenhouses in Medway sells begonias, dwarf dahlias and ivy geraniums. He plans to bring in a few vegetables later in the season.

"The market seems to get a little better as time goes on," said Burnett. "As long as people come, the farmers will come. They certainly get foods fresh."

Lack Of Money Closes City Playgrounds Early

The City Council turned down a request by the Park Board for additional funds and the Board immediately shut down the city's playgrounds in order to save $324 in supervisor's salaries.

Foreman Cardarelli was the only employee left in the Park Department and he was transferred to the Highway Department where there were enough funds to pay for removing equipment from the closed playgrounds.

The Park Board had asked the Council for a supplementary budget of $1,300 to take the playgrounds through to Labor Day.

HOOPER PRAISED

Cong. Richard B. Wigglesworth told a Quincy Rotary Club luncheon that he had nothing but praise for President Herbert Hoover whose reconstruction program, he said, was pulling the nation out of the Depression.

"The nation as a whole," he said, "has yet to appreciate the widespread outlines of the program advanced by the President to meet the onslaught of encircling depression in the difficult days through which we have passed."

GIFT FROM SHIPYARD

A special City Council committee was set up to deal with the administration and rehabilitation of Fore River Field in Quincy Point which was offered to the city by the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Co. as a gift for $1.

The field was expected to be ready for football games in the fall.

FLOUR TRUCK MOBBED

A Red Cross Employment Service Bureau truck with 265 bags of flour for the needy was mobbed for nearly an hour by some 100 men and women on South Walnut St. after a woman protested she had been taken off the list for free flour.

QUINCY-ISMS

PHARMACY TOPICS
By Edward David R. Ph.

In testing drugs that may affect life span, one researcher uses parameria for test objects! The one-celled animals (remember them from high school biology?) usually live 14 to 16 days.

Experimental blood test can spot those at risk of essential hypertension years before the disease strikes, in time for preventive care. Clue: their blood absorbs more sodium than normal blood, say scientists at the University of Minnesota.

To avoid post-bypass complication in which graft vessels may become clogged, preventive treatment devised at the Mayo Clinic calls for anti-clotting medication BEFORE surgery.

New face-lift techniques are more effective because fat is removed and muscles tightened up UNDER the skin, providing improved support. Better-looking, longer-lasting results are reported.

New procedure, an alternative to ileostomy, has been done at Lahey Clinic, Burlington, Massachusetts. Portions of small intestine are utilized to create a pelvic waste reservoir that is attached to normal channels.

Artists Studios Suggested For Old Pollard School

The abandoned Pollard School in Quincy Point may be transformed into artists' studios with provisions made for the resident artists to contribute to community arts activities.

A delegation from Quincy, headed by City Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro and Planning Director James Lydon, went to Wayland recently to inspect a similar facility there.

The city will soon be seeking proposals for the disposal of the school. Other abandoned schools in the city have been converted into resident or office condominiums.

"The configuration of the Pollard School is wrong for office or residential development," said Lydon.

The city hired the architectural firm City Design to examine the building for future uses and the firm suggested that the city contact Artists Foundations, Inc., of Boston.

Daniel C. Corrigan, executive director of Artists Foundations, came up with the following suggestions:

- That the building be used for artists studios and work spaces.

- That the auditorium be used for performances, such as music, films, pottery readings, dance performances, etc.

- That the artists in turn contribute a set amount of time to community arts activities centered in the building.

- That funding for programs and a parttime program director come from the Quincy Arts Council (arts lottery funds), Cultural Resource Funds for Quincy schools and, in time, local fund raising.

That the rent the artists pay go to maintain the building.

- That the Foundation and the artists who would be there come up with the funds necessary to put the building back into operation.

- That there be a long term lease with an option to buy should the city desire to sell it with the understanding it could then be converted to legal housing and working space.

Corrigan said the town of Wayland had turned one of its schools over to local artists.

Lydon, and DeCristofaro, along with Judy Cullen, of the Planning Department and Arthur Foley of the Mayor's office, went to Wayland Tuesday to see it.

Lydon said the Artists Foundation would be asked to submit its proposal for the building along with others.

'Peppermint Pettus' Dacey Sundae Contest Winner

Five contestants demonstrated their creative talents at the new Dacey's Convenience Plus store, Quincy Ave., in the recent Quincy Celebrity Sundae Contest.

Jeremiah Dacey, president of the 14-store chain of convenience stores, announces the winner of the contest is D. Curry Pettus, president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce and plant manager of the Braintree Plant of Armstrong World Industries. Pettus is a Quincy resident.

The winning sundae was named "Peppermint Pettus".

Also competing in the Celebrity Sundae Contest were Mayor Francis X. McAuley, Ward 2 Councillor Ted DeCristofaro, School Committee vice chairwoman Mary Collins and Quincy Center Business and Professional Association President Sandy Rounseville.

Dacey announced that a $100 contribution would be given by the company to a charity named by Pettus. Contributions will also be given in honor of the other participants.

"We want to thank all five who took part in the contest," said Dacey.

Employees Of The Month Honored At QCH

Quincy City Hospital Director Mark J. Mundy presented $50 Savings Bonds to July's Employees of the Month, Linda Curtin, R.N., of the Intensive Care Unit, and Charles Queenan of Dietary, at a recent luncheon in their honor.

Miss Curtin, a staff nurse in ICU began working at QCH in June, 1980, as a staff nurse on Surgical 4. She transferred from there to ICU in August, 1982.

Miss Curtin was selected Employee of the Month because of the positive working relationships she maintains with her co-workers in ICU. Her dedication to Quincy City Hospital is evident in her work. She is always ready to help others and is consistently willing to lend a hand.

A life-long resident of Braintree, Miss Curtin graduated from St. Elizabeth's Hospital School of Nursing in June, 1980. She earned her B.S. degree from Boston College in May, 1982, while she worked on S-4. Linda is currently pursuing graduate studies in nursing at Boston College.

Charles Queenan has been employed at Quincy City Hospital for 19 years. He began working in Dietary as a kitchen worker and was later trained as a senior vegetable cook. Queenan now works in all areas of the kitchen.

Queenan was chosen Employee of the Month because of the pride he demonstrates in his work and for his creative ideas that the Dietary Department has implemented. He is also praised for his assistance to his fellow employees. His unselfish attitude is recognized by both his peers and supervisors.

Queenan has lived in Quincy all his life. He attended Quincy Trade School where he studied sheet metal.

Golf Course Sale Opposition Forms

A group of Quincy residents have organized under the banner of "Save the Golf Course" to oppose the sale of the Wollaston Recreational Facility in North Quincy.

The question of selling the county-owned facility will appear on the ballot in the November municipal election in Quincy. The towns in the county already have voted 37,865 to 31,028 for the sale.

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey said the "Save the Golf Course" group is working to inform the public in Quincy of the importance of maintaining the area as open space.

The group also is seeking to publicize the availability of the various recreational facilities which are open to all residents of Norfolk County.

"In addition to the golf course, there are horseshoe pits, swings, slides, shuffleboard and 10 tennis courts," said Morrissey. "During the winter people ice skate on the pond and ski and coast on the golf course."

Mrs. Clara Yeomans, former secretary to the Quincy Conservation Commission, outlined some of the problems that could occur if the 90-acre tract of land were developed at a recent meeting of the group.

"The most threatening problem," she said, "would be the severe overloading of our already overburdened sanitary sewer system. The second most serious problem would be flooding of the residential areas adjacent to the golf course caused by stormwater runoff."

Other concerned members of the group cited the

Public Safety Is Collins Priority

Mary Collins, a candidate for the City Council from Ward 6, says she plans to make public safety and police protection a priority in her campaign.

Mrs. Collins told a rally of 50 campaign workers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Coughlin, 17 Parks Ave., that her door-to-door campaigning has shown to be one of the most frequently mentioned concerns.

"It is clear to me that, as a city councillor, I would have to make this one of my priority items," she said.

"People are concerned about police coverage in the neighborhoods of North Quincy and Scituate."

Mrs. Collins said she hopes to respond to issues raised by her constituency and reflect these during the campaign and when in office.

SMOKE DETECTORS

The most important step in cutting fire deaths has been the installation of automatic smoke detectors in homes. Experts are unanimous in praising the devices as an inexpensive, effective way of saving lives. If you're awake, your nose is as good as an automatic detector. But the problem is that so many people don't wake up until it's too late. We've had actual cases of people who finally woke up, detected the fire, sat up in bed and died right there. They just had no time left to react.

The owner of an older home can purchase a reliable, UL-labeled detector for $30 to $75 from a hardware store. The detector should be fastened about 6 to 12 inches below the ceiling or a corridor wall just outside the bedroom area. More detectors will be needed if bedrooms are located at opposite ends of the home.

Of course, an early warning does no good if the family doesn't know what to do when the alarm goes off. Fire drills are essential, especially for children. Make sure to find a safe exit.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Flowers are placed on graves for reasons of sentiment and loving remembrance. The placement is often an undefinable expression of love at its finest. In fact, the power of flowers is often beyond human definition. Yet, flowers are words and a psychological symbolism clearly understood by all people.

Surprisingly, these evident truths are sometimes ignored. For example, flowers placed on graves following an interment, or placed on graves on special occasions of remembrance, are in public view but they are NOT public property. The flowers are private property.

The right to private possession is likewise sometimes ignored. Many grieving families are disheartened - and outraged - when revisiting a grave and find their flowers gone. Stolen. Aside from an obvious disrespect for private property, it is a shocking situation that should cause offenders to hang their heads in shame. Ironically - every family we or any other funeral director has ever served, would gladly GIVE some of their flowers to anyone if they were asked. Need more be said?

6 ENC Alumni In New Medical Positions

This year three Eastern Nazarene College (ENC) graduates received their M.D. degrees and three alumni received medical appointments.

Peter Doane received the M.D. degree from Loma Linda University School of Medicine. Doane, a 1979 ENC graduate with a B.S. degree in Biology, will do his residency in Family Practice at the Toledo Hospital in Toledo, Ohio.

Brian Kilpatrick graduated with honors from Oral Roberts University School of Medicine. Kilpatrick, a 1979 ENC graduate with a B.S. in Chemistry, will pursue a double residency in Internal Medicine and Pediatrics / Adolescent Medicine at the St. Louis University Medical Center. His wife Joan (Teague), also an ENC alumna, is a registered nurse.

Cynthia Riedel Sainsbury received the M.D. degree from the Medical College of Pennsylvania. Sainsbury, a 1979 graduate of ENC with a B.S. in Biology, will take up residency in Emergency Medicine at the University of Missouri in Kansas City.

Dr. Samuel Henck has accepted appointment as Professor of Family Medicine at the Pennsylvania State University School of Medicine in the Hershey Medical Center. Dr. Henck, a 1958 ENC alumnus with a B.A. in Chemistry, has previously practiced medicine in Upstate New York and Maryland. In addition Henck held the rank of Professor of Medicine at The University of Rochester School of Medicine. Dr. Henck has also served on the Board of Trustees of ENC.

Dr. Richard Simons has recently accepted appointment as Chief Medical Resident at the Pennsylvania State University Medical Center in Hershey, Pennsylvania. Dr. Simons was a Chemistry major at ENC and received his M.D. degree at the Hershey Medical Center where he was also awarded top prize for his outstanding research project. He has recently completed his residency in Internal Medicine at the University of Michigan School of Medicine.

Dr. Stephen Brigham has recently set up practice in radiology in association with the Department of Radiology of Memorial Hospital at Easton, Maryland. Dr. Brigham is a 1973 graduate of ENC with a degree in Chemistry. After receiving his M.D. degree from the Upstate New York Medical School at Syracuse he served residency in several forms of radiology in Albany as well as in Syracuse. Dr. Brigham's most recent project was the writing of a book on radiological and imaging methods, "A Clinician's Guide to Diagnostic Imaging," co-authored with Zach Grossman and David Ellis and published by Raven Press.

Members Lead Service At Squantum

Members of the First Church of Squantum led the congregation in worship Sunday.

Deacon Katherine Hansen gave the call to worship and the opening prayer. Deacon Stewart Scott gave the pastoral prayer and the prayer of dedication.

The sermon was preached by Deacon Thomas Williamson. He stressed that the success of the church is made possible only by the participation and enthusiasm of its members.

Special music for the service was by Daniel Walter, bassoonist, playing "Rock of Ages," as arranged by Benjamin Suchoff. Mary Ruth Scott accompanied on the organ.

Tore Wallin, head usher, was assisted by David Williams.

Greeters for the morning were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lester.

Throughout the month of August, there will be only one service at the church Sundays at 9:30 a.m. This Sunday the preacher will be John R. Herbert.

Salvation Army Pre-School Registration

Iacobucci Announces For Council At Large

Ronald Iacobucci, 27, of 33 South St. has announced his candidacy for an at-large seat on the City Council "to bring a new voice, fresh ideas and a background of seasoned government experience to the City Council."

In his announcement, Iacobucci pledged that as a councillor he would take a leadership role that will result in a better system of accessibility and accountability for the citizens of Quincy.

"As an individual active in city affairs," he said, "I am concerned about the quality of life in Quincy. As a city councillor at large I will deal with these issues and concerns in a realistic and professional manner."

"Quincy faces a future of potential or a future of crisis."

"We must begin to address ourselves to the question, where will Quincy be in five, 10 or 15 years? We must begin to anticipate and adapt to the city's future."

"I offer the citizens of this city leadership, experience, a new voice and a new perspective."

Iacobucci, an executive with Adams Russell Cablevision, has served in several civic capacities, including six years as president of the Lincoln-Hancock Community School Council.

A lifelong resident of Quincy, Iacobucci attended Quincy public schools where he was elected president of the Quincy High and Vocational Technical School Student Council.

As President, he drafted legislation that allowed students to register to vote in their high schools.

"The voter registration law has provided thousands of students over the past 10 years with the opportunity to register and become involved in the government process," he said.

After achieving honor roll marks throughout his high school years, Iacobucci attended Boston College where he was elected president of the Student Government. He was graduated from Boston College in 1977 with a degree in Political Science and Communications.

While in college, Iacobucci was a summer staff assistant to Cong. James A. Burke handling constituent requests.

In 1978, he served as the director of Constituent Services for Lt. Gov. Thomas P. O'Neill III. Following that he went to work for the city of Boston as a special assistant to the Mayor in both the Office of State and Federal Relations and the Commission on the Affairs of the Elderly. He also served as a Little City Hall Manager.

Iacobucci has served for six years as the President of the Lincoln-Hancock Community School Council.

"Community education promotes citizen participation and encourages life long learning," he said. "The Community School Council has worked, through the implementation of this concept, to protect and strengthen the South-West neighborhood."

He also served as the chairman of a special city council committee that was successful in preserving open space on Quarry St. In addition, he has worked actively in many community organizations including the Quincy Citizens Association, the Quincy Historical Society, the Ward Two Civic Association, the Democratic City Committee, the North Quincy Knights of Columbus and the Elks.

Iacobucci is married to the former Judi Bibbo.

Anselmo Challenges Arienti Fund Claim

School Committeeman Frank Anselmo says one of his challengers in the November election is making "false allegations" when he charged the School Committee is not taking full advantage of state and federal aid programs.

Anselmo, who is seeking a sixth four-year term on the Committee, noted that William Arienti said in an Aug. 4 release that he had discovered a program that had been ignored by the Committee.

"For the information of the public," said Anselmo, "the School Committee is aware of and has been using this alleged new discovery by Mr. Arienti."

The program in question is the Commonwealth In Service Institute, a course designed to better educate teachers at no expense to the teachers or the city.

Anselmo said he was informed by School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creodon that:

Collins Asks Traffic Study On E. Squantum St.

Mary P. Collins, a candidate for the City Council from Ward 6, has asked the Council to have a traffic study made of East Squantum St. between Hancock St. and Quincy Shore Drive.

"Numerous residents in the area have complained to me that the shortcutting of cars from Quincy Shore Drive has created a danger in the area," she said in a letter to Council President John J. Lydon Jr.

Barbara Gilfeather Named Deputy Tax Collector

Mayor Francis McCauley has appointed Mrs. Barbara A. Gilfeather of 55 West Elm Avenue, Quincy, as a Deputy Tax Collector for

"Contrary to Mr. Arienti's comments, the school system has been participating in the Commonwealth Inservice Institute for several years."

"No community is allowed more than two individual projects per funding year. In the past we have had two projects approved as follows:

"Teacher training in computer literacy for math and science classes (QHS grades 9-12, Margaret King.)"

"Developing a middle school program for academically talented students (Carol Lee Griffin)."

The amounts received in funding were $1,465 for King and $1,505 for Griffin.

"The areas to be funded during 1983-84 have not yet been determined nor have the application forms been printed," said Creodon. "When they are, we will prepare two new proposals."

"There are numerous busy intersections along this street and the speed limits are not always observed."

"Moreover, the street is narrow and has many curves, all of which serves to create hazardous conditions for the residents, not only of East Squantum St. itself but of all of the intersecting streets."

"Hopefully," she added, "a solution to this situation can be found before there is a tragic mishap caused by the shortcutting."

the City of Quincy.

A life-long resident of Quincy, Mrs. Gilfeather is a graduate of Quincy High School and attended Boston University. She is married to Quincy Police Officer John J. Gilfeather and is the mother of three children.

A Deputy Tax Collector assists in the collection of overdue automobile excise taxes.

Kennedy To Run Again For School Committee

Christopher F. Kennedy, dean of students at Northeastern University, has announced his candidacy for a third four-year term on the Quincy School Committee.

"The importance to Quincy and other cities and towns of their public schools has not diminished despite Proposition 2 1/2 and declining enrollment," said Kennedy, 59, who lives at 27 Barham Ave.

"When I began my School Committee service eight years ago the schools' share of Quincy's tax rate was about equal to or somewhat above the general rate for the first few years."

"Our present situation, however, is well illustrated by the tax bills we received in May of this year."

"The school rate is $60.71 and the general rate (all the rest of the budget) is $115.29, almost twice the school rate."

"This tells me that there must be a strong feeling among too many of our citizens that the education of our young is no longer a top priority."

"This is most unfortunate because it is from young people in our schools today that our future leaders — doctors, governors, lawyers, clergymen, to name just a few — will be drawn."

"We must not do less for them now than we have always done proudly in the past."

Stephen Durkin In School Committee Bid

Stephen J. Durkin, a law clerk who lives at 61 Exeter St., Wollaston, has announced his candidacy for one of the three seats on the School Committee.

Durkin, who is 27, said he has lived in Quincy all his life, wants to raise a family here and "the attractiveness of living in any city is measured in large part by the quality of its public school system."

"In recent years," he said, "I have seen the quality of education in Quincy's school system seriously threatened by drastic and disproportionate budget reductions and a general trend toward de-emphasizing the importance of quality public education."

"As a member of the School Committee, I would work toward lessening the impact of this unfortunate situation by seeking to cut back on the less effective programs in the school budget."

These resources, he said, would be allocated "with an emphasis toward the most vital areas, such as programs in the very early grades, where children acquire the essential skills necessary to make possible future academic success."

"In addition, I would work toward making certain that adequate books and supplies are present in every classroom in the city for the entire school year."

"Moreover, I think it is essential that School Committee members be not only accessible but also responsive to the complaints of parents, teachers and others concerned with the schools."

Durkin is a graduate of North Quincy High School in 1974, the University of Massachusetts in 1978 and the New England School of Law in 1983.

He was employed for two years by the regional attorney, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. He also was a former teacher aide in the Quincy schools.

He is married to the former Maureen Sullivan.

Over 500 At Condon Coffee Hours

More than 500 persons have been invited to attend a series of five coffee hours held by City Councillor Joanne Condon in her campaign for reelection in Ward 6, she reports.

Mrs. Condon said she plans to continue the coffee hours to give constituents a chance to express their concerns and views on city services, particularly in Ward 6.

Recent coffees were hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Robert DeVoe of Young St., Mr. and Mrs. William Ostiguy of Ocean St., Mr. and Mrs. William Moore of Windsor Rd., Mr. and Mrs. William Donnelly of Pratt Rd. and Mrs. Lois Hobin of Edwin St.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous shipyard workers, masons, and pipefitters of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

QBRW A Winner, Despite Cancellations

By TOM SULLIVAN
Despite last Friday's racing being rained out and Saturday's inside line racing being cancelled due to heavy seas, the 46th edition of Quincy Bay Race Week was a success with perfect weather on the other days and some of the best competition in years.

"It was a great week despite the cancellations," said QBRWA president Jack White of the Squantum Yacht Club. "We had perfect conditions on the other days and we had more boats than last year in most classes."

"The Marine Parade Sunday was magnificent with more boats than in the last 20 years with over 150. Last year we had 100 boats. Everyone cooperated beautifully and everything went off like clockwork."

There was one unusual incident and it is still not known who actually won the Governor's Cup.

A Laser with the number 2729 was the first to cross the finish line but nobody knew who the skipper was. The committee had no registration card on No. 2729, no card and no name.

There was no record of that Laser sailing earlier in the week and no one recognized the young man who tacked his way to victory.

As a result the second place finisher, Sheila Orcutt, who had won two previous races, was declared the winner.

Trophies will be presented to all winners Oct. 2 at 3 p.m. at the Squantum Yacht Club.

Rendezvous Night was held Saturday night at Town River Yacht Club with White and Commodore Leith Cosman as hosts.

The other QBRWA officers are Vice President Al Royd, Treasurer Dave Maloney and Secretary Ed Simpson.

Track Club Dominates Frank Kelly Meet

Nearly 200 competed last Saturday in the eighth annual Frank Kelly Memorial Track Meet, named for the Quincy Track Club's founder, at Quincy Veterans Stadium.

The host QTC dominated the meet with several outstanding, multiple winners. Finn Kelly, Laura Cuilla, Mike Jones, Fred Bickford and Tricia Barrett all won more than one gold medal.

In the special boys 6 and under dash, Tommy Meade took third and in the girls event Amanda Janus placed third. In Squire (7-8) boys, John DiGiacomo took third.

In Bantam (9-10) boys, rookie Mike Jones made his QTC debut in grand style, winning the long jump in a record 14-0, taking the 100 and getting second in the 400. In Bantam girls action Wendy Morrill, Regina Murphy and Amy Jones swept the long jump and Janus took third in the 400.

In Midget (11-12) boys events, Sutee Sirikanjanachae placed second in the 200, 400 and long jump.

In the Youth Division Danny Hobin took third in the long jump and second in the high jump; Vinny DiGiacomo took second in the 220 and shot put. Finn Kelly won the 880, high jump and moved up to the senior division, winning the mile. Mike Flebotte took second in the 880.

In girls' Youth Division action Laura Cuilla won the 100 and 200, Cryn Collings took third in the 880, Stacey Welch, Patty Feeney and Melissa Miles swept the long jump and Beth Bunker won the shot put.

In Senior boys, Fred Bickford won the discus, shotput and high jump, Jeff Stryker took seconds in the 220 and long jump, Tom Kearney took third in the long jump and Heath Petracca took third in the mile. In girls action Tricia Barrett won the 880, Alice Reilly won the 220, Terry Parker and Julie Supple were 1-2 in the high jump and Noreen Connolly won the shot and took second in the discus.

In last week's Bay State Games there was a definite Quincy flavor to the track and field events with several boys and girls from Quincy competing on the Metro Region team and doing well.

Eileen Crehan won the javelin at 137-4, a national calibre performance. Georgia Traficante, hampered by a sprained ankle, placed third and had a 130-foot throw nullified by the judges.

Maureen Roche won the shot put with a 37-9 toss on her first throw.

In open competition Brian Donahue took second in the shot at 57-5, just two inches behind the winner. Richie DePalma was second in the long jump at 23-1, losing out by an inch.

Quincy Track Club Coach Jim Hennessy was coach of the Metro team with Boston International Coach Sherman Hart, Dick Barrett and Jerry Libby of the QTC staff were officials. The events were held at MIT's Steinbrenner Stadium.

• Babe Ruth

Golden Wins A. L. Playoffs

First place Golden Print won the Babe Ruth League's American League playoffs, defeating Barry's Deli in three games.

After losing the first game as Golden's Steve Conatas pitched six-hit ball, Barry's rebounded to even the series with a 5-4 victory.

Mark Carnevale pitched six hit ball for Barry's and Billy Burkhead got a save. P. J. Hussey and Burkhead had two hits each and Mike Kubera and Bobby Hunter had one each. For Golden Print Chris Rossi had three hits, Conatas two, including a triple, and Tommy McDonald one.

Golden won the deciding game, 6-5, thanks to a fine relief job by 13-year old pitcher McDonald. Coming on in the second inning with the bases loaded, he retired the side without a run. He allowed two runs and five hits the rest of the way. Billy Roche also pitched well in relief for Barry's, giving up three hits and no runs.

Burkhead had three hits and Carnevale, Chris Marshall, Roche and Bobby Hunter one each for Barry's. For Golden Bobby Kane, Rossi and Conatas, who made the play of the game in the seventh, had two hits each and McDonald, Steve Minichiello and Kevin Nichols one each.

Softball All-Stars To Play Feigner Team

The Quincy Men's Softball League all-stars will play the famed Eddie Feigner and his four-man team, the King and His Court, Tuesday Aug. 23, at 8 p.m. at Rotary Field. Feigner and his famous team, which plays nine-man teams all over the world, played 206 games last year and will play at least as many this season.

Feigner, who still pitches at 100-plus miles an hour speeds after 38 years on the road, teams with his son, catcher Eddie 'J.R.' Feigner, shortstop Dave Barnett and first baseman Gary West, who handles most of the comedy for the touring team while playing a solid first base and hitting over .300.

The King and His Court have played several times in the past in Quincy and have always provided a night of great entertainment as well as outstanding softball.

The four-man team has played more than 7,000 games and has won more than 5,700 times against nine-man clubs.

Feigner pitches between his legs, blindfolded and from second base and has an incredible strikeout record.

Slow Starter Larson Loses Ring Decision

Bud Migneault, the hard-punching light heavyweight from Bridgewater, built up a big lead on points in the early rounds and then hung on to win a split decision over Ring Larson of Quincy in the 10-round main event at Quincy Arena.

Larson swarmed all over his opponent for the eighth round on despite a cut over his right eye that bled profusely. The bell ending the fight sounded with Migneault reeling against the ropes and Larson pounding at his head seeking a knock out.

Referee Jerry Moore and Judge Ernest Watson of Brockton showed Migneault the winner on their cards while Judge Frank Montgomery of Cambridge voted for Larson. The card kept at ringside by sportswriters had Migneault 5-4-1.

Jimmy Gardner, Larson's manager, challenged Migneault to a return bout but the Bridgewater boxer, through his manager, Larry Barry of Brockton, said he was undecided.

CUBS IN SECOND PLACE

Bunky Haywood pitched a four-hitter and Jack Gallagher's triple accounted for two runs in the first inning as the Cubs beat Wollaston, 5-1, at Dennis J. O'Neil Playground to take over second place in the City League.

The Cubs lineup included: MacIntosh 3b, Cedarstrom ss, Leahy 1b, J. Gallagher cf, Prendergast c, Sabean 2b, Felker rf, W. Gallagher rf, Hubbell lf, Haywood p.

The Wollaston lineup included: Wetmore 2b, Erickson 3b, Douglass c, Harrington cf, Stiles lf, Nunn 1b, Cahoon ss, Dunphy rf, Hunter p.

ORBANSKI WINNER

Mrs. Gertrude Orbanowski of Quincy defeated Carolyn Perry of Weymouth, 6-1, 7-5, in what was called "one of the most brilliant and steady exhibitions of tennis ever seen in this city by a woman" to win the Ladies Invitational Singles Tournament at the Quincy Tennis Club.

GRANITE TRUST WINS

Chet McCarthy and Howie Burns banged out six hits between them, including a triple apiece, to lead the Granite Trust team to an 8-5 victory over the Weymouth Town Team in a South Shore League game at Legion Field, Weymouth.

The Granite Trust lineup included: Burns ss, Alden cf, Greenhalgh 2b, J. Hughes 1b, McCarthy 3b, McCormack c, Forbush lf, P. Hughes, rf, Koerber p.

• Perkins League

Martin's, Woodward's Win Playoff Byes

The Roy Perkins Softball League completed its regular season last week with first place Martin's Plumbing and second place Woodward's Spring receiving first round byes in the playoffs which get underway this week.

In the first round the Niners will face the Sedators and the Bashers will meet Trucks of Quincy. The winners of these series will then play Martin's and Woodward's in the second round which will start next Monday.

Martin's clinched first place and Woodward's sewed up second place over the Niners with a 12-11 win over the Sedators. Woodward's trailed, 8-2, but erupted for 10 runs in the fourth inning. Kevin Rooney was the winning pitcher and Jeff Donnell the loser.

The Niners upset Martin's, 17-16, after losing an 8-1 lead. Martin's took the lead, 11-8, in the sixth inning but the Niners scored nine times in the top of the seventh to take a 17-11 lead. Martin's scored five in the bottom half but a Niners double play ended the threat with the tying run on and one out.

The Sedators beat Trucks, 10-8, and the Bashers split, defeating South Shore Buick, 8-3, and losing to Martin's, 11-3.

South Shore Bank ended with a forfeit win over VFW.

The Bashers, Trucks and Sedators finished in a tie for fourth place with 9-12 records and league president Roy Perkins called a league meeting to decide the fourth, fifth and sixth place finishers. The three were tied in head-to-head play against each other and it was voted to take total runs to decide who would play who in the playoffs. The Bashers were declared fourth, Trucks fifth and Sedators sixth.

The final standings: Martin's, 17-4; Woodward's, 16-5; Niners, 15-6; Bashers, 9-12; Trucks, 9-12; Sedators, 9-12; VFW, 6-15; South Shore Buick, 3-18.

Quincy Americans 3-1 In Junior Tourney

The Quincy Americans have a 3-1 record in the annual Stoughton Invitational Junior Baseball tournament in which 40 teams from the South Shore and Greater Boston area are taking part.

Quincy opened with a 17-1 romp over Hingham as Robbie McDonald pitched a five-hitter, struck out 13 and walked two. Quincy had 16 hits with McDonald having a single, Dan MacDonald two singles, Brian Howlett a double and single, Mike Ainsley three doubles, Billy McDougall a single, Chris Higgins a double, Joe Gately two singles, Chris LaForest a home run and Chris Boudreau, John Quilen and Ed Ryan a single each.

Quincy then blanked Dedham, 8-0, as southpaw Billy McDougall pitched a one-hitter, pitching to only 19 batters. He struck out 10 and didn't give up a walk. He retired the first eight batters before giving up a single, the only ball hit to the outfield. McDonald had a home run and single.

Higgins and Boudreau a double and single each, Ainsley and LaForest two apiece and MacDougall, Howlett and Tim Baker a single each.

Quincy then lost to Milton, 6-7, in a game which both teams tried to give away and Quincy succeeded. Quincy had 10 hits but gave up seven hits, 12 walks and two errors to hand Milton the game. Quincy used four pitchers with Higgins the loser. Howlett came in with the bases loaded and retired the side without a run. MacDougall and Howlett each had a double and single, Boudreau two singles, Ainsley a double and Higgins and Gately a single each.

Quincy rebounded to shut out the Norwood Police, 6-0, to avoid elimination as McDonald pitched a one-hitter and struck out 15, giving his 28 strikeouts, six walks and only six hits given up in 12 innings.

Ainsley had three singles, Gately a double and single, Howlett and Baker two singles each and McDonald, MacDougall, Higgins and Boudreau a single apiece.

Other Quincy players are Doug Armstrong, Mike Noonan and Tom Roberts. Pete Cappola is manager, assisted by Ted Stevenson and Bud Boudreau, and Mark Kelleher and Ronnie Boudreau are the bat boys.

Kennedy Takes Page In NU Record Book

KATE KENNEDY

Kate Kennedy was an exceptional runner while at North Quincy High School, and she has proven she can be an exceptional runner at the college level also.

Miss Kennedy, who was recently awarded a varsity letter as a freshman member of the Northeastern University track and cross country teams, emerged from her initial year holding a page of the university record book and a ton of praise from coaches, teammates and opponents.

A high school All-American and holder of countless North Quincy school records, she now owns the 400-yard dash (60.3) and the 880 (2:16.25) marks at Huntington Ave. She first impressed Northeastern coach Tom Wittenhagen by not only making the Husky cross country team, but becoming the team's top runner.

"That's quite an accomplishment for someone whose main event is the half-mile," he said.

Among her high school feats was membership in the national record-setting 4 X 1 mile relay team. The state record in the 880 was also a highlight of her resume upon graduation. But the success, as it does for many high school stars, did not stop after high school for Kate Kennedy.

She placed second in the Greater Boston Championships in the 880, which leaves at least a little room for improvement in the next three years. She then proceeded to win the New England title and qualify for the nationals. Kennedy's only problem may be producing a sequel for next year's season.

And, as unthinkable as it may seem, Kate's remarkable campaign may have been better were it not for a stress fracture and an assortment of other nagging injuries.

"The stress fracture hurt her in the indoor season," said Wittenhagen. "But she recovered well and worked hard to get in shape for the spring." With such a hard working talent on his squad for the next three seasons, Wittenhagen can rest easily when charting out the middle-distance events.

Kate graduated from North Quincy high in 1982. Among her notable honors, she was three times a winter and spring Patriot Ledger All-Scholastic selection and the Boston Globe All-Scholastic Athlete of the Year in 1982. Kate was also a National Honor Society member.

Kennedy, whose father, Christopher, is a dean of administration at Northeastern and a Quincy school committee member, is a physical therapy major at Northeastern.

Quincy Cooperative Sponsoring Easter Seals Softball Marathon

Quincy Cooperative Bank will sponsor the sixth annual WPDH WCOZ South Shore Softball Marathon for Easter Seals.

Locally the event will be held at fields in Braintree and Quincy Aug. 20 and 21, and in Norwood on Aug. 27. Last year more than 70 teams competed locally, raising more than $24,000 for Easter Seals.

The marathon is open to any organized or pick-up team in the area, male, female, or coed. Every team entering the event with the minimum entry fee of $200 will receive two cases of beer and a trophy, winner or runnerup. Additional prizes include T-shirts, duffle bags, caps, team dinners, and weekends for two at the Hyatt Regency, Cambridge, and the Kelley House on Martha's Vineyard.

Proceeds from the marathon will benefit Easter

Seal programs and services for the disabled in the area. These include swimming and recreation programs; support groups for people affected by stroke; a residential camping program for children and young adults; and speech, physical, and occupational therapy.

Anyone wishing to schedule a team should contact the Easter Seal Softball Hotline at 482-3319 for details.

Realtors Golf Tourney Aug. 26

The Quincy and South Shore Board of Realtors will hold a golf tournament Friday, Aug. 16, starting at 8 a.m. at the Ridder Farm Golf Course in Whitman. Entry fee is $25 per person.

Included are an 18-hole tournament (Calloway system), deluxe buffet, open bar, trophies, prizes and door prizes. Carts are available at an extra fee.

Realtors, affiliates and guests are invited to take part. Reservations must be made in advance, with payment, no later than Aug. 12. Checks, made payable to Quincy and South Shore Board of Realtors, and the names of these attending, should be mailed to the Board of Realtors, 10 Crescent St., Quincy, 02169.

Further information can be obtained by calling Rick Nowlan at 843-2300, Michael Blunt, 843-2300, Tom Peters, 337-7770 or George Raymond, 337-1894.

Presidents Half-Marathon Set For Sept. 11

The annual City of Presidents half-marathon, covering 13.1 miles, will be run Sunday, Sept. 11, at 9 a.m. in conjunction with the City of Presidents bike race.

The race is sponsored by Sen. Paul D. Harold and hosted by the Quincy Flyers Running Club. Proceeds will benefit the Quincy Civil Defense Volunteers.

The half-marathon will be run over a 13.1-mile loop. The course is run entirely within the City of Quincy. There are some hills but for the most part the course is flat and fast, passing the John Adams and John Quincy Adams birthplaces and the Adams Historical Site.

Prizes will include the Mayor's Trophy for the overall winner and awards to the top runners in open male and female, submaster (30-39), Michael J. Kerins award (40-49), Grand Master (50-59) and Senior (60 and over).

The James Gibbons

Award will go to the first firefighter finishing and awards will also go to the first male and female wheelchair finisher and the first Quincy male and female finishers.

Entry deadline is Aug. 31 and the race is limited to 1,000 runners. Entry fee is $5.00. T-shirts will be given to all entrants.

The race will start in front of the First Parish Church and all participants should report by 8 o'clock to the Quincy Vo-Tech gym.

Race Committees To Meet Aug. 24

The City of Presidents Cup Race Committee and the Half Marathon Committee will hold a general meeting next Wednesday, Aug. 24, at 7:30 p.m. at the Quincy Civil Defense Headquarters, 55 Sea St.

Purpose of the meeting is to update all of the activities finalized to date, to answer any questions and to discuss areas that still must be accomplished to attain the day's success.

The various races will be held Sunday Sept. 11.

Registration Underway For St. Ann's Hockey, Skating

Pre-registration for St. Ann's Youth Hockey and Figure Skating Programs for 1983-84 is now underway.

Programs are for boys and girls between the ages of three and 17 and will be held from November to March.

The hockey league will meet Tuesday and Wednesday nights from 5 to 8 p.m., and the Figure Skating Program will meet on Tuesday nights from 6:30 to 7:50 p.m.

Cable helped Millie stop the ghosts.

Millie Napoleone, as you can see, is a no-nonsense take-charge lady who takes pride in her job as a safety patrol and works hard at it. So, when she began having trouble with "ghosts" in her television reception she decided to do something about it. She decided to try Cable and she chose Quincy Cablesystems.

Now, she's got the clearest TV picture she's ever had, and that's not all. She's also got television specials, first-run movies and Broadway hits, a variety of choices that you only get with Cable.

Millie loves that variety of programming. She also knows that if there's a program she's unable to see one night, she can catch it at a later date. With cable, if a sports event is blacked out in the Boston area, Millie and her sports-loving husband can see it at home.

As far as Millie is concerned, Cable is the only way to go. So, if you're looking for directions, look for Millie. She'll show you the way. She's already been there.

STARSCOPE

Clare Answell

WEEK OF: AUGUST 18, 1983

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Partner's possessive streak surfaces, you could feel your style is being cramped. Friend surprises you with far-out ideas — and they help you solve a major problem.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

A nostalgic week that finds you involved in activities you enjoyed as a child. You're ready to enlarge friendship circle, and some good opportunities are available through weekend.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

A favorable week for buying and selling and inventing. Tensions in a relationship ease up, with the prospect of a treaty signing by Wednesday. Job situation improves.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Patience is your byword, particularly if you're waiting for a friend to make a long-lasting commitment. For travelers and hosts alike, a contingency plan is wise this week.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Companion surprises you with his wide range of talents, while you benefit from narrowing your range of interests. Loyalties are proven, and you can sleep a little easier now.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Variation characterizes the week — a change is far more entertaining than a rest, you discover. Weekend includes some misunderstandings, reunions, detours and surprise guests.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Conflict with someone who's a lot like you may be unavoidable, but romantic uncertainties diminish and career prizes are within reach. Sports events are favored for competitors.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

The more independent you feel, the more everybody wants to pamper and indulge you. Financial news is happy, but don't spend recklessly. Romance waits in the wings.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

You enjoy a good argument this week — the key is to keep debates on an intellectual level. And you've a knack for playing matchmaker. Travel ideas can be implemented by weekend.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Money begins to flow, but don't tell the world. You're in a bold, upbeat mood, reflected in a style of dress that draws the attention of your favorite friends.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Communication and cooperation are accentuated. Your best efforts are joint efforts, especially in fields of publishing and advertising. Romantic partner announces exciting plans.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

You can realize a key career or academic goal, so long as you resist impulsive moves. Popularity soars through the weekend. Workload includes variety and challenge.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You're skilled at organizing people, you enjoy being in charge, you demand the most from others and you set a splendid example. Trend toward sharing develops over next four months. Results come from pooling ideas and entering into partnerships.

BORN THIS WEEK

August 18th, actress Shelley Winters; 19th, actress Jill St. John; 20th, actor Van Johnson; 21st, bandleader Count Basie; 22nd, actress Cindy Williams; 23rd, actor Gene Kelley; 24th, actor Dennis James.

Summer Tips To Prevent Child Tragedies

(The following column is written by Det. Barbara DiNatale of the Quincy Police Juvenile Division)

Summer is a time for family fun and youth recreation. But it can also be a tragic time when the serious injuries or deaths of many children are associated with a variety of unsupervised activities and situations.

It is well for parents and others who have children in their care to reflect on the following ways in which preventable accidents may occur.

TRAFFIC

The majority of children who are hit by motor vehicles are five or six years old, and not two years old as one might suspect.

A child using a big wheel-type bicycle, which is low to the ground, should be supervised closely since they often are unseen by motorists. Many of them are not equipped with brakes.

DROWNING

We are all aware of the dangers of children left alone at the beach or the pool. But an unattended child can just as easily drown in a toilet bowl full of water. A toilet seat falling on his head can also knock a child unconscious.

Children under the age of 10 should not be expected to bath smaller children because of problems associated with tub drownings and scalding.

POISONING

Chemical and detergents should always be stored well out of the reach of children. Remove them from under the sink to an overhead cabinet.

Items such as furniture polish should never be transferred to containers that appeal to children, such as soda bottles or cans.

Gasoline and other flammables should never be stored indoors. Likewise, barbecue equipment is meant for outdoors and should only be used there.

FALLS

Although it is hot and windows are left open, make sure screens are tightly secured.

Heavy objects in the home, such as bookcases and aquariums, which can be easily overturned, should be well guarded. Toy chests without vacuum hinges also can strike a fatal blow.

(In a future column, we will deal with the many ways in which children can be asphyxiated by everyday items.)

Jewish Religious School Registration Aug. 28

Registration for the Jewish Community Religious School will be held Sunday Aug. 28, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon in the Parents Lounge of the Haefter Academic Building, Curry College, Milton. Classes will begin Sept. 11 with a comprehensive program for Grades 1-9 in Jewish Studies, Holidays, Customs, Hebrew, and Jewish Ethics. For further information call Michelle Chansky 328-4742, Melvin Brenner 986-4293 or

Hurt Dodging Dog

John B. Seely, 30, of 191 Franklin St., South Quincy, was injured Sunday when his car struck a pole at Liberty and Water Sts.

He was treated and released from Quincy City Hospital.

Seely told police he lost control of his auto trying to avoid a dog that ran across the street.

Trailer Robbed

Dave Laliberte of Providence, R.I., reported to police Monday that the lock was cut on his trailer while it was at the 711 street on Copeland St., West Quincy, and items valued at $200 to $300 stolen.

McCauley Names QCH Designer Group

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has named a five-member Designer Selection Committee to recommend a list of candidates for selection of designer services for the construction of a new city hospital.

The special committee includes Gregory Doyle, David Tenney and Robert Wilson, the three permanent members of the committee that was appointed in April.

In addition, McCauley named Gerry Marquis of Quantum, the planning director of Watertown and a member of the Hospital Board of Managers, and Building Inspector Allan Macdonald.

The committee will review proposals for designer services for the new hospital and will recommend a list of finalists to the Board of Managers.

7-11 Car Washes Aid MDA

Employees at 7-Eleven, 678 Adams St., Quincy, are holding car washes weekends until the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon to raise funds for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. Hours for the car wash are Saturdays and Sunday, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., weather permitting. Cost is $1.50.

Funds collected by 7-Eleven will support MDA's research and medical services programs

Quarry Drain Down 31 Feet

Thirty One feet of water has been drained from Swingle's Quarry by a powerful new pump in an effort to locate the body of Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton, who drowned there June 20.

Peter Kenney, the mayor's executive secretary, said it is expected the level will be down 100 feet in 10 to 15 days, which will enable divers to go down to resume their search.

The new pump, loaned by the Lfyght Corp. of Woburn, is capable of draining 2,200 gallons of water a minute into the drainage system of Furnace Brook.

Marijuana Found On Yacht Destroyed In Framingham

Nearly $9 million worth of marijuana found on board the 51-foot ketch, Snow White, was destroyed last week after one pound samples were taken from each bale.

Police Capt. David Rowell said it took about three hours for the Food and Drug Division in Framingham to destroy the four and a half tons of marijuana.

Rowell said that division will also analyze samples from the 185 bales, a process which could take up to a few months.

The yacht, owned by a Rhode Island man, was discovered Aug. 5, by Patrolman Leo Luchini in the police boat, Alert, in the shallows of Town River Bay.

Rowell said the owner was notified Aug. 11 of an application in Superior Court for forfeiture of the boat. The owner has 14 days to answer the petition, or it becomes the property of the Quincy Police Department.

The yacht, with an estimated value of $400,000 to $1 million, can be auctioned off for whatever the price will bring.

Earlier, the Rhode Island man had filed for return of the boat, claiming that it was chartered and he knew nothing of what the charterer was doing with it, Rowell said.

Beano, Charity Games Profitable

Beano and other charity games netted Quincy churches and service groups $833,713 in 1982, according to the 10th annual report of Beano issued by the State Lottery Commission.

Quincy had 17 game licenses in 1982 and they grossed $3,488,283 and contributed $174,403 to the state under the 5 per cent tax.

Each citizen of Quincy spent an average of $16.99 on the games.

The net profit from Beano games alone was $354,663 and from other charity games was $479,050.

The report shows that 34.3 per cent of the profits go to religious activities, 18.5 per cent to education, 15.4 per cent to charities, 8.2 per cent to youth groups and 26.3 per cent to other activities.

General Dynamics Hiring For Navy Work

Hiring has begun at the General Dynamics shipyard to rebuild the work force for construction of five cargo ships for the Navy's Rapid Deployment Force over the next three years.

The yard plans to rehire some 1,800 union workers who have been laid off during the past four years and hire 2,000 new workers. Within a year, the workforce is expected to be 5,000.

The Fore River shipyard obtained the contracts, its first with the Navy in a decade, in August, 1982, and January, 1983. The job is expected to be finished in 1986.

Two great ways to attract interest.

The Money Market Account gives individuals and businesses high market rates for a minimum investment of just $2,500.* To find out just how high, call 773-0500 for the current rate. And it gives you things that the mutual funds can't — FDIC insurance and big savings on your state taxes.

* $200,000 maximum deposit for Money Market Account. Balances below $2,500 in the Money Market or Super NOW Accounts earn the regular NOW Account interest rate currently in effect.

The Super NOW Account gives you the convenience of unlimited check writing and high interest. Just maintain an average monthly balance of $2,500 or more. You also get a specified number of free transactions when you maintain a certain level in your account.

Start attracting the interest you deserve. Stop by one of our convenient offices and open a Super NOW or Money Market account today.

City Moves Against 136 Tax Delinquents

The names of 136 individuals and companies that owe the city of Quincy $161,690 in real estate taxes and water bills for fiscal 1981 are being published in The Quincy Sun this week by Treasurer Franklin Jay.

Publication is the first step in a process by which the city can take over the property for unpaid taxes.

The delinquent taxpayers have until 10 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 8, to pay the tax bill along with interest and any legal costs and charges.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley called the publication "a routine thing" but he added that his administration is "continuing our crackdown on delinquent taxpayers."

The Mayor said he plans to meet with Jay and City Solicitor Dean Nicastro on Wednesday, Sept. 7, to decide on foreclosure procedures for tax delinquents prior to 1981.

Those delinquents were warned of coming foreclosures last fall and winter.

Some have paid, others haven't.

"We are going to take the 40 individuals or business firms that owe the most and start foreclosure proceedings," said McCauley.

"Those delinquents for 1981 that are being advertised will go into tax title. The advertisement warns them."

"Years ago, these people would go to tax title and be left there. Now we are going after those who have ignored us."

S. Quincy MBTA To Open Sept. 9

The MBTA notified Mayor Francis X. McCauley this week that it plans to open the new Quincy Adams station in South Quincy at 12 noon, Friday, Sept. 9.

A meeting with city officials was scheduled for yesterday (Wednesday) at 12 noon at the station to discuss funding for the remainder of fiscal 1984.

McCauley said he also planned to meet with MBTA Director Robert O'Leary prior to the noon meeting to discuss some of the city's problems with the opening.

Councillors James A. Sheets and Theodore DeCristofaro have expressed concern that opening the station before the Burgin Parkway Extension is finished might upset traffic flow in South Quincy.

"I have no plans to try to block the opening," said McCauley. "My position is that the major hurdle was taken when the money was appropriated for the Extension."

"We are going to monitor traffic very closely on Columbia, Penn and Centre Sts. once the station opens."

'Presumptive Diagnosis'

Encephalitis Kills Horse In West Quincy

By TOM HENSHAW

A horse has died in West Quincy and state public health officials said the "presumptive diagnosis" is eastern equine encephalitis.

A positive identification of the cause of death was expected yesterday. (Wednesday).

Public Health Commissioner Dr. M. Grace Hussey cautioned that the disease cannot be transmitted from a horse to a human being but only through a mosquito.

She said the city has sprayed the St. Moritz Pond area of West Quincy with malathion since the horse died and it is planned to spray the wetland areas of Germantown.

Dr. Hussey said the horse died between 10:45 p.m. and 11 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 17, at the Brookdale Stables (formerly the Blue Hills Stables) in West Quincy.

The brain of the dead animal was taken by Winthrop Wade of the Health Department to the state laboratory in Boston.

Laboratory workers isolated the virus that caused the death Tuesday and announced a presumptive diagnosis of eastern equine encephalitis.

Dr. Hussey suggested that Quincy residents wear long sleeved shirts and trousers in the evening to prevent possible mosquito bites.

"Don't camp out near fresh water," she said, "and watch out for children who may not be quick to brush a mosquito away. Use netting screens and insecticides."

"Mosquitos don't travel very far from fresh water ponds."

One death from eastern equine encephalitis was reported recently in Taunton and a Randolph man is in critical condition at Massachusetts General Hospital, apparently a victim of that disease.

Prop 2½ Override May Be On Nov. 8 Ballot

Mayor Francis X. McCauley is considering a referendum on the Nov. 8 ballot asking voters to override Proposition 2½ so the city can repay some $12 million owed to General Dynamics in overpaid taxes.

"We haven't decided to do anything yet," he said. "We haven't settled the case yet. But if we go to a bond issue, an override referendum is a possibility.

"If we tried to raise the money within the restrictions of 2½, it would be very difficult."

It would require a two-thirds vote of the people to override Prop 2½ so that repayment of the interest and principal of the bond issue could be raised outside the legal limits of taxation.

City Clerk John Gillis said the Mayor would have to request the City Council to put the referendum on the ballot at least 30 days prior to the election.

McCauley said he hopes to have a settlement of the court-ordered repayment to General Dynamics shortly.

Man Thrown From Cycle

A 24-year-old Braintree man was injured Sunday when his motorcycle failed to make a turn on Palmer St., Germantown, and threw him into a driveway.

Paul Weaver was in good condition at City Hospital.

Officer Francis Kane said Weaver's bike struck a concrete road guard, went airborne over a four-foot chain link fence and threw him through a fork in a tree before landing in the driveway at 35 Palmer St.

One-Way On Clay St. 'Not Workable'

The one-way traffic restriction on Clay St., Wollaston, has been found to be "not fully workable" and lifted, it was announced by City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath.

McGrath had asked the Traffic Commission for the one-way status between Wentworth Rd. and Chapman St. on a 60-day trial basis to address the street's traffic flow problems.

Since that time, McGrath said he has met with residents of Tobin Towers at 80 Clay St., and Wollaston Manor at 91 Clay St. and they agreed that the one-way restriction hampered traffic.

"We wanted to address the traffic flow problem on an experimental basis," said McGrath, "and we have found that the Traffic Commission's solution was not fully workable.

"As a result, we will again have two-way traffic but we will take steps to enforce the 'No Parking' restriction on that portion of Clay St. Hopefully, such action will alleviate the current traffic dilemma."

Wollaston Break

Richard Hallberg reported to police Monday that thieves broke into the home of his mother, Marie, at Vassall St., Wollaston, through a kitchen window and ransacked the house. A list of stolen items was being compiled.

Renovations Approved For 2 Buildings

The Quincy Historical Commission has approved renovations to the 58-year-old building at 25-41 Temple

St. and 33-37 Washington St., which houses Sher Drugstore and Presidential Pub among others.

The building, which was recently purchased by Arnold Feinerman, Bruce Roberts, Stephen Roberts and others, will be named the Stuart Building, the name chosen by Stuart R. Hayman when he built it in 1925.

Planned renovations include repainting it buff with a brown and copper trim. The building has eight store fronts and office space, most of it occupied, on the second floor.

The Commission also approved plans presented by Frank Evans Jr. for outside improvements to the Dimmock Building at 1143-1165 Hancock St.

A public hearing will be held Monday, Sept. 12, at 7 p.m. to consider renovations to the Crane House at 124-126 Franklin St., sought by John Reggiano.

General Dynamics Seeks Navy Work Through 1990

The General Dynamics Quincy Shipyard is pursuing contracts to build five Dock Landing Ships (LSDs 44-48) for the Navy, which would assure work at the shipyard until 1990.

"We expect the LSD 44 contract to be awarded by the end of this year," said Gary S. Grimes, vice president and general manager of the shipyard.

"and we believe our proposal is very competitive."

"The key to future employment security at Quincy is our ability to win additional shipbuilding contracts from the Navy. This is management's highest priority, backed by the full corporate resources."

The LSDs are 609-foot, 15,744 ton shallow draft vessels designed to land

LCACs (landing craft air cushion) with amphibious forces on a hostile, well-defended shore.

The last four such craft (LSDs 37-40) were built at the Fore River yard between 1967 and 1973.

The shipyard is currently engaged in building five T-AKX cargo ships for the Navy, which will insure work at the yard through 1886.

A $2,000 GRANT for general operating funds was presented by New England Telephone Co. to Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services. From left, are Pastor James Kimmell, Faith Lutheran Church pastor and QNH board chairman; Dan Hardenbergh, telephone company division manager; Margot Kelly, neighborhood reinvestment; Jane Ford, QNH executive director; William Kelley, Hancock Bank president; Gerry Kavanaugh, Quincy Planning Department.

Divers May Resume Quarry Search Next Week

The water level in Swingle's Quarry was down 65 feet Tuesday and the possibility loomed that divers may go down next week to search for the body of Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton.

The draining of the quarry is well ahead of schedule, thanks to a 2,200-gallon per minute pump that has been installed to remove the water and dump it into the Furnace Brook drainage system.

In fact, things are going so well that Mayor Francis X. McCauley has scheduled a meeting for Monday, Aug. 29, at 10 a.m. in his office to review the situation and decide when to send divers down.

McCauley said the water in being drained from the quarry at a rate of seven feet per day. When it gets down 100 feet, it is planned to send the divers down to look for the body.

Young Gooch is believed to have drowned in the quarry June 20 when he jumped from a 50-foot ledge. Early attempts by divers to find his body were stymied by the 300-foot depths of the quarry.

The area of downtown Quincy from the old Sears Roebuck store to the Adams Building, including the courthouse was affected.

Chan. 8 returned to their Monday morning.

Power Failure Puts Ch.8 Off Air

The Quincy Sun's Chan. 8 news was off the air for most of Sunday due to a power failure that interrupted service for more than an hour in Quincy Square.

A Mass Electric spokesman said the failure occurred at about 2 p.m. Sunday due to a problem in an underground cable and power was restored before 5 p.m.

Man Robbed Of $250 In Parking Lot

Brian Irvine of 63 Arthur St., West Quincy, reported to police Monday that he was held up and robbed of $250 by a man in the parking lot behind Standard Television Co., 1554 Hancock St.

Irvine said he was walking across the parking area shortly after 9 p.m. when the man accosted him, grabbed him by the throat, pushed him against a van and took $250 from his pocket.

The man was described as hispanic, about 30 years old, 5-foot-8, with a mustache and dark hair, wearing dark blue pants and a gray sweat shirt. Irvine said he thought he saw a gun in the man's belt.

Station Robbed

A man and a woman, both in their 20s, snatched 25 one dollar bills and 10 packages of cigarettes from the Cumberland gas station on Sea St. and fled in a 1970 blue Chevrolet Nova toward Houghs Neck.

Robert Garrity, the attendant, said the pair drove in for gas about 6:15 p.m. Sunday and the woman

Belezos, who is believed to be the oldest man ever to receive a permanent pacemaker to control his heart-beat, was discharged from City Hospital almost two weeks ago.

"He is walking around the house," said Dr. Seraphim Papajannis, "but he is not going out yet. It will be another month before he is completely recovered from his heart attack."

Belezos suffered the heart attack just prior to the implant of the pacemaker.

Police Alert

By Capt. WILLIAM MURPHY
Quincy Police Dept.

Asphyxia Is Cause Of Many Infant Deaths

Many infant deaths are attributed to asphyxia in which a child's oxygen supply is cut off because of accidents in and around the crib.

Following are some examples of documented infant deaths:

Children wedged between the crib and the wall account for the majority of crib deaths. Make sure your child's crib is sufficiently away from the wall.

Children wedged between the mattress and the crib. Make sure there is no more than a two-inch space between the crib and the mattress as has been required under federal standards since 1975.

Antique cribs are attractive and older hand-me-down cribs are less expensive but these types are often dangerous unless mattresses are tight-fitting and the slats are no more than two to three inches apart.

Broken cribs or playpens or cribs that are heavily ornamented should be checked very carefully, especially for loose screws.

The danger of asphyxiation is present outside the crib, too.

When young children are present in the home, plastic bags should be removed from all dry-cleaning and knotted several times before discarding.

Broken pieces of balloon should be picked up and discarded before they are swallowed.

A variety of food and small objects can cause suffocation -- carrot sticks, whole hot dogs and such items as miniature pool balls or objects that can be broken off of larger toys, such as buttons or doll's eyes.

Ropes are not the only items that can strangle a child. Venetian blind cords, jewelry chains, pacifiers on strings and toys strung across a toddler's crib can be equally dangerous.

A jungle gym should always be secured in cement, never in sand, and its use should be supervised, paying particular attention to loose clothing and scarves which should be removed.

"Well, he finally caught one!"

Stay Alive!

By John Valante

GREASE BURN

You're taking a pan of bacon off the stove when you accidentally pour hot grease on your hand. The pain is tremendous. What should you do?

Stick your hand in cold water. Have someone make up an icebag and keep your hand in that on the way to the hospital.

Butter, oil and burn ointments are no longer recommended for first aid treatments of burns. A doctor will have to remove these applications before he can treat the burn, and removal can be a slow and painful process.

Fast application of cold water is the best way to halt destruction of tissue in first or second degree burns. Just as a roast beef continues to cook inside after the oven is turned off, so the underlying layers of skin on your hand will continue to cook unless you take immediate steps to cool it. The ice pack or ice water will do that job.

A medical journal published photos of a burn victim, four years after the accident. Her left arm (which was soaked in cold water) showed no scars. The right arm (which was not immersed in water) was completely scarred and disfigured... vivid proof that this first-aid works!

Dullsville, Chapter Two

How Dull is This Year's Municipal Election (Chapter II)?

It's so dull that Tom Gilmartin, the Quincy pollster, says he has spent two weeks in Boston checking out the mayoral race there.

David Finnegan, who seems to be the front runner in all the polls, is also No. 1 in Gilmartin's.

But Gilmartin has Raymond Flynn in second place, Dennis Kearney third and Melvin King down in fourth place. (Other polls have had Flynn and King tied for second and more recently show Flynn slipping.)

Anyway, here's Gilmartin's lineup in case you care about Boston politics:

Finnegan (24 per cent); Flynn (20 per cent); Kearney (18 per cent); King (13 per cent); Lawrence DiCarlo (10 per cent); Robert Kiley (6 per cent) Frederick Langone (5 per cent); Eloise Linger (3 per cent); Michael Gelber (1 per cent).

Gilmartin is back home now, training his attention on the Ward 6 City Council race between incumbent Joanne Condon and challengers School Committee Vice Chairwoman Mary Collins and Jens Thornton. Stay tuned.

A FUND RAISER for Ron Iacobucci, the lone challenger in this year's City Council at-large race, will be held Sept. 30, 8 p.m. to midnight at the North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall. It's a belated birthday party for Iacobucci who turns 28 Sept. 16. Tickets ($15 each) may be obtained from Judy Bibbo (479-2718) and will be available at the door.

McCauley Named To Legislative Committee

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has been asked to serve on the Legislative Committee of the Massachusetts Municipal Association which helps set the legislative interests of the cities and towns.

McCauley's appointment was made by a unanimous vote of the association's board of directors.

The legislative committee will review proposed legislation submitted by municipal officials from any of the 330 municipalities that are members of the MMA.

Ultimately, the committee will recommend a legislative package to the full membership of the association at its annual meeting in November in Hyannis.

Harold Nominated Boy Scout Director

Sen. Paul D. Harold has been nominated for a second term as a director of the Greater Boston Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

The board of directors is the policy-making body and governing authority for the Boy Scout program in Boston, which serves some 10,000 scouts, including Cubs and Explorers, in 315 units.

MILESTONE: Mrs. Mary Arsenault of 23 Bay View Ave., Houghs Neck, will be 100 Aug. 30. The family will celebrate quietly with a Mass in the home. And what a family she has: six children, 29 grandchildren, 46 great grandchildren and one great great grandchild.

Her daughter, Mrs. Doris Butler, says her mother doesn't have any special formula for longevity other than "work hard, be good and live a clean life."

Think of all she has seen in her lifetime.

When she was born, Chester Arthur was the 21st president (19 since then); Quincy wasn't a city, the electric light bulb, the telephone, the air plane, radio and television had not been invented. Of those inventions the one she enjoys the most today is television. Her favorite program: Lawrence Welk (on cable TV).

AN ANONYMOUS Note which arrived in the mail the other day, is worth passing along to you.

It warns that a "Wedding Bandit" is traveling the wedding circuits stealing money in cards left for the bride and groom at receptions.

The writer suggests that instead of putting cash in the envelopes, write a check instead.

"This," says the writer, "would make it more difficult for the bandit and would eventually discourage him as well as other sickies from following in his footsteps."

There have been a number of such thefts recently. So, it's good advice.

150-200 Expected For Coletta Family Reunion

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
You may run into a lot of people named Colette in Quincy this week-end.

They will probably be among the 150 to 200 family members expected to attend the First Coletta Family Reunion Friday to Sunday.

The three-day celebration of the family name and the common ancestral backgrounds will start Friday at 8 p.m. with a social gathering at the Morrisette Legion Post, West Quincy.

A Coletta family outing with a New England Clam Bake, music, games and prizes, will be held Saturday at Pageant Field.

Trips to Boston, Quincy,

Cape Cod and St. Anthony's Feast are on the agenda for Sunday.

The idea of a reunion came about in 1978 when Robert Coletta, then an eighth grader at East Junior High School in Braintree, decided to research his family tree as a social studies project.

Robert interviewed older Colettas and traced the family name five generations to Montagnano, Italy.

By using the telephone book and other means, he and his family were able to find 355 Coletta families in the United States. Other Colettas were located in Canada and England.

Robert and his family became the contact point for Colettas across the world who wrote to confirm that they came from the same part of Italy or were related to other Colettas.

Quincy residents expected to attend the reunion are Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Coletta of 96 Gardner Rd., Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Coletta of 34 Martell Rd., Mr. and Mrs. Albert Coletta and their families.

Colettas are also expected to attend from Braintree, Norwood, Sharon, Pembroke, Arlington, Medford and Hanson in Massachusetts, as well as from California, New York, Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Tennessee, Rhode Island, Michigan and New Hampshire.

Koch Seeks Second Term On City Council

Richard J. Koch Jr., 28, of 70 Cross St., West Quincy, has announced his candidacy for a second two-year term on the City Council at large.

Koch, a senior claims representative for Kemper Insurance Group, said he feels his experience over the past two years along with his conservative fiscal philosophy makes him a viable and responsible candidate.

He cited as the major contribution of his first term his chairmanship of the special council committee that studied data processing and helped in the creation of a data processing department in the city.

The modernization of the city's financial procedures and methods, he said, will eventually result in saving hundreds of thousands of tax dollars and improve the delivery of service in many areas.

Koch also chairs the Council's Tourism and Post Audit Committee. He is vice chairman of the Finance Committee and an active participant in deliberations of the Ordinance Committee.

As a freshman councillor, he has a 100 per cent attendance record at City Council meetings.

Koch and his wife, the former Nancy Kelly, have two children, Matthew, 2 and Peter, 10 months.

He was ward chairman of the Quincy Cancer Crusade, active on the Quincy Heart Fund Special Events Committee and the Muscular Dystrophy Association's Quincy-South Shore Telethon Committee.

Weight Management Program At Manet Health Center

A 10 week, weight management and nutrition awareness program for adults will be held Mondays, 7 to 8:30 p.m. Sept. 26 to Dec. 5, at the Manet Community Health Center.

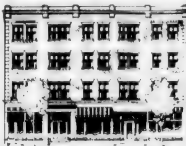

Jacalyn Newman, nutritionist, will lead the class which will be held in the center's Houghs Neck Community Room, 1193

Sea St.

The program will help participants identify reasons for their eating, develop health eating habits and enjoy eating more, control binge and compulsive eating and guilt feelings, and plan a diet that will prevent diseases such as high blood pressure, heart disease, diabetes and cancer.

Fee includes the 10 week program and a free consultation. For more information or to pre-register, call Miss Newman at 471-8683.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

What is your opinion of yourself? Do you know that your opinion of yourself can be seen by others? It can be seen in your eyes, in your posture, in your gestures, in the way you walk.

If your opinion of yourself coincides with reality, if you make a fair appraisal of your weaknesses and strengths, if you tell yourself as much of the truth about yourself as you can learn - bad or good - then and only then will you amount to something in the eyes of others.

Take two men identical in many ways - in education, in occupation, in marital status. One knows exactly who he is... accepts himself. The other is a stranger to himself... despising his weaknesses and displaying false strengths. Who will go further and do better? The first one, of course, because he is confident of his opinion of himself. Is it not obvious this will be seen by others and, in turn, win him the good opinion of others?

Planning ahead can offer peace of mind . . .

It is only human to put things off. But proper planning for the event of one's death can spare a family many traumatic decisions and financial burdens. By pre-arranging the desires and wishes of one's funeral, burial and expenses can be specified to eliminate confusion, differences of opinion and difficult decisions on the part of family members. To ease this burden, we are making available to you FREE a booklet with all necessary information and forms to assist and guide you. Why not visit us or write for your FREE Pre-arrangement Booklet.

Booklet covers the following subjects:

- Funeral and Interment Preferences
- Vital Statistics and Data
- Survivors Information, Social Security, Insurance, Bank Accounts, Real Estate, Automobile, Safety Deposit Box, Savings Bonds, Stocks and Bonds, Retirement Accounts and Veterans Benefits.
- Pre-Arrangement Information
- Three duplicate copies of a Funeral and Interment Pre-Arrangement Agreement.

Church Members Lead Squantum Service

Members of the First Church of Squantum led the congregation in worship Sunday.

Ralph Dougherty gave the call to worship. Pat Olson gave the opening prayer. Deacon Leon MacIntyre gave the pastoral prayer and read the scripture. The prayer of dedication was given by Deacon Dana Olson; the announcements by Calvin Bumpus.

The sermon was preached by John R. Herbert. He spoke about American morality and our changing life styles, using as his text:

"Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth."

Special music for the service was provided by Robert Frazer and Lee Sindelar, singing "O Lord Most Holy," by Cesar Frank.

Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott served as ushers.

Greeters for the morning were Mr. and Mrs. Dana Olson and their daughters, Kim and Krista.

Throughout August, there will be only one service at the church each Sunday at 9:30 a.m. This Sunday, the preacher will be Mr. Frederick J. MacMillan.

John Dunlea Seeks Ward 5 Council Seat

John M. Dunlea, 19, of 62 Prospect Ave., Wollaston, who is entering his second year at Bridgewater State College, has announced his candidacy for the City Council from Ward 5.

Dunlea said in his announcement that he is "aware of the problems that face our community and I am sure, if given the opportunity, I can do a better job."

A graduate of North Quincy High School in 1982, he joined the Army National Guard and took his basic infantry training at Fort Dix, N.J., where he was promoted to staff sergeant.

He recently graduated from officers candidate school at the Massachusetts Military Academy at Camp Curtis Guild, Reading, with the rank of second lieutenant.

A lifelong resident of Quincy, Dunlea is a member of St. Ann's Church, Wollaston.

Boat Raided

A chart recorder, a radio and a fishing reel were reported stolen Sunday by Richard Ramos of Weymouth from his 22-foot boat off Hurley's boat yard in Houghs Neck.

License Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following action at a special summer meeting at City Hall:

- Granted permission for the Beechwood Community Life Center, 225 Fenno St., Wollaston, to conduct a fair Saturday, Oct. 1, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. with rides, a flea market, games and refreshments. Rain date is Oct. 8. Police Chief Francis Finn told the applicant no second hand clothing is to be sold.

- Allowed to be withdrawn without prejudice a request from Albert Scavo, 550 Willard St., for increased storage of 110 gallons of oil and anti-freeze above ground, and 8,000 gallons of gasoline under ground, in addition to present storage of 25,000 gallons of gasoline under ground. The request, withdrawn because of an error in applying for the increase, can be resubmitted.

- Granted, subject to any stipulations by the Fire Chief and Building Inspector, a request from Tune-Up America, Inc., 15-23 Adams St., for 375 gallons of gasoline in tanks of cars, 550 gallons of oil in tanks under ground, and 100 gallons of miscellaneous oil in cans; and an automotive repair license.

- Granted, subject to approval by the Fire Chief and Building Inspector, a request from Sparks Tune-Up Center, 664 Washington St., for 200 gallons of gasoline in tanks of cars; 1000 gallons of waste oil under ground; 250 gallons of motor oil above ground; and an oil-lube service permit.

- Granted a request from Callahan's Pub, 296 Copeland St., for transfer of the common victualer-all alcoholic license held by Callahan's Tap. John G. Hendry of Braintree will be manager.

- Allowed to be withdrawn without prejudice a request from Curtis Compacts, Inc., 761 E. Squantum St., for two video games.

- Granted a lodging house license for 25 Bigelow St., Quincy Center, to Robert W. Savage. Granting of the license is subject to the board's receiving written reports from the Health, Fire and Building Departments.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to New England Telephone Co. for the annual United Way fundraiser Sunday, Aug. 28, 1 to 6 p.m. at the Fore River Clubhouse.

- Continued to Sept. 6 a request from V.S.H. Realty, Inc., for a common victualer's license for a Cumberland Farm Convenience Store to be constructed at 470 Sea St. along side of a gasoline station.

- Allowed to be continued to Sept. 6 a request from Our Lady of Good Counsel Parish, 227 Sea St., for a one day all alcoholic license to be used in conjunction with a Las Vegas night Friday, Oct. 28.

- Granted, subject to approval by the Fire and Building Departments, a request from Fitzbrook, Inc., 767-773 E. Squantum St., for gas storage and automotive service station license formerly held by the Mobil Station operated by George Dixon.

- Granted, a request from Quincy Bay Inn, 24-29 Hancock St., for a change of name to Le Mirage Lounge to Aquarius Lounge.

- Granted a request from Dayce's Place, 211 Sea St., for change in the corporate structure. Dayce Moore will leave the corporation and Robert White will remain.

- Granted a request from Sherry's, 579 South Artery, for change of name to Bentley's Steakhouse.

- Granted a request for transfer of the Motor II and repair shop licenses for Piccarini Auto Sales, 24 Raymond St., from Joseph Piccarini to his wife, Mrs. June Piccarini.

Condon Asks Trucks Use Shea Boulevard

City Councillor Joanne Condon has requested William O'Connell of Boston Harbor Marina to ask his tenants to use Commander Shea Boulevard during the daytime hours instead of East Squantum St.

Condon said such a move would help to alleviate traffic on East Squantum St., at least during the hours between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m., when the gates to Shea Boulevard are locked as a security measure.

Among the tenants of Boston Harbor Marina is the New England Tractor Trailer School.

In a recent letter to tenants, the Marina advised that upon renewal of their leases they will be required to use Commander Shea Boulevard for their trucks.

Tapes Taken

A tape deck and 50 tapes were reported stolen Sunday by Darlene Bellissimo of Burgin Parkway from her 1975 Pontiac.

Maver In Debut McPhee Starts 2nd Year Quincy, North Squads Open Practice Aug. 29

By TOM SULLIVAN
The Quincy and North Quincy football squads officially open practice Monday morning with former all-scholastics coaching their alma maters.
At Quincy Bill Maver, an all-scholastic and on Quincy's undefeated 1970 team, makes his debut as head coach after several years as an assistant.
At North, Ken McPhee, an all-scholastic guard on the Raiders' unbeaten 1966 team, starts his second season as North's head coach.
Ironically, both coaches lost their teaching jobs due to Prop. 2½ and neither has been reappointed.
McPhee, a North assistant for a number of years, hopes to improve on last year's 3-6 record.

Maver faces a tough task as Quincy, under Tom Fitzgerald, finished with a 7-3 mark a year ago.
Fitzgerald this year moves back to his alma mater, North Quincy, as a physical education instructor after five years as Quincy's head coach. Last season was his 31st as a schoolboy coach.
Maver has one returning assistant, John Sullivan. Bud Mosher, an assistant for many years, returns, and Mark Giordani, a former Quincy and U. of New Haven star, has been appointed to round out the staff.
Peter Cellia, an assistant for several years, this year moves to Curry College in Milton as an assistant coach.
McPhee has the same staff as last year, with "the dean," Ted Sadowski, starting his 26th year as a North aide; Jack Rayer, Mark Mulvaney, who joined the staff last fall, and Pete Zoia.

Last year North had only a nine-game schedule. Weymouth North and Weymouth South dropped out of the Suburban League to join the Old Colony League and the Raiders were able to add only Somerville. This year Weymouth North returns to round out a 10-game schedule.
Quincy has the same 10-game schedule with Fitchburg and Everett, who were added last year to replace the Weymouths.
Maver will greet his squad Monday morning at 8:30 at Faxon Field. The Presidents will work out until 10:30, will have blackboard drill from 12:30 to 1 and practice again from 1 to 3 o'clock. Quincy will follow this schedule all next week.

McPhee will greet his squad at 8:30 at Cavanagh Stadium, will work out until 10:30 and, following lunch, a blackboard drill will be held and the squad will return to Cavanagh for an afternoon session from 1 to 2:30. This schedule will be followed all week.
Both teams will open their seasons on Saturday, Sept. 17.
Quincy will host Cambridge Rindge and Latin in a league game at Veterans Memorial Stadium, while North plays oldtime non-league rival Milton, coached by former North assistant Jack Bowes, at Milton. Both games will begin at 1:30.

• Babe Ruth

Golden Wins Crown

Golden Print, the American League champions, won the Babe Ruth League title last week, defeating Morrisette, three games to one, in the championship series.
Morrisette won the opener, 5-4, in nine innings on a single by Rich Dondero which drove in Neil Hatfield with the winning run. John Christiani was the winning pitcher. Ed Flynn had three hits for Morrisette, Christiani and Dondero had two each and Chris Doyle, John McManus and Chad Hallet one apiece. For Golden Print Jay DeBartolo and Steve Conostas had three hits each. Tommy McDonald two and Steve Minichiello one.

Golden won the second game, 12-11, exploding for eight runs in the bottom of the seventh inning. The big hit was a bases loaded triple by DeBartolo.

Minichiello was the winning pitcher in relief. Tommy McDonald, DeBartolo, Minichiello, Kevin Nichols, Conostas and Jackie Mullin had two hits each. Flynn, Christiani and Shawn Draig had two each for Morrisette.
Golden took the series lead with a 12-10 victory with Bobby Kane the winning pitcher in relief. Minichiello had three hits, DeBartolo and Conostas two each and McDonald, Nichols, Chris Rossi and Joe Taylor one apiece. For Morrisette Christiani and Tim Morrison had two hits each, and Paul Connelly, Doyle and Dondero one each.

Golden clinched the series and the league crown with a 4-2 victory. Conostas was the winning pitcher, going all the way and giving up six hits. Christiani also pitched well, going all the way and scattering 10 hits for Morrisette. Kane, McDonald and Rossi had two hits each for Golden, DeBartolo, Minichiello, Nichols and Conostas one each. For Morrisette Flynn and Christiani had two each and Connelly and Hallet one apiece.

MDA Doubleheader Rescheduled

The annual softball doubleheader for the benefit of the Muscular Dystrophy Association scheduled for last Thursday was rained out and was rescheduled for last night (Wednesday) at Adams Field.
Quincy firefighters faced the Quincy Police at 6:30 and the city officials met the news media all-stars at 8.
All proceeds, including donations from Mayor Frank McCauley, city councillors, school committee members, police, firefighters and those attending the games, will go to the Muscular Dystrophy Association for its research and patient programs.

Keohane's Defeats Rotary For Junior Title

Keohane's won the Junior League championship by defeating Rotary, 8-1, in the championship game. Keohane's, 17-5 in regular season play, won three out of four playoff games to earn the league title.
Paul McLellan gave up a run in the first inning, then shut down Rotary the rest of the way. Keohane's combined good pitching, tight defense and timely hitting. Kip Caldwell had the big hit, a towering three-run homer.

The rival shortstops, Tim Baker and MacDonald, turned in the fielding gems of the game.

Chris LaForest had three hits and Joe Leber, Jim Bryan and Jim Kearns two each. For Rotary Dave Murphy and Matt Collins had two hits each.

114 Teams Compete In Fallon Cup Tourney

The 43rd annual Fallon Cup Tournament opened yesterday (Wednesday) at the Wollaston Golf Club in Milton and will continue through Sunday with 114 teams, the largest field ever, teeing off.

This tournament began in 1938 as a member-member-four ball. It has evolved into the most prestigious member-guest tournament in New England. Wollaston is a charter member of the Mass. Gold Association and is an active participant in Massachusetts golf.

The Fallon Cup was originated in honor of a Boston merchant, Griff Fallon. The Wollaston members traditionally invite the best amateur golfers in New England and former contestants included Massachusetts Amateur, N.E. Amateur and National Amateur champions. Among the top golfers who have appeared in the tournament are Ted Bishop, John Toski, Ed Barry, Warren Tibbits, Bill Foley, Dick Siderof, Bruce Douglas and Bill Mallon.

The defending Fallon Cup champions will not be together this year as Dave Lane has turned professional. Mike Pendergast will be bringing in a new partner, Bill Murphy.

The qualifying rounds take place yesterday and today (Thursday) with the first round starting Friday and the final rounds taking place Sunday afternoon.

The starting times:

Defense Sparks Forty Niners To Conference Win

Bob DiBona recovered a fumble and Dick Farland and Terry Dunn intercepted passes to halt Chelsea drives in the final period as the Quincy Forty Niners opened the New England Football Conference season with a 16-12 victory over the Chiefs at Chelsea Memorial Stadium.

Dick Farland scored both Quincy touchdowns, the second and winning score coming on a deflected 13-yard pass from his brother, Jack, who had to leave the game shortly after with a bad gash on his leg. Jan Sikora, the 245-pound tackle, also was hurt.

"That defensive unit was great out there tonight, especially in that last quarter when we really needed it," said Forty Niner Coach Dan Mahoney. "Farland really bailed us out with that interception."

VARNEY STARS

Pete Varney, who pitched and caught while batting .570 during the regular season, was the pitching and batting star as the Quincy Police Boys Club defeated the Couch team, 3-2 and 8-7, to win the championship of the city's Babe Ruth League.

Varney had two of the Police team's four hits and held Couch scoreless until the seventh inning in taking the first game. Then he knocked in the winning run with a fielder's choice in extra innings and relieved Paul Bandini in the final frame of the second contest.

MIDGET CHAMPS

Peter Zona, 12, of Wollaston, and his crew, Maureen Foye, 13, of Scituate, sailed their "Buccaneer" to the National Midget championship sponsored by the National Turnabout Association during a three-race regatta in Quincy Bay. A total of 35 crews participated.

SOFTBALL TOURNEY

Mal Putnam pitched a no-hitter and struck out 11 as the Melwood AC defeated the Deacons, 5-0, in the opening game of the South Shore Softball Tournament at Rotary Field. Jerry DiArrigo's bases loaded triple highlighted Boston Gear's 10-3 win over the Little Knicks.

Quincy Americans Win 3 In Junior Tourney

The Quincy Americans are one of the few teams left from the 40 which started and boast a 6-1 record in the Stoughton Invitational Junior Baseball Tournament following three wins last week.

Quincy blasted Randolph, 20-0, with Billy MacDougall pitching a no-hitter and facing only 20 batters, two over the limit.

Quincy's batting came alive as Robbie McDonald had a home run and three singles, Mike Ainslie a tape measure 275-foot homer and two singles, Ed Ryan a homer and single, Chris Higgins, Joe Gately and Tim Baker a double and single each, Doug Armstrong a double and MacDougall, Dan MacDonald, Mike Noonan, Chris Boudreau and Chris LaForest a single apiece.

Quincy then went into extra innings to defeat South Boston, 10-8, after losing a 6-0 lead. Mental errors gave Southie five runs and they added two in the fifth to take a 7-6 lead. Quincy tied it in the sixth and then scored three in the seventh. Southie came back in the bottom half with a run and had the tying runs on second and third with one out but Robbie McDonald put out the fire and earned his third win.

LaForest had a triple and two doubles, Ainslie two doubles and a single, MacDougall and Brian Howlett a double and single each, McDonald a double, Higgins two singles and Gately, Boudreau and Armstrong a single each.

Quincy went on to defeat Brockton, 4-1, with MacDougall pitching a two-hitter for his third win.

Brockton scored its only run in the first inning but Quincy came right back to tie it when McDonald reached on an error, Howlett walked and Higgins singled. In the fifth McDonald homered over the right field fence for the winning run, MacDougall reached on an error, stole second, Higgins doubled in the third run and he scored on an overthrow. Gately and Howlett had Quincy's only other hits.

McDonald and MacDougall have been sensational on the mound. In his three wins, McDonald had given up 11 hits in 19 innings, struck out 43 and walked 15, while MacDougall, in 18 innings, has given up just three hits, struck out 32 and walked only four. Only eight balls have been hit off him to the outfield.

• Perkins League

Sedators Upset Niners In Playoffs

The Roy Perkins Softball League opened its playoff mini-series last week with two best-of-three series.

The Niners, who finished third, played the Sedators, who finished sixth, and the Sedators upset the Niners in three games after losing the first game, 4-1.

The Sedators rallied to win the second game in extra innings, 12-11, and rallied again, after trailing, 5-0, to win the third and deciding game, 13-9. The Sedators now face first place Martin's Plumbing in the semifinal round this week.

Trucks of Quincy and the Bashers are tied in their series with one victory apiece. Trucks won the first game, 6-5, with three runs in the bottom of the seventh. The Bashers came back to even the series with a 7-4 victory.

The winner of this series plays second place Woodward's Spring this week. The semifinal series are the best of five.

Koch Club, Oxford Aid MDA

The Koch Club Men's softball team of Quincy and Oxford Chemical Company of Braintree swapped wins in a doubleheader at Rotary Field last Saturday night but the real winner was the Muscular Dystrophy Association as $150 was contributed by the players and relatives and friends in attendance.

After leading in the opener during the early innings, the Koch Club found itself in the short end of an 8-7 score when the game had ended but bounced back to capture the nightcap 8-6 after stopping a late inning surge by the Braintree nine.

Paul Erler was the winning pitcher for Oxford Chemical while teammate Peter Fredericksen suffered the loss. Tom Koch suffered the loss in the opener for the Quincy team while Dick Koch Jr., pitched the win.

Jim Greene, Paul Koch and Tom Hall proved the offensive stars for Braintree while Al Yacubian, Dick Mazzone and Jack Callahan provided the defensive plays to assure a victory for Oxford.

Bob Cavanagh, Neil Leonard, Tom Koch and Tim Healy pounded out four hits each for the Koch's in the doubleheader while brothers Bill and Gary Cuniff along with Matt and John Keenan provided the glove work for the Koch Club.

Children's Theatre Workshop In Benefit For Salvation Army

Area students of Diane Purdy's Children's Theatre Workshop recently presented a benefit performance for the elderly guests of Quincy's Salvation Army.

All the young performers were from the Houghs Neck, Quincy, area and were coached and crewed by Houghs Neck mothers, Marianne McCormack, Donna Patten and Beth Wakelin.

The show, "Little Red Riding Hood, More-Or-Less!" starred Mae McCormack as Little Red Riding Hood and Russell Patten as The Wolf, with T.J. McCormack, Jodi Galligan, Jason Wakelin, Matthew Patten, Heather Wakelin and Brenda Rudolph.

T.J. McCormack will soon be seen carrying an eight-foot long pencil from front and back in a commercial for Brooks Drugstore.

"That was a lot harder than acting on the state", says the young performer. "I had to go out the door with the pencil, then run under the camera and grab it from the back. I hit my head a lot of times on the camera."

He was recently seen at the Woodward School, 1120 Hancock St., Quincy, in the

'Black Stallion' Movie At Library

The dramatic film, "The Black Stallion," will be screened at the Thomas Crane Public Library, Quincy Sq., Thursday, Aug. 25, at 10 a.m.

The two-hour adaptation of Walter Farley's 1941 novel for children stars Mickey Rooney, Kelly Reno and Teri Garr.

The only survivors of a shipwreck are the wild black stallion and a young boy. They live on a deserted island until rescuers bring them to the United States. Eventually the stallion is tamed and becomes a race horse. Farley wrote many other books which continue the adventures of the Black Stallion.

The feature film, suitable for children age eight and older, is the final event in the summer program series.

Aerobics Demonstration

The Anne Lawton Aerobic Patterns Dance Company will offer a free demonstration to interested women and men Wednesday, Sept. 7, at 6:30 p.m. at St. John's School, 28 Phipps St., Quincy Center. Those attending should

Jerry Lewis - Quincy Sun Telethon Cable Talk Feature

The annual Labor Day Quincy-South Shore telethon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association will be featured on Cable Talk (Quincy Community Television Chan. 3) Thursday, Aug. 25, at 9 p.m. and Sunday, Aug. 28 at 10 p.m.

Special guests will be Henry Bosworth and Dick Koch, co-chairmen of this special event which has raised more than a half million dollars since it started six years ago.

Bosworth is publisher of The Quincy Sun, where the telethon is held and Koch is director of the Parks, Recreation, and Cemetery Departments for the city of Quincy.

Each Labor Day hundreds of volunteers participate in various fund raising activities which are coordinated through the office of The Quincy Sun as part of the Jerry Lewis nationally telecast telethon.

Bosworth and Koch explain their involvement in the annual drive to raise funds to benefit the children afflicted with muscular dystrophy. Highlights of the 1982 activities will also be shown.

WEEK OF: AUGUST 25.

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
You hear different sides from different parties, and objectivity is your key. Teachers or students learn from your wise words. Work progresses when moody people cheer up.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Friendship and love are the twin themes of an upbeat week. Relative may make you privy to family secrets. Bargains that appear too good to be true are precisely that.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Cultural and creative activities are leading to profitable ventures. Partner is ready to speak from the heart, but it's up to you to provide the right occasion and environment.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Small but numerous errands beg your time this week, offering opportunities for meeting fascinating individuals. Favorite friends may be involved in their work. Don't take it personally.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
Emphasis is on the new, with trips to unusual spots being among current highlights. If involved in property transactions, check facts and figures with meticulous care.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
You're in the social limelight, and excel in fundraising activities. Scholarly interests take up some time on the week-end. Hunches are strong from Monday on.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Enjoyable detours are scattered through the week — but keep travel companions in a happy mood. Home maintenance and health matters should be looked after with dispatch.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Make a point of getting acquainted with people from various walks of life. If traveling, your plans change by the hour. Money matters improve if you're willing to think them through.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Relative may be critical of your plans, but don't let him/her put you on the defensive. Group effort yields success: it's a fine week for signing up for courses, launching team projects.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Major responsibilities combine with a demanding social life — this is one of the busiest weeks of the season. Your great gift now is being able to simplify complex concepts.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Friends may live in a less-than-forgiving mood, but relatives back your latest schemes. Delays may be inevitable, but you discover that they have a bright side, too.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Be meticulous in choosing words, especially if writing to people in high places. Thursday favors modest financial gains. Travel and friendship combine nicely through the week.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Meticulous but fussy, tidy but finicky, analytical but a born worrier. The secret is to strike a happy medium. Promoting your ideas with zest leads to advancement by late 1983. Early 1984 launches a period marked by experimentation and travel.

BORN THIS WEEK
August 25th, actor Sean Connery; 26th, composer Thomas Davidson; 27th, actress Martha Raye; 28th, actor David Soul; 29th, director Richard Attenborough; 30th, actress Shirley Booth; 31st, actor Buddy Hackett.

Cable helped Millie stop the ghosts.

Millie Napoleone, as you can see, is a no-nonsense take-charge lady who takes pride in her job as a safety patrol and works hard at it. So, when she began having trouble with "ghosts" in her television reception she decided to do something about it. She decided to try Cable and she chose Quincy Cablesystems.

Now, she's got the clearest TV picture she's ever had, and that's not all. She's also got television specials, first-run movies and Broadway hits, a variety of choices that you only get with Cable.

Millie loves that variety of programming. She also knows that if there's a program she's unable to see one night, she can catch it at a later date. With cable, if a sports event is blacked out in the Boston area, Millie and her sports-loving husband can see it at home.

As far as Millie is concerned, Cable is the only way to go. So, if you're looking for directions, look for Millie. She'll show you the way. She's already been there.

LEGAL NOTICE

INVITATION TO BID

Sealed Proposals for the Installation of Sanitary Sewer Lining will be received at the Office of the Commissioner of Public Works, 55 Sea St., Quincy, MA until 10:00 a.m., Monday, September 12, 1983, at which time they will be publicly opened and read.

The Contractor to whom the contract may be awarded will be required to appear at this office with the surety offered by him and execute the contract within ten days from the date of the mailing of notice to the bidder, according to the address given by him that the Contract is ready for signature and in case of his failure or neglect so to do, the Commissioner may, at his option, determine that the bidder has abandoned the Contract and thereupon the certified check or bid bond shall become the property of the City of Quincy.

The Contractor will be required to provide both a performance bond and a payment/labor and materials bond each for the full contract price. A certified check or bid bond in the amount of 5% of the base bid shall accompany each bid.

Specifications may be obtained at the Department of Public Works upon deposit of $25.00 for each set which will be refunded provided they are returned in good condition, within 10 days of the bid opening. Bidders requesting specifications mailed to them shall add a separate check for Ten Dollars ($10.00) payable to the City of Quincy to cover mailing and handling.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids or to accept the bid deemed best for the City.

MBTA Seeks Federal Grant To Repair Garage

The MBTA has applied for a $250,000 federal grant to repair what a spokesman called "superficial deterioration" in the concrete floors and walls of the Quincy Center parking garage.

Paul DiNatale said the T expects to obtain the grant in October or November and award the repair contract in the spring when weather conditions permit the work to be done.

DiNatale blamed the deterioration in the 13-year-old garage on acid rain and road salt which is brought in on the cars that fill the structure to its 881-car capacity in winter.

"Acid rain and salt accelerate the normal deterioration of concrete," he said. "Our engineers have looked at it and we can assure everyone there is no structural damage to the garage."

"Right now we are removing the chunks of concrete that have fallen and maintenance men are patching the cracks temporarily. We are also blocking the spaces where there is a problem."

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous shipyard workers, masons, and pipelayers of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Sun Again Telethon Pledge Center

The Quincy Sun for the seventh consecutive year will be the Quincy-Shore area pledge center for the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon this Labor Day weekend.

A battery of extra telephones will be installed in The Sun Office, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq. to handle donation pledges from the Quincy-Shore area.

The special number to call to make a pledge is the same as last year's: 328-6622.

Some 200 volunteers will man the phones on various shifts during the Jerry Lewis Telethon which will be carried by WCVB-TV (Ch. 5) over the Labor Day weekend. Quincy radio station WJDA (1300) will carry live progress reports every half-hour from the pledge center starting at 6:20 a.m. Monday. WJDA's Roy Lind and Win Bettinson will also interview pledge center volunteers and those coming to The Sun office to make donations to the fishbowl.

And, for the second year, the pledge center activities will be covered live over The Quincy Sun's Ch. 8 on Quincy Cablesystems. The coverage will be on Labor Day from 10 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Mayor Francis McCauley has proclaimed Sept. 4-5 "Jerry Lewis-Quincy Sun Muscular Dystrophy Telethon Weekend in Quincy."

There will be prizes, music and other activities at the pledge center.

Anyone donating $1 or more to the fishbowl will be eligible to win a Litton microwave oven donated by John Poreca of Vesco, Inc., 273 Copeland St., Quincy.

Color posters of the Tall Ships, Christian Radic and Gorch Fock II will be available to those

QEA Vote On Contract Sept. 7

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
The Quincy Education Association membership is scheduled to hold a contract ratification meeting Wednesday, Sept. 7, at 3:15 p.m. at Broad Meadows Middle School.

The QEA voted against the school committee's proposal for a two-year contract in June, but teacher's union president Mary Curtin is optimistic that now it will pass.

"It's basically the same package as Hank Pasquerella (past QEA president) had in June, with a few refinements," said Mrs. Curtin.

A majority of the QEA negotiating team voted to recommend ratification, said Mrs. Curtin.

The first year package includes a 4 percent increase retroactive to Feb. 1.

The second year package calls for a 3 percent raise starting Oct. 15 and retroactive to Sept. 1, and a 3 percent raise in January, 1984, as well as language having to do with middle schools-junior high schools and Quincy Junior College.

The school committee would notify the QEA by Oct. 15 if money was not available for the second year raises, and that part of the contract would have to be renegotiated, said Mrs. Curtin.

"We have every reason to believe that the money will be there," said Mrs. Curtin, who explained that a two-thirds vote of the membership would be needed to approve the contract.

The school committee would then have to formally sign the contract, said Mrs. Curtin.

"We need to start back (to school) with a good feeling," said Mrs. Curtin who explained that a major commitment during her term as QEA president is to build morale.

"I feel optimistic about the year ahead," said Mrs. Curtin, "I'm ready to start."

Bond Issue, Referendum Seen

City, Shipyard Near Agreement On $12M Tax Refund

By TOM HENSHAW
Mayor Francis X. McCauley says agreement is close — possibly by the end of the week — on a method by which the city will reimburse General Dynamics for a $12.1 overpayment in property taxes.

The mayor indicated he will go to the City Council Sept. 6 for approval to bond the $12.1 million and to place a referendum on the Nov. 8 ballot to exempt the bond issue from Proposition 2½ limitations.

"Agreement is close," said McCauley Tuesday. "If it is ready, I hope we can go to the Council with the whole package next Tuesday. If not, then certainly by the next Council meeting Sept. 19."

The city is under court order, handed down by Superior Court Judge Hiller B. Zobel in 1982, to repay the $12.1 million for overassessment of shipyard property for the years 1977 through 1980.

General Dynamics claim for overassessments in ensuing years is before the State Appellate Tax Board.

If McCauley decides to go the route of bonding the $12.1 million, Council approval would take the form of a home rule petition asking the state legislature for permission to issue the bond.

Then, the Council would have to approve the referendum for the Nov. 8 ballot in the municipal election so the people could vote to exempt the bond from Prop 2½. A two-thirds vote would be needed.

In addition, the agreement on repayment between the city and General Dynamics would have to have court approval.

McCauley To Study Added Parking Plan

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday he would be happy to look at a proposal by the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association to add 125 to 150 metered parking spaces in the downtown area.

The proposal would have metered parking on the west side of Hancock St., on one side of Cottage Ave., on both sides of Dennis Ryan Parkway, and on one side of a widened Chestnut St.

Parking at the new meters would be limited to a half hour with a meter fee of 10 cents for 15 minutes and 20 cents for the half hour limit.

The plan was approved by the QCBPA's board of directors Tuesday morning and a letter sent to Mayor McCauley.

"I haven't seen the letter yet," said McCauley, "but I'll certainly review the plan and send it to the Traffic Commission for further study."

"Off the top of my head, there is plenty of room for parking on Dennis Ryan Parkway — people do it illegally now — but I'd have to look into the possibilities on the other streets."

With certain minor exceptions, all parking is banned on the suggested streets right now but the prohibition is widely flouted.

Sandy Rounseville, president of the QCBPA, said the plan would add 125 to 150 parking spaces downtown in addition to the coming validated parking in the municipal off street areas and the east side of Hancock St.

McCauley indicated that he was in favor of another QCBPA suggestion that would remove the sidewalk extension from the west side of Hancock St. at Cliveden St.

"It has been a big problem," he said, "particularly for trucks making a turn there. Often they have to go up on the sidewalk. We'll certainly take a look at that too."

Collins Seeks Vane St. Parking Enforcement

Mary Collins, a candidate for the City Council from Ward 6, has asked the Police Department to investigate enforcement of the two-hour parking limit in the municipal lot off Vane St. in Norfolk Downs.

"After meeting with the merchants in the business district there," she said, "I find that their concern is over the number of all-day parkers who keep shoppers from being able to park in the lot."

"They feel that they cannot afford this loss, especially in view of the 30 or so parking spaces which were lost on Billings Rd. when the area was redesigned forcing shoppers to seek parking elsewhere."

Early News Deadline For Next Week's Sun

Lightning Strikes Police Station

Quincy police communications were knocked out for more than 12 hours Sunday when lightning struck the radio tower outside the station on Sea St. during a massive electrical storm.

The police radio system operated on emergency conditions from shortly before 1 a.m. when the lightning struck until Sunday afternoon when the damage was repaired.

Communications during that time were handled by way of portable radios and call boxes. Some routine calls were not recorded and other calls were referred to state and MDC police.

$355,853 State Grant For Water System

Quincy will receive $355,853 in a state grant for its water systems, State Sen. Paul D. Harold announced.

Quincy and three other Norfolk District communities were among 135 applicants statewide approved for funding under the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering (DEQE) Water Supply Rehabilitation System.

Grant Program, Harold said. A total of 239 applications were received.

The DEQE will distribute some $26 million under the matching fund program, which requires the grantee community to match the state grant.

In Quincy, the funds will be used for replacement of undersized and outmoded water mains in various streets.

West Quincy Theft

Fulton Smith of 57 Bunker Hill Lane, West Quincy, reported to police Monday that a Quincy Cablesystems control box, a

Marina Condo Developer Withdraws Condition Bid

The developer of planned condominium units at the Boston Harbor Marina has agreed to drop his bid to eliminate certain conditions from his special permit, according to City Councilor Joanne Condon.

A meeting of the Planning Board today (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall will deal only with the developers proposal to scale down the number of condo units from 142 to 101.

The proposed elimination of conditions, most of which dealt with a second means of access to the development, was the subject of a heated hearing before the City Council last month.

The retention of the conditions was strongly and vociferously supported by residents of Squantum.

Condon said she "feels very strongly that the development will now be undertaken with the best interests of the Squantum community fully represented and protected."

Planning Director James E. Lydon said that, after tonight's meeting, the Planning Board will make a recommendation and that the City Council probably will act on the special permit Tuesday, Sept. 6.

"Withdrawal of the proposed changes in conditions will make it easier for the Council to agree on the permit" said Lydon. "There were no major objections to it before."

Lydon credited Condon with working out the agreement with William O'Connell of the development firm of OCB.

"It makes it palatable to both sides," he said.

LABOR WEEK will be observed Sept. 5 to 10 according to a proclamation by Mayor Francis McCauley presented to Richard Post, right, president of the Norfolk Labor Council, AFI-CIO. The Norfolk County Council will participate with other councils from across the state in a parade starting at 1 p.m. Monday in downtown Boston.

Burgin Parkway Extension May Start This Year

Work on the proposed Burgin Parkway Extension from Route 3 to downtown Quincy could get underway later this year, Mayor Francis X. McCauley told Quincy Center businessmen.

Final plans should be completed Oct. 1, said the mayor, the project should go out to bid by Oct. 15, and the contracts could be awarded early in November.

McCauley and Sen. Paul D. Harold spoke at a meeting of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association last week.

Harold said the Burgin Parkway Extension project could be completed in less than two years, depending upon weather conditions and the contractor chosen.

"I have been checking with the State DPW every three days to see how it is going," said Harold. "I intend to keep doing that until the work is finished."

McCauley also reported on progress toward validated parking in Quincy Center, which, he said, the city is striving to have in operation by late November for the Christmas shopping season.

Bids for equipment for validated parking will be opened Sept. 21, he said, and some $80,000 in federal funding has been obtained to resurface the John Hancock plot before Nov. 1.

"It's been a long haul," he said. "But we are right on target now. We are in the home stretch on validated parking."

Developer Sought For Mass. Fields School

City Councilor Stephen J. McGrath has announced that development kits are available for developers who are interested in conversion of the abandoned Massachusetts Fields School in Wollaston.

The development kits, prepared by the Planning Department, contain an engineering outline of the facility, building specifications and future use recommendations.

An engineering consultant has recommended some form of housing use compatible with the neighborhood.

Potential developers have until Sept. 22 to submit bids for a project proposal. After that the bids will be reviewed with neighborhood input, and the developer selected.

"I realize that with the various statutory requirements that the process of determining the use of this building has taken some time," said McGrath.

"However, I am hopeful that the future of Massachusetts Fields School will be determined shortly."

Grateful To Fire Dept.

(Editor's Note: The following letter was written to Fire Chief Edward Bares and was copied into The Quincy Sun for publication.)

Dear Chief Bares:
Once again on August 18, 1983 I found it necessary to call upon the Fire Department for help with a need for oxygen for my husband.

I would like you to know how deeply grateful we are, and have been in the past for the immediate response to our home, and for the wonderful caring attitude of your men.

In particular, I would like to mention the two fire-fighters, Stein and Jacobs from Ladder 7 in Squantum.

I would like to tell you that it is our feeling that the fire-fighters in Quincy are not only fine gentlemen, but take that extra step in checking after the emergency to kindly inquire as to how the patient is progressing. That is a truly remarkable fact and one for which we were truly touched.

We had an experience in the past with firefighters Daily, Belenna and Captain Mahoney responded and I had expressed my appreciation as much as possible (thinking they were perhaps an exception to the rule) however, this was not the case.

Training the right people for the right job is evidently a requisite of the Quincy Fire Chief! Please accept our heartfelt thanks and gratitude once more.

Mrs. John I. Erlandson

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
You and your staff deserve high praise for the "Historic Quincy" supplement. It was a good idea to begin with, and was executed with skill and coordination. I suggest Christmas bonuses.

I also suggest making the same material available in a cardboard cover, as it could serve many people in time to come. I was born in Quincy, and if that material had come to hand in the 1930's it would have meant a lot to me.

Even now I am anxious to receive six more copies, if available, and will pay for them according to your bill.

Thank you,

Jeremy K. Paulus

FIRE PREVENTION TIPS

Taking steps toward fire prevention should be second nature. Our families and homes are important.

1. Check your wiring system often. Make sure it's adequate to handle appliances, especially the new, larger ones. Frayed cords should be repaired.

2. Remember, built up grease can catch fire on the stove.

3. Store gasoline and other flammables in tight metal containers. Oil soaked rags also go in these types of cans.

4. Use flammable liquids outdoors or near enough ventilation to disperse vapors. Don't use flammable liquids near heat or while smoking.

5. It's dangerous to smoke in bed. Don't do it even if you think you're wide awake. When empty, ing ashes into waste baskets, check that all butts are out.

6. Keep a fire extinguisher handy. You may never have to use it...but it's smart to have one around - just in case.

7. Keep bedroom doors closed when you sleep. The closed door will keep most of the deadly gases out for a while, giving you a chance to escape.

We'll Get To Bed Early

One consolation about this year's preliminary election: everyone should be able to get to bed early.

The three-way contest for the Ward 6 City Council seat, of course, will bring out only voters in that ward. It's the only thing on the Sept. 13 ballot to bring anyone out.

City Clerk John Gillis figures the results should be tabulated by 9 p.m. — an hour after the polls close.

And that would break by about a half-hour, the 1979 mayoral preliminary count which had incumbent Arthur Tobin opposed by Abe Itkin and Michael Jovanovic.

Eighteen per cent of the registered voters turned out for that one and the ballots were all counted by 9:30 p.m.

Ordinarily a preliminary election with mayoral, City Council at-large, ward council and school committee, would keep election workers on the job until something like 2 a.m. before everything was tabulated and finalized.

It will be interesting to see how many voters Ward 6 incumbent Joanne Condon, and challengers School Committee Vice Chairwoman Mary Collins and Jens Thornton can get out to the polls Sept. 13.

Gillis has estimated it will cost the city only $6,000 for this election compared to something like $32,000 for a normal preliminary election.

Even that seems a little expensive just to eliminate one candidate.

But there's no truth to the rumor that Mayor Frank McCauley — who likes to pinch a penny — is trying to get the three candidates together to flip a coin or draw straws to see which two go on to the final election.

Well, I don't think there's any truth to it.

SENATOR Paul Harold, at last week's meeting of the Quincy Center Business & Professional Association, gave a report on the progress of the Burgin Parkway Extension project start.

He noted that he had informed the state that Quincy had been waiting a long time for the extension — 15 years to be exact.

The state DPW thought it was a new project. Plymouth, it was noted, has been waiting for the Route 44 project for 55 years.

ELANOR REIDY, Mayor Francis McCauley's private secretary, is back at her desk on a part-time basis following successful surgery. She helps light up City Hall.

Health Commissioner Lists Anti-Encephalitis Precautions

Public Health Commissioner Dr. M. Grace Hussey suggests that Quincy residents wear long sleeved shirts and trousers in the evening to forestall possible mosquito bites in the wake of the death of a horse from eastern equine encephalitis in West Quincy.

Dr. Hussey cautioned that the disease, which is fatal in a majority of cases, cannot be transmitted from horse to human being but only through the bite of a mosquito.

"Don't camp out near fresh water," she said, "and watch out for children who may not be quick to brush a mosquito away. Use netting, screens and insecticides. Mosquitoes don't travel very far from fresh water ponds."

The horse died Aug. 17 at the Brookdale Stables on Willard St., West Quincy, and the cause of death was diagnosed last week at the State Public Health laboratory in Jamaica Plain as eastern equine encephalitis.

Tips For Seniors

Some tips for senior citizens:

Establish daily telephone contact with your children, encourage frequent visits, and check with neighbors on a regular basis.

It is a good idea for elderly persons to join others for mutual protection in a group such as a citizen crime protection organization.

For information on such a program, contact your Police Department's Crime Prevention Officer.

If you're returning home, have your key ready and don't delay at the door.

If shopping, keep lunch money and bus or cab fare separate from your other funds. This serves two purposes: You won't expose your entire bankroll needlessly and, even if one of the caches is stolen or lost, you will still be able to get home.

Check the references or anyone who wants money from you for any reason.

Seek trusted advice before signing any contract or making any major expenditures, especially insurance purchases.

Before undertaking any medical treatment suggested by someone who approaches you, either in person or by phone, check with your own physician or community health clinic.

Entrust home repairs only to qualified workmen. Get a receipt for any significant expenditure you make.

Social Security Topic For QCA

Robert Deyes of the South Shore Social Security office will be the guest speaker Wednesday, Sept. 7, at 8 p.m. at the monthly meeting of the Quincy Citizens Association in the Montclair Men's Club.

Quincy Quiz

One winner in the Quincy Quiz this week. George F. Abdallah of 57 Winter St., Quincy Point, wins a T-shirt.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers, one a mail subscriber, to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions win T-shirts. The next two win bumper stickers.

Only one member of a household is eligible to compete in any one week and no one is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

4. True or false: The Quincy High School football team will open the 1983 season Sept. 17 against Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

5. Maxim Place is located in what section of the city?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Robert L. Johnston is headmaster of the Woodward School for Girls.

2. False. Howard Johnson opened his first store on Beale St., Wollaston, in 1925.

3. Gallagher's Quality Meat and Produce is located at 49 Billings Rd.

4. George Morton's Red Lion Inn was once a popular summer resort in Houghs Neck.

5. Landers Rd. is located in the Wollaston section of the city.

Treaty Of Paris Victory In Diplomacy For John Adams

By PAUL D. HAROLD Senator

Saturday (Sept. 3) marks the 200th Anniversary of the Treaty of Paris, which established the independence of the United States and bears the distinctive mark of John Adams.

Adams was one of the American Peace Commissioners who drafted and negotiated the treaty which, besides providing recognition of the U.S. by Britain, included claims to vast territories as far west as the Mississippi and established American fishing rights in Newfoundland and navigation rights on the Mississippi.

The principal commissioners included Adams, John Jay and Benjamin Franklin, with Adams and Jay playing the major roles.

The Continental Congress had initially limited their authority and instructed them to consult with France on matters of diplomacy. Franklin deferred to France on many matters, while at the other extreme, Adams demanded that the United States be treated as an equal.

Adams' strategy best served the new nation, since France's alliance with Spain could have defeated U.S. claims along the Mississippi and, ultimately, the very question of independence.

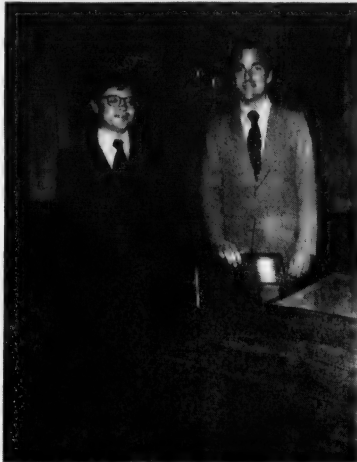

Adams was later honored by the French negotiators, who compared his victory at diplomacy with that of General Washington on the battlefield. They referred to him as "Le Washington de la negotiation."

Adams' time in Paris was both exhilarating and frustrating. While he gained a great sense of accomplishment in negotiating the various provisions of the treaty, he was frustrated with the confused manner in which the Congress dealt with him. He never knew if he was to be continued on the peace commission, and thus never sent for his wife, Abigail, until 1784, after an 18-month separation.

While Adams was negotiating borders, fishing rights and compensation for Loyalists, he and Abigail corresponded about family matters concerning their son, John Quincy, and daughter, Nabby.

Abigail wrote of a newly-established lawyer in Braintree, Royall Tyler, who was courting their only daughter. But Adams was more concerned about the safety of his son, who was returning from assignment in St. Petersburg, Russia.

When Abigail finally joined her husband in Europe, he was in his new capacity as Ambassador to the Court of St. James in HISTORIC DESK — Senator Paul D. Harold, right, stands with former U.S. Assistant Secretary of State Thomas Reston at the Treaty of Paris Desk, used to sign the document recognizing the independence of the United States, which is now located in the John Quincy Adams Diplomatic Reception Room at U.S. State Department headquarters in Washington.

London.

Four years later, in 1788, John and Abigail returned home to the Leonard Vassall house, which they had purchased the year before. John named the home "Peacefield" to commemorate his role in concluding the Paris Treaty.

The name never caught on, however, and the family still refers to it to this day as "the old house."

The rest of us know it as the Adams National Historic Site on Adams St.

Silver Haired Legislature Nomination Deadline Extended

The Department of Elder Affairs announces it will extend the Aug. 19 deadline for acceptance of nomination petitions from Silver-Haired Legislature candidates to Wednesday, Sept. 7, 5 p.m.

Papers must be filed at the Department of Elder Affairs office, 38 Chauncy St., Boston.

"While there are over 200 candidates already running in the Sept. 21 election, we have heard from several individuals who have just returned from summer holidays and become aware of it," Richard H. Rowland, Secretary of Elder Affairs, explained. "Since the Department is committed to encouraging increased participation in the program, we agreed to extend the deadline."

"While 25 signatures are necessary in order for a candidate's name to be printed on the ballot, written votes will also be counted."

Governor Michael Dukakis recently announced his support for the Silver-Haired Legislature Program in a letter to senior leaders. "I am enthusiastic about the program's potential to train 200 new elder advocates each year, and I encourage newcomers to run," Dukakis said.

Planning for the SHL Training and Legislative Program is underway. This year's agenda will include regional meetings throughout the Commonwealth and a State House Legislative session.

Kincaide Makes Pitch At GOP Candidates Night

"It does not make a great deal of difference just what these candidates say," Mrs. Emma Sanborn Tousant warned the audience. "None of them is under oath tonight, you know."

Mrs. Tousant's candid advice was delivered as moderator of a Republican candidates night held at Central Junior High School under the auspices of the Quincy Women's Republican Club.

Col. Henry L. Kincaide, candidate for the state senatorial nomination, pointed out that the state was nothing more than a great business corporation and businessmen were needed to run it.

Rep. Edward J. Sandberg, running for re-election, reminded the audience that he was one of the few effective workers in the fight to abate the sewage nuisance in Quincy Bay.

George E. Morey, running for Sandberg's seat, said he wasn't going to waste time "throwing hot air," but he planned to "ring a few doorbells and shake a few hands."

"I am the man who is interested in amateur baseball," he said, "and who would not let a carpetbagger come in here and put over anything on a little amateur ball club."

AUTO RATES ANNOUNCED

State Insurance Commissioner Wesley E. Monk announced the compulsory auto insurance rates under the new law that is effective Jan. 1 and Quincy was numbered among the highest rated.

The rate schedule for Quincy and other suburbs include $29 a year for Fords, Chevrolets and Maxwells, $37 for Oldsmobiles, Chandlers and Reos, and $45 for Cadillacs, Pierce Arrows and Locomobiles.

Rep. Alfred N. LaBrecque denounced the Quincy Chamber of Commerce for its failure to keep Quincy out of the highly rated Boston territory.

MERRYMOUNT SCHOOL ASKED

A delegation of Merrymount parents, headed by Frederick Coates, Mrs. Gladys Benzaquin and James F. Crotty, urged the School Committee to build a new school in Merrymount, instead of Adams Shore as planned.

They pointed out that 125 youngsters between the ages of 5 and 15 in Merrymount were faced with the dangers of walking on Sea St. to the portable school in Adams Shore and the Coddington School.

QUINCY-ISMS

Ann Marie Nigro Selected For 'Students Who's Who'

Ann Marie Nigro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Nigro, 31 Pelican Rd., Quincy, is one of 24 students from Fitchburg State College selected as being among the country's most outstanding campus leaders. They will be listed in the 1982-83 Edition of Who's Who Among Students In American Universities And Colleges.

Miss Nigro is a member of the class of 1983 majoring in English. While a student at Fitchburg she was a Student Ambassador, Student Organization Committee member, member of Campus Judicial Board, in addition to being on the Dean's List. She is a graduate of Quincy High School.

Students are nominated for Who's Who by campus committees who select them on the basis of their academic achievement, community service and leadership in extracurricular activities.

ENJOY CRUISE — More than 75 youngsters from the Happy Acres Day Camp for special needs children, administered by the Quincy Recreation Department, cruised Boston Harbor recently as guests of Boston Gas. The local utility company has sponsored the 90-minute tours for 15 years for elderly and youth organizations. Five of the local youngsters are shown on deck of the Massachusetts Bay Lines excursion boat "Nantascot". From left are Alice O'Keefe, Billy Savage, Ned Winbery, Michele Mullen and Tom Peterson. Features of the trip include waterfront scenery and a variety of marine vessels.

Roles Of Women Course At QJC

Quincy Junior College will offer a course on "Roles of Women in Society" through its Division of Continuing Education beginning Monday evening, Sept. 12.

In the course, participants will analyze how women have brought about changes in women's lives, and consider social forces which encourage and impede change.

This sociology course, which may be taken for credit or not, will be taught by Women's Center Director, Alicia Coletti.

Walk-in Registration at Quincy Junior College will be held daily from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. through Thursday, Sept. 1 and 8-4 on Friday, Sept. 2.

Dean of Continuing Education, Richard Mula commented, "We are pleased to be able to offer the 'Roles of Women' course again this year because of the increasing number of returning women who are interested in the sociological impact of the many changes in women's lives in the last decade."

Frederick Cook, 73. 50-Year Resident

A funeral Mass for Frederick Cook, 73, a 50-year resident of Quincy, was held Wednesday at Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy.

Mr. Cook died at home Saturday after a long illness.

Born in Boston, he moved when he was 23.

Mr. Cook was a fish buyer for the O'Hara Brothers on the Boston Fish Pier.

He is survived by his wife, Gertrude E. (McHale) Cook; two sons, Frederick W. Cook of Weymouth and Kevin M. Cook of Quincy; two daughters, Catherine M. Cook of Haverhill and Margaret A. Leary of Quincy; two sisters, Ada M. Smith and Doris R. MacDonald, both of Quincy; 12 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery, West Quincy.

Funeral arrangements were by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Catherine J. Harnedy, 95, Owner Of Bakery

A funeral Mass for Catherine J. Harnedy, 95, owner of O'Brien Bakery in Dorchester, was held Tuesday at St. John's Church, Braintree Heights.

Ms. O'Brien died Friday at the Quincy Nursing Home.

Born and educated in Skibbereen County, Cork, Ireland, she came to the United States when she was 18 years old.

She had lived in Quincy for the past 13 years and formerly resided in Dorchester, Braintree and Randolph.

Mrs. O'Brien owned O'Brien Bakery in the Ashmont Section of Dorchester for 40 years before she retired 30 years ago. Wife of the late James J. O'Brien, she is survived by three daughters, Marion J. McQuinn of Randolph, Kathleen Parker of Braintree and Marion Chambers of Houston, Texas; a sister, Celia Conboy of Dorchester; nine grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren. She was also the mother of the late James O'Brien, who died six weeks ago, and sister of the late Patrick Harnedy, who died two weeks ago.

Funeral arrangements were by Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy. Burial was in New Calvary Cemetery, Boston.

Donations may be made to the American Cancer Society, 47 West Elm St., Brockton, 02401.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK
LABOR DAY. instituted during the sweatshop era in our history, is now generally a holiday of affluence for Americans. The symbolism of Labor Day has been lost to many in the enjoyment of the good life. For most of us, the struggle and deprivations of the centuries have faded into the limbo of history and are no longer comprehensible.

This being the case, it may be the better part of wisdom to consider some of the practical aspects of Labor Day as it is now observed. Coming as it does at the end of the summer, it is an invitation to one last fling... Countless numbers of Americans will take to the highways, mountains, lakes and the sea. Sadly, there will be accidents. An army of attendants, maintenance crews, firemen, police and rescue personnel will be on hand to minimize the casualties.

So this Labor Day weekend, drive carefully, put out your campfires, handle firearms with care, and use common-sense precautions while swimming. And above all, remember there will be other holidays and other trips. Don't leave the countryside a no man's land of litter when there are millions of litter receptacles around. They are there to help preserve the beauty of our land - so let's use them. Have a happy and safe Labor Day...

Squantum Church Members Lead Services

Throughout August, services in the First Church of Squantum have been led by members of the congregation.

Speaker on Sunday was Frederick J. MacMillan.

The call to worship was given by Deacon Gretchen Bumpus; the opening prayer by Gloria Lester.

Donald Frazer gave the pastoral prayer; Deacon

Thomas Williamson read the scripture, which was from the first chapter of Genesis. The prayer of dedication was given by Paul Gifford.

Ann Lombardi and Susan Scott provided special music for the service. They sang "Sing a Song of Love", by Sib Ellis.

Greeters for the morning were Mrs. Barbara Fluhr and two of her children, Steven and Kristen.

Tore Wallin, head usher, was assisted by Deacon Stewart Scott.

There will be only one service at the church Sunday at 9:30 a.m. The Lord's Supper will be observed. The pastor of the church, the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, will preach.

Cars Damaged In Van Escape

A moped was reported stolen from Hovey St., North Quincy, Sunday, apparently by the occupants of a white van that damaged two cars in making a getaway.

Richard Ragusa of 54 Hovey St. said he came out of the house Sunday morning and found the taillight broken on his wife's 1980 Ford. His daughter's car was scratched, too, he said.

Moments later, his son, Richard, found that his moped was missing from the garage.

A witness who lives across the street said he was awakened by a crash at 3:30 a.m. and saw a white van backing up Hovey St. from the Ragusa home. It vanished on Quincy Shore Drive.

QCAO To Operate State Fuel Assistance Program

Quincy Community Action Organization, Inc., 1495 Hancock St., Quincy, which serves Braintree, Milton, Quincy and Weymouth, is among 10 local assistance agencies chosen to operate the state's fuel assistance program for the 1983-84 winter.

Agencies submitting proposals were required to show their ability to satisfy several program concerns, including: area of coverage, application intake capacity, program publicity and outreach, staffing and administrative capacities, administrative costs, responsiveness to low-income clientele, and emergencies, fiscal accountability and controls and past performance.

Eligibility for the program is determined by gross income. Massachusetts has a maximum assistance level of $750 per household, the highest level among the six New England states and the third highest level among the ten states with the largest federal allocations for fuel assistance.

Each eligible applicant-household is given a set-aside allotment of $325 which may be used anytime between Nov. 1 and Feb. 28. After the set-aside allotment is used, each household continues to receive assistance, up to its maximum assistance level, subject to the availability of funds.

The State expects federal funding for the program, which comes from the Department of Health and Human Services, to remain at last year's $82.6 million level. Massachusetts has appropriated another $17 million to supplement the federal program and provide assistance to one and two person households with incomes between the 150 percent and 175 percent of the federal property level. Massachusetts is one of only two states in the Northeast to provide this supplementary funding.

donating $2 or more. Those donating will also be eligible to win the microwave oven.

The first 50 people donating $5 or more to the fishbowl will receive two tickets to the Wollaston Theater donated by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chandler, owners of the theater.

Youngsters who want to help Jerry's Kids may obtain an official canister at The Sun office with which to collect contributions. They will receive a Jerry Lewis iron-on patch when they turn the canister in at the pledge center fishbowl.

There'll be music all day Monday featuring Baron Hugo, The Citations and the Quincy High School Alumni Band.

The Scituate Fire Department will have their dunking booth outside the pledge center.

Making return appearances will be Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Tweetie Bird, Sylvester The Cat and from McDonald's of Quincy, Grimace, Hamburglar and Birdie The Early Bird aboard the McDonald's Train.

This year, Ginny The Clown will be on hand to do face painting.

The Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee has raised $559,745 the past six years through pre-telethon special events, telethon pledges and the fishbowl.

This year's special events figures will be tabulated at the telethon.

Goal is to pass the $600,000 mark.

Henry Bosworth, publisher of The Quincy Sun, and Richard Koch, Sr., executive secretary of the Quincy Park-Recreation Board, are co-chairmen of The Quincy-South Shore Telethon Committee.

This year's telethon - the 18th annual - will originate live from Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas and carried by 200 stations.

It will start at 9 p.m. Sunday night and continue 21 1/2 hours until 6:30 p.m. Monday.

Jerry Lewis will be assisted by co-hosts Ed McMahon and Casey Kasem.

Among those scheduled to appear are Sammy Davis Jr., Michael Jackson, Wayne Newton, Dolly Parton, Ben Vereen, Merle Haggard, Helen Reddy, Vic Damone and Lola Falana.

Locally, the show will be carried on Ch. 5 with Natalie Jacobson and Chet Curtis co-hosts.

Representatives from the Quincy-South Shore Telethon Committee and pledge center will be among those making appearances on Ch. 5.

A local special program will be telecast on Ch. 5 at 8 p.m. - one hour before the start of the telethon.

Funds raised by the telethon will help finance the research battle against muscular dystrophy and support more than 230 MDA clinics throughout the country where those with any of the 40 neuromuscular diseases covered by the MDA receive medical care and equipment at no direct cost to them or their families.

MDA clinics serving the Quincy-South Shore area are at Boston University Medical Center, Children's Hospital, New England Medical Center and Massachusetts General Hospital.

at 4 p.m. and play until the end of the telethon.

Baron, of course, will be on the drums with Bill Milesky at the electric piano, and Art Perry, saxophone.

Baron will also lead an old fashioned sidewalk sing-along.

Richard Koch, Sr., executive secretary of the Quincy Park-Recreation Board are co-chairmen of the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee.

WJDA To Cover Pledge Center Activities

WJDA for the seventh straight year will team with The Quincy Sun to help Jerry's Kids.

The Quincy radio station (1300) will provide live coverage of activities at the Quincy-South Shore pledge center at The Sun, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

WJDA will begin its coverage at 6:20 a.m. Monday and continue to the end of the telethon at 6:30 p.m.

Roy Lind, program director, and Win Bettinson will give progress reports, interview volunteers working at the pledge center and those making donations at the fishbowl. They will also cover special events at the pledge center.

In addition to WJDA, activities at the pledge center will be covered live for the second year on The Quincy Sun's Ch. 8 on Quincy Cablestems from 10 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Monday.

Pledge Center Live On Cable TV

Activities at The Quincy Sun Muscular Dystrophy Telethon pledge center will be carried live on television for the second year.

The Sun's Ch. 8 on Quincy Cablestems will televise happenings inside the pledge center and special events outside on Labor Day from 10 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

There will be interviews with volunteers manning the telephones, those coming to the pledge center to make donations to the fishbowl and others participating in the telethon.

The telecast is being made possible through the cooperation and assistance of John King, general manager of Quincy Cablestems.

The TV team, all of them volunteering their services includes Tom Fahey, John Noonan, Bob Gohl and Jim Gardner.

Baron Hugo, Citations, QHS Alumni Band At Pledge Center

Once again there will be plenty of good music at the Quincy Sun pledge center on Labor Day.

In fact, there will be more than usual.

This year, the 20-piece Quincy High School Alumni Band will join regulars Baron Hugo and The Citations outside the center doing their thing for Jerry's Kids during the Muscular Dystrophy Telethon.

The Alumni Band, directed by George Vallanti will start the parade of music at 10:30 a.m. Monday featuring show tunes, movie themes and some "big band" stuff.

The Citations will take over at 1:30 p.m. with Paul Ricea on trumpet; Angelo Pagliola, chordavox; Jim Nicoloro, drums and Joe Contrino singing.

Baron Hugo will move in

$559,745 Raised Here By Telethon Committee

The Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee has raised $559,745 in the past six years.

The figure represents funds raised at special pretelethon events, telethon pledges and fishbowl receipts up until last year.

It does not include any of this year's events, which won't be tabulated until the Labor Day telethon, based at The Quincy Sun.

Goal is to pass the $600,000 mark.

Quincy Sun publisher Henry Bosworth and

100 Wollaston Theater Tickets Pledge Center Prizes

One hundred tickets to the Wollaston Theater will be awarded at The Quincy Sun based Jerry Lewis Telethon Center over the Labor Day weekend.

The first 50 people donating $5 or more to the fishbowl at the pledge center will receive two tickets each to the theater.

The tickets are being donated by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chandler, owners of the Beale St. Wollaston theater.

This is the fifth year in a row the Chandlers have donated 100 tickets.

The $5 donation for two tickets will also entitle the donors to a chance to win a Litton microwave oven being given as a prize by John Poreca, of Vesco, Inc., 273 Copeland St., West Quincy.

Mickey, Donald Grimace, Etc. At Pledge Center

Youngsters will find a lot of their friends waiting to greet them at The Quincy Sun pledge center on Labor Day.

Making return visits will be Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Tweetie Bird, Sylvester The Cat.

From McDonald's Restaurant will be, Grimace, Hamburglar and Birdie The Early Bird, along with the McDonald's Train.

The lovable characters will be inside and outside The Sun office during the Muscular Dystrophy telethon Monday.

They'll be helping to collect donations for the fishbowl.

Come on down and meet them in person.

Ginny The Clown To Face Paint

Ginny The Clown will make her debut at The Quincy Sun telethon pledge center on Labor Day.

Ginny will be on hand to do face painting to help raise donations for Jerry's Kids.

Microwave Oven To Be Awarded

Some lucky person who makes a $1 contribution will win a Litton microwave oven at The Quincy Sun Muscular Dystrophy Telethon pledge center over the Labor Day weekend.

The microwave oven is being donated by John Poreca of Vesco, Inc., 273 Copeland St., West Quincy.

This is the sixth consecutive year Poreca has donated a large prize to help Jerry's Kids. He has given four other microwave ovens, a color TV set and a color game computer in the past.

Anyone contributing $1 or more to the telethon fishbowl at the pledge center will be eligible to win the microwave oven. The lucky name will be drawn at the end of the telethon Monday.

The Sun pledge center will be in operation from 7 p.m. Sunday to 7 p.m. Monday.

Call 328-6622 To Make Pledge

If you want to make a pledge during the Muscular Dystrophy Telethon over the Labor Day weekend, the number to call in the Quincy-South Shore area is 328-6622.

A battery of special telephones is being installed in The Quincy Sun office, pledge center for the Quincy-South Shore area.

Call 328-6622 and you will ring one of them. The telephones will be manued by 200 volunteers on various shifts during the Jerry Lewis Telethon carried on Ch. 5, Boston.

You may also make a contribution to the fishbowl by visiting The Sun office, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

The pledge center will be in operation 24 hours from 7 p.m. Sunday to 7 p.m. Monday.

There will be music and entertainment outside The Sun office all day Monday.

Tall Ship Posters For Fishbowl Donations

Handsome color posters of two famed Tall Ships will be available again this year at The Quincy Sun pledge center during the Muscular Dystrophy Telethon over the weekend.

Anyone donating $2 or more to the fishbowl will receive a poster of either the Christian Radich or Gorch Fock II.

The $2 contribution will also entitle the donor a chance to win a Litton Microwave oven being given by John Poreca of Vesco, Inc., 273 Copeland St., West Quincy.

The Sun pledge center, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq., will be open 24 hours from 7 p.m. Sunday to 7 p.m. Monday.

Dunk Tank At Pledge Center

Would you like to get dunked or do some dunking?

The Scituate Fire Department will have their dunking tank outside The Quincy Sun telethon pl. Jg center Labor Day to help raise money to help fight muscular dystrophy.

Volunteers are needed "to hit the water" for Jerry's Kids. If you'd like to help, come on down Monday with your swimsuit.

And if you've ever wanted to try your arm and dunk someone, here's your chance.

The Scituate Fire Department is standing in for the Quincy High School Alumni Band Association who ordinarily would be on hand with their dunking.

But vandals wrecked their tank a few months ago.

Undaunted by the senseless vandalism, the QHS Alumni Band will perform outside the pledge center to continue their efforts for Jerry's Kids.

Women's Body Fitness Registration

The Quincy Recreation Department will conduct registration for its fall session of Women's Body Fitness beginning Sept. 1 in the Recreation office, 100 Southern Artery.

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch said the course will run for 10 weeks, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, with two separate times, 9:15 a.m. and 10 a.m. Instructor is Mrs. Anita Argyropole. The program will be held at the Fore River Club House, Quincy Point.

There is a $15 fee. Registration will be taken from 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. weekdays as long as openings exist.

For more information, contact the Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204.

New Post Office Boxes Available At Quincy Post Office

Manager Ken Starr of the Quincy Post Office advises residents that the waiting list for post office boxes is now a thing of the past.

Recent installation of 624 post office boxes will enable the Quincy office to better meet the needs of its customers. Starr said that many customers had been waiting months for a box to become available.

Post office boxes are popular, Starr noted, because they offer both convenience and privacy in receiving mail. The boxes are accessible whenever the post office lobby is open, and when boxholders are out of town they do not have to make arrangements to have their mail held or to have someone check their mailbox. They can rest assured their mail is secure at the post office.

"During these inflationary times," Starr said, "it is important for our customers to get the most from every dollar spent. A post office box provides customers with the best possible security at a very reasonable price. A small box, for example, rents for as low as $20 a year." Larger sizes are also available and applications for immediate rental can be obtained at the Quincy Post Office, 47 Washington Street.

Swingle's Quarry Water Down Almost 100 Feet

The level of the water in Swingle's Quarry has been lowered by nearly 100 feet in the search for the body of Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton, who drowned there June 20 after diving from a 50-foot ledge.

But the plan to send divers down to resumed their quest for the body has been postponed until the water level is down 130 feet, probably on the second weekend in September.

Principals in the quarry operation, including the Gooch boy's parents, met Monday morning in the office of Mayor Francis X.

McCauley to review the first four weeks of draining.

McCauley said it had been planned to send the divers in when the water level was down to 100 feet but the presence of an old railroad footbridge in the depths changed those plans.

The bridge is at the 130 foot level and John Walker, representing the Quincy Police Underwater Recovery Unit, said it would be safer to wait until the bridge is uncovered.

McCauley said the cost of the draining operation has reached $34,568, with some $24,000 attributed to city workers who would otherwise have been working on other projects.

The remaining $10,043 is in additional costs, he said.

A great deal of the equipment being used has been donated at no cost to the city. It includes the pump itself, the generators and the crane used to lower the equipment into the quarry hole.

Local Committee To Monitor S. Quincy MBTA Opening

Mayor Francis X. McCauley is setting up a committee of local people to monitor the opening of the Quincy Adams MBTA station in South Quincy, which is scheduled for the weekend of Sept. 9-10.

The committee will include City Councillors James A. Sheets and Theodore DeCristofaro, Peter Kenney of the Mayor's office and representatives of the Traffic Commission and the Public Works Department.

"We will also have four residents from the immediate area, two from each ward," said McCauley.

The ceremonial opening of the station is set for Friday, Sept. 9, at 12 noon and the official opening to the public on Saturday Sept. 10.

"The big test of the station will be Monday, Sept. 12, when the first commuters start using it," said the Mayor.

Toland Urges Full-Time Aging Council Director

City Councillor Patricia Toland has urged that a full-time director be named for the Quincy Council on Aging.

Toland spoke on her interest in elderly affairs at a coffee hour at the home of Norma and Emile Barriere, 627 Quincy Shore Drive.

"There are 19,555 Quincy residents over the age of 65, nearly 25 per cent of our population Toland said.

"Communities with far fewer elderly citizens have full-time directors and are therefore able to provide a broader range of services.

"In addition, a full-time director would have time to pursue funding sources whether private, state, or federal. This funding would bring many more services to our growing population of senior citizens."

"Presently, the city of Quincy provides no money in its budget for senior citizens. All money now targeted for senior citizens comes either from the state or from federal Community Development Block Grant funding.

"The Jobs Bill, which brings an additional half million dollars to Quincy to create jobs, has already been earmarked for many worthy items. My suggestion will be to use some of this money to fund a full-time director of the Council on Aging."

"The existing neighborhood centers have been providing good services to the elderly in their areas. I would like to see a center devoted exclusively to the needs of the elderly offering a comprehensive program of health, recreational and educational services. This center could provide invaluable volunteer experiences to almost 20,000 people."

At the next City Council meeting, Toland said she will bring in a resolution asking the Mayor to consider funding a full-time position for director of the Council on Aging.

"At its meeting on May 26, the Council on Aging voted to support the appointment of a full-time director and I urge the mayor to consider of this position because of its potential for greater delivery of services to such an important segment of our population."

Hearing Sept. 12 On Crane House Rehabilitation

The Quincy Historical Commission will hold a public hearing Monday, Sept. 12, at 7 p.m. in the Planning Department conference room on a proposal to renovate the 150-year-old Joseph Crane House in South Quincy.

The renovations are planned by John Reggiano, who operates a hair-dressing salon across Franklin St. and recently purchased the Crane House.

The house was built at 124-126 Franklin St. in 1834 by Joseph Crane, a bootmaker and member of an old Quincy family, who purchased a third of an acre of land from John Quincy Adams, the former president.

Crane died in 1869 and the house remained in the Crane family until 1886.

O'Leary, McDermott Win Fallon Cup

Jim O'Leary of the host club finally has a Fallon Cup championship after 10 years of watching, working as a caddy and playing in the 43rd annual Fallon Cup Member-Guest Tournament at the Wollaston Golf Club.

O'Leary and his partner, Jim McDermott of Fall River Country Club, defeated Joe Keller of the host club and Joe Kazickas, 3 and 2, in the title match.

"This is the biggest thrill of my life, I've been around the tournament so long," O'Leary said. "I thought it was great just to get into the finals. Then to win it is something else. I feel great."

O'Leary and McDermott had eliminated Barry Driscoll and Dave Tasho, 5 and 3, in the semifinals, while Keller and Kazickas eliminated Paul Kelly and James Ahern.

In the first flight Harry Kanataris and Mike Finkel defeated Emmet and Patrick

McGuire, 5 and 4, in the finals.

John O'Flaherty and Ray Richard won the second flight by defeating Tom Quinn and Mike Wedge, 3 and 2.

The third flight went to Bob Fraser and Dan O'Rourke, who defeated Bob Marr and Ed Quimby, 1-up.

John Dineen and Bob Muse won the fourth flight with a 1-up win over Ralph Nagle and Dave Miller.

Quincy Americans Bow In Junior Tourney

The Quincy Americans were finally eliminated from the Stoughton Invitational Junior Baseball Tournament, losing to Parkway of West Roxbury, 3-2, to finish tournament play with a fine 7-2 record.

Billy McDougall suffered his first loss, giving up six hits, as errors by his mates spelled his downfall.

Quincy trailed, 3-0, but scored a run in the fourth when Mike Ainsley walked.

Joe Gately singled and Chris Boudreau singled in the run. Quincy scored again in the sixth when Gately singled (this third hit), stole second and scored on Doug Armstrong's single.

Quincy had defeated Walpole, 3-1, in its previous game, as Robbie McDonald pitched a three-hitter, gave up two walks and struck out 11 for his fourth tournament win.

McDonald homered to put Quincy up, 1-0, and the team added two runs in the third when McDonald walked. McDougall reached on an error and Brian Howlett doubled in the two runs.

Howlett had two singles and McDougall, Ainsley, Chris LaForest and Boudreau one each. LaForest made an outstanding play in left field.

N.Q. Kickers Win Hingham Indoor Title

The North Quincy Kickers' youth soccer team recently won the Hingham Indoor League championship, finishing with an 8-0 record.

North defeated South Boston, Milton, Weymouth, Dedham, Rockland, Scituate, South Shore and Hingham.

The Kickers gave up only three goals in the eight games, thanks to the superb defense keyed by Alex Coutts and Jaime Paz. Bob O'Brien and Mark Hubbard shared the goal keeping duties and were outstanding.

Offensively the kickers scored 43 goals, led by Gred DiBella with 10 goals, Nunzio Carbone with nine and David Brown with eight.

In the title-clinching game North defeated Hingham, 4-0, with Carbone scoring three goals and DiBella and Carbone scored at least one goal in every game.

Amorosino Named Assistant B.U. Coach

Joe Amorosino, the head basketball coach at Quincy High for the past 10 years, has been named an assistant coach at Boston University, Director of Athletics John Simpson has announced.

Amorosino, 44, compiled a 123-94 record at Quincy, taking the Presidents to the Eastern Mass. Tournament five times. His team won the Suburban League title in 1980.

Amorosino sent 39 of his players into the college ranks, including Steve Priscella, a junior on the B.U. squad.

"We are very fortunate to have one of the finest coaches in New England join our staff," said first-year Terrier coach John Kuester, who succeeds Rick Pitino. "His record at Quincy High speaks for itself. Joe will be considered an in-house coach who will be at all practices."

A 1962 graduate of Ply-

JOE AMOROSINO

mouth State College. Amorosino earned his Master's degree from Boston University in 1966 in Recreation and Community School Administration.

Prior to succeeding Marty Finnegan as Quincy's head coach, he had served as a North Quincy High assistant for seven years and assistant at Quincy for one season.

"I am very pleased to be named a BU assistant and I look forward to the challenge," Amorosino said.

"This is an excellent opportunity for me. BU has a fine basketball program and I look forward to working with John Kuester."

"I enjoyed coaching at Quincy and am proud that so many of my players not only went on to excel in college but became successful in the business and professional world."

Amorosino has been associated with several basketball camps and for a number of years assisted former Celtics player Larry Siegfried at his camp.

Boston University, 21-10 last year, look to repeat as ECAC North Atlantic Conference champions this season. Eight lettermen return, including five players who started more than half the games last year.

The Terriers open their season Nov. 26 at home against St. Francis.

Firefighters, City Officials Win Doubleheader

By TOM HENSHAW

Those natural rivals, the Police vs. the Firefighters and the City Official vs. the News Media, were at it again for Muscular Dystrophy last week.

The Firefighters hung on to edge the Police, 5-3, in an upset. The Policemen are undefeated in the Police Suburban League but it didn't matter to the Firefighters.

The City Officials, with an assist from a couple of ringers, retired fire laddie Larry (Jock) Ready and Bill Reardon, disposed of the News Media, 13-11, in a thriller.

The City Officials jumped out to an early lead in the very first inning and News Media Manager Henry Bosworth announced that he was protesting the game.

The City Officials had too many men on the field, he said.

Later, when the News Media moved out in front, City Official Manager Art Foley announced that he was protesting the game for too few women on the field.

When it was over, however, neither manager could remember what the protest was about so the score was allowed to stand.

While all the fuss was going on Dick Koch, Sr. was sitting quietly in a corner counting the proceeds. He got to $700 and reports more is still expected from ticket sales.

Mrs. Ruth DeCristofaro McInnis won the baseball glove donated by Bob Colman of Colman's Sporting Goods store. Proceeds of the drawing like those of the game, went to Muscular Dystrophy.

Those who took part in the game included:

City Officials - Mary Collins, John Sullivan, Christopher Kennedy, all of the School Committee; Patricia Toland, Theodore DeCristofaro, Richard J. Koch Jr., all of the City Council.

Peter Kenney, Arthur Foley, both of the Mayor's Office; Jay MacRitchie, Solicitor's office; Don Hansen, Personnel; Brian Buckley, Council on Aging; Ray Cattaneo, Park Department.

Mary Nolan, City Council office; Larry (Jock) Ready, Bill Reardon and Brian Toland, ringers all.

News Media - Tom Lee, Mark Burns, Bob Bosworth, Jim O'Neil, Adrian MacKinnon, Fred Happel, Paul Gorham, George Solari, Dave Gray, all of the Quincy Sun.

Earl LaChance, Sean Mulready, John Johnson, all of the Patriot Ledger; John Nicholson, Herb Fon-tain, both of WJDA; Phil Cannady of the Associated Press; and Ron Iacobucci, cable television.

Simmie Jo Koch and Tom Bowes umpired both games.

● Perkins League

Woodward's In Sweep Over Trucks

Two-time champion Woodward's Spring, which finished second to Martin's Plumbing in regular season play, swept Trucks of Quincy in three straight games in their Perkins Softball League semifinal playoff series.

Woodward's walloped Trucks, 9-4, in the first game. In the second game Trucks took a 2-0 lead but Woodward's rallied for five runs in the sixth inning to win, 5-2.

In the third game Woodward's erupted for six runs early and hung on to clinch the series, 10-3. Woodward's Kevin Rooney pitched all three games and second baseman Donny Stetler had a fine series, going 7 for 10 at the plate.

Woodward's goes into the finals again and will meet the winner of the Martin's-Sedators series in its quest for a third straight league crown.

In the other best of five series, the Sedators who rallied to clinch the Niners in a best of three series, will have to do the same thing against Martin's, as they find themselves one game away from being eliminated.

The Sedators won the first game, 12-10, and in the second game had three chances to tie the game at 10 in the bottom of the seventh with a runner on first and one out.

The Sedators hit a shot into the right-center field gap but Buzzy Lynnscoff, noticing he missed third base trying to score, fell down but managed to get back to third safely, putting the tying run on third and the winning run on second. Martin's defense then bore down and retired the next two batters without a run and came out on top, 10-9.

Martin's had things its own way in the third game, winning, 12-2, and holds a 2-1 series lead.

● HN Women's Softball

Castaways Finish In Top Spot

The Castaways finished first in the Houghs Neck Women's Softball League, followed in order by the Hustlers, Bunnies, Neckers and Sea Gals.

The Bunnies won the playoff title, defeating the Hustlers in three games and the Castaways in two straight games.

The annual banquet will be held Saturday, Sept. 10, at the Quincy Yacht Club.

The league officials thank the coaches, Rusty Preble, Ed Kelly, Rick Tatem, Jim Gilmore and Mary Ellsworth, for their time and effort in making the season a success.

They also thank the umpires, Red Riley, Joe Pacetti, Willie Knopf, Bill Foster, Tom Tordoff, John Sullivan and John Fraser.

QYHA Offering Scholarships

The Quincy Youth Hockey Association is again offering scholarships to families of present and former members now attending college.

Applications are available at the Youth Arena and should be returned by Sept. 15.

Further information can be had by calling Lorraine Rooney at the Quincy Youth Arena, 479-8371.

• Babe Ruth

A.L. Wins Both All-Star Games

The American League won both Babe Ruth League all-star games last week at Adams Field.

The American League easily won the 15-year-old game, 10-2, and also won the 14-year-old contest, 7-5.

In the 15-year-old game, Mike Kubera was the winning pitcher and the Most Valuable Player. Strong pitching performances also were turned in by Bob Kane, Al Martell, Bob Bradley and Eric Roukey.

Kane reached base five times and stole five bases. P. J. Hussey, Jay Osgood and Mark Simonelli each had two hits. Bradley doubled and Roukey and Simonelli had triples. Osgood and Kubera were outstanding on defense.

For the National League John Christiani robbed Roukey of an extra base hit and won the MVP award for his team. Mike Murphy drove in both National League runs.

Playing for the American League stars were Steve Constat, Kane and Chris Rossi. Golden Print; Bradley, Kubera and Hussey, Barry's Deli; Bob Kozlowski, Osgood and Roukey, Bryan Post; George Hartford, Martell and Simonelli. Elks; Jimmie Arroyo, Joe Mastrotroiani and Dave Phillips, Firemen. The team was managed and coached by Tom Foley and Jim Higgins.

Playing for the National League were Christiani, Chris Doyle and Tim Morrison, Morrisette; Joe Cullen, Billy LaForest and Andy Lenhardt, Hancock Bank; Mike Bille, Sean Flavin and Jim Mayo, Sons of Italy; Mike Joyce and Brian Morris, Police; Mike Barron, Murphy and Pat O'Sullivan, Granite City;

David Britt, Kevin Goyette and Gary McNamara, Local 1139. Chuck Woodman was manager and Bob Peterson coach.

The 14-year-old game was the first in Babe Ruth League history. The American League had 11 hits and the Nationals had only four but took advantage of seven bases on balls.

Bob Laracy of the Elks was the starting pitcher for the Americans, pitching three innings and giving up two runs on two hits, he struck out two and walked one.

He was followed by Billy Burkhead, who pitched two innings, struck out four, walked two and allowed two hits; Joe Rabbs, who was wild, pitching two-thirds of an inning and giving up two runs on three walks, and Chris Cody, who came in to get the last batter on strikes, but the Nationals had tied the score at 5-5.

The Americans scored two runs in the top of the seventh to go ahead, 7-5.

Dennis DeCoste of Houghs Neck Legion walked, Mike Malone of VFW ran for him and stole second, Steve Hensley of the Fire Dept. walked, both runners moved up on a wild pitch and both scored on singles by Dave Tocchio of the Fire Dept. and Jay DeBartolo of Golden Print, Cody of VFW pitched the bottom of the seventh, striking out two after walking two and getting the other batter on a ground-out.

Burkhead had two singles and scored twice, DeBartolo had two singles, Hensley had a long triple and scored a run, Chris Marshall of Barry's Deli drove in two runs with a single, Steve Minichiello, who played a fine game at shortstop with five assists, had a single, Laracy had a single and scored a run, Cody a single, Billy Roche walked and scored, Steve Austin, VFW catcher, reached twice and had two stolen bases.

The American League roster was made up of Marshall, Burkhead and Roche of Barry's; Minichiello and DeBartolo, Golden Print; Austin, Cody and Malone, VFW; Matt Ostiguy, Logan and Laracy, Elks; Bob Callahan, Jim Phelan and DeCoste, Houghs Neck, and Hensley Tocchio and Rabbs, Fire Dept. Burkhead was named the team's MVP. Mike Gormley, Steve Buckley and John Franceschini were the coaches.

For the National League Larry Taglieri was the starting pitcher, giving up two runs on four hits, struck out four and walked four over three innings. He was followed by Danny Santry of Local 1139, who allowed two runs on four hits, struck out one and walked one in three innings, and Kyle Robertson, who gave up two runs on two hits, walked two and struck out one.

Paul Connelly had a single, Rick Dondero a single and walk and a run scored, John Nee and Santry had singles, Taglieri walked and scored as did Jeff Morris, and Steve Haggas and Scott Holmann also scored runs.

The National League roster comprised Robby Fitzgerald, Tom Riley and Morris, Police; Mike Snow, Haggas, Santry and Holmann, Local 1139; Chad Hallet, Connally and Dondero, Morrisette Post; Robertson and Nee, Hancock Bank; Pat Finnigan, Granite City, and Taglieri, Sons of Italy.

Taglieri was named the team's MVP. Bill Ostiguy, Dick Laracy and Jay Tropea were the coaches.

Hutchinson Named ECAC Hockey Officials Supervisor

Bill Hutchinson, who recently retired after serving as a top notch coach and teacher at Quincy High School since 1948, has been appointed supervisor of hockey officials for the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC).

Hutchinson was Quincy's hockey coach from 1948 to 1965 and was guidance counselor and faculty manager of athletics since 1965.

A 1939 North Quincy High graduate, he played varsity hockey for four years at Northeastern University, was Captain in 1943 and was an All-East selection that season.

He served in the Army from 1943 to 1945, is a member of the State Coaches Hall of Fame, coached eight tournament teams at Quincy and for many years was a college and high school hockey official.

"We are fortunate to obtain the expertise and experience of Bill Hutchinson," said ECAC Comr. Scotty Whitelaw, a former North Quincy athlete. "His experience lays the solid foundation for him to assume this important role within the conference ice hockey administration structure."

"I am honored to receive this important appointment," said Hutchinson. "I know I will receive the support and cooperation of all the member schools as I start to put in place the administrative procedures and policies of the conference and proceed with the assignment of officials for the 1983-84 season."

Wollaston, Accurate Tied In Softball Finals

Wollaston Pizza Chef and Accurate Metal are tied at one win apiece in the finals of the South Suburban Industrial Softball League and are continuing their series this week.

In the semi-finals Pizza

Chef ousted Landing Pub in three straight games and Accurate Metal also eliminated Electro Switch in three straight.

In the quarterfinals Pizza Chef had defeated Quincy

Colvas, two wins to one; Accurate Metal had ousted Raytheon in two straight games; Landing Pub downed Hanover Arco, two wins to one, and Electro Switch topped Arborway in two straight.

McDonald A.L. MVP

In Junior All-Star Game

Robert McDonald was named the American League's Most Valuable Player in the recent Quincy Junior Baseball League all-star game.

As starting pitcher, McDonald struck out the first six batters he faced and also drove in three runs with two hits.

A 12-year-old catcher and pitcher for Burgin

Platner, Robert also has the distinction of being the first youth from Quincy to win a gold medal at the Arco

Junior Olympics in California, throwing a baseball 120 feet in the 10-11 year old class.

Soccer player Dave Lovatt of Derby, England, was once slapped with a ten-shilling fine for smiling at the referee.

WEEK OF: SEPTEMBER 1

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Mingling with some new friends makes for an intellectually oriented week. Financial decisions should not be delayed. An older relative can influence your thinking about romance.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Consider all implications before involving yourself in complicated family situations. Romance is on the upswing; partner is ready, willing and able to show lots more attention.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

New moonmaking opportunities enter into view; you may decide to take on a part time assignment. Creative activities, however, emphasize fun over profit.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Travel is spotlighted through a period that also accents education, financial expansion, and some romantic misunderstandings. In family dealings, the key is to mix humor with compassion.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Family appears a little possessive, and social plans are rearranged at the last minute. Accent is on the setting forth of long term goals. Weekend is financially upbeat.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

When you're excited about a project, you give your all to it. This week finds you dedicated to such a new activity. However, don't neglect your health in the process.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Up in the air plans settle to earth by the end of the period. Education is accented as you and/or a family member embark on a long-term academic adventure.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Week may find you unexpectedly reunited with a friend from long ago, or feeling the urge to write a faraway acquaintance. Partner is eager to share his/her successes with you.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Week finds you a little shy at first, but the accent's on bold moves if you're to achieve goals on schedule. Intimate parties prove lively rather than large-scale events.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Career opportunity may be put on hold owing to family obligation. Modest windfall favored after the weekend. Best friends now are the down-to-earth, unpretentious kind.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Although it's a quiet week it's an important period, offering opportunities to expand social circle and advance professionally. Key is to spot those opportunities as they appear.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Play up creativity in various areas of life. Role now is a supportive one. Take added financial precautions on the weekend. Spotlight is on education from Monday onward.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Metliculous, conservative, loyal and thrifty. Self-education is highlighted through the next twelve months. October/February see you facing a series of personal challenges, and starting April you're in a prestigious leadership position.

BORN THIS WEEK

September 1st, actress Yvonne DeCarlo. 2nd, author Otto Peters. 3rd, actress Valerie Perrine. 4th, actor Dick York. 5th, actor Bob Newhart. 6th, actress Jo Anne Worley. 7th, actor Peter Lawford.

WORDS & MEANINGS

Cable helped Millie stop the ghosts.

Millie Napoleone, as you can see, is a no-nonsense take-charge lady who takes pride in her job as a safety patrol and works hard at it. So, when she began having trouble with "ghosts" in her television reception she decided to do something about it. She decided to try Cable and she chose Quincy Cablesystems.

Now, she's got the clearest TV picture she's ever had, and that's not all. She's also got television specials, first-run movies and Broadway hits, a variety of choices that you only get with Cable.

Millie loves that variety of programming. She also knows that if there's a program she's unable to see one night, she can catch it at a later date. With cable, if a sports event is blacked out in the Boston area, Millie and her sports-loving husband can see it at home.

As far as Millie is concerned, Cable is the only way to go. So, if you're looking for directions, look for Millie. She'll show you the way. She's already been there.

LEGAL NOTICE

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS THE TRIAL COURT THE PROBATE AND FAMILY COURT
Norfolk Division
Docket No. 77F1604-A1
Estate of WILLIAM V. QUINN, late of Quincy in the County of Norfolk
NOTICE

A petition has been presented in the above-captioned matter praying that ELLEN M. QUINN, of Quincy, in said County, be appointed administratrix of the estate of said deceased. It is further requested that this Court determine that the document executed on December 7th, 1960 and on file with the Court is not a valid testamentary instrument due to improper execution.

If you desire to object to the allowance of said petition, you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Dedham on or before 10:00 in the forenoon on September 9, 1983.

In addition you should file a written statement of objections to the petition, giving the specific grounds, therefore, within thirty (30) days after the return day (or such other time as the Court, on motion with notice to the petitioner, may allow) in accordance with Probate Rule 2A.

Sun Pledge Center Raises $35,848 For Jerry's Kids

By HENRY BOSWORTH

Over the top!
The Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Pledge Center went well over the top over the Labor Day weekend.

The pledge center--based at The Quincy Sun--raised $35,848

That's $6,127 more than last year.
The $35,848 represents $30,206 in telephone pledges and $5,642 in fishbowl receipts.

It means the pledges topped last year's by $5,960 and the fishbowl receipts are $167 over 1982.

The fishbowl didn't go over the top until Tuesday morning when Atty. George Burke of North Quincy came up from the weekend at the Cape and wrote out a check for $100.

A few years ago he put the pledges over the top with a large 11th hour pledge.

And, with some $25,686 realized so far in pre-telethon events, it brings the Quincy-South Shore Telethon Committee's total figure for this year to date to $61,534.

And it brings the committee's seven year total (so far) to $621,278.

The committee's goal this year was to pass the

School Enrollment Down Estimated 500

Quincy's public school children go back to school Monday, Sept. 12, but there will only be about 9,800 of them, down some 500 from the previous year.

There will be an instructional staff of 570 teachers, including 455 classroom teachers.

School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon noted that in the past four years, two thirds of the elementary school teachers have been laid off, down from 335 to 110, and the smaller classes are starting to reach the high schools.

"There will be no layoffs in the high schools this year," Creedon, "but it will be touch and go down the line depending on what attrition brings. The average age of our teachers now is close to 50."

Creedon reported that the kindergarten class has been stabilized at around 650 to 675 youngsters, down from the high of 1,500 a decade ago.

According to Carmen Mariano, director of personnel for the schools, the projected enrollments are 3,600 for kindergarten through the fifth grade; 6,200 for Grades 6 through 12.

The upper classmen break down to 2,500 in the middle schools and 3,700 in the high schools.

McCauley Spends $11,603 On 'No Contest' Campaign

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has no opposition in his bid for a second term but already his campaign has cost $11,603 since the first of the year.

Nearly $2,000 is listed in McCauley's first financial report of the campaign as going to pay for his attendance at a mayor's conference in Denver.

Another $300 was spent on gift certificates to the Top of the Hub Restaurant in Boston for six city workers who were singled out for their extraordinary performances over the years.

A large portion of the remainder was taken up with donations to churches and other charitable groups.

The report showed that McCauley started the year with $14,236 in his war chest, added $20,419 in contributions, spent $11,603 for a balance of $23,052.

McCauley Asks Referendum

$28 M Shipyard Tax Decision Goes To People

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday he is going to let the voters of Quincy decide how they want to repay the General Dynamics shipyard $28 million in overassessed taxes and interest during the next 10 years.

The City Council was asked Tuesday night to approve a $19,029,000 bond issue over the 10-year period and place a referendum on the Nov. 8 city election ballot to exempt the annual debt service of $2.8 million from the Proposition 2½ limits on the property tax levy.

McCauley, who has no opposition in his bid for reelection, said he will be active on the campaign trail explaining the referendum but he does not plan either to support or oppose the Prop 2½ exemption.

"I will explain to the people the alternatives," he said. "If the voters turn it down I will have to take $2.8 million a year for 10 years from some other areas of the city budget. This is sufficient impact so that the voters should have the final say on it."

The repayment agreement with General Dynamics, announced by McCauley Tuesday, covers the fiscal years 1977 through 1983 and includes a total judgement of $17,997,000 plus $1,032,000 in capitalized interest for a grand total of $19,029,000.

If the Council approves the bond issue, and it is almost certain to do so, the bonds would be held by General Dynamics itself at an 8 per cent interest rate, which is well below the open market interest rate of 10½ per cent.

"The settlement could have been a lot worse for Quincy," said McCauley.

The city's problems started in March, 1982, when Superior Court Judge Hiller Zobel ruled that the assessed valuation of the shipyard from 1977 through 1980 should have been $25.9 million and it should have been taxed on 25 per cent of that, or $6.5 million.

That meant that the city

Reggie's License Transfer Continued By Board

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The License Board voted Tuesday to continue to Sept. 13 a request for transfer of the common victualer alcoholic license for Reggie's, 7-9 Copeland St., West Quincy.

Lelio Regiannini of Hull is proposed manager of the establishment which would be known as Caffè Giovanni

Inc. Lelio is uncle of current owner Paul Regiannini.

Armando Regiannini, father of Paul and president of the corporation, told the board that renovations to the outside of the building are planned.

Police Capt. Paul Nestor, sitting in for vacationing Police Chief Francis Finn, requested the matter be continued so that the new manager could appear before the board.

Reggie's license was suspended for 30 days in July after an incident allegedly involving a gun shot in the establishment.

"The managership is very important," said Nestor, "it's important that a change be made."

Disposal Area Open Saturday

Because of the Labor Day holiday Monday, Quincy's disposal area will be open Saturday, according to the Department of Public Works.

Hours will be the same as for Monday through Friday: 7:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. for trucks, 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. for cars.

Permits are required for trucks.

Arson Suspected In Houghs Neck Fire

Arson is suspected in a $40,000 Houghs Neck fire that swept through an unoccupied house and sent two firefighters to the hospital.

The two-story wood frame house at 40 Winthrop

St. was owned by John Anderson, who no longer lived there.

Lt. Bernard Macaulay was treated for a burned left ear and firefighter Michael Hobin for a knee injury at City Hospital. Both remained on duty.

Deputy Chief Carl Balenti said "every indication is that it is of suspicious origin."

Valenti estimated the damage at $40,000.

Santoro Assails

School Committee Stipend

Frank Santoro, a candidate for school committee, says he is angry about the $1,200 stipend that members of the School Committee voted themselves early this year.

"Committee members were very uncomfortable with the fact that they had to vote on the package as an individual issue by roll call vote," he said.

"Earlier in the year they tried to conceal the issue as a part of the whole school budget, at that time, requesting $3,000 with the City Council approving the lesser amount.

"What angers me is that the committee is legally and morally responsible for paying raises to unions under their jurisdiction as well as seeing that the children's needs in the classroom are taken care of."

"It seems as though everyone in the School Department is suffering except for the School Committee."

Santoro said money is not the only issue.

"Most people are unaware that committee member, under the new legislation that grants them stipends, are also entitled to health and retirement benefits," he said.

"Some Committee members," he added, "should concentrate more on issues facing children in the classroom rather than focusing their efforts on jobs and promotions for their families and their most recent decision benefiting themselves."

Robbed Of $20

Alan Verdi of Brockton reported to police he was robbed Monday by six youths who snatched his bag containing $20 in cash, cigarettes and bill payments while he was crossing Billings Rd., North Quincy.

ADULT BASIC EDUCATION

A program for adults with less than a high school education for improvement of knowledge and skills in the following areas: Reading, Writing, Spelling, Math, Social Studies, and Science. When individuals have become proficient in the five (5) areas, applications may be made to take the high school equivalency examination. The high school equivalency diploma is recognized as being equal to a four-year high school diploma by business, industry, the Civil Service Commission, the United States Armed Forces, licensing bureaus and institutions of higher learning.

Classes will be held at the Quincy High School Method Center and The Lincoln-Hancock Community School.

Monday and Wednesday evenings 7:00-8:00 P.M.

Dandy Donuts, Duck's Soup Granted License

Two neighboring eating establishments in Wollaston were granted license requests at Tuesday's License Board meeting at City Hall.

The board approved a request from Duck's Soup, Inc., 698 Hancock St., for change of common victualer-take out only license to common victualer license, and installation of seats for 12 persons.

Also approved by the board was a request from Dandy Donuts and Deli, 687 Hancock St., for a common victualer Lord's Day licenses.

Ward Councillor Stephen McGrath said that since an earlier License Board meeting, Duck's Soup owner Anne Lindburg has met with local residents who have dropped their opposition to the request.

Among the conditions agreed upon were hours of 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. for lunch and 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. for dinner, said McGrath. She is to notify neighbors in advance of any changes.

The Dandy Donuts license was granted with the stipulations that any problems with cooking odors be rectified to the satisfaction of the board and neighbors, there be no ground signs and landscaping be maintained.

The tanks at the vacant Quincy Gas Station, where the shop is to be constructed, are to be removed under the supervision of the Fire Department.

Atty. Carl Johnson, representing applicant Joseph Powers, said that hours at the shop will be 4 a.m. to midnight Monday to Friday, and 5 a.m. to midnight on week-ends.

Johnson also said that 30 local residents will be employed, including a full time maintenance person.

The number of seats has been decreased from 40 to 35, and the number of parking spaces increased from eight to 10, since the original application, Johnson said.

Arthur Chandler, owner of the Wollaston Theatre and other property from 10 to 18 Beale St., opposed the license request and stressed limited parking.

Chandler said there are 15 eating establishments in Wollaston Center with 489 seats and 80 legal parking spaces.

Edward Flavin of Flavin and Flavin Real Estate was in favor, as was Ward Councillor Stephen McGrath.

Construction of the shop is scheduled to begin within a month, Johnson said.

Sept. 15 Deadline For 'Good Neighbors'

Thursday, Sept. 15, is the final date to nominate 1983 "Good Neighbors" to be honored at the Houghs Neck Community Council's annual October dinner.

Houghs Neck residents of more than five years may be nominated for civic contributions, acts of heroism, or for being a "good neighbor."

Written nominations may be given to William Nugent, chairman of the event, at 72 Turner St., or left at the Houghs Neck Community Center, 1193 Sea St., before the deadline.

Divers To Resume Quarry Search

Divers are scheduled to resume their search Sept. 17, for the body of Paul Gooch, 17, of Brockton, presumed to have drowned in Swingle's Quarry, West Quincy.

The divers were scheduled to use sonar to devise a chart of the quarry under water in preparation for the search, according to David Colton of the Department of Public Works.

Diving can start when the city has drained the quarry to the 130-foot level, Colton said.

At that level, an old railroad bridge, which officials fear could be dangerous to divers, would be exposed in the Quarry.

Burglar Thawrted In N.Q.

Mark Dimino of 35 Birch St. North Quincy, returned home Sunday night to find the lights on and a man rummaging around the house.

The man fled and Dimino pursued him to Newbury Ave. where he dropped a camera. Entry was gained through a rear bathroom window. The man left the same way.

Planner To Alert Firms About QJC

Susan Spelios of the Planning Department has been named to serve as liaison between Quincy Junior College and the many new firms that have moved into Quincy in the past few years.

"We are trying to alert the new businesses in town that the resources of the Junior College are available to them and their employees," said Mayor Francis X.

McCauley.

"Many companies pay for their employees to go to school to learn new skills and we want to make sure that they know the Junior College is nearby and ready to serve them."

Spelios will work with Sandra DeVincentis, who began work at QJC Monday in the area of development in the office of new President O. Clayton Johnson.

Foster Parents Needed

Each day there is a need to place a child in Foster Care.

A child is placed into temporary foster care for various reasons. He may be the victim of abuse or neglect, or he may come from a family where there has been a death, divorce or alcohol problem. Social problems such as these may leave a parent unable to cope temporarily with the responsibilities of caring for a child. A foster home provides the stability and love a child needs in a time of crisis. Unfortunately, there is a severe shortage of foster homes in Quincy.

In an effort to increase public awareness of this problem, we have included a short description of a typical child needed to be placed in a foster home. This summary does not describe a particular child, but is representative of many children in our area in need of foster care. You can make a difference in a child's life. Consider welcoming Brian into your home.

Brian is a neat, average looking 12-year-old boy who would like to live in Quincy. He is currently living with his mother who has been chronically ill for years. Brian's father is an alcoholic who has not seen the family since Brian was four.

Brian has done fairly well up until last September, at which time, his older sister left home to live on her own. She had been looking after Brian since their mother's illness and her absence has left Brian without someone to take care of him. Brian is a sensitive and pleasant child who misses his sister tremendously. He has never really known his father and his mother's illness has prevented her from giving him the attention he needs.

Brian is a likable boy who gets along well with adults and children. He is fairly well-behaved but because he has little supervision, he is beginning to skip school and get into minor trouble. His school work, which had always been satisfactory, has begun to decline because he is depressed and insecure. Brian needs a family who can meet the needs of a 12-year-old boy.

If you have room in your heart and home for Brian, or a child like Brian, please call the Foster Home Recruiter at the Department of Social Services, Jennifer Holme, at 773-8920. She will be happy to explore the possibility of you becoming a foster parent.

$28 M Shipyard Tax Decision Goes To People

owed General Dynamics $12.4 million in over taxes for that four year period.

The assessed value of the shipyard for fiscal 1981 through 1983 was before the State Appellate Tax Board but, under the agreement, General Dynamics agreed to settle for a valuation of $40 million for 1981 and 1982 and $52.8 million for 1983.

That meant that the city owed General Dynamics $5,581,734 for that three-year period.

The first semi-annual payment of interest and principal will not be made until Oct. 15, 1984, to allow the city time to arrange financing. After that there will be a payment of about $1.4 million every April 15 and Oct. 15 until 1994.

McCauley said the city got a favorable agreement on fiscal 1981 through 1983 assessments because "we were able to convince General Dynamics that Judge Zobel's decision would not necessarily hold up before the appellate tax board."

"This removes a financial cloud that has been hanging over the city for some time," said the mayor. "I did as good a job as I could when you consider the case started before I became mayor. We have put distance between us and Judge Zobel's decision."

McCauley said he talked Tuesday with Barbara Anderson of Citizens for Limited Taxation, the instigators and unofficial guardians of Proposition 2½, and "she agreed with us that the way to go was to the voters."

"The history of referendum on questions of Proposition 2½ is that the voters generally vote against overriding or exempting it," he said. "But usually it involves money to build sewers of things like that. This is money that we have to pay."

"I plan to discuss the referendum with the people between now and Nov. 8. I have not made a decision to make any recommendations. But I will point out that, after three years of Prop 2½ cutting, it could be difficult to tighten the belt further."

"I'm not going to sit here and say that 'if you do not pass this we will have to close two fire stations or two schools or lay off X number of policemen.' I'll just say, 'It will be tough to do but here is your choice.'"

Kennedy Urges Healthy Industrial Climate In State

Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain, told the Quincy Chamber of Commerce that the prosperity of Massachusetts and the well-being of its people depends on whether it has a healthy, successful industrial climate.

"If we are to retain those industries that we have and induce new ones to come here," he said, "we must show a desire to have them and we must remove every obstruction possible, even if it means changing some of our statutes."

Sept. 8-14, 1945
38 Years Ago
This Week

Kennedy, a former assistant general manager of the Fore River shipyard, was the head of a special legislative commission studying the need for a state Department of Commerce.

CITY IN GOOD SHAPE

City Treasurer John R. Shaughnessy said the city will enter 1946 in its best financial condition in 23 years with a funded debt of only $2,170,000, the lowest it has been since December, 1922. He estimated the excess and deficiency fund at about $500,000.

Among the postwar projects being mentioned for the city were a fire station in Houghs Neck, new schools in Merrymount and on Furnace Brook Parkway and a new city hall. The new municipal building, it was estimated, would cost as much as a million dollars.

SCHOOL ENROLLMENT DECLINES

Despite a growing city population, the School Department announced that enrollment in the Quincy public schools was 11,255, the lowest in nearly 20 years since the record high was recorded in the 1927-28 year when there were 12,898.

The peak year was 15,085 in 1933.

WORK DOWN AT SHIPYARD

Bethlehem Steel eliminated the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. shift at the Fore River shipyard and reduced the work week from 48 hours (with 52 hours pay) to 40 hours as a result of the end of the war. The shipyard workforce was pegged at 18,748 as of Sept. 5.

A Tribute To A. Wendell Clark

Editor, The Quincy Sun,

With the passing of A. Wendell Clark, Quincy has lost in person, but certainly not in memory, another distinguished and respected senior citizen. Having reached life's 92nd milestone he had enjoyed reasonably good health until a few weeks prior to his death. Mentally alert, he was happy to greet older friends and reminisce about Quincy's growth and progress over the years yet keeping abreast of current events. It was only a couple of months ago that I visited him and thoroughly enjoyed our friendly chat. He was one of the finest gentlemen it has been my privilege to have known.

Devoted to his native city, Wendell Clark gave freely of his time and effort in the field of education and with many charitable organizations. For over twenty years he was elected and re-elected a member of the Quincy School Committee and served much of that time as Vice Chairman, without ever being paid. To enumerate his many other charitable services would be superfluous since space should be considered.

However, his loyalty to the Quincy Y.M.C.A. certainly should be especially mentioned. Serving as a Director for close to 50 years he was elected Treasurer, Vice President and President during his dictatorship. As mayor, I had the privilege of appointing him, just prior to World War II, as chairman of Selective Service Board 122.

By coincidence, my friendship with the Clark Family dates back almost sixty years -- now knowing four generations. Wendell's father, the late Alexander Clark, was serving as a member of the city council representing the then Ward Three (South Quincy) when I became a member in January of 1925 at 22 years of age. An amusing sidelight to this friendship came in January of 1927 when he cast the deciding vote to elect me as president of the

A dear senior citizen, he was a bit hard of hearing hand announced that he was casting his vote for me because as he said, "I can hear that young man's voice better than any other member of the Council."

The respected Alexander Clark has passed to his family a truly great heritage as has A. Wendell Clark, to his son, Gordon, and the Clark Family. I'm sure that this "legacy" will be held inviolate for many years.

A. Wendell Clark was a gentleman in its finest sense. Quincy will indeed miss him.

New Law Protects

Babies Born With Handicaps

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Within the recent past, there have been several incidents and stories of babies born with varying degrees of severity of physical and/or mental handicaps who have been denied life support systems.

The decisions for such action were said to have been made shortly after birth by parents and medical personnel. In so doing, it is the position of this Administration that these children are being discriminated against by reason of their handicap.

A present law, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation

Act of 1973, specifically prohibits discrimination on the basis of handicap.

Department of Health and Human Services Secretary Margaret M. Heckler recently announced a proposed regulation that would include handicapped new borns under the umbrella of Section 504 to guarantee that they would receive the sustenance and medical treatment deemed necessary.

The proposal also provides for a period of public comment which will end on September 1st. Secretary Heckler urges your readers to submit their responses to the Director, Office for Civil Rights, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, 330 Independence Ave., S.W., Room 5400, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Under the proposal, all hospitals receiving federal funds would be required to post a notice in the nurses' stations of the pediatric wards stating Section 504's prohibition of discrimination because of handicap.

In addition, the notice will include a toll-free number to the Department of Health and Human Services, Washington, D.C., and the telephone number of the appropriate state child protection service agency.

Copies of the proposed regulations may be obtained from the Regional Director, Department of Health and Human Services, Room 2411, JFK Building, Boston, Ma. 02203.

Adequate School Supplies Needed, Says Durkin

Stephen J. Durkin, candidate for the School Committee, told a fund-raiser recently that every classroom in every school in the city must have adequate books and supplies.

He called the present situation "unacceptable."

Durkin said that, after drastic budget reductions in recent years, the Quincy school system must reallocate resources toward the most critical areas.

These areas, he said, include programs in the primary grades, where children obtain essential skills necessary for further educational development.

He emphasized that members of the School Committee must be accessible and more responsive to the needs of the parents, teachers and students.

Durkin said he strongly believes that a percentage of state aid to cities and towns should be earmarked for public education purposes.

Condon Seeks Action On Old Quincy School

City Councillor Joanne Condon says she has requested Mayor Francis X. McCauley and Planning Director James Lydon to take action to have the Quincy School renovated as originally planned.

"The Quincy School has become a physical disgrace to the city," she said.

"We were all promised over a year ago that the school would be fully rehabilitated and become an asset to the neighborhood. But, today it stands vacant and vandalized and is a severe eyesore to the entire Atlantic neighborhood."

"Steps must be taken immediately to address this problem."

Condon asked the mayor to either demand that the developer begin work immediately or rebid the school to a new developer.

Obituaries

Jeremiah Dwyer, 88, Whiting Milk Co. Salesman

A funeral Mass for Jeremiah Dwyer, 88, a retired salesman for Whiting Milk Co., was celebrated yesterday (Wednesday) in St. Joseph's Church.

Mr. Dwyer died Saturday at Quincy City Hospital after a long illness.

Born in Weymouth, he lived most of his life in Quincy.

He is survived by a sister, Margaret Horan of Weymouth; a cousin Jerry Dwyer of Weymouth; and a sister-in-law, Caroline Dwyer of Weymouth.

Funeral arrangements were by the Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St., Quincy. Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery.

Stephen E. O'Meara, 83, Lifelong Resident

A funeral Mass for Stephen E. O'Meara, 83, of Quincy, a retired owner of a plastering firm, will be held today (Thursday) at 9 a.m. in St. Ann's Church, Wollaston.

Mr. O'Meara died Monday in Quincy City Hospital after a long illness.

He was a lifelong resident of Quincy.

He retired 13 years ago after owning and operating a plastering company in Quincy for 50 years.

Mr. O'Meara was active in local politics, aiding in the campaigns of many Quincy political figures.

Husband of the late Christine (Erick) O'Meara, he is survived by a son, Terrence E. O'Meara of Medford; a daughter, Maureen D. McCloskey of Plympton; two sisters, Dorothy M. Husk of Virginia and Mildred I. O'Meara of Quincy; and four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are by Sweeney Brothers Home For Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy. Burial will be in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Albert R. Frantello, 81, Sacco-Vanzetti Witness

By TOM HENSHAW

A funeral mass was celebrated Tuesday in St. Johns Church for Albert R. Frantello, one of the last surviving witnesses of the South Braintree payroll robbery for which Sacco and Vanzetti were executed.

A retired cement mason who lived for many years in Quincy before moving to Braintree a year ago, he died Friday in South Shore Hospital, Weymouth, at the age of 81.

Mr. Frantello, a 19-year-old chaser at the Slater and Morrill shoe factory at the time of the robbery in 1920, was interviewed by The Quincy Sun six years ago on the 50th anniversary of the execution of Bartolomeo Vanzetti and Nicola Sacco.

He said that neither of the men who shot two paymaster and the guard were Sacco or Vanzetti and he walked right past them and got a good look at their faces just before the shooting. One of them might have looked Italian he said, but the other was blonde "like a Finn or a Swede."

In fact, he said, the men even fired a couple of shots at him as they fled in a car.

Mr. Frantello said he testified for the defense at the Sacco and Vanzetti trial in Dedham and the only questions that were asked him under cross-examination were designed to bring out the fact that his mother and father were born in Italy.

"All he kept doing was bringing that up that I was Italian, even though I was born in Quincy and I was an American," he said. "He was trying to impress the jury with the fact that I was an Italian and I was trying to help two other Italians."

Mr. Frantello was a cement mason in Florida and Massachusetts and a member of the Quincy Building Trades Council for 25 years. He also worked at the Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Fore River shipyard.

He was a member of the Quincy Sons of Italy and the John Adams Aerie of the Eagles.

He leaves a son, Robert Frantello of West Roxbury; two daughters, Alberta Murray of Weymouth and Lois Quevillon of Braintree; a brother, Alfred Frantello of Florida; and two sisters, Clara Frantello of Natick and Helen Serra of Westboro.

There are 12 grandchildren and one great granddaughter.

His wife, the late Lena M. (Macalini) Frantello, died July 28.

The funeral was held from the Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., South Quincy, and burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery, West Quincy.

Memorial donations may be made to the Friends of Norfolk County Hospital, 2001 Washington St., Braintree 02184.

Mary A. McCue, 81, Retired Secretary

A funeral Mass for Mary A. McCue, 81, a lifelong resident of Quincy and a retired secretary at Fore River Shipyard, will be held tomorrow (Friday) at 10 a.m. in St. John's Church.

Miss McCue died Sunday at the John Scott Nursing Home in Braintree.

She was employed at the Quincy Oil Co. after she retired from the shipyard.

She was a member of the Quincy Catholic Club, the Ladies Sodality and Senior Citizens of St. John's Church, and she was a volunteer for the American Red Cross.

She is survived by a nephew, George McCue, and three grandnephews, Philip McCue, Jeffrey McCue and Kevin McCue, all of Weymouth.

Funeral arrangements are by Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St., Quincy.

Michael G. Kelley, 56, Asst. Manager At Hollow

A funeral Mass for Michael G. Kelley, 56, assistant manager at the Hollow Restaurant in Quincy, will be celebrated today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. in St. Ann's Church.

Mr. Kelley died Sunday in Massachusetts General Hospital after a brief illness.

Born in Boston, he lived in Quincy for 25 years.

He was a member of the Emerald Society, an organization affiliated with the Boston Police Department. He was an Army veteran of World War I.

He is survived by his wife, Mary A. (Johnson) Conley-Kelley; a daughter, Karen Bumpus of West Bridgewater; and two grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are by the Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Lena M. Corbett, 90

A funeral Mass for Lena M. Corbett, 90, a former resident of Wollaston for 45 years, was held Sept. 2 in Our Lady of Fatima Church, Sudbury.

Mrs. Corbett died Aug. 30 in Norwood after a long illness.

Born in Boston, she came to Wollaston in 1927 and moved to Sudbury in 1972. Wife of the late Dr. John Corbett, she is survived by a son, Dr. Richard H. Corbett of Westwood; a daughter, Ruth Black of Sudbury; a sister, Doris Grogan of Norwood; five grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by the William R. Duckett Funeral Home, 656 Boston Post Rd., (Route 20) Sudbury. Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Donations may be made to Father McFarland, c/o Boston TV Catholic Center, 55 Chapel St., Box 56, Newton, 02160.

'Living Wills' Topic For S.S. Nurses

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Failure is something that all of us can identify with. It is something that all of us have experienced at sometime in our life. But, what do we do when we fail at something? Do we shrug our shoulders... throw our hands up in the air and say, "I give up" or are we more determined to succeed in our next attempt?

When thinking about failure the comic-strip character of Charlie Brown might come to mind. If anybody knows what failure is, this character certainly does. But, what does he do about all of his failures? Does he give up baseball because his team never wins a game? Does he stop kicking the football at the beginning of every season even though he knows that Lucy will pull it away from him and he'll fall flat on his back? No, he doesn't give up baseball and he doesn't refrain from kicking the football because he keeps on hoping that "Maybe this time" his team will win... "Maybe this time" Lucy won't pull the football away from him.

Couldn't it be said that Charlie Brown serves as an excellent example on how to handle failure?... Keep on hoping... for as long as there is hope, there is no failure. It is only when we give up hope that we fail.

Yom Kippur Ushers In Jewish Year 5744

By LESTER GLASSER

Quincy Jews are celebrating the High Holy Days this week, ushering in the year 5744 with Rosh Hashanah services yesterday (Wednesday) and Yom Kippur services starting tomorrow (Friday) evening.

The schedule at the city's synagogues is as follows:

Temple Beth El, Hancock St. - Last night (Wednesday) at 8 p.m.; today (Thursday) and tomorrow at 8:30 a.m.; the sounding of the shofar (the ram's horn) at 10:30 a.m.; also a sermon by Rabbi David J. Jacobs about 10:35 a.m.; evening services at 7 p.m.; Sabbath morning service Saturday at 9:15 a.m. Yom Kippur service begins with the chanting of Kol Nidre, Friday, Sept. 16, at 6:30 p.m. All day services Saturday, Sept. 17, start at 8:30 a.m. with the closing service starting at 5:15 p.m. and concluding at sunset with the sounding of the Shofar. Yizkor (memorial prayers) will be recited during Saturday morning services. Rabbi Jacobs and Cantor Morris Semigan will officiate at all the services. Samuel Zax is president of the congregation.

Rabbi Allan Press and Cantor Joseph Grossinger will conduct the High Holy Holiday services at Congregation Adas Shalom, 435 Adams St., starting with Selichot (forgiveness) services last Saturday at midnight. Rosh Hashanah started yesterday with a family service at 8 p.m.; services today (Thursday) and tomorrow at 9 a.m.; evening service at 7 p.m.; Sabbath morning service Saturday at 9 a.m. Kol Nidre will usher in the Yom Kippur services Friday, Sept. 16, at 6:45 p.m. Yom Kippur services continue Saturday, Sept. 17, starting at 9 a.m. and concluding at sunset with the sounding of the Shofar. Yizkor will be recited during the morning services. Abe Greenspan and Leo Lofchie are co-presidents of the congregation.

Jack Klaver, president of the Beth Israel synagogue, 33 Grafton St., announces that Rabbi Jacob Mann will conduct High Holy Day services starting with Rosh Hashanah yesterday (Wednesday) at 6:45 p.m.; services today (Thursday) and tomorrow at 8 a.m. and at 6:45 p.m. Chanting of Kol Nidre will usher in Yom Kippur services Friday, Sept. 16, at 6:30 p.m. All day Yom Kippur services will start Saturday, Sept. 17, at 8 a.m. and will conclude with the sounding of the Shofar.

Rosh Hashanah, which means "head of the year," is observed in the beginning of the seventh month (Tishri) of the Jewish New Year. The name "Rosh Hashanah" does not appear in the Bible. It is referred to as the Day of the Blowing of the Shofar. It is considered the Day of Judgement when all mankind is judged by the Creator and the fate of each individual is inscribed in the Book of Life.

Unlike other Jewish festivals, Rosh Hashanah concerns the Jew as an individual. Last Saturday before Rosh Hashanah, Selichot (forgiveness) prayers were recited. In some of the special home rituals for Rosh Hashanah on the eve of the holiday, festival candles are blessed; the Kiddush blessing over the wine is chanted and a round Challah (holiday bread) is blessed. The Jewish people see the round Challah as reflecting the continuous cycle of years and seasons. Slices of apples are dipped into honey which symbolizes a sweet year.

During the High Holy Day season, the Jewish people greet each other in this manner: "Leshanah Tovah Tikatevu," which means "may you be inscribed for a good year." This greeting grew out of the spirit of well wishing as well as a belief that people should help others. It is an expression of fellowship and sincere good wishes for all Jews.

The most common explanation of the sounding of the Shofar (the ram's horn) during the Rosh Hashanah services comes from the account of the binding of Isaac in Genesis 22 which is read during the morning services. The sacrifices of Isaac was averted through the substitution of a ram for the boy. The story is a statement against human sacrifice.

The Shofar (the ram's horn) is customarily curved, symbolic of the human heart bent in repentance on this important day. Prayers are chanted in Hebrew and in some synagogues they are recited in English so that everyone may participate. One of the very stirring prayers recited during the services is the litany:

"Our Father, our King, hear our prayer. Our Father, our King, we have sinned before Thee. Our Father, our King, have mercy upon us and upon our children. Our Father, our King, keep from our country pestilence, war and famine. Our Father, our King, cause all hate and oppression to vanish from the earth. Our Father, our King, inscribe us for blessing in the book of life. Our Father, our King, grant unto us a year of Happiness. Our Father, our King, be merciful and answer us, though we plead no merit. Deal with us according to Thy loving kindness and help us, Amen."

Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement is the last of the Ten Days of Penitence which began with the Rosh Hashanah service. This 10 day period, according to Jewish tradition, is a time of repentance, prayer and charity in preparation for the holiest day of the year, Yom Kippur, which will be ushered in with chanting of Kol Nidre, Friday, Sept. 16, and continue with services all day Saturday, Sept. 17. On this solemn and very important day most Jewish men, women and many young people refrain from eating and drinking.

One of the important readings in the Synagogue on Yom Kippur is taken from the Book of Isaiah. The prophet Isaiah declares that the fast of Yom Kippur is acceptable to God only if it leads to good deeds toward man. This is the lesson Yom Kippur teaches. Yizkor (memorial prayers) are recited for the departed during the Yom Kippur service. This service reminds all who have dear ones to follow the path of righteousness and to remember the good deeds of the departed. One of the confessional recited during the service on the Day of Atonement is:

"O Lord, our God, help us to see ourselves as Thou seest us. Make us conscious of our sins and failings; cause us to turn from our evil ways and give us strength to make amends for our wrong doings and grant us pardon for our sins. For the sin which we have sinned against Thee under stress or through choice. For the sin which we have sinned against Thee openly or in secret. For the sin which we have sinned against Thee in stubbornness or in error. For the sin which we have sinned against Thee by the word of mouth. For the sin which we have sinned against Thee by abuse of power. For the sin which we have sinned against Thee by the profanation of Thy name. For the sin which we have sinned against Thee by disrespect for parents and teachers. For the sin which we have sinned against Thee by exploiting or dealing treacherously with our neighbor. For all these sins. O God of forgiveness, bear with us! Pardon us! Forgive us!

The end of the fast on Yom Kippur is announced by a single blast of the Shofar, which the worshippers return to their homes, joyous and glad at heart.

Four days after Yom Kippur, the joyous holiday of Succoth is celebrated. Succoth is a festival celebrating the time when the ancient Israelites gathered their fruit and vegetable harvest and offered thanks to God for his goodness. In many ways it is similar to the American Thanksgiving. During the nine days of this holiday, many Jews eat their meals and spend part of their time in a Succah, a little booth or hut built on an open porch or in the back yard with an open roof of branches and leaves. These booths commemorate the temporary shelters in which the Israelites lived on their journey from Egypt to the Promised Land. It is the succah, too, that gives the holiday its English name, Succoth, frequently called the Feast of Booths.

Dear World...

MY YOUNG SON starts to school today... It's going to be sort of strange and new to him for awhile, and I wish you would sort of treat him gently.

You see, up to now he's been king of the roost... He's been boss of the backyard... His mother has always been near to soothe his wounds and repair his feelings.

But now things are going to be different.

This morning he's going to walk down the front steps, wave his hand, and start out on the great adventure... It is an adventure that might take him across continents, across oceans... It's an adventure that will probably include wars and tragedy and sorrow... To live his life in the world he will have to live in, will require faith and love and courage.

So, World, I wish you would sort of look after him... Take him by the hand and teach him things he will have to know. But do it gently, if you can.

He will have to learn, I know, that all men are not just, that all men are not true.

But teach him also that for every scoundrel there is a hero... that for every crooked politician there is a great and dedicated leader... Teach him that for every enemy, there is a friend.

Steer him away from envy, if you can... and teach him the secret of quiet laughter.

In school, World, teach him it is far more honorable to fail than to cheat... Teach him to have faith in his own idea, even if everyone says they are wrong... Teach him to be gentle with gentle people and tough with tough people.

Try to give my son the strength not to follow the crowd when everyone is getting on the bandwagon... Teach him to listen to all men - but teach him also to filter all he hears on a screen of truth and take just the good that siphons through.

Teach him, if you can, how to laugh when he's sad... Teach him there is no shame in tears... Teach him there can be glory in failure and despair in success.

Treat him gently, World, if you can, but don't coddle him... Because only the test of fire makes fine steel... Let him have the courage to be impatient... Let him have the patience to be brave.

Let him be no man's man... Teach him always to have sublime faith in himself.

Because then he will always have sublime faith in mankind.

This is quite an order, World, but see what you can do... He's such a nice little fellow, my son!

DOOR-WINDOW BURGLAR PROOFING

There are two simple devices that will help prevent burglars from "ripping off" your home. They are a solid door and windows with burglar-resistant glazing.

A good, solid-core door is cheaper than a door with windows or thin panels in it, and it eliminates a problem of a burglar breaking through the door and unlocking the lock from the inside. Burglars can come through a window, but they prefer to come through the door. It looks much less suspicious to the passerby.

Windows can be protected with burglar-resistant glazing (glass or plastic). A do-it-yourselfer can apply a frame of burglar-resistant glazing to the inside of the window or door, right next to the existing glass. Or an expert can take out the existing glass and rebuild the frame to accommodate the extra thickness and expansion properties of the burglar-resistant glazing. Ordinary tempered safety-glass will not do the job says one expert, "Burglars have tempered glass. You just take a hard punch and give it a firm tap and glass disintegrates easily, with very little noise." But for heavens sake, these burglar resistant devices do no good if you forget to lock the windows and doors when you retire or leave the house.

Sun Pledge Center Raises $35,848 For Jerry's Kids

More money will still come in from some of the special events.

This year's telephone pledges topped last year's despite the fact that because of rising costs we had only half the phones we had in 1982.

It was a hot, humid weekend which meant it was another long, hard one for the 200 volunteers who worked the various shifts over a 24-hour period at the pledge center. For some, it was more than 24 hours.

But to them it was rewarding--especially as the telephones rang up a storm and all the nice people--children and adults--streamed to The Sun office to help fill the fishbowl.

For the second year, activities were televised live over The Quincy Sun's Ch. 8 on Quincy Cable Systems on Labor Day.

And, long-time good friend WJDA was here again broadcasting live Labor Day.

Exactly 2,194 pledges were handled here. And the youngsters had a steady parade to the fishbowl.

It really renews your faith in humanity. So many nice people. As we've said before, give people a worthy cause like the battle against muscular dystrophy and they'll be there to help you.

So many things happened so fast and so many people were in and out of The Sun office between 7 p.m. Sunday and 7 p.m. Monday I just can't remember everyone by name. But I'll never forget what everyone did. People like:

Old reliables Aldo Saluti, Mario Salvatore, Tom McDonald, Rita Kelleher, Joe and Vera Sullivan who have been with us from the beginning and have been like extra right arms for these past seven years...Fr. Daniel Graham of St. John's Church, our letter carrier Joe Pacetti and former City Councillor Tom Gilmartin who got us off to an early start with fishbowl donations before the telethon even started...John Poreca of Vesco, Inc., West Quincy, who donated a Litton microwave oven as prize to help bring money to the fishbowl. Then he and his wife, Joan, phoned in a $25 pledge--the first of the telethon. John has donated four microwave ovens, a computer game and color TV set the past six years...George White of The Patriot Ledger who arranged for the personal appearance of Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and Tweety Bird, donated $50 to the fishbowl to help get us started...Roy Lind and Win Bettinson of WJDA who, for the sixth year, broadcast live progress reports from the pledge center Monday and WJDA's Herb Fontaine who helped man the phones. Win is supposed to be retired but you would never know so as he stayed all day Monday broadcasting and answering phones in between...Laura Hatch who spent all day Monday in the mail room helping Joe and Vera Sullivan get the pledges out on time...The Quincy Sun's John Noonan who spent all day Monday under the hot TV lights with progress reports, interviews and pleas for donations over The Sun's Ch. 8 on Quincy Cable Systems and part of the time over Ch. 3...And Tom Fahey and his camera crew from Quincy Cable Systems who made the live telecast possible from The Sun pledge center: Jim Gardner, Bob Gohl, Nancy Santry, Danny Santry, Edna Solander, Keith Nickerson, Ron Acorn, Bill Earley, Mick Skidmore and Eileen Baker...Jim Gardner was here 24 hours putting out progress on Ch. 8 throughout Sunday night and working with the camera crew Monday. Jim also made a donation in memory of his former teacher, the late Clifford Boatner...Mayor Francis McCauley and First Lady Sandra who answered the phones and donated $100...Councillor Ted DeCristofaro and his wife, Betty, who have been with us from the start, were on the phones again this year and donated $50...Norfolk County Register of Probate Tom Hughes who worked the phones and donated $50...Fr. William McCarthy of St. John's Church who helped man the phones and donated $100...Peg Madden who was here all day Monday at the check-in point...Ken Kelleher who spent all Sunday night tabulating pledges and got us to the $3,700 mark before he left...He and his wife, Rita, another key volunteer donated $25. Daughter Karin, who also helped out, added $5 of her own to the cause...Weymouth School Committee Sulo Soini, who worked through the day Monday, donated $30 and challenged all other Weymouth officials to match it...Bob Gumprecht, who came in with a $100 check from himself and other employees at the Wollaston Post Office...Former Mayor Arthur Tobin and his wife, Shirley, who donated $100 in memory of his late father, George. The latter was a long-time favorite at the pledge center as he lugged in coffee cans filled with pennies he collected all year round...His son, Tim, and daughter-in-law Nina found a can he was working on at the time of his death last January and donated it. (Over $70 in it)...And a friend, Dorothy O'Neil of Pagnano Towers came in with another coffee can containing over $13 that George had started before he died. We missed him this year but his spirit certainly was with us...Former Mayor Thomas Burgin who pledged $25...Dave Leitch of Burgin Platner Insurance, who couldn't reach us from his Abington home because the phones were tied up, so he and his wife, June, drove up and made out a $200 pledge at The Sun office...Paul Hurley of Hurley Insurance who pledged $100...Arthur Chandler of the Wollaston Theater who again donated 100 tickets to that theater as prizes and helped man the phones...Don Gohl, president of the Quincy Rotary Club who brought in a $100 check from club members and added $25 of his own...Billy Calapa of Joseph's Catering and Steve Gillig of McDonald's, who donated enough food to feed an army. Steve also furnished gallons of cold drinks. Pewter Pot sent over a most appreciated container of cold lemonade...Steve also had his friends, Grimage, Hamburglar and Birdie the Early Bird at the pledge center...City Councillor Dick Koch Jr., Bob Woods and Tim Healy who helped Donald Duck, Mickey Mouse and Tweety Bird...Sandy Rounseville, who with Dick Koch Jr., were favorite targets at the dunking tank...Bryant Carter Jr., and Tom McDonald who drove down to Scituate to get the Scituate Fire Department's dunking tank. Bryant supervised setting it up, dismantling it and bringing it back to Scituate...George Parker of the Yellow Cab Co., who gave the fishbowl a big push Monday afternoon with two $300 checks, one from the company and one from him...Sheriff Clifford Marshall, who dropped by to help plea for pledges and donated two box seats to a Red Sox game as a prize...Marshall also assigned a security detail of deputy sheriffs to the pledge center: Joseph Lyons, Gary Leonard, Joseph O'Keefe, Robert Zorn, Tony Trubiano, Adeline Pompeo, and Maureen Banberry. Adeline donated $50 and Maureen and Joe Lyons pitched in to help on the phones...Venerable John Tamasco, Assistant Venerable Richard Realini, Mario Salvatore, John Fantuccio, Sebastian Papagno, Rocky Roccozzo, James Mastrantonio, and Edward Cook of the Quincy Sons of Italy. Mario supervised the phones, John kept the tabulations flowing, Richard handled one of the key desks and the others worked the phones...The first members of our new Patron Program to help offset the expense of installing the extra telephones for the pledge center: Quincy Rotary Club, Quincy Kiwanis Club, Quincy Lions Club, Quincy City Club, Koch Club of Quincy, Sacred Heart Church, Quincy Municipal Credit Union, A. E. Goodhue Religious Goods, Colman's Sporting Goods...Commander Jason Stone, Irving Isaacson, Harvey Solomon, Paul Bailey, and Nathan Goldberg of the Quincy Jewish War Veterans who helped man the phones. The post also donated $50 and Goldberg added a personal check of $10...Angela Nicastro who came in on the first telephone shift with $56 she collected from teachers and students at Eastern Nazarene College on registration day. She stayed 24 hours...Good old friend Baron Hugo who entertained outside the pledge center with Art Perry (saxophone) and Bill Milesky at the electric piano. Baron then led the traditional rousing victory march through the pledge center. Baron, who will be a young 80 Sunday was serenaded with "Happy Birthday" by the volunteers.

The Citations who again entertained in front of the pledge center: Paul Ricca (trumpet), Angelo Paglioca (chordavox), Jim Nicolero (drums) and Joe Contrino, singer...John Mann and Bryan Galligan who also sang for us...The Quincy High School Alumni Band who also performed, conducted by George Vallatini. Members: John Warner, Dale Solander, Jeff Newman, Bryant Carter, Joseph Pearson, Rick Pearson, Tim O'Leary, Peggy Burchill, Patricia Howe, Laurie Aronoff, Pat Sullivan, Paul Read, Ed McGowan, Jayne McGowan, Fred Robertson, Matthew Warner, Rick Aramian, Ken Anderson, Joseph McHugo, Lisa Merenda...Jackie and Bill Monahan of Randolph and Ann and Herb d'Entremont of Braintree who manned the phones for the seventh consecutive year...Emma Hassan, head of the volunteers at Quincy Hospital who made a nice donation...Lester Glasser who again pledged $18 in memory of his wife, Ida. Eighteen means "life" in Jewish and that's what Lester wants for Jerry's Kids--life!...And a lot of other nice people who gave up part of the Labor Day weekend to work at the pledge center answering phones or doing some of the many other jobs to help Jerry's Kids. People like: Kellie Glennon, Norma Stenstrom, Judith Beck-Rochelle, Rick and Rita Golden, Susan Baldassini, Lou Montefusco, Lucille Mahoney, Michelle Elgart, Cyndy Bailey, Pat Mullen, Katherine Buchanan, Harriet Goldman of the Mayor's Women's Commission, Mary Philips, Eleanor Bigelow, Police Capt. Dave Rowell, Carmella Milani, Councillor Patricia Toland, Alicia Coletti of the Quincy Junior College Women's Center, Loren Strout, School Committee Vice Chairwoman Mary Collins, Ruth Perry, Trudy Buckley of the Mayor's Commission, James McGroarty, Tricia Markakos, Miss Quincy Bay, her parents George and Lauretta and brother Peter. Ron Iacobucci (who answered phones and donated two tickets to the Red Sox as a prize), Barrie Rhind, Pat Jones, Mary Rita, Warren Birchmore, William Arienti, Myra Kelly, Teri Lavery, Anne Serafinelli, Dorothy Bosworth, Fred Happel, Nancy McLaughlin, Debbie McCarthy, Linda Bosworth and Kathy McDermott of The Sun, Jo Fantuccio, Marion Ricca, Dom Lomanno, Don Wheeler and Roy Wyatt.

ERIN GREGORY, six months, held by her mother, Linda, met Mickey Mouse at the Quincy Sun pledge center and made a donation to help Jerry's Kids.

And the cannister brigade, among them: Kristen Contrino, Richard O'Brien, Frank Clifford, Kenny O'Connell, Bill Johnson, Steve McDonald, Dave Fletcher, Mary Lund, Robert Lyons, Ken Donnelly, Ricky Cashman, John Farley, Jim Thomas, Ed Goldberg, Joe Mauriello, Pat Flynn, Kevin Kelly, Konstantine Rigas, Jim Labadie, Dave Mohr, Mike Hemeor, Mike Hand, Mike Douglas, Frank Gorman, Neil Pearl, Kelly Connolly, Robert Walberge, Brian MacNeil, Dorothy Conley, Joan Conley, Joan Ford, Elizabeth Gargano, Bob Kelly, Kevin O'Neil, John Lea, Billy Santry, Dan Santry, Linda D'Amore, Laura D'Amore, Jeannine Ricks, Jennifer Santry, Richard Dunshee, Steve DiCenso, Kevin Gibbons, Carl Carlson, Anthony Pagliocco, Richard Wood, Kevin Hanieby, Freddy Regan, Matthew Smith, James Farley, Eddie Hanson, Jerry Isaac, Jimmy Gillis, Michael Shipley, Bonnie Hanson, and more.

And good friend, Remo DeNicola of South Shore Television who carried in two color TV sets so that we could see the national telethon proceedings on Ch. 5 and the Quincy pledge center activities on our Ch. 8 on Quincy Cable Systems.

The Quincy Park-Recreation Board for the tables, chairs and tote board for the pledge center.

And last--but certainly not least--Dick Koch, Sr. our right arm all year round as co-ordinator of the Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Committee.

Again, I know I've overlooked many others who helped. But it was a long, busy and tiring weekend and I'm not getting any younger. You just can't remember everyone and everything.

It's still wonderful to know there are a lot of nice people who really care and give of their time--but more important, their heart--to help others.

We saw and heard from hundreds of them this weekend.

To all of you for everything you did to help the fight against muscular dystrophy and take us another big step to the day when we won't need a telethon:

THANK YOU, EACH AND EVERYONE OF YOU--FROM THE HEART!

Perkins Defeats Russell, 11-7

The Quincy Park and Recreation Board recently held its annual senior boys baseball tournament at Adams Field.

The senior boys from Perkins defeated a strong Russell Park Team, 11-7. Recreation Director Barry Welch presented the trophies to the Perkins players and their coach, Dan Boyle. Boyle praised winning pitcher P.J. Hussey, who went the distance, on striking out seven batters. John Christiani, Paul Canavan, Billy Roche and Hussey each had two hits each to lead the attack for Perkins.

Russell Park, coached by Gary Dinardo, was led by the fine hitting of Kevin Nichols, who had three hits and Larry Taglieri, George Harford and John Kimball, who each had one each. Taglieri also hurled a fine game on the mound for Russell.

Plans Completed For Presidents Cup Races

Plans are being completed for the City of Presidents Cup races on Sept. 11 which will feature a full day of competitive bicycling and running races.

The all-day program is being sponsored by the Quincy City Hospital/Hospital Corporation of America, the California Recreation, State Sen. Paul Harold and the Patriot Ledger, in cooperation with the city, Quincy Civil Defense and the Mass. Bay Road Club.

The Presidents Cup

offers seven bicycle races, the citizens 13-mile race at 8 a.m.; the Team Challenge Cup 17-mile race, comprised of four-man teams, at 11; a tricycle race for children at noon; four U.S. Cycling Federation-sanctioned criterium course races beginning at 12:30; the veteran's race at 1 p.m. and the women's race at 1:30. The veteran's and women's races offer $400 in prize money.

The final bicycle event is the USCF Professional Class I, II and III race, featuring some of the nation's top cyclists. This race offers $2,000 in prize money and starts at 2.

For runners, a 13.1-mile half-marathon begins at 9 a.m. All of the day's races start and finish in front of the First Parish Church.

Entry fees for the citizens race and half-marathon are $5; there is a $25 fee for the Team Challenge Cup, a $3.50 fee for the USCF-sanctioned criterium course races, a $4.50 fee for the veteran's and women's races and a $6.50 fee for the USCF Professional Class I, II and III race.

Youth Football Opens Season Sunday

The Quincy Youth Football League will open its season Sunday at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

The Squantum Sailors will play the North Quincy Apaches at 1 p.m. and the Quincy Point Panthers will face the Quincy Elks at 2:30. The Manets drew an opening-day bye.

The league will play each Sunday through Nov. 13 with the championship game between the two top teams taking place Nov. 20 at 1 p.m.

The title game will have overtime in the event the game is tied at the end of regulation time.

Panthers Select Cheerleaders

The Quincy Point Panthers selected their cheerleaders for the 1983 season following tryouts at Fore River Field.

Selected for the first team were Capt. Julie Coste, Co-Captains Diane Trubiano and Tracy Cullen, Kathy Corliss, Jodi Farrell, Carol Goguen, Kristen McGhee, Julie Munn, Erin Murphy, Frisia Shaugnessy, Susan Smith and Tracy Thornhill.

Named to the second team were Co-Captains

Priscilla Burns and Dawn Hartnett, Michelle Burns, Colleen Cushing, Kim Ellis, Mary Goguen, Patti Harkins and Maureen Nee. Alternates are Amy McCarthy, Jennifer Palluccio, Kim Pritt and Jennifer Shipley.

Youth Baseball Registration Sept. 10

Registration for the 1984 Quincy Youth Baseball League season will be held Saturday, Sept. 10, from 9 a.m. to noon at North Quincy, K. of C. Hall, corner of Hancock St. and Hollis Ave.

Anyone who played Junior Farm, Triple A, International or 12-year-old Junior League must register as well as any other 8-15 year-olds wishing to join the program. Application fee is 50 cents.

Information on tryout dates will be issued on registration day.

Registration is open only to Quincy residents born after July 31, 1968, and prior to Aug. 1, 1976.

Quincy youth baseball operates 57 teams in various age groupings and enrolls nearly 1000 in the programs.

Wonders Candlepin League

The Quincy Wonders Candlepin Bowling League will open their season Saturday at the Quincy Wonder Bowl on Southern Artery.

All boys and girls ages 5 through 17 from the South Shore are invited to join.

Further information can be obtained by calling Mrs. Mead at 471-0660.

Only 4 Starters Return Maver Faces Rebuilding At Quincy

By TOM SULLIVAN
Bill Maver, a former all-scholastic end at Quincy High, has taken over as his alma mater's head coach and faces a monumental task as the Presidents prepare for their season's opener Sept. 17 against Cambridge Ridge and Latin.

"We have a tremendous rebuilding job," Maver, a Quincy assistant for several years, said. "We graduated virtually our whole squad from last year's fine team (a 7-3 record under Tom Fitzgerald). We have only two returning starters on offense and two on defense. Nearly all our players will be going both ways."

"We have a pretty good first unit both ways, but we desperately need depth. On offense we have more experience in the backfield than we have in the line."

The offensive ends are Austin O'Malley, the only veteran; Kevin Burke, Pat Calabro, John O'Callaghan, Mark Callahan and Dan Curtin.

The interior linemen (Maver hasn't decided who will be playing at tackle, guard and center), are Pat Duggan, Pete Gangi, Jimmy Mayo, Steve McNamara, Steve Peretuo, Rich Pettinelli, Ed Wholey, Bob Buccella, John Cacciatore, Chris Connor, Pat Folan, Eric Jolley, Dan Macauley, Jeff Manning, Gary Minassian, Rich Ready, Mark Walsh and Chris Constas.

The only lineman with varsity experience are Cacciatore, Connor, Macauley, Minassian, Ready and Walsh. Ready at 210 and Mark Walsh at 200 are the biggest linemen.

Quincy lost starting quarterback Bob Mudge through graduation and battling for the job are last year's backup, Joe Conti; Kevin Cabezas and Billy Shaughnessy.

"All are good prospects and we should be able to come up with a capable starter from among the three," Maver said.

Fullbacks are Joe Cullen, Mike Notrangelo, Daron Tucker, Greg Keefe and Jim Donahue. Notrangelo is the most experienced, playing regularly and doing a great job last year, but he is currently sidelined with an injury. Tucker saw a good deal of varsity action and Keefe and Donahue saw limited service.

There are several good looking halfback aspirants, including Brad Hart, Steve Ray, Ted McCall, John Wholey, John Fraine, Paul Miller, Paul Kenney, Jerry Frazier and Chris Shaughnessy. Shaughnessy played last fall and Frazier saw some varsity action.

On defense Maver is looking to O'Malley, Cabezas, Macauley and Calabro at end, Ready, Walsh, Jolley, Peretuo and Walter Rollings at tackle, Connor and Mayo at nose guard, Cacciatore, Minassian, Cullen and Keefe as linebackers and Tucker, Curtin, both Shaughnessy brothers, Conti, Notrangelo, Miller, Billy Coose, Ray, John Wholey, Donahue and McCall as backs.

Quincy has scrimmages with Weymouth North, Boston Tech and Arlington lined up before the season's opener.

90 Turn Out McPhee Optimistic Over North's Talent

As Ken McPhee, starting his second year as North Quincy's head football coach, prepares the Raiders for their Sept. 17 opener at Milton, he is pleased with the talent of his squad and is optimistic as he seeks to improve on last year's 3-6 record.

"We have a good-sized squad with 90 boys turning out (including freshmen and sophomores) and we have a lot of talent," said McPhee, a former North all-scholastic guard who replaced Dave Burke as head coach a year ago. "We have a good number of veterans and are starting with more experience and talent than last year."

McPhee feels the Raiders will be a bit stronger on defense with more experience there than an offense, although he rates the talent as pretty much the same both ways.

At end on offense will be veterans Jack Bolster, Jim Kennedy and Tony Befara, Vic DiGravio, Rich Iacabacci, Jerry Coughlin, Jim White, Brian Gibbons and Dan Baker.

Tackles are veterans Nick Gelsomini and John Panaro, Rob Flynn, Dave Cooke, Steve Dever, Al DiBella and Steve Hugyo.

Guard hopefuls are veteran Jack Hannan, who started last year as a sophomore, Gerry Martin, Rich Ragusa, John Renny, Jim McCadden, Russ Clancy, Bob Casey and Tim Kelly.

The centers are Jack Burke, Ben Klingenstein, Larry Nailitz, Ted Mulch and Chris Malloy, none with varsity experience.

McPhee is pleased with the quarterback picture with Dave Zuroms, who started several games last year, Steve Hogan and Rich Brooks battling it out.

"All three look good and right now Hogan and Brooks are really pushing Zuroms," he said.

North has several fine halfbacks with veterans Mike Gill (co-captain), Bryan Ellis and Scott Messina, Joe Bangs, Jim Calabro and Kevin Sullivan all looking good in practice.

The Raiders have five promising fullbacks but none have had varsity experience at that position. Co-Capt. Jim McNamara was a linebacker last year and is battling Mike Barry, Steve Kelly, Bill Doherty and Colin Powers for the job.

The defense looks good with Gelsomini, John Comeau, Mike Russell, Nielitz, Renny, Coughlin at end; Befara, Dever, Flynn, Klingenstein, Panaro and Martin at tackle; DiBella, Cooke and Burke as noseguards; McNamara, Kevin Kelly, Barry, Doherty and Mark Valpando as linebackers, Bolster, Paul Courvels, Steve Kelly, White, Baker, Mark Wilkens and Paul Cahill at cornerback and Gill, Kennedy, John Delappe, Steve Kearns, Bangs and Ellis as defensive backs.

"These kids are working hard and the other clubs are going to have to play us tight," McPhee said. "We are pretty small but have good speed and, in all, I feel optimistic. The offensive line is green as grass but will come along."

North scrimmaged Braintree last Saturday and this Saturday will scrimmage at Scituate.

McPhee has all his assistants back. Ted Sadowski, Jack Raymer, Mark Mulvaney and Pete Zoia, and this fall John Muldowney, who has coached in the Quincy Youth League for several years, is also helping out.

Koch Men's Bowling League Opens Sept. 13

The Koch Club Men's Bowling League will open its 34th season Tuesday, Sept. 13, at 7 p.m. at the Wollston Boulevard Bowladrome.

New members are welcome to join and participate as regular or spare bowlers and should report to the alleys for assignment.

The league will bowl three weeks to establish averages following which teams will be assembled for the 1983-84 league competition.

David J. Donaghue is president of the loop, Robert Woodman, Sr., secretary and Thomas Bowes, treasurer.

The league will bowl through April of 1984 with an Awards Banquet and Dance planned in May.

The Koch Club Bowling

League is one of the oldest units of the organization having been formed in 1950 with 30 bowlers at the former Norfolk Downs Alleys.

The league has annually contributed to the Koch Club Scholarship Fund and its members have participated in the Christmas Charity Program.

Steal Sends Brockton Off To 12-0 Win

A Brockton lineman stole the ball from Lou Marini to halt Quincy's best offensive drive in the third period and Brockton went on to score two touchdowns to take a 12-0 verdict from Coach Danny Alvino's Granite City eleven in the season's opener.

Bob Dupuy went four yards for the first Brockton score in the third period and Phil Saba worked the ball to the Quincy 2 where Mario DiMarzo carried over in the fourth period. Marini, Al McKim and Gay Salvucci were the offensive stars for Quincy.

FUMBLES HALT NORTH

The North Quincy High School football team fumbled seven times and lost six of them and the vaunted Raider passing attack could produce only 17 yards on three completions as Coach Jack Donahue's team was forced to settle for a 0-6 tie with Framingham.

After Eddie Sweeney had lost the handle on a Framingham punt on the North Quincy 6-yard-line, the Raider forward wall, led by guard Bill Robertson, rose up and halted the visitors short of the goal line in their best offensive penetration of the day.

The North Quincy lineup included: Carroll, Fisher, ends; Gallagher, Smith, Kennedy, Reid, Doherty, tackles; Wilkinson, Robertson, guards; Barrett, center; Sweeney, Burke, Luchini, Lindblom, Walsh, backs.

COMETS TAKE TITLE

Dick Kelly pitched a five-hitter in the first game and Eero Ruuttila hurled a four-hitter in the second contest as Coach Pryor Hall's Comets defeated St. Mary's 3-1 and 3-2 at Kincaide Park to win the Park League championship, 2 games to 1.

The Comets lineup included: Mills 2b, Koury lf-rf, Hall 1b, Driscoll c, Frazier cf, Ruuttila rf-p, Mahoney rf-lf, Vargus 3b, Holland ss, Kelly p.

The St. Mary's lineup included: Quintiliani rf, Conway lf, R. Cattaneo ss, Marini 3b, J. Cattaneo 1b, Gosselin c, Reynolds 3b, DiBona p-ph, Sleep cf, Ellison p.

MCCAULEY'S MASTERPIECE

Ed McCauley allowed only three hits and struck out 20 to lead the Sacred Heart Juniors of North Quincy to a 2-1 victory over Sacred Heart of Malden in a 14-inning marathon at Braves Field. Paul McGuggan's infield roller scored Eddie Doyle with the winning run in the 14th.

The North Quincy lineup included: McCarthy 2b, Scanlon rf-lf, Hines lf, Worthley rf, McGuggan c, McCauley p, Kennedy cf, Finnegan ss, McCabe 1b, Campbell ph, Doyle ph, McConville 3b.

SPORTS BITS '45

Dave Young of Squantum was the youngest member of the Coast Guard Academy football team at the age of 17. . . Harry Leonard ran 15 yards around left end for the only score as the Varsity Club opened the season with a 6-0 victory over the Quincy Warriors. . . Second baseman Skeeter Newsome threw a double play ball into the stands in the ninth inning and the winning run scored as the St. Louis Browns beat the Boston Red Sox, 2-1, at Fenway Park. . . The School Committee voted to raise the salaries of the two senior high school football coaches, Jack Donahue at North Quincy and Danny Alvino at Quincy, from $400 to $500 a year. . . Robby Williams, coach of the baseball and basketball teams at Sacred Heart Church, was honored at CYO Night at the Knights of Columbus bungalow. . . Playing Coach Ernie Cislighi plunged four yards for the touchdown and then kicked the extra point as the Quincy Manets opened the season with a 7-6 victory over the Bristol, Conn., West Ends. . . Jimmy Fox, formerly of the Red Sox, now with the Philadelphia Phillies, was reported in line to be the next manager of the Boston Braves. . . The football coaches at the junior high schools were assigned with James LeCain at South, William Bowyer at Central, Leroy Rogers at North and Dan Leavitt succeeding Pete Zoia at Point. . . John Kelley of West Acton won the New England AAU 15 Kilometer championship in Franklin Park by outstripping Charlie Robbins to the finish line. . . The Boston Yanks of the National Football League purchased John Grigas, former Holy Cross back, and Don Currian, ex-Boston College end, from the Chicago Cardinals.

Hancock Bank Tops Softball League

Hancock Bank finished with the best record in the South Shore Bankers Softball League and ended with an 18-2 record in Div. 1.

The rest of the Div. 1 standings: Bay Bank Norfolk, 11-10; Atlantic Data Services, 6-15; South Shore Bank, 2-19.

Nee, Barrett Win Senior Tennis Crowns

John Nee of Kincaide Playground and Nancy Barrett of Russell Park have won the Senior Division championships in the Quincy Park and Recreation Board annual Playground Tennis Tournament.

Nee defeated Paul Hutchinson of Heon Road playground in the finals. Barrett defeated Donna

Dondero of LaBrecque playground in the championship match.

In announcing the winner, Barry J. Welch, Director of Recreation announced that Christine Barrett, Nancy's younger sister also won in the Junior Girls Finals over Peggy McMillen of LaBrecque. Steve Scigliano of Kincaide won the Junior Boys Championship over Tim Baker of Bishop Playground.

Welch presented trophies to the winners at the Annual Field Day at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

LaBrecque Wins Tourney

The Quincy Park and Recreation Department recently held its annual junior girls softball tournament at Mitchell Field.

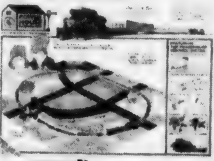

LaBrecque playground, coached by Margie Cristiani, defeated Suzanne Edgar's Welcome Young team, 26-6. LaBrecque was led by the fine pitching and hitting of Debbie Hall. Hall pitched the entire game and also had six hits. Kim Robertson, Lauren McNamara and Karin Picarski each had three hits for LaBrecque. Laura Rooney and Dana D'Amico had good games in the field for Welcome Young.

Recreation Director Barry Welch congratulated and presented trophies to

"Always the Leader"

"Ladies and Gentlemen, our community has come of age!"

With these words, a group of South Boston residents transformed a need into a reality and on September 1, 1863, while a civil war raged, the South Boston Savings Bank opened its doors.

A $50 deposit was made that September day. As we celebrate this milestone, Savings Book No. 1 is still active. The balance, without a penny added or a penny withdrawn, has reached $8,625.00.

Today the South Boston Savings Bank is the 6th largest savings bank in Massachusetts with assets over $620,000,000. For years the South Boston Savings Bank has been the most profitable savings bank in the state. A truly remarkable fact. Growth, reliability, and strength is the key to our success.

We are the leader, and to earn that distinction we have to keep ahead of the industry. Because we are one of the highest earnings savings banks in the country, we are able to distribute the highest dividends possible. That's why so many smart investors follow the leader — South Boston Savings Bank.

The services we offer have expanded to meet the demands and needs of customers. We offer several different savings and checking accounts as well as mortgages, IRA and Keogh plans, school help loans, money market deposit accounts, automatic tellers, and many more services.

We realize that banks should do more than take in deposits. We carry with us the responsibility of helping people manage their money and respond to changing needs and economic conditions. In meeting our responsibility we have granted over $5,500,000 in Student Help Loans to assist our youth to build a better future.

Last year alone we made over $40,000,000 in residential mortgages. Our total mortgage portfolio exceeds $200,000,000.

We've come a long way since that first $50 in Savings Book No. 1.

Red Branch Knights At Amphitheatre Sunday

The Quincy Tourism Association will sponsor a free concert by the Red Branch Knights Sunday, 1 to 3 p.m., at the Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre, Pageant Field, Merrymount Park.

The folk band which presents a variety of music. They have appeared on Quincy Cable TV several times and are appearing again by popular demand.

The concert, sponsored for the second year in a row, is to attract attention to the uncompleted amphitheatre in hopes of raising private funds to have it completed.

Work this year on the theatre has included landscaping, repair of damaged seats and opening more grassy areas as well as keeping the theatre cleaned.

Council On Aging Clambake

The Quincy Council on Aging is sponsoring an outdoor clambake Wednesday, Sept. 28, at Feather's Restaurant, Marshfield.

A Dixieland Band will highlight the day's activities. Bus transportation is provided from the JFK Health Center. In case of inclement weather, the festivities will be held indoors. Buses will leave at 10:30 a.m.

The menu will include clam chowder, steamed clams, cole slaw, sliced watermelon, German franks, potato chips, rolls and a choice of three entrees: lobster, steak, or chicken.

There are three costs for this trip depending on choice of menu. Meals will be catered by Farrelly. Space is limited. Register now.

AREA STUDENTS at Diane Purdy's Children's Theatre Workshop recently appeared in "The Day The Clowns Cried" at the Woodward School, 1102 Hancock St., Quincy. ## STARSCOPE by Clare Annsell

WEEK OF: SEPTEMBER 8

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Interrupted projects are back on the drawing boards. Weekend focuses on new faces, new places. The object of your affections shows a surprisingly sentimental side.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

You're in an affectionate mood, ready to write a poem to the love of your life. Relatives are starting to pry, and it may be wise to keep your distance.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Expect some fireworks over situations involving shared tasks and expenses. Romantic situation benefits from a more realistic approach. At work, creativity is the key.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Set your sights on a distant goal and move steadily forward — it's closer than you may think. In matters of romance and finance, avoid making any snap decisions.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Week sees you boosting the morale of others and, generally, staying in the background. Creative spirit is lively, and you may decide to polish up some old artistic skills.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Being alert to changing trends can give you the edge on the job. Domestic differences are beginning to end. Intuition is strongest from Monday on.

LEO - July 23-August 22

If you can, take on whole jobs rather than individual segments. Associates may be cynical, but don't try to beat them at their own game. Pets appear in weekend picture.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Week finds you unexpectedly sensitive, perhaps misinterpreting the motives of your well-meaning loved ones. Fashion sense is on target — a good week for expanding fall wardrobe.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

At last someone is ready to react favorably to your offbeat schemes. Financial gains are small but steady. In personal dealings, subtle moves won't get the point across.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

People you associate with are actually more interesting than you initially believe — give them time to prove themselves. Projects may be postponed at the last moment.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Week includes an interesting combination of good luck and long hours at work. Friendship benefits from a lighter touch. Family problem requires cooling-off period.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

A rapid-paced week as you move from event to event, from project to project, with breathtaking speed. A warning: financial papers require meticulous attention.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Modest, reserved, earthy, peace-loving, intellectual, quick-witted — that's you. Tidiness is all-important; sometimes your pickiness interferes with relationships. Flexibility is the keyword over the next months, for the benefit of friendship and profession alike.

BORN THIS WEEK

September 8th, comic Don Rickles; 9th, actress Kristy McNichol; 10th, singer Jose Feliciano; 11th, actor Earl Holliman; 12th, actress Margaret Hamilton; 13th, actress Jacqueline Bisset; 14th, actress Zoe Caldwell.

Cable helped Millie stop the ghosts.

Millie Napoleone, as you can see, is a no-nonsense take-charge lady who takes pride in her job as a safety patrol and works hard at it. So, when she began having trouble with "ghosts" in her television reception she decided to do something about it. She decided to try Cable and she chose Quincy Cablesystems.

Now, she's got the clearest TV picture she's ever had, and that's not all. She's also got television specials, first-run movies and Broadway hits, a variety of choices that you only get with Cable.

Millie loves that variety of programming. She also knows that if there's a program she's unable to see one night, she can catch it at a later date. With cable, if a sports event is blacked out in the Boston area, Millie and her sports-loving husband can see it at home.

As far as Millie is concerned, Cable is the only way to go. So, if you're looking for directions, look for Millie. She'll show you the way. She's already been there.

As Alternatives To GD Bond Issue, White House Aid

Tobin Proposes Hearing

Former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin has suggested several ways -- including White House intervention and the sale of Quincy City Hospital and Braintree Dam -- in which Quincy can repay $28 million to General Dynamics without a bond issue or exemption from Proposition 2 1/2.

In a letter to Stephen J. McGrath, chairman of the City Council's Finance Committee, Tobin also called for an investigation of the possible role in the "alleged overassessment" of P. Takis Veliotis, former shipyard general manager who is now under federal indictment for allegedly accepting kickbacks.

McGrath's committee is holding a hearing tonight (Thursday) at 7 p.m. on Mayor Francis McCauley's proposals to bond the $28 million payback from the limitations of Prop. 2 1/2 on the tax levy.

Tobin said the "problem facing the city is of enormous proportion" but he decried McCauley's proposal as "lacking in imaginative thinking. It is incumbent upon us all to work together with the Mayor and Council to seek a reasonable solution."

The former Mayor made these suggestions:

- Explore the feasibility of deeding the Quincy

Reservoir in Braintree (the Braintree Dam) over to General Dynamics in lieu of any payback in taxes.

"General Dynamics obtains its industrial water supply from the Braintree Dam and therefore has a direct interest in the future use of the property."

- Explore the feasibility of negotiating a "sale/lease back" agreement for the sale of Quincy City Hospital.

"The City could accomlish a twofold purpose: Use the proceeds from the transaction in lieu of any payback to General Dynamics and offer the Hospital Corporation of America or others the opportunity to negotiate this transaction.

"The city is in need of a new hospital to replace the existing facility and a private corporation could best be able to use private

Both To Work Hard In Nov. 8 Final

Condon, Collins Ward 6 Winners

By TOM HENSHAW

Joanne Condon, seeking a fourth term on the City Council, topped the Ward 6 preliminary election by a comfortable margin Tuesday, in the only race on the ballot in Quincy.

Condon gathered 1,328 votes to 817 for School Vice Chairwoman Mary Collins and 208 for Jens Thornton. Thornton was eliminated from the Nov. 8 general election ballot.

Condon, who lives in the Atlantic section of the ward, swept all six precincts, including Collins' Squantum home, which she took by a margin of 343 to 322.

Only 2,372 out of 7,019 registered voters in Ward 6 bothered to go to the polls. That's 33.8 per cent, only slightly higher than the 30 per cent predicted by City Clerk John Gillis.

The final precinct, No. 6 in Squantum, where 805 voters, or 41.6 per cent of the vote, turned out, came into City Hall about 9:30 p.m., for one of the fastest elections in recent years.

Steve Yovino, Condon's campaign manager, said she was "extremely pleased" with the result.

"It's no surprise," said Yovino. "She has always had a broad base of support and a good organization. The Fire Department came out real strong for Joanne and they deserve an honorable mention."

"But we still have to work twice as hard in the final."

JOANNE CONDON

Collins said, "I'm pleased considering it was a small turnout and is only a preliminary election. Now we're going to start on the next one Thursday morning."

Collins said she had obtained the support of Thornton for the November election shortly after the Tuesday night returns were in.

"I thought Jens hurt me a little in Squantum tonight," she said, "but all that is going to change in November."

The highlight of the Nov. 8 general election may well be, not a race for office, but a referendum question.

The City Council will vote on or before Oct. 3 whether or not to permit the city's voters to decide if they want to override Proposition 2 1/2 to raise $28 million to repay General Dynamics for property tax overassessments.

Names that will appear on the Nov. 8 ballot are:

Mayor - Francis X. McCauley, incumbent, unopposed.

City Council at Large - Joseph J. LaRaia, Richard J. Koch Jr. and Patricia Toland, incumbents, opposed by Ronald Iacobucci.

City Council Ward 1 - Leo J. Kelly, incumbent, unopposed.

City Council Ward 2 - Theodore P. DeCristofaro, incumbent, unopposed.

City Council Ward 3 - John J. Lydon Jr., incumbent, unopposed.

City Council Ward 4 - James A. Sheets, incumbent, unopposed.

City Council Ward 5 - Stephen J. McGrath, incumbent, opposed by John M. Dunlea.

City Council Ward 6 - Joanne Condon, incumbent, opposed by Mary Collins.

School Committee - Frank Anselmo, John J. Sullivan and Christopher Kennedy, incumbents, opposed by William Arienti, Frank C. Santoro and Stephen Durkin.

McCauley To Explain GD Bond Issue At Finance Meeting

Mayor Francis X. McCauley plans to attend tonight's meeting of the City Council Finance Committee to explain his request for a $28 million bond to repay General Dynamics for its overassessment.

He will also explain his plan to have the bond exempted from Prop. 2 1/2 limits for 10 years and he indicated that he will not remain neutral on the issues as he announced last week.

"I'll tell people what I'm going to do as a voter," he said. "We who are closer to the scene have a responsibility to communicate with the people."

But McCauley still declined to say if he was for or against his own proposals.

"I find that there is a lack of understanding among the people of what we are trying to do," he said.

"The City Council would not be tampering with 2 1/2 if they put the referendum on the ballot. The voters will not destroy 2 1/2 if they voted for the exemption. It's only to pay back the bonds over 10 years."

McCauley said he has not received any great reaction from the people on his proposals but, he added, "what there has been has been negative."

The Mayor denied a published report that, at one time during negotiations with General Dynamics, the city considered bankruptcy to avoid paying the court-ordered abatement to the company.

"I never considered bankruptcy," he said. "I'm old fashioned. I have always believed that you should pay what you owe."

Free Flu Shots Begin Sept. 26

City Health Commissioner Dr. M. Grace Hussey, announces there will be free flu clinics conducted at the following locations for senior citizens and those unable to go to the Health Center:

Monday, Sept. 26, 9 a.m. - 11 a.m., O'Brien Towers.

1 p.m. - 2 p.m., Granite Place. 2:30 p.m. - 3:30 p.m., Hancock Court.

Tuesday, Sept. 27, 9 a.m. - 11 a.m., Fenno House. 1:30 p.m. - 2:30 p.m., Houghs Neck Center.

Wednesday, Sept. 28, 9 a.m. - 11 a.m., 1000 Southern Artery. 1:30 p.m. - 2:30 p.m., Town Brook House.

Thursday, Sept. 29, 9 a.m. - 11 a.m., Wollaston Manor. 1:30 p.m. - 2:30 p.m., Atlantic Center.

Friday, Sept. 30, 9 a.m. - 11 a.m., Sawyer Towers. 1 p.m. - 2 p.m., Pagnano Towers. 2:30 p.m. - 3:30 p.m., Drohan Apartments.

Keel-Laying Friday For Navy's MPS Ships

General Dynamics will hold a double keel laying ceremony Friday at 2:45 p.m. for the first two Maritime Prepositioning Ships (MPS) to be built at the Fore River shipyard.

Gen. Paul X. Kelley, commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps, will be the principal speaker, and his wife, Barbara, will wield her initials in the two keels as part of the ceremony.

The mission of the 671-foot, 41,700-ton MPSs is to insure adequate and effective sealift for the Navy's Rapid Deployment Force by providing close backup logistics support.

Bids Sought For Willard St. Resurfacing

The State Department of Public Works is accepting bids for the resurfacing of Willard St., West Quincy, from the Braintree line to the Furnace Brook Interchange on the Southeast Expressway.

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey said the work must be completed before Nov. 15 in order to ease the traffic burden that is expected to be placed on Willard St. during reconstruction of the Expressway.

The federal government's plan for complete reconstruction of this section of Willard St., including a new road bed, improved drainage and a redesign of the West St.

intersection, will proceed when Expressway work is finished.

Included in the current project are traffic signals at West and Willard Sts.

"The temporary signals at West St. should allow the residents of the area better access to Willard St. during this period of increased traffic," said Morrissey.

License Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following action at Tuesday morning's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a request from the Squantum Community Association Inc. for a permit to conduct a flea market Sept. 24, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Nickerson Post. Rain date is Sept. 25.

- Granted a request from the North Quincy High School Football Boosters for a one day all alcoholic license to be used in conjunction with a Las Vegas Night Friday, Nov. 5, 7 p.m. to midnight at North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall.

- Granted a request from Our Lady of Good Counsel Parish, 227 Sea St., for a one day all alcoholic license for Friday, Oct. 28, to be used in conjunction with a Las Vegas Night.

- Granted a one day, all alcoholic license to Robert Preble of Quincy for a dance Saturday, 8 p.m. to midnight, at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall, Houghs Neck. There are to be two police officers on detail for the dance which is by invitation only.

- Granted, subject to approval by the police department, a request from Knotty Pine Restaurant, 526 Washington St., for two video game permits. The machines are not to obstruct passage ways.

- Granted a request from Sidney J. Hajar for parking lot license for 570-582 South St. The lot is for a maximum of 60 cars, a 4 by 6 ft. building may be erected, and the lot must be maintained.

- Granted, subject to approval by the police department, a request from Charles J. Roobian of The Train Store, 1608 Hancock St., for 2 upright video machines. The machines are not to obstruct egresses.

- Continued to Sept. 20 a request from Sparks Tune-Up Center, 664 Washington St., for 5,000 gallons of gasoline underground. Applicant Bernard Waggenheim is to clarify total storage amounts.

- Granted, pending a routine police check, a request from Steven Robbins for a common victualer license for the Boston Harbor Marina Flea Market. Robbins will sell dried fruits and nuts.

- Granted a request from White-Moore, Inc., for change of name from Dayce's Place to Bob Whites.

- Granted, pending a routine police check, a request from Esther K. Stevens of Stevens and Co., 31A Cottage Ave., for a second hand antique jewelry, used jewelry and second hand metals license.

- Allowed to be continued to Sept. 20 at the request of Atty. Neil Kerstein, a request from V.S.H. Realty Inc. for a common victualer license for a Cumberland Farm Store to be constructed along with a retail gasoline facility at 470 Sea St.

- Granted, pending a routine police check, a request from the Marina Room, 542 East Squantum St., for a change of manager from Gordon Robbins to Lawrence Corbeil of Randolph.

Handbag Snatched In Wollaston

Lorri Rossi told police she was getting into her car in front of 134 Fayette St., Wollaston, Sunday night when a man snatched her handbag containing $40 in cash and credit cards and fled.

She said she chased the man, described as in his 20s and wearing a green shirt and shorts, down Wilson Ave. where he got into a rust colored Chevrolet with two other men and drove off toward Milton.

All three men were wearing baseball caps turned backward, she said.

Tools Stolen

Tools valued at $500 were reported stolen Monday from a pickup truck owned by David Nagle of 75

Atlantic St., North Quincy, while it was parked on Pierce St., North Quincy.

"Always the Leader"

HIGHEST EARNING SAVINGS BANK IN MASSACHUSETTS

"Ladies and Gentlemen, our community has come of age!"

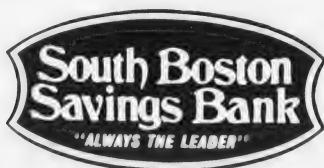

With these words, a group of South Boston residents transformed a need into a reality and on September 1, 1863, while a civil war raged, the South Boston Savings Bank opened its doors.

A $50 deposit was made that September day. As we celebrate this milestone, Savings Book No. 1 is still active. The balance, without a penny added or a penny withdrawn, has reached $8,625.00

Today we are the leader, and to earn that distinction we have had to keep ahead of the banking industry for many years.

The South Boston Savings Bank record of paying the highest interest rates available has become legendary. We realize banks don't build banks. People do, one by one. We hope to take the needs of our depositors and turn them into realities. Then, we hope to take them one step further, because at South Boston Savings Bank we believe that once the leader, always the leader.

We've come a long way since the first $50 in Savings Book No. 1.

MBTA Station Opens At 25 Per Cent Capacity

By TOM HENSHAW

The $33 million Quincy Adams station, the newest stop on the MBTA's Red Line, passed its first commuter test with flying colors.

Only about 500 cars, some 25 per cent of capacity in the 2,000 car parking garage showed up on opening commuter day but MBTA spokesman Robert Devin said the T is pleased with the turnout.

"It's largely an educational process," he said. "A lot of people were using other areas by force of habit. When they become aware of the station, business will pick up."

Devin said that, calculating on the basis of 1.5 persons per car, some 800 to 900 people used the station up until 10 a.m. on Monday, the first real commuting day.

There had been some concerns for traffic problems with the opening of the new station in South Quincy, which was dedicated Friday at ceremonies led by MBTA general manager James F. O'Leary.

Quincy officials attending the opening included Mayor Francis X. McCauley, City Councillors Ted DeCristofaro, Patricia Toland and Joseph J. LaRaia and Rep. Thomas F. Brownell.

Joseph Harold represented his son, Sen. Paul D. Harold.

Quincy Adams, the largest combination parking-rapid transit-bus station in the MBTA system, features direct access from the Southeast Expressway and parking for 1,800 cars plus 400 spaces for the community.

The all-day parking garage fee is $1.50 and the one-way fare to Boston is $1.20.

The station is built of concrete, glass, ceramic tile, stainless steel and fiberglass and features a 12-stop, in station bus loading area and separate parking for employees, motorcycles, taxis and a passenger drop-off for private vehicles.

It also boasts glass-walled elevators, an elaborate security system and large, colorful banners bearing the names of Quincy notables such as John Quincy Adams.

Cumberland Farms To Correct Delivery Problems

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Cumberland Farms, 610 Hancock St., Wollaston, will have until Oct. 25 to correct problems concerning such matters as truck deliveries and litter or face action by the License Board.

Ward Councillor Stephen McGrath and local residents complained to the board Tuesday about problems which were also discussed at a meeting in February.

McGrath said that delivery trucks use residential streets near Cumberland Farms to make deliveries.

Sidewalks have been cracked when the trucks go up on them to make turns, and cars nearly hit, said McGrath.

"The neighbors have about had it," said McGrath, "if I have to ask that the license be withdrawn, I will."

"The problem is that bad."

Mrs. Forest Mason of Earle St. complained about two trees that had to be taken down after being hit by the trucks, of a dumpster that is a "positive disgrace", and of unmaintained landscaping.

Delia Beatty of Ferndale Rd. showed the board a newspaper photo of a sidewalk that was broken again after it had been repaired.

Cumberland Farms area supervisor Frank Feeney said there has been a management problem because he has not received the complaints McGrath and the neighbors said that they made.

Feeney said that the truck driver responsible for most of the delivery problems has been terminated, and that the dumpster will be locked at all times.

Feeney and Transportation Director William O'Donnell gave their names and telephone numbers to the License Board for reference in case of any future complaints.

O'Donnell said trucks will now use only Hancock St. to make deliveries.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald told Feeney and O'Donnell to maintain landscaping, install a camera to monitor youths congregating in back of the store, and pay for the sidewalks being repaired.

"Unless it's done and done right, the place will be closed," said MacDonald.

"We're not going to be the ones to make that decision. You are."

Vandals Blamed For $10,000 Wollaston Fire

A two-alarm fire in Wollaston which caused an estimated $10,000 damage to a vacant building is being blamed on vandals by fire officials.

There were no reported injuries at the fire at 59 and 61 Sachem St. which started in the rear of the building and extended to the roof early Saturday.

Richard Tagliaferri of 52

Kent St., Quincy, is listed as the owner of the two-story building which formerly housed two stores, according to a report by Acting Deputy Paul Johnson.

The fire was apparently caused by vandals who ignited trash inside the rear door, according to the report.

The Fire Prevention Bureau and State Fire

Marshal's Office are investigating.

Four engine companies, two ladders and one rescue vehicle were at the scene for a little over an hour.

Readers Forum A Tribute To A. Wendell Clark

(Editor's note:
Because of typographical errors in last week's Quincy Sun, the following letter is being reprinted in its entirety.)

Editor, The Quincy Sun,

With the passing of A. Wendell Clark, Quincy has lost in person, but certainly not in memory, another distinguished and respected senior citizen. Having reached life's 92nd milestone he had enjoyed reasonably good health until a few weeks prior to his death. Mentally alert, he was happy to greet old friends and reminisce about Quincy's growth and progress over the years yet keeping abreast of current events. It was only a couple of months ago that I visited him and thoroughly enjoyed our friendly chat. He was one of the finest gentlemen I have known.

Devoted to his native city, Wendell Clark gave freely of his time and effort in the field of education and with many charitable organizations. For over twenty years he was elected and re-elected a member of the Quincy School Committee and served much of that time as Vice Chairman, without ever being paid. To enumerate his many other charitable services would be superfluous since space should be considered.

However, his loyalty to the Quincy Y.M.C.A. certainly should be especially mentioned.

A 'Thank You' To Police Dept.

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

On behalf of the children and staff of the Pediatric Unit of Quincy City Hospital, I would like to acknowledge the generosity of the Quincy Police Department and the Bryan VFW Post.

These two benevolent groups held a charity softball game recently whereby they raised $350 for the children in the hospital's Serving as a Director for close to 50 years he was elected Treasurer, Vice President and President during his directorship. As mayor, I had the privilege of appointing him, just prior to World War II, as chairman of Selective Service Board 122.

By coincidence, my friendship with the Clark Family dates back almost sixty years - now knowing four generations. Wendell's father, the late Alexander Clark, was serving as a member of the city council representing the then Ward Three (South Quincy) when I became a member in January of 1925 at 22 years of age. An amusing sidelight to this friendship came in January of 1927 when he cast the deciding vote to elect me as president of the Council.

A dear senior citizen, he was a bit hard of hearing and announced that he was casting his vote for me because as he said, "I can hear that young man's voice better than any other member of the Council."

The respected Alexander Clark has passed to his family a truly great heritage as has A. Wendell Clark, to his son, Gordon, and the Clark Family. I'm sure that this "legacy" will be held inviolate for many years.

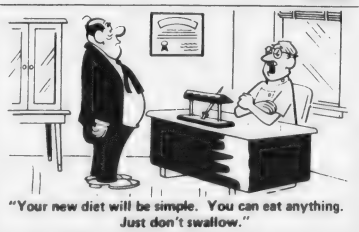

A. Wendell Clark was a gentleman in its finest sense. Quincy will indeed miss him.

How Soon They Forget

How soon they forget.

If former Mayor-Senator James McIntyre was thinking that last Friday while the opening day ceremonies were going on at the South Quincy MBTA station you really couldn't blame him.

He wasn't there. He wasn't invited.

Neither were former Mayors Arthur Tobin or Walter Hannon. The latter, recuperating from by-pass heart surgery probably wouldn't have attended, anyway.

But McIntyre and Tobin would have. At least it would have been nice to be invited.

If anyone should have been there at the ceremonies, it was McIntyre who played a key role in the MBTA crossing the Neponset River into Quincy.

The Red Line came to Quincy during his administration.

He also wore a senator's hat at that time and was chairman of the Joint Committee on Transportation.

And, in the triple role of mayor, senator and committeeman chairman, he helped pave the way for the Red Line but at the same time looked out for Quincy's best interests.

He got the best track route possible, the best stations, the tracks depressed over Granite St. (instead of an ugly elevated structure) and the newest, sleekest trains.

But he was conspicuously among the missing on the VIP platform last Friday.

THE QUINCY-SOUTH SHORE Jerry Lewis
Television Committee's efforts for Jerry's Kids reached all the way to Hungary.

A cablegram from Senator Paul Harold arrived after the telethon from Budapest with a pledge of $25. Money is still coming in.

Including a $25 check from School Committeeman John Sullivan who also helped man the phones Labor Day.

The Altrusa Club of Quincy donated $75. Dick and Simmy Koch $25. William and Florence Blake, $25. Rabbi Jacob Mann, $20. And, from Mary Donahue, George and Mary Brophy, and "A Friend".

It brings the fishbowl to $5815. And with the $30,206 in Labor Day pledges, it brings the telethon pledge center total to $36,021.

And, $8,700 from Hingham raised at Jay Tolman's

One winner in the Quincy Quiz this week.

Bella R. Abdallah of 57 Winter St., wins a T-shirt. Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers, one a mail subscriber, to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions win T-shirts. The next two win bumper stickers.

Only one member of a household is eligible to compete in any one week and no one is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. What is the name of the head football coach at North Quincy High School?

2. Which of the following never served as mayor of Quincy: Charles Francis Adams? Nathaniel Hunting? Gustave B. Bates?

3. What well known landmark is located at 44 School St.?

4. True or false: Alfred H. Remick opened his clothing store in Quincy in 1896.

5. Chubbuck St. is located in what section of the city?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz?

1. Mary Curtin is the president of the Quincy Education Association.

2. The largest employer in Quincy is the General Dynamics shipyard.

3. The Quincy Square Deli is located at 1360 Hancock St.

4. False. Charles Porter was the first mayor of Quincy.

5. Knight St. is located in the Adams Shore section of the city.

McINTYRE

telethon party at his home Labor Day brings the committee's year figure so far to $70,407.

And, the committee's seven-year total to $629,999 so far.

More money is due in from special events.

ONE OF THE most touching donations during the telethon came from Sybil Mattson of Carter St., Quincy.

Sybil knows first hand how cruel disease can be. She was stricken during the polio epidemic of 1955 and has been virtually confined to bed 28 years.

Research finally conquered polio. Sybil's donation will now help defeat muscular dystrophy.

Research finally conquered polio. Sybil's donation will now help defeat muscular dystrophy.

PAUL HURLEY, SR. of Hurley Insurance Co., Quincy, a "tin can" sailor of World War II, will play a major part in a tribute to one of the most famous "tin can" sailors of them all: Admiral Arleigh (31 Knot) Burke.

Hurley, who served as gunnery officer aboard the USS Converse in Burke's Destroyer Squadron 23 better known as the "Little Beavers" - will be emcee at main dinner during ceremonies honoring Burke Oct. 29 in the Hyatt Regency Hotel, Arlington, Va.

Burke, then a captain, led the destroyer squadron through victories from the Solomon Islands to Truk and through two major surface battles Empress Augusta Bay and Cape St. George.

It was the speed at which the squadron attacked and destroyed a Japanese force at Cape St. George that won Burke the still famous nickname "31-Knot Burke".

RON IACOBUCCI, who is running for City Council at large, must have thought he was in politician's heaven last Thursday, when Gov. Dukakis came for pre-opening ceremonies for the Quincy Adams MBTA station.

A camera crew from Channel 7 was with the governor and Ron was the only local resident who was on hand for the ceremonies that were not widely publicized in advance. Channel 7 found him, interviewed him and had him on the 11 p.m. news.

"I pointed out the concerns of local residents about the station," he said, adding, "They even spelled my name right in the graphics."

OOPS DEPT: William Donovan of Broady Ave., Germantown writes: "I suspect that this may not be the only inquiry you will receive about your Aug. 25 "Sunbeams" column, but just who is this "Lawrence DiCarlo" who is running for mayor of Boston? A presumable typo?

"Secondly, many Quincy people do care about Boston politics - since what happens there can seriously affect the lives of many Quincy residents. Quincy is a grand place to live, but it cannot provide employment for all her citizens. Many of us have to, or have had to, work in the Hub.

"Additionally, I believe that Boston's politics are somewhat lesser vulnerable to nepotism than Quincy's own politics have been lately.

"Poor Larry DiCarlo needs all the help he can get. He's having enough trouble. If it was a typo, please advise your pressman! Otherwise, please get the names correct."

(Sorry, Bill and Larry).

NICE STORY DEPT: Patricia Sullivan, youngest daughter of School Committeeman and Mrs. John Sullivan, was married recently to Clay Halliday. Patricia, you'll remember, gave a kidney to her sister, Maryrose Mirick last spring. Maryrose, who is doing "very well", was matron of honor at the wedding.

That's the kind of a story you like to hear and read.

Tobin Suggests Alternatives To GD Bond Issue, Referendum

financing methods rather than the city using municipal bonds, which would have a bearing on the bond rating of the city."

- Explore the feasibility of giving title to all vacant school buildings and other excess municipal buildings to General Dynamics in lieu of any payback. Future taxes could be exempt for a time as part of the payback package.

- Call for a meeting with "our influential leaders" to discuss the ramifications of this issue and seek their help in obtaining additional state aid or special legislation, such as the Tregor Bill which was helpful to Boston in a similar situation.

- "Why not take our problem directly to the White House? After all, the federal government bailed out New York City and the Chrysler Motor Corp. in a time of crisis. Why shouldn't Quincy receive the same consideration?"

"Ron Kaufman (formerly of Quincy) and ex-Rep. Andrew Card of Holbrook have direct access to the White House. They, along with the Mayor, are members of the same political party as the President. General Dynamics is one of the leading defense contractors in the United States."

- "The alleged over-assessment of the General Dynamics Shipyard commenced with the city administration in office in 1976-77. The general manager of General Dynamics at that time is the same individual, we have learned in recent days, who has been indicted by a federal grand jury for alleged kickbacks.

"What we do not know at this time is the extent of the involvement by any other officials of General Dynamics. What do they know, what did they not know and what should they have known are questions to be answered.

"Maybe we should be acting more cautiously."

Tobin said McCauley's refusal to take a position on his own proposals and the Council's "wait and see attitude" are "not reassuring, to say the least."

"If the mayor and Council have reservations regarding their actions," he said, "how can they expect the voters of Quincy to override Proposition 2 1/2 when the voters of Quincy have already voted overwhelmingly in favor of Prop. 2 1/2?"

"If the voters of Quincy vote 'no' on the Mayor's proposal to override the provisions of Proposition 2 1/2, the alternative facing the city, according to the Mayor, would be more drastic budget cuts, which would total approximately $20 million.

"If the override is passed, the citizens of Quincy are going to be faced with the impact of 100 per cent revaluation, plus the recently enacted sewer tax, plus the General Dynamics suit, plus an additional $8 million in interest.

"This is a pretty big bill to ask the taxpayers of Quincy to swallow. The issue, in my opinion, should have received much greater input, dialogue and imaginative thinking."

It is the first time that Tobin has spoken out on a municipal issue since he left office in January, 1982.

9 Receive Computer Literacy Program Awards

Nine Quincy students received awards recently at a graduation reception of the summer computer literacy program presented by Data Solutions, and funded by and conducted at the Quincy Skills Center.

The awards were given for individual summer projects which included writing programs for games, simulations and graphics.

The award winners:

Steve Billard, Karen Bryan and Tom Wildes of North Quincy High School; and Joel Rogers, Shawn Mullen, Tom Kelly, Rich

Olander and Kris Lamson of Quincy High School.

These nine students were among the 18 who attended the program from the Quincy School System.

The innovative curriculum developed by Data Solutions Inc. of Cambridge, included learning LOGO, a powerful computer language, Robotics and other state of the art computer applications.

George Lukas, President of Data Solutions, feels that these students will have a head start in today's high tech world.

Grossman Plans Office Building On Depot Site

Former Governor's Councillor Joseph B. Grossman proposed to trade the land to the rear of City Hall to Quincy in return for a 49-year lease on the land where the Quincy Depot stands on which Grossman planned to build a three or four story office building.

At the end of 10 years, the city would have the option to buy the building and, if it did not exercise that option, the building would automatically revert to the city at the end of the 49-year lease.

Grossman said he would pay the taxes on the building, which would have a taxable valuation of not less than $100,000, but not on the land. He would also accept responsibility for providing waiting room facilities for train passengers who now use the depot.

SQUANTUM ACADEMY

City Manager William J. Deegan Jr., in a letter to Gov. Christian A. Herter, proposed that the Massachusetts Maritime Academy be relocated from Buzzards Bay to a site on the Squantum Naval Air Station in North Quincy.

The governor recently appointed a committee to seek a new site since the Buzzards Bay facilities had proven unsatisfactory.

Governor's Councillor Charles Gabriel of Hingham, a member of the committee, said he would be delighted to see the academy at Squantum but "before I could endorse the suggestion I would have to be certain that it is feasible and practical."

POW RETURNS

Major George M. McDonnell of 20 Alrick Rd., Wollaston, the city's first returned prisoner of war, arrived home from Korea after nearly three years in a Red Chinese prison camp. "You can say for me that I'll fight Communism anywhere at any time," he said.

Donut King Withdraws Expansion Request

At the suggestion of City License Board members, a request for expansion of Donut King, Inc., 151 Copeland St., West Quincy, was withdrawn without prejudice at Tuesday's meeting.

Ward Councillor James Sheets told the board that traffic and other problems have not been resolved between the owner and local residents opposed to the request.

Sheets described the area as "extremely congested" and said, "people who live in the area 24 hours a day are concerned about what happens at the location."

Owner Joseph L. Melchione told the board he was requesting an addition "strictly for storage" and not to increase seating capacity.

A petition signed by about 200 people in favor of the request was presented to the board.

Fire Chief Edward Barry, acting board chairman in the absence of City Clerk

John Gillis who had election day duties, said that he has received calls from people opposing the request.

"I regret that I voted for the business (originally) said Barry, "I never thought it would cause this much aggravation."

"I'm opposed to an increase in storage because of the difficulties there."

"The abutters are still aggrieved at the situation," said Building Inspector Allan MacDonald, who advised that the request be withdrawn.

"You should itemize the problem and eliminate them," he told Melchione.

Nu Wave Aerobics Granted CV License

A fitness center offering members the opportunity to munch on fruit drinks and granola between work-outs was granted a license at Tuesday's License Board meeting.

Thomas Parker of Winchester was granted a common victualer license for Nu Wave Aerobics and Fitness Center, 1569 Hancock St., Quincy Sq.

The co-ed center, about 60 per cent completed according to the applicant, will have training equipment as well as classes in exercise dance, aerobics, jazz, yoga, and strengthening and stretching seven days a week.

"Body engineers" will consult with members on nutrition, and seminars on a variety of subjects will be held monthly, according to the applicants.

A juice bar will offer non-alcoholic items such as protein powders, V-8 juice, fresh and dried fruits and salads, in a lounge area with a color TV, the application stated.

Fire Marshal Award For 8-Year Old Girl

Mayor Francis X. McCauley will present an award to eight-year-old Kim Gately, at an 11 a.m. ceremony at Quincy City Hall today (Thursday).

The award is in recognition of Kim's quick actions taken during a fire in her home last December.

Kim, age seven at the time, may have saved her family from injury during the fire that caused extensive damage to their two-family duplex.

She will be presented the silver medal award from the Junior Fire Marshal program she had participated in several weeks before the fire.

The fire safety training program is sponsored by The Hartford Insurance Group of Hartford, Conn.

Kim was already heading for the designated meeting place when her mother, Mrs. Christine Gately, discovered flames in the house. She said her daughter had wrapped herself in a blanket over her pajamas and calmly greeted her mother at a frontyard tree.

Mrs. Gately wanted to go back in the house to get a snowsuit for her daughter, but Kim insisted that she stay outside. Mr. Gately joined the two at the tree after calling the fire department.

The Junior Fire Marshal program had been offered to second-graders in the Daniel Webster School through the Hartford's local sponsor, Riley & Riley Insurance Agency of Quincy.

Kim had discussed what she learned in the program with her parents, as is encouraged in the program, and they planned escape routes, conducted fire drills, and made a home safety inspection.

Kim is one of only three silver medal winners in the United States this year. She is a candidate for the gold medal which is chosen by a committee of 100 citizens including Bob Hope, Ted Williams, Ann Landers, and many more.

Kim will be joined at the awards ceremony by her classmates from the Daniel Webster School who also participated in the Junior Fire Marshal program.

Open House Friday At Beechwood Center

The Beechwood Community Life Center, 225 Fenno St., Wollaston, will hold an open house Friday, 6:30 to 8 p.m.

A musical recital featuring two faculty members, Mark Leighton on guitar and Mike Leonard on saxophone, will take place at 7 p.m. in the gymnasium.

Those attending the open house may visit with teachers of the "First Steps" Toddler Program which opened Monday.

The program provides care for toddlers ages 15 months to 2 years 9 months.

Other teachers and staff members will be on hand to answer questions about the fall curriculum.

For more information, call 471-5712.

Lydon Endorses Condon

City Council President John J. Lydon, Jr. has endorsed Councillor Joanne Condon for reelection to a fourth term from Ward 6.

"In my 10 years of service on the City Council," said Lydon, "the last two as Council president, Councillor Joanne Condon has worked endlessly to represent the interests of her ward."

"She has initiated new programs, provided new services and worked for the adoption of policies which have greatly assisted Ward 6 and its residents.

"Joanne's sole priority has been Ward 6 and the community has benefited greatly from her diligence."

"The Atlantic Neighborhood Center, the Squantum Community Center, the neighborhood housing programs, the Norfolk Downs business district improvements; and most recently the home improvement loan program in Squantum are clear evidence of Councillor Condon's efforts and results in Ward 6."

Figurines Stolen

Mary Nilson of Copeland St., West Quincy, reported to police Saturday that figurines valued at more than $1,000 and assorted jewelry were stolen from her apartment while she was vacationing.

She returned home, she said, to find the front door unlocked and the door open.

Howard Johnson Lease Spurs Monarch IV Plan

The coming of Howard Johnson's has spurred further development in and near the State Street South complex in North Quincy.

Peter O'Connell of the developing O'Connell brothers said this week that plans are afoot for a fourth major office building, costing between $15 and $20 million and up to seven stories tall, in the area.

"We are always working on future projects," he said. "Since the leasing of Monarch III we have taken something from the back burner and moved it to the front burner."

Last month, Howard

Johnson's took a 10-year lease on about half the recently completed Monarch III building, which has been renamed the Howard Johnson Building.

The first three Monarch buildings were built on speculation, that is, they were not leased until they were completed, but O'Connell said Monarch IV will be 40 to 50 per cent pre-leased.

O'Connell said it has not yet been decided whether to build the fourth Monarch on land in the State Street South complex or on nearby available land.

Crew Members To Observe 40th Wasp Birthday At Reunion

By TOM HENSHAW

Graying shipmates from the crew of the Wasp, the Fore River-built carrier that performed heroically in the Pacific in World War II, will observe the old ship's 40th birthday at a reunion in Boston this weekend.

The festivities will begin tomorrow (Friday) night with a clambake behind the New England Aquarium and continue with a dinner-dance at the Marriott Hotel Saturday and, for those who can make it, brunch at the Marriott Sunday.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has proclaimed this "USS Wasp Week" in Quincy in honor of the carrier and its crew, who sank 52 enemy ships, damaged 305 more, shot down 246 enemy planes, destroyed 411 on the ground and participated in 36 island bombing attacks.

A special invitation to the dinner-dance has been sent to Cong. Brian J. Donnelly, who has filed a bill in Congress to name the next nuclear-powered carrier after the Wasp. Keels have already been laid for two as yet unnamed carriers.

Co-Chairman for the reunion are Allyn (Flash) Gordon of Milton and Robert Reilly of Somerville.

The Wasp, the ninth U.S. warship to bear that name, was launched at the Fore River Shipyard on Aug. 17, 1943, commissioned on Nov. 24, and reached combat in the Pacific in May, 1944. She was recommissioned in 1950 for the Korean War and finally decommissioned July 1, 1972.

One of the highlights of the reunion will be an appearance by a 68-foot model of the Wasp, weighing just under 17 tons.

PHOTO OF USS WASP is presented to Mayor Francis X. McCauley by Robert Reilly of Somerville, co-chairman of reunion of crew members that takes place this weekend in Boston to observe the 40th anniversary of its launching at Fore River Shipyard.

Dear World...

MY YOUNG SON starts to school today ... It's going to be sort of strange and new to him for awhile, and I wish you would sort of treat him gently.

You see, up to now he's been king of the roost ... He's been boss of the backyard ... His mother has always been near to soothe his wounds and repair his feelings.

But now things are going to be different.

This morning he's going to walk down the front steps, wave his hand, and start out on the great adventure ... It is an adventure that might take him across continents, across oceans ... It's an adventure that will probably include wars and tragedy and sorrow ... To live his life in the world he will have to live in, will require faith and love and courage.

So, World, I wish you would sort of look after him ... Take him by the hand and teach him things he will have to know. But do it gently, if you can.

He will have to learn, I know, that all men are not just, that all men are not fair.

But teach him also that for every scoundrel there is a hero that for every crooked politician there is a great and dedicated leader ... Teach him that for every enemy, there is a friend.

Steer him away from envy, if you can ... and teach him the secret of quiet laughter.

In school, World, teach him it is far more honorable to fail than to cheat ... Teach him to have faith in his own idea, even if everyone says they are wrong ... Teach him to be gentle with gentle people and tough with tough people.

Try to give my son the strength not to follow the crowd when everyone is getting on the bandwagon ... Teach him to listen to all men - but teach him also to filter all he hears on a screen of truth and take just the good that siphons through.

Teach him, if you can, how to laugh when he's sad ... Teach him there is no shame in tears ... Teach him there can be glory in failure and despair in success.

Treat him gently, World, if you can, but don't coddle him because only the test of fire makes fine steel ... Let him have the courage to be impatient ... Let him have the patience to be brave.

Let him be no man's man ... Teach him always to have sublime faith in himself.

Because then he will always have sublime faith in mankind.

This is quite an order, World, but see what you can do ... He's such a nice little fellow, my son!

Baby Daughter Dedicated At Squantum Church

Lindsey Stein Blampied, the baby daughter of Stephen and Emily Blampied, was dedicated to God Sunday morning during the second service at the First Church of Squantum.

Deacons Leon MacIntyre and Kathryn Hansen assisted the church pastor, the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, in the ceremony.

The subject of the pastor's sermon at that service was, "On Trying To Be Perfect". The text was "You, therefore, must be perfect, as your heavenly Father is perfect." (Matthew 5:48)

Under the direction of Mary Ruth Scott, the Chancel Choir sang "Beautiful Savior" in an arrangement by David Allen. The Communion hymn was "The Church's One Foundation."

The congregation observed the Lord's Supper with Deacons Kathryn Hansen, Tom Williamson, Evelyn Ahearn, Stewart Scott and Leon MacIntyre seated at the Lord's Table with the pastor.

Greeters for the service were Genevieve and Charles Todd. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Ruth Swenson and Hazel Mayne.

At the earlier service, guitarists Andrew Ogilvie, Steve Williams and Mary Ruth Scott provided the music.

In that service, there was a general discussion of what young people could do to get a good education when they returned to school on Monday.

David Williams led the opening prayer. The sermon was entitled, "Following God's Lead".

The text was Hebrews 11:8, "By faith Abraham obeyed when he was called to go out to a place which he was to receive as an inheritance; and he went out, not knowing where he was to go."

This Sunday, there will again be two services, the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m.

Sunday School will begin for children from nursery through sixth grade at 10:30 a.m.

Cinnamon Toast, a religious education program for young people from seventh grade through 12th, will meet at 4 p.m.

Youth Choir meets at 5:30 p.m. Sundays.

The Board of Trustees will gather for its first fall meeting Monday, Sept. 19. The Board of Deacons will meet Wednesday, Sept. 21. Both meetings will be at 7:30 a.m.

The Dancing Classes sponsored by the Women's Evening Fellowship will begin Tuesday, Sept. 20. Boy Scouts meet at 7 p.m. on Wednesdays.

The Junior Choir meets Thursdays at 2:30 p.m. The Chancel Choir meets Thursdays at 7:30 p.m.

Clown Sunday At Bethany

A Clown Sunday celebration will mark the Sept. 18 reopening of the Sunday Church School of Bethany Congregational Church, Quincy Center.

The day's events will begin at 9 a.m. with a breakfast in the social hall for pupils, their parents and families, and the teaching staff.

Breakfast is being arranged by the Christian Education Committee, Jerry Capobianchi, chairman.

The teaching staff will be introduced, curriculum briefly presented, and the pupils, both returning and new students, will be registered.

First time pupils are welcome to attend the breakfast and register for the 1983-1984 church school year.

At 10 a.m., there will be a special worship service in the sanctuary on the theme of clown ministry, led by the two pastors, Rev. Joel F. Huntington and Rev. J. William Arnold.

There will be live clowns, routines, face-painting and colorful surprises.

Pastor Arnold will present an interpretation of the biblical and theological basis of clowning and the relationship to Christian belief and life.

The award-winning short film, "A Clown Is Born" will be shown. The chancel choir, under the direction of organist Peter Krasinski, will lead the singing.

Special music will be provided by a trio with guitar accompaniment, Carol Bohken, Kathleen Cronin, and Tora Huntington, singing "God Loves a Cheerful Giver" and "Give Me Joy In My Heart".

All pupils and teachers will attend the Clown Service as the place and ministry of children in the congregation is celebrated. Regular church school classes will begin at 10 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 25.

Following the service, there will be a fellowship time in the Allen Parlor with a chance to "touch a clown" which according to tradition brings good luck and blessings.

At noon, buses will leave from Bethany Church to go on an Apple Picking Picnic at Carver Hill Orchards, Stow.

People of all ages are invited. The bus is free. Those going are requested to bring a picnic lunch and beverages.

Persons may pick their own apples, Romes, Delicious, and Macintosh. The bus will stop on the way back for home-made ice cream at Erickson's.

All of the day's events are open to interested persons in the community as well as in the congregation. For information, call Bethany Church at 479-7300.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

To judge ourselves objectively is one of the greatest difficulties in life. Is it not easier to point the finger at the other fellow, to suspect him, to see his faults and sins, and not our own? With our own lofty opinions of ourselves, is it not easier to excuse ourselves for our mistakes?

But are we so kind with our fellow man? If we be numbered among the strong, we pity the weak, and if we be among the weak, we scorn the strong. An unknown author expressed this thought quite well:

"Just go to the mirror and look at yourself
And see what that man has to say;
For it isn't your father, or mother, or wife,
Whose judgement upon you must pass.
The fellow whose verdict counts most in your life
Is the one staring back from the glass."
How do you feel when you look at yourself in the mirror? . . . (Any comments on this or any other thought you read here are most appreciated and most welcome). . . .

Keohane, Pyne Funeral Homes Donate Books To Crane Library

A donation of books dealing with death, grieving and bereavement have been added to the collection at the Thomas Crane Public Library, Quincy Square.

Edward Keohane of the Keohane Funeral Home, Quincy, and Dean Litchfield of the Pyne Funeral Home, Hingham, presented the books to Warren Watson, Librarian at the Crane Library.

Keohane and Litchfield also made a financial contribution to the library which will be used to purchase additional books.

"We realize that the library's budget is severely limited," stated Keohane, "and we want to do our part to support the library for the residents of Quincy." He hopes that other Quincy businesses will take advantage of the opportunity to assist the library.

Sacred Heart Parish Census

To the residents of North Quincy, Mass.

Dear Friends:

On Sunday, September 18th thru 25th, volunteers from Sacred Heart Parish, North Quincy will visit parishioners for the purpose of updating parish statistics and make arrangements for their accurate and efficient use. There is no intent to solicit funds, to proselytize or invade anyones privacy. It would please me if you would welcome them in my name.

Rev. Cornelius J. Heery
Pastor.

THE FALL AGENDA

The Legislature is currently in session and has a number of important issues that are pending and awaiting full consideration of both branches.

In the housing area the Legislature will act on a number of important issues which include a state-wide housing package (elderly and family housing rehabilitation and modernization money totaling $196.6 M); legislation dealing with condominium conversion, legislation to control timesharing, and legislation dealing with the homeless.

The Committee on Transportation is currently developing a comprehensive package for repair, rehabilitation and modernization of roadways, bridges and mass transportation improvements, as well as off-street parking grants. Total expenditures will total $1.2 billion of which $700 million is coming from the Federal government.

Other important pieces of legislation yet to be considered by the full House and Senate include the "Right-to-Know" bill and the "Lemon Law."

A move is also afoot to have the State take over the State court facilities which are currently being handled by the Quorums. The Committee on Criminal Justice is developing a bill to restructure our current sentencing procedures. If you have any questions or suggestions on any of the above pieces of legislation on any matter pending before the General Court, please give me a call in the State House at 723-2470 or at home 328-0900.

Cable helped Millie stop the ghosts.

Millie Napoleone, as you can see, is a no-nonsense take-charge lady who takes pride in her job as a safety patrol and works hard at it. So, when she began having trouble with "ghosts" in her television reception she decided to do something about it. She decided to try Cable and she chose Quincy Cablesystems.

Now, she's got the clearest TV picture she's ever had, and that's not all. She's also got television specials, first-run movies and Broadway hits, a variety of choices that you only get with Cable.

Millie loves that variety of programming. She also knows that if there's a program she's unable to see one night, she can catch it at a later date. With cable, if a sports event is blacked out in the Boston area, Millie and her sports-loving husband can see it at home.

As far as Millie is concerned, Cable is the only way to go. So, if you're looking for directions, look for Millie. She'll show you the way. She's already been there.

Questions As Maver Makes Debut

Presidents Host Cambridge In Opener

Quincy's football team opens its season Saturday with a 1:30 p.m. Suburban League game against Cambridge Rindge and Latin at Veterans Memorial Stadium with a promising backfield but a lot of questions in the line.

Last fall Quincy defeated Cambridge, 33-16, but new Quincy coach Bill Maver knows little about this year's edition of the Rindge and Latin team.

"We were unable to scout them as their scheduled scrimmage last Saturday was cancelled," Maver said. "I really don't know what to expect from them."

"We are rebuilding this year as most of last year's squad was graduated. We have pretty good depth in the backfield and moved the ball well in a couple of scrimmages, but we definitely lack depth in the line."

On offense Quincy will open with Austin O'Malley and Kevin Cabezas at end, Eric Jolley and Mark Walsh at tackle, Chris Conner or John O'Callaghan and Pat Calabro or Dan Macauley at guard and Rich Ready or Steve Perfetuo at center.

The quarterback slot looks solid with Billy Shaughnessy due to start backed up by Joe Conti. Daron Tucker and Chris Shaughnessy will be at halfback, backed up by Mike Notarangelo and Paul Miller, and Joe Cullen and Paul Kenney will be the fullbacks.

Notarangelo is one of the Games start 1:30 unless otherwise noted.

Presidents' top runners but has seen little action due to an injury and Maver is hoping he will be back at full strength Saturday.

"Most of the boys will have to play both ways due to our lack of depth," Maver said.

Defensively O'Malley and Cabezas will be the ends. Walsh and Perfetuo the tackles with Jolley and Bob Buccella also playing. Conner and Walter Rollins will start at nose guard, John Cacciatore, Gary Minassian, Kenney and Cullen will be the line backers and Dan Curtin, Chris and Bill Shaughnessy, Tucker, Conti and Miller will be the defensive backs.

"I was pleased with our showing against Weymouth North and Arlington," Maver said. "Against Arlington we moved the ball very well despite the absence of four starters."

"Cullen ran very well in both scrimmages as did Tucker. Bill Shaughnessy has improved tremendously at quarterback and both he and Conti are passing well. I just hope Notarangelo is back in shape. We need him badly as he is experienced and a tremendous runner. He has seen virtually no action so far because of an injury. We had two fine 70-yard drives against Arlington which was heartening."

"I feel if we can get off to a good start we can hold our own. We have a strong schedule but I think we will be ready."

Maver, who succeeds Tom Fitzgerald as his alma mater's head coach, has John Sullivan back as an assistant and has added Mark and Jeff Giordani, who were standouts at Quincy and at the University of New Haven. Another former President, Steve Spencer, is again assisting on a volunteer basis.

Fitzgerald Assistant At Weymouth North

The 31-year coaching career of Tom Fitzgerald isn't over, after all.

Fitzgerald, who resigned following last season after five years as Quincy's lead coach, has joined the Weymouth North coaching staff as an assistant.

Fitzgerald finished at Quincy with a 7-3 record, his second best as the Presidents' skipper. For 10 years previously he had been an assistant at his alma Mater, North Quincy, where he was an all-scholastic center.

Fitzgerald remains in the Quincy school system and this year is a physical education teacher at Sterling Middle School.

One of his Quincy assistants, Peter Chella, also resigned and this year is an assistant coach at Curry College.

Hancock Bank Win 4th Softball Title

Hancock Bank swept through the semifinals and finals of the South Shore Bankers Softball League to win its fourth Bankers Cup in the last five years.

The Division I winners, with the best record in the league, breezed past Bay Bank Norfolk, 15-4 and 18-1, in the semifinals to move into the finals against Quincy Savings, which ousted State Street Bank in three games.

In the first game of the finals Hancock scored all its runs in the fourth inning to win, 8-4.

Kevin Cahill was outstanding on defense for Hancock while Phil Jones of Quincy Savings threw out two runners at the plate to snuff out Hancock rallies. Tom Rizzo and Gerry Cunningham paced Hancock at the plate and Jones and John Greene had timely hits for Savings.

In the second game Hancock rallied for three runs in the final inning to win, 6-5, and clinch the championship and the cup.

Savings jumped off to an early 5-3 lead and held it until the seventh.

Kevin Cahill led off the inning with a single and an error, walk and single tied the score and set the stage for Steve Belcastro's game winning single.

In the bottom of the inning Bovanek led off with a single for Savings but he was left stranded as the next two batters lined to right field and Joe Silva made an unbelievable diving catch of Jones' line drive to end the game and the playoffs.

North Soccer Team Has Strong Nucleus

The North Quincy boys' soccer team opened its season Tuesday at Sharon and Friday will travel to Barnstable.

Both are non-league games for the Raiders, who play in the strong Suburban League.

Coach Paul Bregoli, starting his sixth season, feels he has a strong nucleus from last year's 9-4-4 squad that just missed qualifying for the state tournament.

Seven lettermen return from that team, led by Tri-Captains David Brown, Jaime Paz and Terry Stark. Brown, a second-year starter, had the difficult task of marking the opposing teams' top offensive player last fall. This year, however, he is being counted upon to score many goals.

Paz, also a two-year starter at wing fullback, is an excellent defensive player with good quickness and ball control skill.

Stark is a three-year starter at stopper and is described by Bregoli as having "non-stop motion." He generally controls mid-field, a key to winning games.

Nunzio Carbone, a senior who started nearly every game last year, has been moved to inside where it is hoped he will also add some scoring punch.

Andy Curtis, a senior, will probably start at right wing. Curtis, who scored several goals last year, has had some early season injuries, but should give North good quickness outside.

Mike Cocce, a junior, is another letterman who started every game as a sophomore at halfback but has been moved to sweeper, a key defensive position. He probably was the top player in the Quincy Youth Soccer League and attended John Smith's soccer school during the summer. However, he was struck by a car last week and has a fractured clavicle, putting him out of action for two weeks.

Other probable starters include halfbacks Steve Golden and John Joseph, both seniors who started most games last year, and rounding out the starting eleven are Chris Archer, a senior who will play left wing; Eric Roukey, a sophomore who will probably hold down the outside right fullback spot and senior Mark Hubbard in goal.

He had a fine junior varsity season, has looked good in pre-season and shut out Weymouth South in a pre-season scrimmage.

Also seeing action will be seniors Mike Walsh, a forward; Craig Orrock, senior stopper and forward; Joe LaPierre, who will swing into three positions, and Mark Scanlan, a sophomore forward who led the jayvee team in scoring as a freshman.

Rounding out the varsity are Brian Bresnahan, senior forward, and Pat Marcham, junior midfielder.

Also looking good in pre-season have been Jim Cahill, Keith Burke, Paul Hennebury, Rich Golden, Kevin Caldwell, John Murphy and Warren Palmer.

"We need to find a good scorer," said Bregoli. "We seem to have the people in Carbone and Brown, but they will need help. Our defense should be our strong point with five of six players returning. Hubbard's play in goal has been encouraging and he should get better as the season progresses. We have a legitimate shot at a tournament berth. The pieces are there, we just have to fit them together."

Softball Tourney Raises Over $20,000 For Easter Seals

More than 60 area softball teams recently competed in the sixth annual WHDH-WCOZ, Quincy Cooperative Bank Easter Seal softball marathon at Kincaide Park, Quincy, and Watson Park, Braintree.

More than $20,000 was raised for local Easter Seal programs for children and adults with disabilities.

The Colonial Nursing Home Conquerors of Weymouth took the top money-raising honors with $1,700. The Embers Restaurant of Quincy, managed by Norman Nelson, raised $838 and the Blue Jays of Quincy, managed by Willie Green, raised $800.

Prizes included trophies to all teams, T-shirts, duffle bags, an Eddie Bauer shopping spree, weekends for two at the Hyatt Regency, Cambridge, and the Kelley House, Martha's Vineyard; team dinners at the Sheraton-Tara, Braintree, and the Villa Rosa, East Milton, dinner for two at Jason's and Red Sox tickets.

Local programs benefiting from the event include therapeutic swim classes, stroke support groups and residential summer camp.

LaBrecque Wins Midget Baseball Title

The Quincy Park and Recreation Department recently held its annual Midget Boys Baseball

Tournament at McCoy Field. With LaBrecque playground coached by Fran Donovan, defeated Mass Fields 19-1.

Recreation Director Barry Welch presented trophies to the LaBrecque team, which won behind the fine pitching of Matt Smith.

Mark Bogan had four hits, including a long homerun, while Richie McDonald, Mike Baylis, and Fred Regan each had two hits.

For John Phelan's Mass Fields team Danny Duncan and Billy Warren played good games in the field. Warren also had two hits.

Crowley, Sargent Lead N.Quincy Over Hingham

Joe Crowley scored two touchdowns and guard Ken Sargent recovered four Hingham fumbles as the North Quincy High School football team overran the Harborbarn, 32-7, in the season's opener. Sargent fell on one of the fumbles in the end zone for a touchdown.

The North Quincy lineup included: O'Brien, Penzo, Adams, Crippanuck, D. Stepiano, Meleedy, ends; Rielly, Nelson, Kelley, Trudeau, Buckley, tackles; Sargent, Wujciechowski, Collins, Fallon, Harding, Baker, guards; Lyons, Keohane, Stevenson, centers.

Gilbody, Joe Crowley, J. Allen, Mahoney, Creedon, Joy, W. Allen, Lundy, Warriner, Camron, Jack Crowley, Coletta, backs.

BROOKLINE ON TOP

Brookline scored on the last play of the game to nullify a touchdown by Mar. Weinstein and produce a 13-7 victory over the Quincy High School football team in the season's opener. Weinstein led an offensive display that amassed 200 yards in the air and on the ground.

The Quincy lineup included: J. Kelley, Durdon, Gosselin, Furtado, ends; Volpe, Marini, F. Kelley, tackles; Strella, Hedlund, Campanella, guards; Magnarelli, center.

Brown, Doyle, B. Derbes, D. Derbes, Colclough, Oriola, Weinstein, backs.

HANRAHAN'S BOWS

A single, a walk and an error led to the winning run in seventh and final inning as Arthur's Deli of Weymouth beat Hanrahan's of Quincy for the South Shore softball tourney crown with a 2-1 victory at Rotary-YMCA Field. Don Pizzi pitched a five-hitter for Hanrahan's.

Hanrahan's lineup included: R. McKinnon ss, Jim McKinnon lf, Belmonte cf, McDonald 2b, Conroy rf, John McKinnon 1b, Bertocci 3b, Shattuck c, Pizzi p.

CIRCUS CATCH WINS

A long pass and a circus catch on the end zone gave the Saunders Post of Dorchester, a member of the Boston Park League, a 6-0 victory over the North Quincy Alumni in a defensive struggle at Municipal Stadium.

The North Quincy lineup included: Archambeault, J. Belcastro, ends; Collins, McMahon, Cugini, tackles; Concannon, Chambers, Faietta, guards; Cirillo, center; Luchini, Frazier, R. Belcastro, Cantelli, Hickey, Sordello, backs.

FALLON CUP WINNERS

Warren Tibbetts of Albemarle and Al Denly of the home club defeated Dave Sullivan of Charles River and his host, John Wallace, one-up to win the 11th Fallon Cup tournament at Wollaston Golf Club. Tibbetts and Denly also were medalists with a score of 66.

SPORTS BITS '83

Jack Ferguson and Bob Jack scored the goals as the Quincy Shipbuilders edged the Dorchester Hakoahs, 2-1, to win their first Boston District Soccer League game under new manager Dave Alexander. . . . Rocky Marciano of Brockton retained his world heavyweight boxing championship with an 11th round technical knockout of Roland LaStarza in the Polo Grounds, New York City. . . . Hank Burak was thwarted in his attempt to win his fourth tournament game when Bargainville of Quincy lost to the MIT Rockets of Cambridge 3-1, in the finals of the Metropolitan Boston ASA softball tournament in Malden. . . . Bevo Francis, who scored 1,954 points during the 1952-53 season, and his Rio Grande College basketball team were booked to play Providence College Dec. 5 in Boston Garden. . . . Mr. and Mrs. John Milne won first prize as the Quincy Bowling Green Club swept the honors in the Couples Day Tournament by defeating Boston and the Cunningham Club of Milton. . . . The local residents among the Boston Bruins, led by Capt. Milt Schmidt of Needham, departed by train for Hershey, Pa., to open the 1953-54 training camp. . . . Joe Mayo, former Quincy High School lineman and founder of Little League football in Quincy, was named assistant football coach at Archbishop Williams. . . . Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox was batting over .400 since his return from service with the Marine Corps in Korea. . . . The Koch Club softball team of North Quincy won the ACMY League playoff title when the Squantum Naval Air Base team was forced to forfeit after too many of their players were transferred on the eve of the game.

McPhee Optimistic

Raiders Eye Better Start At Milton

By TOM SULLIVAN

Last year Ken McPhee took over as head football coach of his alma mater, North Quincy, where he was an all-scholastic guard, and installed a new system with a virtually new team, the Raiders having been hit hard by graduation.

As a result, North lost its opener to old-time rival Milton, 28-6, and went on to compile a 3-6 record, climaxed by a 26-3 loss to Quincy.

This season McPhee finds himself in a far healthier situation with a team stocked with veterans who are now familiar with his system.

The Raiders open Saturday at Milton in a 1:00 p.m. non-league game with an excellent chance of reversing last fall's loss to the Hawks, coached by former North Quincy assistant Jack Bowes.

"We have a very talented squad with a good deal of experience," McPhee said. "The boys are now familiar with my system and we have depth at all positions."

"I am optimistic as we open our season and feel that, avoiding key injuries, we should be very competitive. I think we can give a good account of ourselves against a very strong schedule."

On offense, North will start with Jim Kennedy or Jack Bolster and Gerry Coughlin or Tony Befera at end, Nick Gelsomini and Al DiBella or Steve Dever at tackle, Jack Hannan and Games start 1:30 unless otherwise noted.

Jerry Martin or Rich Ragusa at guard and Larry Nialitz at center.

Veteran Dave Zuroms or Steve Hogan will open at quarterback, Bryan Ellis or Steve Kelly and veterans Scott Messina or Co-Capt. Mike Gill at halfbacks and anyone of four players, Mike Barry, Steve Kelly, Bill Doherty or Co-Capt. Jim McNamara at fullback.

Among others certain to see action on offense are Bill Jacobacci, Vic Di-Gravio, John Flynn, John Panaro and Jack Burke.

"The offense looked very good in scrimmages against Braintree and Scituate," McPhee said. "We moved the ball well and the offensive line, which is green as grass, looked especially good. I was very satisfied."

Defensively the starters aren't certain and several of the players will be in there.

The ends will be John

Comeau, Gelsomini and John Reney; Befera, Dever and Flynn will be at tackle, DiBella, Dave Cooke and Burke will be the nose-guards, McNamara, Kevin Kelly, Barry and Doherty will be linebackers, Steve Kelly, Bolster, Paul Ceurevels and Mark Wilkens will be at corner back and Kennedy, Gill, John Delapelle and Steve Kearns will be the halfbacks.

"All of these boys will see service and I am not quite sure who will start," said defensive coordinator Jack Raymer. "I was pleased with the defensive performance against Braintree and Scituate. The boys hit hard and show they want to play."

Following the Milton opener North will be faced with the unenviable task of facing Brockton, the defending Suburban League champion and the favorite to repeat this fall.

4 Jaehnig Brothers Compete In N.H. Triathlon

The four Jaehnig brothers of Quincy, Mark, 26; Stephen, 24; Michael, 22, and Charles Jr., 17, competed in the Labor Day Lake Spofford Triathlon in Spofford, N. H., marking the first time four brothers had ever competed in the event.

The triathlon, run in sweltering 90-degree weather, included a half-mile swim, 12-mile bicycle ride and a six-mile run.

More than 225 competed.

The sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jaehnig, Mark is a Quincy contractor, Stephen a student at Suffolk University, Michael a Quincy Junior College student and Charles Jr. a student at B.C. High. A fifth brother, James, had entered but was unable to compete.

due to a knee injury sustained during Framingham State College football practice.

Despite Hot Weather

City Tennis Tourney Off To Good Start

The 13th annual Quincy Tennis Tournament, co-sponsored by the Granite Co-operative Bank and the Quincy Recreation Department, is off to a good start, despite the hot weather.

Tournament Director John Franceschini has been overseeing matches each night after 5 p.m. and all-day Saturday and Sunday since the tournament's start with a social and match draw.

Action will continue every night this week at the Vocational Technical High School courts as the players vie for the coveted title of city champion with final matches on Saturday and Sunday.

Recreation Director Barry Welch pointed out that this is the largest municipal tournament in New England, and has nine divisions of play. Welch also praised the cooperation and financial support of the Granite Co-operative Bank which provides t-shirts to all competitors, trophies to finalists in all divisions, and host a pre-tournament social.

THE 13TH ANNUAL Quincy Tennis Tournament, sponsored by the Granite Co-operative Bank and the Recreation Department, got under way last week and continues this week. Bank officials Henry Berry, Jr., left, Barbara Lynch and Kenneth Fallon, look over the many trophies with contestants Beth Ryan, Al McDonald and Dana Chella. Some 300 Quincy residents entered this year.

"The bank provides a valuable service to the Recreation Department and the many participants. Our long association with the Granite Co-operative Bank has helped this annual event prosper while tennis has peaked in interest in other communities," Welch said.

ANTI-BURGLAR BOOMERANG

Keeping burglars out of your home is one thing. But while you're at it, make sure you don't lock your family inside as a by-product. It could spell death in case of fire.

Take for example the case of Willy Lynch of Los Angeles. To prevent burglars from looting his home, he installed bars in all the windows and two-way locks on all the doors - the kind that needs a key to get out as well as in.

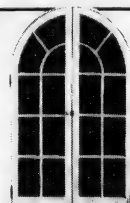

One morning after leaving for work, the inevitable happened. Smoke was seen pouring out of the front windows. In seconds, the mother and children were beating frantically at the windows and doors. Flames and smoke had prevented them from getting the door key from the living room which was in flames. The neighbors had no luck in removing the bars. Finally, a motorist pulled up, produced a chain from his trunk and pulled off the bars from the front door.

Results - Two children were hospitalized with severe burns and a third, an eleven-month-old child was found dead under a toppled bookcase. The moral of the story should be clear.

Petracca Wins Presidents Half-Marathon

Bart Petracca, one of North Quincy High's all-time running greats and currently coach of the Raiders' track team, didn't seem to mind the blistering near-100 degree temperatures and easily won the City of Presidents 13.1-mile half marathon Sunday.

Petracca, a Cornell University standout after graduating from North, opened up a sizable lead over Frank Ritchie of Taunton and won in 1:09:01, more than four minutes ahead of Ritchie.

"My mental attitude toward racing is to go out and get the race over with," said Petracca, who knows he can out-spirit a challenger in the final yards of a photo-finish race.

Ritchie's time was 1:13:17. Bob Spaulding was third in 1:14:59. Scott Kilgallon fourth in 1:15:52 and Quincy's Marty Levenson fifth in 1:17:22.

Susan Lupica of Newton Falls, formerly of Weymouth, was the first woman finisher in 1:22:52, followed by Moira Duffy (1:34:47) and Nancy Fitzhenry (1:29:37).

Mike Kenney was the sumaster male winner in 1:19:00, followed by Charles Hull and Bob Delaney.

Barbara Nelson was the sumaster female winner in 1:38:11, with Judy Pomvos second and Dotti Gaudet third.

Charlie Pratt was the masters male winner in 1:18:50, followed by Roger Welch and John Bump.

Phyllis Kahn was the masters female winner in 1:48:36, with Carole Roger second and Margaret Rosiello third.

Bob Phinney was the seniors male winner in 1:49:15, Peggy Norton was the seniors female winner in 1:54:05 and James McCall the first firefighter to finish in 2:06:45.

The race was sponsored by Quincy City Hospital, the Patriot Ledger, California Restaurant and State Sen. Paul Harold, in cooperation with the city, Quincy Civil Defense and the Mass. Bay Road Club.

Ware, Moore Top Presidents Cycle Winners

Despite the sweltering heat, there was a large turnout of both bicyclists and fans Sunday as a series of close and interesting bicycle races featured the annual Presidents Cup program.

David Ware of Stowe, Vt., won the male division of the U.S. Cycling Federation Race in 1:02:56, followed by Brian Searchinger, Ian Jackson, Chris Carmichael, Chris Flagg, Paul Pearson, Tony Chastain, Gray Mercer, Steve Pyle and Jeff Slack.

The junior winner was Steve Wood of Riverside, Conn., followed by Patrick Morris, Bill Leach, Rex Champamy, Brian Simpson, Dan Carter, Ray Dumont, William Cass, Ed Shuarue and Chris Finn.

The women's winner was Leslie Moore of Flushing, N.Y., followed by Barbara Gradley, Barbara Nash, Carol Moore, Dorothy Kellogg, Elaine Braun-Keller, Sidney Chastian, Paula Andros, Ellen Sykes and Betsy Whittaker.

Michael Kenfield won the veteran's race, followed by Bill Moore, Billy Guazzo, Ed Lang, Tom Digenaro, Arte Johnson, Chet Warman, John Nash, Ron Lawrence and Barry Boyce.

Johnson won the masters race, with George Orr second and Jack Rosen third.

Gus van Gauwenberge won the grand masters race with Marshall Adams second and Bob Beale third.

In the Citizens bike race, John Turbitt was the 18 and under male winner, Elizabeth Downick the 18 and younger female winner, Chris Brown the 19-35 male winner, Cindy Emery the 19-35 women's winner, John Morgan the 36-50 male winner, Diane Harting the 36-50 female winner, Al Broadhurst the 51 and older male winner and Betty Fidler the 51 and older female winner.

Thanks to a sparkling lap by Rod Pollock, the Boston Road Club won the 17-mile Challenge Cup relay race.

Buzz Tarlow rode the first leg, Pollock a brilliant second leg, David Ruggiero third and Frank Lucas fourth.

Team Novice was second, Mass. Bay Road Club, last year's winner, third and Quincy City Hospital's team fourth.

All races started and finished in front of the First Parish Church.

The all-day program was sponsored by Quincy City Hospital, California Restaurant, the Patriot Ledger and State Sen. Paul Harold, in cooperation with the City of Quincy, Quincy Civil Defense and Mass. Bay Road Club.

Later in the first period Pennellatore caught a pass for a 45-yard scoring play and his second TD and John Caporale took a pass for the points.

In the second quarter Overby threw to Bob Roche on a pass-run play for the third and final touchdown. Another pass to Billy Ryan was good for the conversion to end the scoring for the day.

Coach Frank Brillo cited the entire offensive and defensive line for a superb team effort.

Overby completed nine of 10 passes for an outstanding opening day effort.

The Panthers' junior varsity edged the Elks, 8-6. Sunday the Panthers will play the Squantum Sailors at 1 o'clock and the Apaches will face the Manets at 2:30.

All members are urged to attend.

Picture Book Story Hours Planned At Libraries

Picture book story hours will begin at the Thomas Crane Public Library next month, and parents are invited to visit either the Quincy Sq. Library or the North Quincy branch library from Sept. 14-21, to register their four-year-olds.

Sessions at the Central Library in Quincy Square begin Thursday, Oct. 6, at 10:30 a.m. and those at North Quincy begin Friday, Oct. 14 at 10 a.m.

Picture book story hours expose four-year-olds to books with literary and artistic merit through storytelling and book talks. They also use finger plays, rhymes, songs, films and filmstrips to enhance the children's library experience.

The Library film program for three, four and five-year-olds also begins next month. The Central Library film series begins on Thursday, Oct. 6, at 1:30 p.m.

The North Quincy Branch Library film series begins on Wednesday, Oct. 5, at 10 a.m. Films are supplemented by simple stories and activities.

Programs at the Central Library are under the direction of Paula Sitarz, children's librarian. North Quincy Branch Library programs are under the direction of Mary Raux, children's librarian.

Baron Hugo Feature On Ch. 3

"Baron Hugo: The Man And His music," a documentary on the life of musician Baron Hugo, will be seen on Quincy Cablesystems Ch. 3 Wednesday, Sept. 14 at 7:30 p.m.

The documentary tells of the life story of Baron Hugo from his childhood to present day, highlighting the years between 1942 and 1952 when he had the house band at the Totem Pole at Norumbeg Park.

The program was produced and directed by Neil Klayman, an intern at Milton Cablesystems.

Following the program at 8:15 p.m., the Summerfest program featuring Baron Hugo and taped by Quincy Cablesystems will be shown.

Houghs Neck's
Nancy Sullivan
is now appearing Thursday evening at Hugo's Light House, Cohasset. Also featuring Al Stone, pianist.

New Format For 'Your Opinion Please'

"Your Opinion Please," a live cable-talk show on Chan. 3 will have a different look when it returns for a new season (tonight) at 7:30 p.m.

Producer host Lori Cohen says the show will open with a news segment talking about issues affecting Quincy residents. Then it will focus in on one issue with guests and audience participation.

"I expect the new format to evolve over the next several weeks," she said. "Hopefully we will add more news each week. We are anxious to hear from viewers and find out whether they like the change."

WEEK OF: SEPTEMBER 15, 1983

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Though family seems opposed to your plans, you're given the green light at work. Unusual messages and/or unexpected guests arrive throughout the weekend.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Despite a restless spirit, you achieve great things very close to home. Listen carefully for sound financial tips, but don't make any moves without consultation and consideration.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Week is more favorable for completing projects than for launching new programs. Sarcastic friends support you with their sweetness. Romantic picture brightens on weekend.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Relationship with children begins to improve, while older relatives get out to pamper you. Communication delays are scattered through the week, resulting in a potpourri of misunderstandings.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
